Must Cut Spending

I have written about this subject many times and I have no regret that I have done so, because for a half dozen years our government has been spending money too rapidly.

The President's latest message reviewing the budget situation indicates that the Chief Executive at last has started his thoughts in the direction of curtailed spending. Indeed, Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress in which he asked for a billion and a half dollars for relief purposes was characterized by quite a new note of firmness in his discussion of the need for cutting government costs. I think it is fair to say that in previous messages the President gave little more than lip service to the cause of economy in government. His previous suggestions to congress lacked force. Not so with the current call for a reduction in expenses. It had the earmarks of determination—but it yet remains to be seen whether he will insist strongly upon his conclusions when the showdown with congress comes.

The President's message was interesting in several respects beside the note of firmness, mentioned above. He confessed, for example, that there was no chance for a balanced budget in the next fiscal year. There is no chance, he disclosed, even for achieving the "layman's balance." That "layman's balance" ought to be explained for, my understanding of economics does not contemplate more than one kind of budget balancing, namely, income equaling outgo. But Mr. Roosevelt, in his campaign last year and in his message to congress last January, spoke of "layman's balance" as meaning a balance of income and outgo with the exception of expenditures for relief and for retirement of the public debt. I have heard it described in many quarters as a trick balance which I truly believe it should be called since it is not an honest balance.

In the January message, Mr. Roosevelt talked at length about the necessity for business taking on workers who were then on relief rolls. Only in that manner, he emphasized, could there be a reduction in relief rolls.

In the more recent message, the President omitted any reference to the responsibility of industry for reducing relief rolls by re-employing workers. That is not strange. The fact is, according to the government's own records, that industry is taking on workers at a more rapid rate than the administration had expected. But still there is no hope of a balanced budget this year.

So we must look elsewhere to find the reason. Instead of one, we find two reasons. The first and most important of the two is the fact that, by whatever analysis you make, the New Deal is guilty of continuing to waste money by hundreds of millions and it was not until a few weeks ago that any serious effort was made to choke off this drain, assuming the current effort is serious.

That statement sounds complicated and dull. It is not either one. The unvarnished truth is that Secretary Morgenthau and the flock of experts, trained only in theory, with whom he has surrounded himself, were unable to calculate what the present taxes would produce in revenue. Or, to say the same thing in a few words: Revenue receipts were far below what the Treasury experts guessed they would be.

Thus, the picture seems to be clear. On the one hand, the President heretofore has allowed the alphabetical agencies to run hither and yon in their money spending spree. On the other hand, the lack of competent financial men in the Treasury again is glaringly shown.

To get back to the question of curtailed spending I should like to call attention to the President's language in his latest message.

He said that he proposed to use "every means at my command" to eliminate the deficit next year. That statement sounds strong enough. I question, however, that it can be called a program of retrenchment. In other words, Mr. Roosevelt was content in his message to congress simply to criticize, if not to denounce, extravagant outlays insofar as new commitments are concerned.

During the last few weeks, Mr. Roosevelt has called upon the various agencies of the government for statements of their financial requirements and something of a review of what they have done with previous funds. Considerable ballyhoo accompanied announcement of this survey of governmental requirement. But again, there was no evidence of specific determination by the Chief Executive as to what governmental activity should be restricted or entirely eliminated. It was like a charge of bird shot. It scattered. There was no target mentioned except in a general way.

There has been some talk that possibly Mr. Roosevelt's message and promise to use every means at his command for curtailing expenditures may have been intended as a message to his own subordinates that definite orders were to follow; that he intended his subordinates should see where they themselves could lop off spending plans, and could put their own houses in order. I hope it works out that way. On the other hand, I entertain very serious doubt that such a procedure will ever cause such individuals as the impetuous Mr. Harry Hopkins, relief administrator, to cut down on his spending. Mr. Hopkins loves to spend money. He seems to be happiest when he has billions to spread around, regardless of whether the spending plans really accomplish aid for the destitute. I suspect that congress alone can curb Mr. Hopkins and the only way congress can do so is by declining to appropriate extra money for him.

What I am trying to say in using Mr. Hopkins as the "horrible example," is that Mr. Roosevelt has taught his subordinates to spend money as freely as they can. To a considerable extent, he has let congress have a taste of new spending morsels and what politician does not like to spend money! Therefore, the President is confronted with the necessity of educating both his own subordinates and congress to the new order of conserving taxpayers' money. If he does not accomplish this, we will be saying in another six months what we have said many times—that we are confronted with national bankruptcy.

