

1937 Soil Conservation Program Outlined

Conservation Program and Benefits
For Next Year Are Explained

Staff together with representatives of the State Conservation Commission on soil conservation have been holding a series of county meetings in these county meetings were held last night for the 1936 community. The program outlined the reasons for the soil conservation program.

The representative from the State Conservation Commission outlined the program as it is to operate in 1937. We will try to touch the major points of change in the 1937 program. The first change is that each farm shall have a soil depleting base established for it. The soil depleting base in the average depleting base established for each farm is to be set by the community committee and the county committee using as a guide the work sheets that were collected in the spring of 1936 and the measurements that were made in the fall of the same year. The base of conserving acres will be the difference between the total crop land and the soil depleting base. A farmer may divert and draw pay of $6.00 an acre on 10 per cent of his soil depleting base. This payment is called the diversion payment. If the diverted acres are seeded to some hay or pasture crop he is entitled to $3.00 an acre upon the number of diversion acres that he has changed to a conserving crop. This $3.00 payment is known as the conversion payment. In addition to the diversion and conserving payment we have a soil building allowance that is based upon a soil building allowance. On a general farm this soil building allowance is computed by multiplying the soil conserving base by $1.00 an acre plus $1.00 times the new conserving acreage. This establishes the maximum soil building allowance for which this farm is entitled.

Now in order that the operator may qualify for this soil building payment, he must carry out some of the practices that are recognized as soil building work. These practices include: seeding of alfalfa, clover, red top, timothy or mixtures thereof. The application of lime, the application of fertilizers to conserving crops. In case of orchards or vegetable acreages we have specified rulings that will modify this soil building allowance. The above statements refer to a diversion farm. A diversion farm is one where the soil depleting base exceeds 20 acres.

Now for the non-diversion farm or a farm on which the soil depleting base is less than 20 acres. This farm is no eligible for a diversion or conserving payment. However it is eligible for a soil building allowance providing the operator qualifies by following some standard and accepted soil building practices as mentioned above. The soil building allowance in this case is computed by multiplying the total crop land on the farm by 90c per acre. This will give the maximum soil building payment to which this farm is entitled. However as we have said before this payment must be earned by carrying out some soil building practice.

Other parts of the program cannot be discussed because of a limited amount of space. However, educational meetings are scheduled to be held throughout the county during the next week. All people operating a farm on which work sheets were filled out in the spring of 1936 have been notified as to the time and place of meetings that they are expected to attend.

For additional information call at the extension office where you will be able to talk with the county committee.

Crime Wave Hit State Last Week

Numerous Crimes Are Committed the Past Week and Officers Are Kept Busy Running Down Clues and Making Arrests.

Those who like to tune in on the Michigan State Police broadcasts from East Lansing should have got their fill last week, this station was on the air almost perpetually for several days last week.

Last Wednesday State Trooper Hammond was shot by Alcide Benoit, a bandit, and the air was filled with police calls all day blocking all the highways in the state until Benoit was caught that evening. About ten o'clock the same night five bandits shot and killed Charles Lord, a stock buyer at Peck, and got away with $16,000 in cash and securities. Again the police dragnet was spread and three prisoners taken, two are still at large. Friday two bandits robbed the Williamston State Bank at noon and got away with about $5,000. Once more every highway in the state was blockaded and although all roads were blocked and the bandits were reported in several different places they got away. This led authorities to believe they had gone into hiding near Williamston.

Friday four men seized the cash box on the baffle board machine at the College Inn in Ann Arbor and started to carry it off. Mrs. Head, wife of the proprietor, struggled with them and they dropped it with the result that some $20 in nickels were scattered on the floor.

The sheriff's force here also put in a busy week. Lester Gould of Fowlerville, Louis Boyce and Herbert Sawyer of Rowen, all boys in their teens were arrested for the robbery of the Co-operative Oil Co. station at Howell and lodged in jail. Two watches and several pairs of shoes were found in Sawyer's possession and it is thought they may have committed other robberies.

They were also called to Hartland Thursday to care for an 11 year old boy who was picked up there. He was in great pain and was thought to be suffering from appendicitis. Dr. L. A. Davis who examined him pronounced it starvation and after being fed he partially recovered. His name was Andrew Schiniski and he ran away from a family at Bay City he was living with. The boy was later taken to Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Hazel West who got into a fracas at the Six Mile House was given 30 days for disorderly conduct.

