

Pinckney School To Present Operetta

To Be Presented by the Pupils of the Grades of Pinckney High School at the School Auditorium on May 20th.

The grade pupils of the Pinckney School will present the operetta, "The Rainbow's Edge", at the school auditorium on May 20th under the direction of the music director, Mrs. Iva Meyers. The story of the operetta is as follows:

The unborn flowers guarded by Nurse Nature, Bow Wow and the Fairy slumber in their Earth awaiting the call of Spring.

The Rainbow Elves come to tint the flowers' new dresses, then depart leaving behind them the flowers dresses and the rainbow colors.

During the Night tricky Jack Frost and the Snow Flakes steal the colors and dresses.

Cheerful Robin Red Breast and the Frost King arrive and disclose the Frost King's plot to return and steal the flowers' themselves.

The Brown Bears come to the aid of Nurse Nature but the Frost King calls his allies the Polar Bears. The conflict between the Brown Bears and the Polar Bears results in the defeat of the Brown Bears.

The Frost people are about to depart with their prisoners when the conquering Sunbeam arrives and turn defeat into victory for Nurse Nature and the flowers.

Bow Wow discloses to the Rainbow Elves the hiding place of the stolen flower dresses and colors. These are restored amidst rejoicings. A joyous Finale of all characters expresses a greeting to Spring.

These grade pupils make up the cast:

Sunbeams, Arlene Negus, Fanny Shirley, Johnny Vast, Jane Amburgey. Rainbow Elves, Maynard Clark, Donald Amburgey, Aaron Shirley, Neil Baughn, Jimmie Meyers. Rhythm Band, Primary Room. Chorus, 6th and 7th grades. Frost King, Douglas Plummer. Nurse Nature, Dorothy Parker. Jack Frost, Jackie Haines. Robin, L. D. Haines. Raven, Garth Meyers. Bow Wow, Ross Lamb. Dream Fairy, Anna Lupo. Snow Flake, Muriel Read, Zena Plummer, Joan Craft, Lester Negus. Flowers, Rita Kennedy, Leona Campbell, Audrey Amburgey and Lois Shirley.

Brown Bears, Chas. Clark, Pat Jeffrey, Gail Shirley, Jimmy Doolittle. Polar Bears, Jr. Doyle, Tommy Clark, Bobby Carr, Hollis Amburgey. Fowlerville high school has kindly consented to send their String ensemble consisting of nine violins and one piano to entertain us the evening of the Operetta, Friday, May 26 at Pinckney high school auditorium.

Admission, 10c and 20c.

DANCING RECITAL GIVEN

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Long of Jackson, who conduct a top dancing school in several towns gave a recital at the Pinckney school last Friday night. In addition to the Pinckney pupils a number of those from other towns took part. The following from here took part:

Shirley Temple Dance Leona Campbell. Slam Bang Dance, Jimmie Doolittle. Buck Dance, Jeanne Clark. Nifty Stepper, Barbara Haines. Dancing Rockets, Jean Craft, Betty Baughn. Highland Breakdown, Agnes Hamperian. Double Buck Dance, Helen Kennedy, Kay Dilloway. Fast Stepping, Jeanette Haines. Laying Them Down, Jack Hannett. Group Dance, Pinckney Girls. Twenty Tapping Toes, Mary Hoisel, Megan Myers. Buck and Wing, Gloria Craft. Brushing Up, Muriel and Rose Mary Read. Clever Dance, Rita Kennedy. Military Gun Drill, Helen Kennedy, Kay Dilloway. Frisco, Mary Hoisel, Megan Myers.

In addition Cobb and Marlow, Big Apple winners of Jackson, Ward, the magician and other were on the program which was much enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Miller visited James Shirley, Mrs. Ora Haines, and N. O. Frye at the U. of M. Hospital in Ann Arbor the first of the week. Russell McComb, athletic coach of Stockbridge High School, has accepted the position of track and assistant athletic coach at Dundee High School.

Air Mail To Go Thursday

Much Interest Is Manifested. 200 Air Mail Stamps Sold First Day. Pinckney Cachet Draws Praise

Much interest is being shown in the National Air Mail Week Observance being held this week. Postmaster Murphy reports the sale of 200 air mail stamps at the local office on Monday, the first day. The cachet appearing on the envelope drew much praise. It is the work of George Hornshaw, local artist and designer.