I cannot believe that the budgetary situation looks any different than it did last January. The difference in the picture is that Mr. Roosevelt at last has begun to see some of the dangers in the situation which he either failed to see or elected to ignore last January. There were few who believed in January that the tax receipts were going to amount to the estimate given congress by the President. The fact that they have fallen short of his calculations by four or five hundred million is a serious thing but it is not so serious that a remedy can not be worked out. The remedy, it seems to me, is a simple use of a simple practice among Americans: When you do not have the money, deny yourself some of the things you would buy if you had the cash.

Relief Message

Mr. Roosevelt's message asking for a billion and a half for relief served to get the collective mind of congress off the Supreme court.

The relief message caused quite a stir in the house of representatives where there has been a decided move already to continue appropriating huge sums of federal money for relief purposes, but it held the senate off the court question no longer than one business day.

I think there has been no question more frequently asked in my time in Washington than: "Will the President's bill to pack the Supreme court pass?"

I have watched the ebb and flow of the tide of sentiment in the senate constantly since the court packing plan was submitted. As the situation now stands, I believe Mr. Roosevelt has the odds in his favor. There is probably a margin of from five to ten votes on the President's side. Whether that will be the state of affairs when a vote comes, I think no one can foretell because the vote in the senate is going to be close.

Many informal polls of the senate have been taken. The results have varied somewhat. They have varied of necessity because there are many senators who remain non-committal, and who are unwilling at this time to take a position for or against the President's scheme.

One may properly ask why this is. The answer is politics. A good many senators do not know how their home states feel about the plan. That is, they are not able to determine whether there has been a crystallization of sentiment for or against the thing.

Consequently, these senators are trying to wait outside of the playing field until they can tell whether they can be justified in going against presidential wishes or capitulating to the President's command. It is to be remembered that if they turn against the President, they antagonize the administration and particularly the Farley political machine. It is rather unhealthy for a New Dealer or Democrat to oppose the Farley machine.

Another reason why many senators are keeping their own counsel on the court packing scheme is that they believe there will be something in the nature of a compromise come out of the hearings and senate judiciary committee consideration.

Talk About Smart Frocks

"AUNT ALMA, there's just one thing I don't like about my new dress—it's so attractive I'm afraid Sis over there will appropriate it when I'm not looking. Outside of that I'm crazy about it, and I think you're swell to make it for me. Why—"

"What's this, what's this? If that isn't a laugh, Aunt Alma! Imagine me wanting anybody's dress. Why since you've taught me to sew-my-own I never want anything. I just make it and that's that. This sport dress, for instance, took me only one afternoon."

"I think you do wonderfully well with your sewing, my dear. You'll be making my clothes the first thing I know. I feel especially pleased with my new spring dress and I have both of you to thank for suggesting this style. It does right well by my hips, and it's so comfortable through the shoulders. I guess I should diet but in this dress I feel nice and slender. Don't you see, girls, how important it is to choose a style that's particularly becoming? It's abiding by this theory that gives some women such enviable chic."

CHAIN STORES DROP CASE SEEKS CAUSE

The number of chain stores in Michigan and the number of companies operating chain stores in this state shows a marked decrease in 1937 as compared with 1936 and Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, has ordered an investigation to determine the reason.

The reduction in chain stores and chain operating firms is also noted in figures for chain counters and firms operating them.

On May 31, 1937 there were 6382 chain stores in Michigan licensed by the state to operate. On May 31, '36 the number of chain stores was 7111 the reduction this year is slightly more than 10 percent. The number of firms operating chain stores shows a reduction of 16.3 percent this year over last year the figures being: for 1936 a total of 1,365, with the '37 total of 1142.

The greatest reduction on a percentage basis is shown for chain counters which are operated within stores for the sale of certain types of merchandise. In 1936 there were 368 chain counters leased in 1937 this had dropped to 296 a reduction of nearly 20 percent. The number of firm-operating chain counters has dropped more than 16 percent.

Attention was drawn to the condition because of its marked contrast with the general increase in business establishments. Chain stores and chain counters are taxed in Michigan under authority of an act of the legislature of 1935.

"GOD IS ALL-IN-ALL"

Since God is All-in-all, the Christian God, the one Mind, have in reality, an inheritance of united thinking. The brotherhood of man depends for its very being on the fatherhood of God. In proportion as we understand that in our real being we are all the offspring of one Father, ideas of our infinite Mind, our companionship and co-operation are assured, whatever may be the personal or racial differences. Brotherly love, then, is not an old wives' fable, but is based on the Science of being.

Jesus repeated the commands of Moses: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind;" and, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself" (Matthew 22:37, 39).

The science of creative Mind, God, establishes the essential unity of all Mind's ideas. The understanding that God is the source of all true thought and action makes men brethren. The acceptance and understanding of the infinity of God, good, is the only basis for genuine unanimity. When we seek the divine way, we shall find that we have true sympathy in our relation to each other. We shall perceive that it is divinely natural to live and think unitedly.