Several who imbibed too freely of the cup that cheers were also picked up and are guests at the county bastille.

Two runaway boys from Lansing were also taken from a Pere Marquette train and returned to their homes.

KNOW HIM WELL

Last Wednesday night about 10:00 P. M. three masked men entered the farm home of Charles Lord, 57, near Peck in Sanilac county and shot him in cold blood, after which they robbed him of nearly $15,000, the proceeds of a cattle sale that day at Sandusky. The deceased man was a cattle buyer and auctioneer. Percy Ellis, local auctioneer who works for the livestock commission firm of Bishop, Hammond and Jackson in Detroit is well acquainted with Mr. Lord and has visited him at his home.

NOTICE TO ALL DETROIT SUBSCRIBERS

We have received several complaints from Detroit subscribers to the effect that the Dispatch has been reaching them about two days late for the past 3 or 4 weeks. The fault is not at this office as the paper leaves here Wednesday night. Asst. Postmaster Wiggie of the Detroit post office issued a notice last week that owing to the great rush of business and lack of help the postal clerks were not able to handle the mail and for that reason were behind in the handling of papers, magazines and other first and class mail.

Local Holds Lodge Ladies Night

125 Persons Attend Event Sponsored by Masonic Lodge. Banquet Program and Dance For Evening Entertainment.

Livingston Lodge No. 76 held a Ladies Night at their hall on last Friday night which was attended by about 120 Masons, Stars, their families and guests. An old fashioned corn beef and cabbage supper was served which was cooked and prepared by Messrs. Ross Read, Percy Ellis and N. O. Frye. 100 pounds of this delicacy, made famous by Jiggs and Dinty Moore, was consumed by the diners. In addition to the local people present there were guests from Howell, Dexter, Chelsea and Ann Arbor.

The Howell Masonic orchestra furnished music before the banquet and also for the community singing and dance.

Following the program, Percy Ellis acted as master of ceremonies and called upon a number of those present for remarks. The following responded: Mrs. Winifred Graves, W. M. of the O. E. S., Mrs. Alta Meyers, past matron, William Beach of Dexter, John Martin, Ye Editor, Otto Lucht of Chelsea, Munis Kenny, newly elected cashier of the Dexter Savings Bank, Roy Hardy of Howell, Russell Livermore, Ross Read, Mrs. W. C. Miller and Lucius Wilson. Mrs. Mabel Schaefer, past matron of the O. E. S. proposed a standing vote of thanks for the refreshment committee which was given.

Following this several hours of dancing were enjoyed with square dances being the favorite and Axel Carpenter, Reg. Schaefer and Rue Lamb doing the calling.

Mrs. Collocott of Howell also sang several vocal selections. Everybody took part in the light fantastic and John Chambers, John Martin and N. O. Frye showed the younger element how they used to do it.

We understand another event of this nature will be held, possibly next month.

Mr. Richardson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Richardson of Pinckney and for several years has been the manager of the Dixie Oil Station here at the intersection of Howell Road and M-36. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shellhart of Unadilla. For the present the young couple are living at Unadilla. On behalf of their many friends the Dispatch extends congratulations.

ROBBERS VISIT PINCKNEY

Some time Friday thieves visited Pinckney and carried away a portion of Floyd Weeks' drug stock. Mr. Weeks discontinued business last June and stored his stock in the barn at his home here. Sunday, Ezra Plummer saw the door which had been nailed shut was forced open. Truck tracks were also visible and also footprints of a man wearing overshoes. Just how much of the stock was taken is not known. Mr. Weeks was notified and the extent of his loss will not be known until the stock has been checked again.

The Book That Upset This Village

The Story of the First Book Written
About Pinckney by Mrs.
C. M. Kirkland.

The social life of Pinckney was stirred to its depths in 1841 by the appearance of a book, written by Mrs. C. M. Kirkland, entitled "A New Home Who'll Follow?" and published by Charles S. Francis, 252 Broadway, New York. Mrs. Kirkland wrote under the pen-name of Mrs. Mary Chivers, and attempted to disguise the locals of her story by calling Pinckney "Montacute". The names of individuals were changed, but the descriptions came too close to reality to permit them to be effective disguises. Within a short time after the appearance of the book it was known that Mrs. Kirkland was the author of the book and of course the characters appearing in the story soon identified themselves - or thought they did.