The plane which will stop at Howell and pick up the air mail for this county will land there on Thursday, May 19 instead of May 16 as was first announced. So people have until Thursday to mail their air mail letters. Most everyone plans to send at least one letter by air mail this week.

Above is a reproduction of the Pinckney cachet used on the envelopes out of the Pinckney postoffice that were sent by airmail this week.

THOMAS DOLAN

Thomas E. Dolan, 69, for 45 years connected with the Detroit Welfare Dept. died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Brennan, in Detroit Monday. He was the son of the late William Dolan, Pinckney merchant, and attended school here. For a time he worked in the general store of George Sykes, later accepting a clerkship in the Detroit Dept. of the Poor in 1891. Eventually he became the head of this department. In 1932 it was merged with the welfare department and he became consulting supt. which position he held until March, 1937. He married Anna Gallagher of Dexter in 1895. She died in 1923. Two children survive daughter, Mrs. Brennan, and a son, Russell. His two brothers, Frank and William, and sisters, Agnes and Laura, having preceded him in death. The funeral was held from the Gesu church, Detroit, Wednesday, with the burial in Mt. Cavalry cemetery.

FREE PICTURES ARE POSTPONED

Rain which fell all day last Saturday and into the night caused the postponement of the free motion picture show to be held on the Pinckney public square. The show will be held Saturday night of this week, weather permitting.

DELINQUENT TAX SALE STILL IN PROGRESS

The sale of property for delinquent taxes is still in progress in this county as the tax records have not yet been fully checked. None of the property for sale has as yet been put up 3 times as the law requires. No Howell, Pinckney, Fowlerville or Brighton property has yet been put up but it is expected to go on sale this week. Last week two pieces of property in Hamburg and one in Green Oak was sold. No definite date has been set yet for the end of the sale. In the meantime the county treasurers office is crowded daily with tax payers.

The Hamburg purchasers were Viola Pettys and Clyde Dunning.

History of Tennis Game

HOW TO GRIP THE RACKET

The amateur before attempting to play should learn how to grip the racket properly, because much success depends on this point.

There are three types of grips, the eastern, the western and the continental. The eastern grip consists of shaking hands with the racket as it is standing on its edge. In this grip the wrist is behind the racket head and helps to add power. In shifting to the backhand, which is hit on the opposite side of the racket, the handle of the racket is turned about one quarter of the way. At this point your hand is on the top of the handle.

The continental grip for the forehand and backhand are the same. The only difference between this grip and the eastern is that the turn is less than the one-quarter necessary for the eastern.

The western grip calls for a quarter-turn of the racket in the opposite direction of the eastern and continental grip. In this grip the wrist is perpendicular to the broad side of the handle.

I use the eastern grip and believe it to be the best in an all-round game.

PHILATHEA NOTES

The Pinckney Philathea Club held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Hattie Smith, 17, of Pinckney, on Monday evening, May 16. The speaker for the evening was Mr. C. E. Smith, who presented a paper, "The Missionary Spirit," by Clella Fish.

During the afternoon session were handed out for the Ladies Aid 12 and 13 and work done by several of the ladies. Mrs. Nettle Johnson invited the class for June, at which time the work will be continued on a quilt. Instead of entertainment features and the roll call better will be "G.M."

The session to pick for next Sunday is offering through Christian Citizenship, Mark 12:13-17 and 28-34. Sympathy is deeply felt for the family of Guy A. Hall, in his sudden passing on Friday last. All his life a resident of this community, his friends were legion, because he himself had been a friend to all.

ALUMNI PLANS STARTED

One Campbell and Mrs. Rolland Shuman met with Mrs. Jno. Kane of Whitmore Lake last Saturday evening to start plans for the Pinckney Alumni Association. The date set for this year's meeting is June 25, 1938. A hall room on the square is looked for the afternoon to be followed by a banquet, business meeting, program and a dance. It will be held at the high school auditorium. The program will be printed later.

EDWARD WHITE

Edward White, 75 died at his home in Omer, Michigan, May 12th. The funeral and burial were held there on Sunday. He was born in Putnam, being the son of the late Louis White. His wife formerly Josie Allen, of Pinckney died a year ago. Surviving are 3 daughters and 3 sons.

Those from here who attended the funeral were Ben, Frank and N. White and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Metz.