The discovery of God's universal law of spiritual accord, and the natural result of applying this law in the thoughts and lives of men, give us confidence to overcome what may appear to be insuperable differences of human opinion. We find that man is the image of God. Love, in this universe is no Babel of tongues, no confusion of many minds. Here is assurance of the possibility of a perfect reconciliation, and we begin to understand what St. Paul meant when he said, "Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbor: for we are members one of another" (Ephesians 4:25).

Red Coral Always Prized

It is red coral that is and always has been prized, not solely for jewelry and buttons, but as a charm to bring safety, health and secrets not revealed to the ordinary person. As ancient Gauls rushed headlong into battle, they trusted their safety to their swords, strength and the "magic" coral imbedded in their shields or helmets. Many Italians and Indians regard coral as protection against the "evil eye."

The world's red coral comes from the reefs off the Mediterranean coast of Africa, near the Washington Reef, and is colored shiny to opaque.

Several outside guests and former members were also welcomed, all joining in the afternoon's pleasant work of piecing quilts. Those who had prepared the material and donated pieces are to be especially thanked.

Devotionals preceded the business portion of the meeting, the chaplain Mrs. Inez use, reading the passage of the scripture followed by prayer by Clella Fish. Mrs. Vedder called the roll the scripture letter, "B".

Bills were presented and communications read. Also plans were made which will be later noted, "Keep Tuned up to this station."

The Philathea benevolence offering for this date amounted to $4.42. This is with the Junior S. S. offering and other recent gifts, is very gratifying to the benevolence treasurer who now lack only about $4 to finish her half year's quota. Our correspondent banks in other cities do more for our customers than clear checks drawn on their localities.

When one of our customers desires credit information about a possible purchaser a thousand miles away, a correspondent bank in that area advises us of the limit of safety. When Mrs. Smith wants to sell her property in a distant state, a bank correspondent there may be asked to find her a trustworthy representative. When Mr. Jones needs accurate financial facts from a far away city our correspondent in touch with that city will supply them.

Conservation Dept. Notes

New oil operators are coming into Michigan from other states in great numbers. Most of them are from Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The auction sale in June of oil gas leases brought the state nearly $30,000.

As a special accommodation to fishermen the Upper Peninsula Development Assoc. has issued a special bulletin listing the fishing possibility of 300 lakes in the upper peninsula.

A total of 340 forest fires which burned over 10,054 acres was reported up to June 1, 1937. In 1936 up to June 1 there were 500 forest fires.

Two more 100 ft. fire towers have been built by CCC workers for this dept. One is on M-28 west of Walsh Schoolcraft county and the other near Flannan Dickinson county. Brook trout still constitute 60 per cent of the trout taken in Michigan streams.

A person who takes a fire brand or open flame near forest land is subject to arrest and a maximum fine of $1,000 or a minimum fine of $25.

Several weeks ago the dept. planted 2500 adult trout most of which were tagged. By this means it will be learned what percentage of planted fish are taken by the trout fishermen.

Forsters have gone modern and now use fish with lights under water. A number have been arrested with such lights in their possession.

The dept. expects to receive $100,000 from the Clark-McNary Act to fight forest fires.

Wm. Mackay recently killed a 6 ft. 3 in. blue racer which was trying to devour a cotton tail rabbit. The rabbit was released unharmed.

The belief that moose will not breed in captivity is not so. Baby moose have been born at the Royal Oak Zoo and also among captives at the Royal.

A brownish graying was recently caught in the Pine river by Roy W. Hargrove of Kalamazoo. As there is a closed season on them it was returned to the water.

The kill of predatory animals dropped one third 50 percent in May. There were 140 killed. In May 1936 233 were killed.

Used Cave for Glass Work

The first glass maker in Scotland was George Hay (1566-1625). He took advantage of a peculiarly formed cave at Wemyss, on the Fife coast, and set up his furnace therein.

A LIVELY FORMER "FOLLIES" BEAUTY'S LAST EXPLOIT

An article in the American Weekly of the June 20th issue of the Detroit Times, tells how a former show girl declined the hospitality of the police who insisted upon providing a free room for the night but after a strip tease exhibition, she went to sleep in the station house.

HOW OLD CAN WE LIVE TO BE?

An article in the American Weekly of the June 2th issue of the Detroit Sunday Times points out that bald people never live to be 100 that old people are creeping up when you cannot hear keys rattle, and explains other things that sidetrack us prematurely if we start out with a through ticket to the century mark.

THERE'S A MICHIGAN TRAIL A-WINDING...

• Tenting tonight on the old camp ground!

• The open roads are calling now

The superb highways of Michigan are something more than efficient arteries of traffic. In the hands of the State Highway Department they have become truly roads of romance... pleasantly winding trails that add tremendously to Michigan's prestige as a great vacation State.

