NEWS from MICHIGAN

Lansing—According to word received from Washington, Senator Prentiss M. Brown has designated James H. Flynn, Jr., of this city for West Point entrance examinations.

Ypsilanti — Women students of Michigan State Normal College outnumbered the men nine to four in a list just released of all A students for the fall term. Of the thirteen students who received perfect ratings in their academic work, five of these were seniors, three juniors, three sophomores, and two freshmen. Of this group, two were local girls, Betty Malley and Susan Haviland.

Ionia—One of those oddities that happens once in the proverbial life time was revealed here. It seems that a year ago Forrest Kuitiz, local mechanic, dropped his eye-glasses on the floor. They broke. Last fall, his new glasses blew off as he rode in an airplane over his father's farm near here. They fell 4,000 feet to the ground. The glasses were found recently by his brother, unbroken, in a field.

Sebewaing—Throw-back to zoological specimens of teeth of prehistoric man is the fourth molar extracted from the jaw of Wilfred Sellers. The tooth, which came through behind the wisdom teeth, was three times larger than a normal molar. Commenting on the occurrence, the dentist who made the extraction said that a fourth molar occurs in one individual in several million, on an average.

Ann Arbor—This city's first sit-down strike lasted but half an hour recently. A local bakery gave 11 striking drivers assurance that a pay raise would be granted. The drivers, who are not union members, made their demands informally. The proposed wage and commission increases will equal prevailing rates in Detroit. The bakery owner remarked that only competitive conditions had prevented an earlier increase.

Durand—Those who long for the good old-fashioned days, with friendly community song-fests and choral offerings of a by-gone century, may well seek a haven in the singing school conducted by Mrs. Abigail Parsons. Using a tuning fork more than 100 years old to strike the key, Mrs. Parsons opens a century-old song book to the tunes of long ago. Both were used by her grandfather, who also was a singing-school teacher.

Hillsdale—Jacob Beck, who has the reputation for never failing in any of his farm projects, looked back on his record and decided on a new wrinkle. He made one self-indulgent attempt to drill for and find oil on his 600-acre farm tract. Undaunted by his only business venture that has failed, he is going to try again. Machinery from the first well, which was abandoned after drillers reached a depth of 2,200 feet without success, has been moved to a place that Beck believes looks promising.

Lansing—Extension of liquor sales by the glass to all parts of Michigan has been recommended by V. F. Gormley, member of the State Liquor Control Commission, as a needed amendment to the liquor act. He denounced club licenses as too often a subterfuge which rapidly is breaking down control, and recommended that Class C licenses be substituted. Local communities could veto sale-by-glass under the Gormley plan. At any rate, it seems that teeth are needed in the act.

Pontiac—The latest, and perhaps the best, safety drive, has been in progress in Oakland County. Deputies make nightly roundups on county highways of motorists who have faulty lights or no operators licenses. "Courtesy" tickets are issued. The drivers who receive these tickets are given five days in which to fix their lights or apply for a license. If these "warnings" go unheeded, says the sheriff, the drivers will be prosecuted on the same basis as those who receive regular violation tickets.

Parma — Keeping up with the times, this community saw its first strike recently. It seems that students in Coach John Tomshack's history class at the high school went on a sit-down. Studies were out and books placed on the floor. Smart handling came from Coach Tomshack, who lectured them on the history of strikes, in place of regular work. Next day the students were back for regular classes. Tomshack gave them an examination on the previous day's lecture. 23 of the 28 students flunked.

Owosso—Front page news of New York's "Prosecutor of rackets," Thomas E. Dewey, recently appointed by Governor Herbert H. Lehman, brings to light an interesting local biography. Born in Owosso, Dewey left to enroll at the University of Michigan. He didn't know whether he preferred to be a lawyer or a singer, but proved his musical talent by winning two singing scholarships. Then on to Columbia University went Dewey, to graduate in law. Now, at 34 he is a "crime and gang-buster."

Spring—Fashions—Sewing

ARE the robins showing interest in real estate out your way—and have the kiddies been hinting that it's about time to go barefoot—have you been trying to get a little house cleaning done—and have you noticed a few of the town's rabid sportsmen out poking around on the fairways—have you had any knights of the road stop by for a hand-out or seen any gypsies—in short, is it Spring out your way? That, of course, brings us to the omnipresent subject of fashions, and this in turn to the ubiquitous topic of Sew-Your-Own.