Putnam Farmer

Dies Very Suddenly

Guy Hall, Prominent Farmer, Died of Heart Attack About Noon Last Friday. Was Lifelong Resident of Putnam.

Guy Hall, 63, son of the late Jas. Hall, died at his home east of Pinckney suddenly of a heart attack last Friday. He had just finished his dinner and came into the living room to sit down and read when he suffered the fatal seizure. The deceased was born on the farm where he died and spent his entire life there. He attended the Pinckney school and the Pinckney Congl. Church and was a member of the Young Men's Club organized here by Reverend George W. Mylin some 35 years ago. He was married in marriage to Miss Iva Place, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Placeway of Hamburg township. Six sons were born to this union of whom five survive, Stanley of Marquette City, James of Kalamazoo, Harold of New Haven, and Ralph and Helen at home. Another son, Stacey, died at the great beyond several years ago. He also leaves three sisters, Miss Flora Hall and Mrs. Samuel Kennedy of Seattle, W. B.ington, and Mrs. Edward Cook of Howell.

Mr. Hall was a staunch Republican and took a prominent part in the politics of that party in this section. He was nominated for supervisor a number of times and although not successful always made a good run. He was a good father, neighbor and citizen and never refused to lend a hand to those in less fortunate circumstances. It was within his power to do so. On this account he will be much missed in this locality.

The funeral was held from the Pinckney Congregational Church on Monday afternoon. Reverend H. C. Mayersoff, of Saugatuck, a former Pinckney pastor officiating. Burial was in the Pinckney cemetery.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

The following marriage licenses were issued by the County Clerk's office last week: Everett Trollman, 24, of Mt. Pleasant, 17, of Pinckney, and Roland Gordon, 27, of Pinckney, May 16. Barham, 32, of Pinckney, and Robert, 24, of Pinckney, May 17. Wm. May, 28, of Wadsworth.

DROWNS AT HITMORE LAKE

Arthur Royce, 44, of Pontiac drowned at Whitmore Lake Monday night when he fell into the water while trying to start an outboard motor on his boat about 500 yards from shore. His companion, B. E. Abbott of Maumee, Ohio, got to shore safely when the boat overturned. The body was recovered Tuesday by the Livingston County Sheriff's dept. Royce is survived by one daughter.

NOTICE

Pinckney Chapter No. 145 will hold "County Night" in the chapter room on Tuesday, evening, May 26. Officers chosen from the different towns of the order.

The traveling panel will be presented to the Worthy Matron of the Howell Chapter.

Life membership certificates will also be presented.

DUST LAYING OIL AVAILABLE

The Livingston County Road Commission now offers dust laying oil at $2.75 per 100 ft. applied on the road. Write or call the County Road Commission Office at Howell. Payment must be made in advance.

Game wardens of the state conservation commission have been given permission to carry arms. This was caused by the fact that three game wardens were severely beaten by a mob of 20 fish law violators in northern Michigan whom they attempted to arrest for taking fish out of season.

ONE DAY COURT SESSION

Circuit Court convened Monday but no cases were tried, only motions being heard. The jury has not yet been sworn on what date they are to report.

A number of local Masons expect to attend the Masonic banquet at Dexter tonight commemorating the 50th anniversary of the chartering of Washenaw Lodge No. 65.

CURRENT COMMENT

"By Ye Editor"

A number of years ago Henry Ford advocated a "Back to the Farm Movement". That is he would build factories in rural places where men could work for six months of the year spending the balance of the time on their farms. At the time he did not try it out. Now he is doing so. 100 youths from Dearborn have been selected and will work the land near there. They will live in tents and bunk houses at the land for six months. If this experiment is able to be worked he will start other camps in other parts of the country.

Thus he would solve the unemployment problem. It seems to be an established fact that the auto plants running at full capacity can supply the needs of the country in six months.

According to agriculture experts the frosts of the past week have ruined the fruit and berry crops and all the housewives will have to can this year will be tomatoes. However, we have heard these gloomy forecasts before but from somewhere or by some way there was always enough fruit or berries to supply the needs. The frosts last week were severe. Many who covered their plants reported them frosted in spite of coverings.

The new LaFollette third party will not get a place on the Michigan ballot this year as it failed to file its vignette in the allotted time. How ever there will be some 19 other parties on the ballot. The press states that most of these parties will get nowhere and will fold up after one campaign. Undoubtedly they serve to befuddle the voters but on the other hand they have advocated many valuable reforms which were later taken up and put into effect by the two major parties. This country has proved that it is a two party country time and again and according to indications will continue to do so.