Mrs. Kirkland was the wife of Mr. C. M. Kirkland who laid over a large estate in Pinckney. The Kirklands came from New York and were people of education and means. Mrs. Kirkland is one to judge the lady from her books, had an excellent literary education and possessed some knowledge of French, which, at that time was the language of ultra-polite society. Throughout the book Mrs. Kirkland never permits the reader to forget that she is a lady of culture, far superior to the country hicks who made up the population of Montacute and vicinity. Into the midst of every page Mrs. Kirkland dragged a French phrase, or a poetical allusion, or a literary allusion. Her affectation, both funny and horrible, is a reader has a lively sense of humor and a good deal of patience the book may be read without wanting to spank the lady author for naughtiness.

The book must have enjoyed quite a circulation because it was followed by a second and third edition, and later by another book called "Forest Life". But Mrs. Kirkland, alias Mrs. Mary Chivers, stirred up a veritable hornets' nest in Pinckney. The "naïvetés" resented the "superiority complex" that bulges from every paragraph of the book, and when Mrs. Kirkland returned to Pinckney from an eastern visit she was received warmly - in fact it was a hot reception. No adequate record was made of what she was told by the women of "Montacute" but there is reason to believe it was plenty.

There are very few copies of the book in existence. One is in the State Library at Lansing, and it is believed there are other copies in this county, but few people even think of it.

The DISPATCH thought its readers might be interested in some of the descriptions of early life in this vicinity, and the following extracts have been culled from the book, and woven together into a fairly continuous narrative. Mrs. "Chivers" style was prolix and wordy. This digest of the book contains nearly all the worthwhile material in 298 pages. She could not refrain from indulging in long exhibitions of her familiarity with the polite literature of her time, nor from labored efforts to impress the reader with her superlative good taste; forbearance with the uncouth society in which she found herself; and ability to play the "grand dame" right in the midst of log cabins and barbaric pioneers. This digest of the book has omitted the personal history Mrs. Kirkland loved so much. In any reader wants to wallow in it, the only way of doing so is to borrow the book from the State Library and take the whole story as the author dished it up.

Aside from her annoying affectations, Mrs. Kirkland possessed an undeniable ability to see and write. Portions of her work deserves appreciation today. The descriptions of pioneer life ring true and it is doubtful if any writer of that era made a better word picture of some scenes of the 1830's.

MRS. ELLEN HARRIS

Mrs. Ellen Harris, 80, widow of the late Henry Harris died at her home here Sunday following a long illness. She was formerly Ellen Riley of Dexter township. Following her marriage to Henry Harris they resided for many years on their farm, south of town. They sold this about 20 years ago and moved to Pinckney where they have since resided. Mr. Harris died several years ago. Surviving are three sons, Albert and Sylvester of Pinckney and Francis of Detroit and a daughter, Mrs. Florence Noonan of Aberdeen, Washington. Two sons, Henry and Louis, have preceded her to the great beyond. The funeral was held this morning from St. Mary's Church, Pinckney, with Rev. James Carolan officiating. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

GARDNER SHIRES

Adah E. Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gardner of Stanton, and Alfred L. Shires of Stanton, were married New Year's day. Both are graduates of the Stanton High School and will make their home in Stanton, where the groom is employed by Stebbins and Strouse, mortuary.

Current Comment

Bishop Michael Gallagher of the Detroit passed away last week. He is sincerely mourned by all who knew him irrespective of creed. He was probably the most progressive bishop in the history of Michigan and his influence was felt in many spheres outside of his church. Soon after coming to Detroit he accepted an opportunity to appear before the friends of Irish racecom and was the leading figure in a huge rally held there, for this he was censured by many but Ireland was given her freedom. During the time of Rev. Charles Coughlin's radio broadcasts he steadfastly refused to curb him, saying that any person, even a member of the priesthood, was entitled to his own opinion. During the presidential campaign last fall although he announced that he himself would vote for President Roosevelt, he still refused to stop Rev. Coughlin. During Franklin Roosevelt's visit to Michigan last October he met that gentleman at the train and was one of the honored guests at the luncheon given him. Following this he rode in the parade with the President from Hamtramck to the speakers stand at the city hall. We admire his candor and his willingness to aid in causes he considered worthwhile and are of the opinion that his strong viewpoint will be a great influence on the affairs of the diocese for many years to come.