One in Silk; One in Cotton.

If you're a devotee of trim lines and real comfort make this new all-occasion dress for yourself (Pattern 1973) in two versions: a silk print in which to greet the bright new season; a cotton one for day in, day out service. There's no daytime occasion too auspicious nor a household task too menial for one or the other of these versions. For completeness, then, and simplicity as well, there's no substitute for this stylish number. It is designed for sizes 36 to 52. Size 38 requires 3½ yards of 35 inch material.

Two Versions From One Pattern.

And see what the Chic Twins have, two lovely blouses with but a single purpose—to make you look your very best. They're combined to make Pattern 1271 the biggest hit of the season. Think of the endless variety these clever bits of fashion will give your wardrobe. Especially now will ensembles be worn, and to have certain success with these one must choose the blouse carefully. Wear the notched lapel model with casual sports outfits and the ruff-collared style with the more tailored suits. Puff sleeves and saucy peplums are particularly intriguing features of both blouses. Either is available for sizes 12 to 20 (30 to 38 bust). Size 14 (top model) requires 2 yards of 39 inch material or 2½ yards for the other. Remember, both are included in Pattern 1271.

Sewing Easy; Frock Charming.

Pattern 1259 is truly an Ode to Spring—one that's fit for print, too. A bright nosegay, for instance, will be just the thing to promote your charm and grace. The far-reaching collar and grosgrain ribbon tie will indeed become your pretty face. The puff sleeves and smart cuffs fairly snap with chic. Simple to make, delightful to wear, this frock deserves to be called an Ode to Spring. It comes in sizes 12-20 (30 to 40 bust). Size 14 requires 5½ yards of 39 inch material plus ¾ yard contrasting. The bow requires ¾ yard ribbon. In full length size 14 requires 6½ yards of 39 inch material.

COUNTY AGENTS LETTER

Soil Conservation

The 1936 soil conservation program is nearing a close. The procedure for 1937 is somewhat different than that followed last year. There will be no spring visitations. Instead each and every farm operator will receive a statement of his soil depleting base as established by the community and county committees. This figure will represent the number of acres of row and grain crops that a certain tract of land is eligible to grow and still be in compliance with the program. This limit is optional and not mandatory. If the operator sees fit to plant a greater acreage of soil depleting crops than this base he will not be able to comply. If he is interested in the program he should plant to keep his acreage of row and grain crops below the established base acreage.

Poultry Professor Card interprets present trends in terms of future egg prices to mean that poultrymen with pullets coming into production by September should be in line to realize substantial profits from their flocks. He bases this forecast on the theory that the time to get into a business is when others are either getting out or staying out. Right now hatchery orders and sales of early hatched chicks are subnormal all over the country.

I know it is hazardous to risk a prediction on future developments in the poultry business but in the light of past history, I believe it is reasonably safe to advise farmers who have reed and prospects of more feed next summer to raise early hatched chicks this season.

The high cost of poultry feeds has discouraged many poultrymen, who must buy feed, from ordering early hatched chicks. That probably forecasts heavy sales of late spring and early summer chicks, which can be raised largely on range. That also probably means the bulk of the pullet crop will not begin contributing to the egg supply until the end of the year or nearly 1938. You can draw your own conclusions on what that will do to fall and winter egg prices.

In making your decision when and how many chicks you will buy this year, remember that the feed prices this year have been brought about by the drought of 1936. Industrial plants in Michigan are raising wages of their employees. Indications are that in spite of the strike in Michigan will produce more cars this year than in 1936.

You have heard the slogan "As the automobile business goes so goes Michigan." If this is true you will be wise not to decrease the size of your poultry flock but to have the usual pullets coming into production next September, or October. Farm flocks for best returns should consist of at least 75% pullets. Now is the time to make your decision.

Determine Germination

Farmers in Michigan may have to worry about the supply of seed available for planting some of their fields, but the average of the supply in the state is good as to volume and considered the equal or superior in quality to the seed supplies in neighboring states.

Native bean seed supplies are causing worry. In 20 lots submitted for certification only two indicated 90 percent germination. Farmers are advised to get busy and test bean seed for the range in germination will run from 85 to 94 percent. The solution for many planting beans this spring will be to sow extra seed to get a good stand.