While Governor Murphy and Harry Toy are going about the state and making speeches Ex-Gov. Fitzgerald pursues another plan. He is not a good speaker and makes very few speeches. Instead he visits the different counties and holds star chamber sessions to which his friends and anyone else who desires to go are invited. Frank Fitzgerald, though his some 20 years in public office became well acquainted all over the state and built up one of the best political organizations that ever has functioned with representatives in every township of the state. These sessions of his are for the purpose of filling up the cogs in his machine and replacing some of them who have deserted to go over to Harry Toy, his rival.

The hats continue to fall in the political ring. Joseph Powers of Detroit has announced his candidacy for lt. gov. He is a son-in-law of Frank Cody, supt. of Detroit schools and member of the state board of education. James Greenfield of Norway, upper peninsula, will be a candidate for auditor general. He was formerly with the state banking dept. and later with the state tax commission. Both of these men are Republicans.

The country was all heated up last week because someone smeared red paint on the Plymouth Rock in Mass., where the pilgrims landed. This sort of vandalism has happened before. The statue of General Ypsilanti at Ypsilanti was daubed with black paint a few years ago and vandals have often gone into the cemeteries and smashed and damaged monuments. It is on account of this that many cemeteries are kept locked after certain hours.

Mrs. Mable Schafer presided at a meeting of G. O. P. women at Brighton Monday. former congresswoman W. W. Blackman of Elmira spoke.

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging headache, persistent dizziness, attacks of dizziness, going up stairs, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, feeling of nervous energy and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is clear and urgent. The Doan's Pills. # Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted By WILLIAM BRUCKART

Washington.—Congress has just passed another relief appropriation for the current year. This, like the earlier vote of funds, was done at the request of the President.

The new sum is $250,000,000. Since the first appropriation for the current year was a billion and a half, we now find that federal relief during the current fiscal year will have cost at least $1,750,000,000. It may be added that the sum mentioned is in addition to local charity, community chests, etc., and also that it has been, or is being, spent in a period five years after we were told that the nation was about to be remade under New Deal ideals.

Now, it is a rather far cry from relief, the care of the aged and infirm, the destitute, to the question of politics. That is, it appears only to be a great gap between those two phases of national life. I insist it is very close; that there is no gap at all. I reach that conclusion because never before in history has there been such use of basic economics as in the last four or five years. That is to say, politicians have turned to questions of economics for their political buncombe—and it ought to be added that when a politician tries to do something with fundamental questions, just there begins a grand mess.

All of which brings us to the point of this discussion. When President Roosevelt went into the White House in March, 1933, he was confronted with probably the most unfavorable conditions, insofar as business conditions were concerned, that any President ever has faced. He called for a New Deal in handling the situation and he obtained almost unanimous support. Indeed, as we look back at that situation, the support was too nearly unanimous. He had no opposition to point out weaknesses of what was proposed by the responsible officials. I think I recall having written at that time that a stronger opposition would have been good for the country. Some of the pitfalls would have been avoided. I am sure, if congress had not been so subservient and if the President had not yielded so completely to the theories of advisers who had no practical experience.

The people of the nation were in a mood to listen to anyone. They heard new phrases of what can and should be done—the more abundant life, the economic royalists, the crushers of the poor, and on and on. But the trouble with the professor-advisers was that they ignored or did not know of another side to the story. In short, they believed that human nature had changed overnight and that a nation could be managed or directed or ordered as an individual. It has taken several years to re-establish natural facts and natural laws, but they seem now to be approaching that re-establishment through the processes that normally must be followed in a nation, as distinguished from an individual.

So, what do we have? I think the answer is that we have an administration headed by a man who is the victim of the advisers he selected. I believe it can be said that politically President Roosevelt is just as uncertain about where he is going as is the rank and file of citizens about where the nation is going. But he selected those advisers and, for the most part, continues to give them his confidence. They are still on the job. And in no better way has it been shown that they are utterly incapable of meeting national problems than is shown in the business of relief. Relief is more than just the care of those who must have help. Relief is a condition reflecting other conditions. The President and his theorists, therefore, must be charged directly with having failed. We have almost as many unemployed or under government aid as we had when Mr. Roosevelt took office.