This community was shocked by the cold blooded killing of a state trooper by another paroled convict, last week. The shooting seems to have been wanton and useless. One thing, which has so far been seemingly overlooked, is the lack of caution by the deceased trooper. Although he knew he was taking into custody an auto thief and holdup man he failed to search him effectively and then did not put the handcuffs on him. This carelessness proved fatal as the suspect had a gun hidden in the lining of his coat. The police blockade proved effective as the slayer was caught in a short time. Incidentally it was Russell Moore, a trooper from the Brighton post who made the arrest. Troopers and deputy sheriffs should not take any unnecessary chances in making arrests.

Edward Barnard, that hardy perennial seems to have come back strong in Wayne County politics, following his defeat by the Harry Toy forces two years ago. He dominated the Wayne County convention completely last week. He barred out all delegates except those who had blue cards from their district chairmen. Of the 1000 delegates only a little over 300 got in the hall. Barnard was elected county chairman, and a resolution authorizing him to appoint a five man committee to appoint the delegates to the state convention was accepted. Barnard is known as an anti-Fitzgerald man with progressive leanings.

President Roosevelt's inaugural speech was an appeal to humanity and was directed to the working class and the forgotten man, and was a further notice that the New Deal will go on. The first part of his speech justified his record of the past four years. There can be no quarrel with his aspirations, the only difference of opinion being as to the practicability of his program. In the past four years it has withstood all tests successfully and the hope is that it will continue to do so. In taking this position the president does no more than he has received a mandate to do. It is what the overwhelming majority of voters who put him back into office expected and desired him to do, and it is the hope of all that he will be able to carry his program through successfully. The inauguration was masterfully directed and the president stood in the rain with the multitude unprotected and took the oath of office. Taking for his text that verse of the Bible, dealing with "Faith, Hope and Charity" he gave notice that he still held social security above that of financial gain.

The Detroit News says that both Supreme Court Justices Louis Brand and Walter North are excellent officials and should not be opposed at the spring election. They are Republicans. A reader wrote in to know what about Murray Von Wagoner and the News added he should also be unopposed. However none of this is likely to happen as an opponent has already appeared against Von Wagoner and as the Democrats see a victory coming their way they will undoubtedly nominate supreme court candidates.

INSURANCE COMPANY ELECTS

The annual meeting of the policy holders of the Citizens Mutual Automobile Insurance company of Howell was held at the home office here Saturday afternoon. William E. Robb, secretary and treasurer of the organization, presented the annual report of the company's financial standing and its program during 1936. During the past year the company wrote a volume of approximately $1,000,000 in insurance premiums and increased its surplus and reserves. George J. Burks, Ann Arbor attorney, was re-elected president and 3 directors, F. W. Comiskey of Detroit, L. A. Monks of Bay City and E. Nank of Mt. Clemens were re-elected.

WLS COMMUNITY TALENT SHOW

This production sponsored by the Community church will be held on the nights Feb. 11, 12 and 13 at the Pinckney, in the Community hall.

This show is patterned after the Prairie Farmer WLS National Broadcast Program as given in Chicago each Saturday night on the 30th St. Theatre, and is featured by impersonations of your favorite Radio Stars together with many new and original acts. The old time Square Dance and Community Singing are also special features of this great Home Talent Show.

Recently several of our Home folks were featured on the Alka Seltzer program at the 30th St. Theatre. The Prairie Farmer WLS National Broadcast, in impersonations of Lulu Belle, Uncle Ezra, The Arkansas Woodchopper, The Maple City Four, Verne, Lee and Mary, and The Hoosier Hot Shots.

These people received a great deal of praise for their clever work and fine impersonations. These folks were selected from several thousand, who have taken part in our Prairie Farmer WLS Home Talent Shows and in each Community there are many others possessed of great talent, who love these radio characters and enjoy the opportunity for self-expression in impersonating them.

You enjoy seeing your own talented sons and daughters on the stage when neighbors and friends on the stage when they do a clever piece of work and exhibit good showmanship. Under the skillful training of the Prairie Farmer WLS Community Service Directors, the whole cast learns to put the "pep" in the spirit, and the sincerity into their acting which is so needed in Home Talent Productions.

In every community we find young men and women of genuine ability and also many of the older people who, if they had a chance, would be as good as the radio stars of the real stars themselves. And the enjoyment that comes to the audience is as great, and even more so, sometimes, than if they were listening to the original artists in person.