Seed corn supplies are considered better than a year ago and farmers are indicating about the same planting intentions.

Grasses and legumes are available but the price tags attached to alfalfa, red clover and some of the grasses are far above 1936. A good native supply of alfalfa seed is considered a good balance against the higher prices, so that planting intentions are rated about normal.

Red clover is about ten dollars more a bushel than a year ago. Native seed now is approximately 25 dollars a bushel.

Farmers are being advised to locate suitable soy bean and sudan grass seed. Winter weather has not been favorable for new stands of legume seedlings. Lack of snow has killed off some of the young plants, while others have been broken off near the surface from freezing and thawing.

Feed Prices High

Poultry and Egg Prices Low At the January 15 price of eggs, it required 8.22 dozens of eggs to buy 10 pounds of poultrytration as compared with 4.97 dozens a year ago and 2.21 dozens on January 15, 1933. The Feed Chicken ration on the same date was 14.34 pounds of chicken to 100 pounds of ration whereas on January 15, 1936, it was 6.87 pounds and on January 15, 1933 5.08 pounds.

Continued mild weather during February over large areas of the country and the nearness of spring are favorable factors in the feed situation. Egg production, having been relatively heavy during the winter months, there will probably be some relative decline in the later months of the laying period. With steadily improving buying power, consumer demand for eggs and poultry should be further aided by the fact that competitive meats are relatively higher in price.

DRESS YOUR AGE WOMEN ADVISED

If there are any secrets about spring styles for 1937 they are solved in the general bit of advice to women, "styles are designed this year to fit age." There are so many different styles this spring that it is possible for every woman to wear a suit that is different from that of a friend.

If you are long and slight, or mature but with a youthful figure, the smartly tailored suit with short jacket and nipped in waist line with slightly widened shoulders is the one suggested by Ethel G. Webb, associate professor in clothing at Michigan State College. The very short tuxedo jacket may be yours if you are young and slight in figure or if you are older but slight and have a lot of pep and can live up to this jacket. "There is the wrist or finger tip jacket with a tuxedo collar which hangs loose and has a sleeve with some width at the hand. This might be said to be ageless. If collarless, it is better worn by a younger person. This jacket may be worn with other dresses if there is no contrast in lining or trimming which makes it belong to the original dress alone."

A suit of this style may have complete dress to accompany it as this is much more flattering to many figures than a blouse and skirt. A more mature person may better select one which has just the skirt, a blouse which is less tailored, and with the short peplum worn on the outside of the skirt. Some blouses are shown which come over the skirt just at the front like a man's vest with a belt across the back. The tuck in tailored blouses is youthful."

Three piece suits usually are tailored in a heavier fabric and seem suited to young rather than elderly persons. Especially if fur trimmed and with a monotone of a lighter weight fabric this type with a variety of blouses is a most satisfactory costume because of its adaptability to so many occasions and varied temperatures.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Congressman Andrew J. Transue Sixth District, Michigan.

Coal and Courts

While the Senate started hearings in the Judiciary Committee on the Presidential proposal to reform the Judiciary the House of Representatives last week passed the Guffey-Wilson bill to regulate and help the soft coal industry while improving the living conditions of 500,000 coal miners, and began consideration of neutrality legislation. Outside of Congress the other highlights of the week in Washington included a sentence of 30 days in jail and a $100 fine for Dr. Francis E. Townsend for abruptly leaving a House Committee investigation, and Harry K. Thaw learned that it costs $2,200 to punch a hotel waiter in the eye.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings was the first Administration witness to testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee. He withstood a barrage of Senatorial questions after outlining and advocating the plan presented by President Roosevelt. The Senate hearings began the day after the President gave his second address on the plan.

The House of Representatives marks the second attempt to enact laws that are designed to improve the American standard of living, particularly among the coal miners. The former Guffey Coal bill was outlawed by the Supreme Court on account of wage and hour regulations. The new bill omits the wage and hour feature while setting up regional boards to fix coal prices under authority of a new Federal Coal Commission. Coal concerns that comply with the regulations will get a rebate of 19 1/2 percent of a 20 per cent sales tax imposed at the mines. The ultimate purpose of the law is to enforce the use of coal to share a proper part of the cost with the home consumers who use only a small percentage of the coal mined.