I suppose someone will write to me asking what can be, or what should be, done about it. Anticipating that query, I will attempt to answer now, but I want to illustrate it.

A friend of mine has been ill for several years with an intestinal ailment. Physicians to the number of a dozen or more have studied the case. Finally, the use of a drastic remedy, a potent and almost poisonous drug, was prescribed. The doctor began by ordering the patient to take three drops, only three, at the start. The dose was increased gradually. In the last few weeks, my friend has taken fifty drops of the drug each day.

There is no assurance that the ailment will be eliminated. There can not be a determination for many months because the treatment is entirely new in medical annals. Thus far, there has been no appreciable change in the patient's condition. But the point is, after all, that a professional man who has devoted years to the study of a science would not attempt to cure a basic condition without first providing opportunity for the human body to adjust itself to the new conditions.

Now, I am somewhat old fashioned and hold to the belief that a whole nation of people, after all, will make progress if given the chance to do so. I further believe that their collective reasoning in the end will be right. They can not, however, be turned inside out unless there has been some preparation for the ordeal and they can not take a dose which is poisonous in quantity any more than my friend, the individual, could take it and live. In making that statement, I must make clear my conviction that some of the New Deal prescriptions were needed. A few of them were badly needed. On the other hand, I think it can be fairly asserted that a good many of them were never needed, never were usable or workable. They were poisons not intended by nature to be so administered to the national body.

We can go further. It can be said that no individual who is ill can work efficiently, if at all. That is true of our economic life which includes business. And business is everywhere—from the smallest general store at the crossroads near my Missouri birthplace to the gigantic Marshall Field company in Chicago, General Motors in New York, Aluminum company in Pittsburgh, or hundreds of thousands of others. Business can not get going at its proper pace if it is ill.

The business of the country has something more than its own body, however, as a problem to constantly watch. That general store that I mentioned may not be much concerned about Washington affairs, but it feels the impact of things done at Washington whether it recognizes them or not. The larger concerns, of course, feel Washington actions much more directly. So, in addition to the influence of markets, buying and selling of or among the general public, business is influenced by what is done here in Washington, and that may be bad medicine or good medicine.

Let us take just one or two examples of what I mean. One of the Biblical proverbs of the New Deal was the necessity for a law providing what the theorists were pleased to call "social security." That includes old age pensions. New Deal campaigners sang many beautiful songs about caring for the aged, and certainly there are millions who have needed help. When it came to practical application of the plan, however, the boys started looking for the necessary money. Thus arose the so-called payroll tax for unemployment and old age pensions.

It sounded workable to many persons. It was a thing for the future and there was not too much worry about the problem of where those who were to pay the tax would get the money. The time has arrived, however, where the beautiful theory is a perfectly enormous practical problem.

The first year's "take" by the government amounts to something over a billion dollars. Some of it, almost half, comes out of the pay envelopes of the workers; the remainder comes out of the pockets of the employers. It is turned over to "Washington" and when money gets into government hands it becomes unproductive. The result has been that in the last year there has been taken away from its owners more than a billion dollars that would have added at least a billion dollars to the buying power of the country if it had been left with the proper owners. That is one of the big reasons for the Roosevelt depression, as distinguished from the Hoover depression obtaining when the present administration took over the reins of government. It was a dose of 50 drops when the country was able to stand only a few drops.

To get back to relief: I have argued in these columns many times that relief should be handled by the states and, equally, I think the old age pension and unemployment benefits, if they are to be used, should be handled by the states. My point is that Professional Reliever Hopkins, here in Washington, can not know through any organization he may build what the facts are surrounding any of the thousands receiving help.

Something that can be done is to eliminate about one third of this general money spending that is going on here in Washington or out in the various states under direction from Washington. I wish Mr. Roosevelt had stuck to his campaign promise of 1932 to cut federal expenses by 25 per cent. The tragedy of this spending is that it saddles debt on the younger folks and those yet unborn for several generations. It has to end somewhere. © Western Newspaper Union.

WHAT TO EAT AND WHY

Food Provides the Key to Mental and Physical Power

You Can Be Strong, Beautiful, Wise, Rear Healthy Children Only If You Know How to Combine the Right Food Materials in the Diet

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

6 East 30th Street, New York.

SINCE the world began, food has been man's first consideration. For it he has fought and died. To find it he has traveled over great continents and braved unknown dangers. His quest for food has changed the map of the world and colored the history of nations. But in all of these historic struggles, he has been motivated solely by the desire to get enough food to satisfy hunger.