The talent of the Community is developed in this manner, a larger and finer Community Spirit is fostered and everybody is made happier and better by a big, clean, wholesome Home Talent Entertainment.

The artists who appear on this program, who are especially good in their impersonations, may receive an invitation to come to Chicago and appear in the regular WLS National Broadcast Programs. Those eligible to receive invitations from Chicago will be selected by the WLS Director who is coming to train those who take part in this entertainment.

Remember the TRY-OUT DATES Feb. 4 and 5 at Community Hall, 7 P. M. To be sure of a place on the Home Talent Show send in your applications with description of your number at once.

Address your applications to Prairie Farmer Home Talent, Box 136, Pinckney, Mich.

What do you do for frost bites? What are the symptoms of frost bite? The affected part of the body becomes painfully cold and then suddenly the sense of feeling in that part is gone. The affected part becomes white or grayish white in color.

Keep the patient away from fire or warmly heated rooms. Apply palm of hand, wool, or fur to affected part. Massage the parts very gently, then apply cold water.

Apply ointment as you would to a burn because frost bite is the same in effect.

The object of the treatment is to bring the frozen part of the body back to a normal temperature gradually and to restore circulation.

CONSERVATION DEPT. NOTES

352 persons were arrested in this state for violating the trapping laws last year. $3,110 in fines were collected and $2,830.08 in costs. 512 days in jail sentences were imposed. 103 sentences were suspended, 6 dismissed, 2 probationed and 1 bound over to circuit court.

More than 220,000,000 fry and fingerlings of game fish were planted in the lakes and streams of Michigan last year. The following were the fish planted: Walleyed pike, 205,000,000; brook trout, 3,900,000; brown trout, 3,400,000; rainbow trout, 980,000; lake trout, 3,500,000; large mouth bass, 625,000; small mouth bass, 250,000; bluegills, 6,880,000; yellow perch, 2,000,000.

Only 4 days remain of the rabbit hunting season in northern Michigan. The season also expires on opossum, skunk and badger. On Feb. 1, hunters will have to put their runs away until next fall.

The conservation commission is erecting a 120 foot fire tower near the Montmercy-Osgood county line. This is the tallest in the state except for the 150 ft. tower at Midland. All other towers are 100 ft.

The latest complication of settlements with state deer agents reveals that 121,000 deer licenses were sold last fall. Further settlements are expected to boost this figure.

Live moose trapping has started on Isle Royal and two moose have already been trapped for shipment to the upper peninsula.

Garter snakes and pussy willows are said to have been found active near Tawas and poplars and maples are ready to bud.

Arrests for violating conservation laws tumbled in 1936. There were 3,706 arrests made. They were as follows: game laws 1581; fish laws 1,564; fur laws 432. In 1935, 4,045 arrests were made.

Anyone holding creel cards on which they recorded as catches of fish in 1936 are asked to send them in to the conservation department.

With interest and activity in oil drilling tending to move northward in the forest area, conservation officials have ordered rigid enforcement of fire prevention regulations at each drilling site.

The steady decrease in the kill of timber wolves does not mean that these animals will overrun the state, according to conservation officials. These animals range from 20 to 30 miles per night and are hard to get. Consequently bounty trappers are apt to take coyotes or some animal easier to get.

Philathea Notes

The Philathea Class regrets illness at the Parsonage and in many homes in Pinckney and vicinity, making it advisable not to hold the usual Sunday morning church services last Lord's Day.

A communication to the Congregational church Benevolence Treasurer from Mrs. Fay R. Stokes, secretary and asst. treasurer of the Michigan Conference speaks of the very serious condition of Mrs. Fay's mother in a Lansing hospital, after a broken hip and the formation of a clot, later in the uninjured leg. Our sympathy surely goes out to Mrs. Fay and her mother. In acknowledging the receipt of our first payment of the year on our missionary quota, Mrs. Fay said, "If you could read our minds you would know that your thoughtfulness as well as your faithfulness is surely appreciated."

All Philatheas who can, will feel an urge to contribute toward the Red Cross funds in this appeal for help in flood stricken areas of our country.

If the class is permitted to meet on Sunday, the lesson topic covers "The Economic Approach to the Liquor Problem" under the subject, "The Financial Cost of Alcohol Beverages" with passages from Proverbs, Matthew and John. Here is one quotation from our quarterly, "During the years when the 18th Amendment was a part of the Constitution of the United States, there was a great hue and cry about the consequent loss of 'personal liberty' which in many cases has turned out to mean the right to make oneself a nuisance and a road menace to decent people. The right of decent people to live and bring up their children in a clean and law-abiding community was not considered by the 'wet' politicians who argued that the budget should be balanced with beer."