Neutrality Dispute

Cash and Carry neutrality was introduced in the House on Friday under a special rule allowing ten hours debate. The House Foreign Affairs Committee recommended decisive changes in the bill already approved in the Senate. Where the Senate Pittman bill contains mandatory provisions the House substitute measure would allow the President greater latitude and discretion in deciding about munition shipments. House leaders insist the Senate measure is not flexible enough and would even prevent trade between the United States and Canada if Great Britain went to war with some other nation.

Standing Room Only

Before an audience that packed every inch of space in the new Supreme Court building while several hundred other persons thronged the corridors on the side the court room the Supreme Court last week announced there would be no oral decisions that day. The large crowd came in anticipation of hearing the Court verdict that would decide the constitutionality of recent labor legislation.

Good Morning Judge

Dr. Townsend announced an appeal from the 30 day jail sentence and $100 fine imposed in the District of Columbia courts for walking out of a House session. A jury had found Dr. Townsend guilty of contempt under the judge's instructions two weeks ago. The sponsor of the $200 a month pension plan for persons over 60 years of age asked for a new trial which was refused by the Court. His attorney announced the case "would be appealed to the highest court in the land."

Expensive Luxury

Eccentric millionaire Harry Thaw, whose escapades have been intermittent front page news for 30 years, was the defendant in a damage suit started by a Washington hotel waiter who claimed Thaw punched him in the eye. The jury believed him and gave the waiter $200 for his eye pain and $2,000 punitive damages to save his injured pride and feelings. The waiter said there was a lighted cigarette in the fist that banged against his eye. Thaw's witnesses said he was an orderly person.

Coincidence

On the day that James Thompson of Flint registered at the Willard Hotel in Washington last week the poke, 17, Unadilla, consent of mother held obtained; Raymond Reader, 22, How-strike. The management asked ell, Beulah Stewart, 21, Howell; Max Thompson if there was any connection, 25, Howell, Dorothy Warner, tion or contagion in his visit. The 25, Howell; Lyle Forsythe, 23, Southstrike was settled before the hotel Lyon, Mildred Spencer, 23, Brighton; guests were too much inconvenient. Farnham, 26, Hartland, Marjorie lenced.

Irony

Washington Goldfish are supposed to be the real thing among weather prophets. Spring is supposed to be at the door when the Goldfish are dumped into the ponds and fountain pools in public parks and in front of many public buildings. Last week the Goldfish were dumped into the outdoor water one day and on the next day Washington had its heaviest snow storm in more than a month.

A NEW STRIKE ANGLE

A new strike angle has developed in the REO sit-down strike in Lansing. The strikers asked some of the Lansing ministers to hold services there Sunday. Rev. Ross of the South Baptist church refused. He said after long prayer and conferences with his congregation he had decided it was not his duty to conduct such services. Also he said the manufacturers had never desired services in the factory.

On the other hand Rev. Ledyard of the First Universalist church accepted and said it was the duty of the church to go wherever asked, that Jesus Christ preached everywhere. He also paroled the attitude of Rev. Ross saying this was what had driven the working men away from the church.

CONSERVATION DEPT. NOTES

Record for sales of deer licenses are still soaring. Up to Feb. 28, 1937 records compiled indicated 133,116 had been sold.

Karl F. Lagler of Cornell University is making a study of the question as to whether snakes, turtles and birds are predatory enemies of fish. His salary for 18 months will be paid by the Wildlife Institute. The University of Michigan will supply headquarters.

The National Forest Reservation has approved an exchange of land with the state of Michigan involving 60,000 acres for conservation purposes.

State park authorities reported revenue accrued to them last year of $1,884.67 from the sale of candy, soft drinks, tobacco, bath house and bathing suit rentals and boats in state owned parks.

During the last four years the C.C.C. forces have completed more than 34,000 acres of lake and pond development and 3,184 miles of stream improvement.

A boom year has been reported by Michigan fur trappers. Muskrat pelts doubled in value.

147 bobcats, coyotes and wolves were killed by bounty hunters in this state in February. There were 77 bobcats, 69 wolves and 1 female wolf.