A major phase of the Department's work is the development of highways along our Great Lakes coast-line to give motorists the finest views of lake, shore and forest. Another phase is dedicated to roadside beauty and convenience... the care of trees, landscape projects, rustic drives, parking areas, springs, pools and cascades.

Resident or visitor, we can all gratefully salute a Highway Department that has made motor touring in Michigan a refreshing adventure in convenience and scenic delight.

Aschenbrenner, F. Haines, E. Myers, M. Ledwidge, C. Miller, B. Baughn and Norm Miller.

Toturing his 700 wives was the favorite indoor sport of the Sultan of Morocco who has just died. Read him in the American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD An Outdoor Exposure Guide

Taken against a white garden wall, with dapples on a bench. Exposure 1/25 second stop f.11 with folding camera.

WHAT kind of camera is yours? For the chrome type, super-sensitive and panoramic film, the guide is good from one hour after sunrise until one hour before sunset. For ordinary film, make the margin 2 1/4 hours.

This guide is for days when the sun is shining. When the day is cloudy, the exposure should be about twice as long and when very dull, about four times as long.

Why not cut this valuable guide out and paste it in your hat, or something?

John van Guilder.

LEE LAVEY, Dealer

This message is an appeal to truck drivers. The trucking industry has achieved some remarkable results in accident prevention. There has been a great improvement in the past four or five years, not only in the conduct of these drivers but also in their habits and their driving.

Occasionally, however you will find several large trucks being driven along our highways very close together. This makes it difficult for private cars to pass them because of the speed involved and the length of time it takes of pass two or three of these trucks.

Truck drivers should maintain the proper amount of space between truck in order that private cars and others traveling at a faster rate of speed can turn in when passing these large trucks. It is an added measure of safety, and the same principle can also apply to private cars traveling close together.

This is a dangerous situation and one that we can all help to correct.

Wealth and Fame

TO ONE looking out over a world of human endeavor, it may appear that the chief objective of men is to acquire material wealth and fame. While some may be striving to procure daily meals, others may be trying to gain millions. Some may seek to be heard by their neighbors, while others strive to be heard by nations. And because of erroneous mortal beliefs men often work strenuously for material wealth and fame, giving little thought to the gaining of genuine substance, that which alone sustains and prospers man.

To the materially minded, to darkened mortal sense, wealth and fame may mean merely perishable gold and personal glory, while to the spiritually enlightened they mean something far greater. They mean true substance and honor—imperishable, impersonal, and eternal. In either case, wealth and fame are two significant words.

Since God is infinite good, spiritual and eternal, can that which has only a material or temporal existence be truly good? If wealth is good, it must be of God; therefore, it is not material but spiritual, not temporal but eternal, not uncertain and perishable but certain and imperishable. Genuine wealth lies in spiritual understanding. Did not Christ Jesus say (Matthew 6:33), "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you?" And these words have a very simple meaning. They mean that if we seek to know and understand God aright, every human need will be abundantly met.

Now the word "fame" is defined, in part, by our dictionaries as " lofty (or exalted) reputation derived from great achievements." What achievements could be greater than healing the sick and raising the dead as did Jesus of Nazareth? Was it not surely a great achievement to feed five thousand with "but five loaves, and two fishes" at hand, and to have much food remaining after all had eaten. It is recorded that as Christ Jesus went about Galilee "healing all manner of sickness," "his fame went throughout all Syria" (Matthew 4:23, 24). No spiritual achievements can be greater than those of the master Christian.

The wealthiest, most famed, and most powerful individual ever to this country, Admiral Grayson pointed out that work had been made necessary by disasters in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Philippines, where 26 disasters were recorded in that archipelago. The American Society also assisted the Red Cross of two foreign countries in caring for victims of floods and earthquakes.

The variation of types of disasters called for expert council on matters relating to health and nutrition as well as epidemic prevention. Last year's work proved the value of the structure and administration of the Red Cross disaster relief. The Admiral said, the very frequency of occurrence and the variety of types constituting a severe test of the organization chartered by Congress to handle this type of National relief.

Expenditures of the Red Cross for relief of persons stricken by disasters within the continental United States amounted to $484,418. In addition, $75,000 was sent to the Philippines to assist them in three major relief operations necessitated by typhoons, $5,000 went to victims of the Indian earthquake, and $5,000 to Poland for victims of severe floods. A number of smaller foreign emergencies called for sums totaling $2,500.

The months of February, March, April, May and June were heaviest for tornado disasters. Floods occurred throughout the year. Serious fires calling for Red Cross assistance took place during July and December. A devastating explosion took place in Tennessee during April. Most of the hurricane struck States along the east coast during the fall and early winter.

"All of this assistance to persons in distress," Admiral Grayson pointed out, "was only possible through generous contributions made by citizens in all sections of the country."