ANNOUNCES MUNICIPAL JUDGE CANDIDACY

Gerald McGee, a practicing attorney at Grosse Pointe, has announced his candidacy for municipal judge there. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene McGee at Whitmore Lake and a graduate of Pinckney High School where he starred in football and baseball.

You'll need your umbrella this year. Plenty of rain, easy winter and cool summer, scientists predict for 1937. See the AMERICAN WEEKLY magazine distributed with NEXT SUNDAY'S CHICAGO HERALD AND EXAMINER.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Congressman Andrew J. Transue
Sixth District, Michigan.

Inauguration
Rain, that fell upon the elected and electors alike, dampened but did not halt the inauguration of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt on the front steps of the capitol last week. While the President took his second oath of office and delivered his second inaugural address, thousands of men, women and children ignored the pelting rain to witness the impressive ceremony.

As President Roosevelt faced the large audience the Members of the House of Representatives including your Congressman were on an open platform at the right of the President. The Senators had a similar platform on the left of the President. For the first time in the Nation's history the President's personal flag was raised above the inaugural platform and was at full mast in the driving rain as the President began his address. After the inauguration a campaign was started to build a huge auditorium to serve in case of inclement weather for future inaugurations.

To improve the lot of those who have little or not enough rather than increase the abundance of those who have much, was the persistent theme of the President's address. The drenched crowd cheered time and again as the President promised to lead the people of the United States in the way they have chosen to advance.

Two Open Automobiles
President Roosevelt, turned a closed car to travel back to the White House after the inauguration. With Mrs. Roosevelt the President rode in an open car and waved and smiled at the cheering throngs that lined Pennsylvania Avenue. It was mutual and reciprocal admiration and consideration that exposed both the President and the crowd to the chilling rain. If visitors had come hundreds of miles to see the inauguration the President decided to repay them by riding in an open car. And the spectators, including most of the Michigan visitors, agreed that if the President was riding in an open car in the rain for them, they were good enough sports to stand in the rain and see and greet him.

Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania was the only visiting dignitary to ride in an open car in the inaugural parade, which President Roosevelt reviewed from in front of the White House after ordering removed an enclosure of bullet-proof glass. The Keystone State Executive was rewarded with thunderous applause.

Michigan Banquet
Michigan Democratic leaders arrived early for the inauguration. The delegation held a "reunion" banquet with the Michigan contingent in Washington at the Washington hotel across the street from the White House on Monday. National Committee member Edmund Shields of Lansing announced a new era of harmonious accord for Michigan Democrats. He said that Gov. Frank Murphy, Senator Plentiss Brown, State Central Committee Chairman Edward J. Fry and the National Committee members were in complete agreement on policy and program. Senator Brown recalled that Michigan had been Republican for 100 out of the first 100 years of its statehood and with such leadership as the present in the nation and state, Michigan will be Democratic during its second 100 years.

Lieut. Gov. Leo A. Nowicki brought greetings from Gov. Frank Murphy, whose arrival in Washington was delayed by the Michigan automobile strike. The new and veteran Congressmen greeted the visitors, who included Mrs. Clara Van Auker, Detroit, National Committeewoman of Michigan, Murray D. Von Wagoner, Michigan's popular State Highway Commissioner, William Robb, secretary and treasurer of the Citizens Mutual Automobile Insurance company of Howell and Attorney William Neithamer, Flint.

Currency Protection
Congress took time out from getting special car tags to get through police lines that blocked parking for blocks around the Capitol on inauguration day, to extend the President's authority to devalue the gold dollar until June 30, 1939. The extension carries authorization to manipulate the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund to protect the Nation's currency in foreign markets. Congress also extended the Reconstruction Finance Corporation until June 30, 1939 in accordance with the recommendation of the Banking and Currency Committee, of which your Congressman is a member.

Golden Silence
President Roosevelt in his first comment upon the automobile strike needed the attitude of all sincere officials who have been striving night and day to obtain a settlement of the strike. The President intimated it was time to take a holiday from statements and headlines. Officials who have been doing everything in their power to restart the industrial wheels, have not sought the limelight of publicity.