The mild winter has saved the life of thousands of trout by causing American merchandisers to do their hunting in other places. These are expert fishers and will take trout 14 inches long.

The working man will have 20 Sunday's and a holiday to spend on his favorite trout stream. The season opens April 24.

Landowners who burn their fields or marshes should do so as early as possible to save wild life. Much of this will be destroyed if this is not done until the nesting season.

Commissions as conservation officers without pay have been issued to all national forest rangers. This gives the latter full authority to assist game officers.

Electric lighting devices will be provided in state parks this year for auto trailers.

The Geobic county board of supervisors have offered the conservation department the assistance of a motor cycle squad to enforce the game laws.

Nearly two dozen kinds of ducks, three species of geese and one swan migrate through the Great Lakes region, according to Dr. M. D. Pinne, in charge of the W. K. Kellogg Bird Sanctuary.

More than 67,000,000 barrels of crude oil have been produced by the oil industry in Michigan to date, according to records of the state geologist.

CASE CRACKS DOWN ON USED CAR "GYP"

Revocation of the licenses of two used car dealers in the Wayne county area for the sale of re-built automobiles under the presentation that they were new, has been ordered by Leon D. Case, Secretary of State.

All such dealers are licensed by the Secretary of State, by law. Case has notified all second hand car dealers of the state of the recent revocation orders, with the caution that all complaints against any licensee will be fully investigated by the Department of State.

Any complaint of alleged illegal practices on the part of any used car dealer will result in a request that the licensee show cause why his license should not be revoked. Case has advised all concerned.

Investigation of the recent complaints was made by Joseph Char-noske, Detroit legal counsel for the Department of State. It is Case's belief that not only will the public benefit from such a policy, but that the vast majority of the some 2,700 used car dealers in the state will welcome any move which will enforce ethical and legal practices upon those few of their number who might indulge in them.

I know some drivers who take extreme care of the condition of their automobiles. The slightest squeak, rattle or noise is carefully investigated even at the expense of time. They might be on a trip and have only the minimum time to complete their appointment, yet they will stop for minutes at a time to correct some insignificant little rattle that does not harm the efficiency of the automobile.

Then, when they have discovered the rattle and have corrected it, they seem to forget all about the rights of others. They have no judgement as to spend and apparently lose all control of good driving sense.

A safe driver is never a spectacular driver. He is considerate of the rights of others. He makes sure his car mechanism is properly adjusted, and also makes sure that his mental condition is such that he will appreciate what others expect him to do on the highways.

Removing an . . . Unneeded Restraint

Congress is debating the Pettengill bill which, in substance, would permit the railroads to compete with intercoastal steamships.

The clause of the Interstate Commerce law which the bill would repeal was perhaps once beneficial, but has become restrictive.

No like prohibition governs the railroads' land, air and water competitors, and none is contemplated for them. It applies to the rails alone, with the original need for it non-existent--imposing a handicap on them while it confers advantages on their competitors.

Repeal of this clause will hurt no one; will make lower rail rates eventually not improbable; will create an additional 100,000 railroad jobs.

Nor will it reduce the ICC's powers; or enable the rails to charge rates that are unreasonable or unduly low so as to eliminate competition, or to raise rates if competition did disappear.

The bill is favored by great bodies of shippers, by trade organizations, by the railroads and railroad labor. It is opposed by steamship interests and coastal industries who would retain unfair advantages over inland competitors.

America's railroads face the most unprecedented competition in their history. Unneeded restraints, like this obsolete clause, should be removed that the lines may better be able reasonably, and legally, to compete.

Michigan, and its railroads, will benefit from the repeal. Support for the Pettengill bill should be asked of the State's delegation in Congress.

IMPROVING MICHIGAN ROADSIDES IV. WHAT OTHERS THINK

From actual studies detailed previously it readily becomes apparent Michigan has much to do in the matter of roadside improvement besides carry on the program of landscaping now started.

Michigan has a great opportunity. Nature has endowed the state with lakes and rivers and a variety of farming, fruit growing, all interesting. The state has established 67 state parks in all parts of the state to save locations of particular beauty. These parks are genuine playgrounds for the people and are connected by an excellent system of highways.

But perhaps Governor James Rolph Jr., of California can state the need for roadside improvement more clearly. Governor Rolph said: "The values which accrue in California from enjoyment of scenery and the accompanying benefit of outdoor recreation are beyond calculation in terms of money. Millions are spent each year to improve the highways of the state. More millions are used both commercially and privately to develop recreational areas. Such sums however are small indeed when compared to the ready opportunity open to each citizen and each visitor within our borders to revel in the delight of eye and mind offered by an endless variety of scenery or to relax in peace and quiet at a favored beauty spot."

Governor Rolph apprises "California is the motorists' paradise and failure, then, to develop the full possibilities of her roadides would be a serious mistake. A far-sighted policy of beautification will encourage travel and help our people in the enjoyment of life." Under such crystalline thinking the state set out to "Work together to make our California highways the most beautiful and safest in the United States". What is true in California is true in Michigan. The American Automobile Association has placed itself on record.

"As advocating effective roadside development and control in the interest of promoting travel and increasing safety on the highways of the nation."

"We endeavor to stimulate national state and local legislation for more effective control of roadsides." The National Safety Council declares, "Instances are too common where billboards obstruct the view. It is now clear cut that the legislature has the power of regulation of billboards and signs and that such power is not an impairment of private and individual constitutional rights."

The safety council recommends that, "a united effort be made to secure adequate restraining legislation in all of the states giving some department therein control over rural advertising signs."

National Groups Active

Other national organizations actively supporting the move to regulate roadside advertising so it will not get beyond all bounds are: American Planning and Civic Association; General Federation of Women's Clubs; Isaac Walton League of America; National Highway Association; National Conference on State Parks; Woman's National Farm and Garden Association; National Council of State Garden Club Federations; American Society of Landscape Architects; American Federation of Arts; American Institute of Architects; American Nature Association and American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society.

One hundred and fifty-eight national advertisers have announced their policy of refraining from roadside advertising but the list of offenders, local, state and national still is large. Next read about queer conditions in Michigan.

REFUSES COMPROMISES

President Roosevelt has been informed by close advisers that he can win a really sensational victory in his court fight if he will give them the nod for a compromise. So far he refuses to okay suggestions that he yield an inch to go forward a mile.

Conservative canvasses disclose that almost nobody in Capitol Hill defends the court, a great advance along the line of Roosevelt's strategy.

Hard-shelled G. O. Pers, with a few exceptions, will vote in favor of a two-man expansion, thereby granting the President's basic premise. They will support provisions for a 7-2 or 6-3 lineup in holding a law unconstitutional.

Neither personal nor political appeals seem to budge the President. He smiles at arguments that in either event—victory or defeat—he will rob himself of a high place in history. He does not share growing fears that his move will split the party in 1940. He wants what he wants—"now".

Philathea Notes

The class met with Mrs. Carrie Swarthout on March 10 for their usual monthly meeting. With Mrs. Rose Hendee presiding, the class began its afternoon business session with a song. "Will there be any stars in my crown?" The chaplain read the scripture, with Mrs. Agnes Zuse offering prayer. The roll call letter for this time was "A". It was decided to bring rags to sew for the Missionary rug at our next meeting, at which time Mrs. A. E. VanSiambrook will be hostess. Mrs. Zuse and Mrs. S. H. Swarthout were appointed on a committee to purchase materials for the other articles on our quota. Mrs. Hendee's resignation as president was respectfully accepted, and Mrs. R. K. Elliott was elected to serve for the balance of the year. The Philathea members are invited to cordially cooperate in making the Ladies' Aid dinner on this week Thursday a success. Everybody invited.

We are looking forward to the church services on Good Friday and to those of Easter Sunday. In the meantime come to S. S. next Sunday and study John 19. "Christ's Cross and Mine."

HOWELL GIRL FOUND

Monday night, Betty Knapp, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Knapp of Howell, disappeared while on her way home from St. Joseph's hall in Howell where she had waited on table, to her home on Clinton street. No trace could be found of her and the officers were notified and her disappearance was broadcast from the state police station at East Lansing. No trace was found of her until Tuesday noon when the Kendrick Kimball family of Detroit telephoned that she was at their home, safe and sound, having arrived there about noon, exhausted, evidently walked and hitch-hiked some distance. The Kimballs have a summer home near the Howell Sanatorium. Mr. Kimball is a special writer for The Detroit News.