Today, actual hunger is rare. But hundreds of thousands of people starve in the midst of plenty because they do not realize the tremendous power of food for good or for evil.

They do not realize that as a man eats, so he is, and that his choice of food materials gives or takes away the power to live vigorously—to think clearly—to feel warmly—to be strong, healthy and wise.

It can be truly said that your food is your fate. It has the power to shape your body—to make it strong and beautiful, or weak and ugly. It has the power to influence your language, your gait, your tone of voice, in short—your life. With the right food, life becomes a glorious adventure, for it increases your leadership, intensifies your magnetic qualities, strengthens your morale, and increases your physical defenses and resistance. Without it, one drags through miserable days—never realizing even half of his potential mental and physical powers.

Food—the Fuel of Life.

The human body is a machine, far more complex than any machine devised by the mind of man. Food is the fuel which runs this amazing machine. Food is also the material used to repair worn-out parts, and to keep the intricate mechanism in good working order.

The body machine cannot be run efficiently without proper food fuel any more than a car could be run without gas, or a house could be heated without oil, coal or wood.

Food also has the power to speed up or slow down the workings of the mind. It likewise influences the state of our nerves, the warmth of our affections, the type of characters we possess.

Finally, the power to have strong, healthy children is based on proper food. And nutritional scientists have discovered that the wrong food can even take away from us the greatest blessing that Nature has bestowed—our earthly immortality. For it can deprive us of the ability to bear children who will carry on after we are gone.

Six Groups of Food Substances. What food substances are necessary to build and maintain top health—to develop the greatest physical and mental power? There are six groups of food substances which must be included in the balanced diet which promises increased health, happiness and longevity:

1. PROTEINS which build and repair body tissues. These are found in such foods as milk, eggs, meats, fish, cheese and nuts.
2. FATS which yield heat and energy. The fats are represented by butter, cream, oils and the fat of meats.
3. CARBOHYDRATES—the starches and sugars. These also supply heat and energy, and are found chiefly in such foods as bread, potatoes, cereals and sweets.
4. MINERALS which build, repair, protect and regulate. Among the minerals which are absolutely necessary to health and vigor are calcium, phosphorus, iron, copper, iodine, sulphur, manganese, magnesium, sodium and potassium. These are found in varying amounts in milk, eggs, fruits, vegetables, whole grain cereals and meats.
5. VITAMINS which are necessary for body regulation, and as a protection against dread deficiency diseases. Six have been discovered to date—A, B, C, D, E and G.
6. WATER which is a part of all body tissue and must be present in order to have the other food elements function properly.

The ideal dietary is one that includes a correct proportion of the different food elements required to supply bodily needs without any of them being supplied in excess, or in insufficient amounts.

Danger in Omitting One Essential To illustrate how important it is that not one of the necessary food substances be omitted, let me tell you how an eminent bio-chemist proved in his experimental laboratory, in one of our leading universities, that the difference between stupidity and genius depended upon the presence or absence of one vitamin.

He placed a pregnant animal upon a diet adequate in every respect, except that it lacked one of the six vitamins. As soon as her young were born and weaned, they were fed a completely adequate diet.

Then the scientist tested the mentality of the young animals. He wanted to find out whether or not their mental power had been injured in any way by the fact that their mother—during pregnancy—had been deprived of one vital food element. So he put them in a runway. To get out of this and reach a tasty morsel at the other end—they had to make their way through a series of passages. He had already made this same test on the same type of animals born of properly fed mothers. He knew that it never took them more than 25 trials to learn their way out of the maze. Most of them had gotten out after 15 to 18 attempts.

But what lack of skill was shown by the animals whose mother had been deprived of proper food? The stupidity of these pathetic little creatures was unbelievable. Some of them never learned to thread the maze and reach their goal, even after as many as 250 trials. They were being given—at the time—everything that was necessary to their diet. But they had entered life with minds totally unequipped to cope with the world—because their mother had not been properly fed before they were born.

This is a striking example of the power of food to make or mar existence. I could cite hundreds of other laboratory experiments, many of which have been confirmed by clinical experience. Nor is this power of food to affect mental activity confined to prenatal life. Even if a child enters this world with a strong body and a clear mind—the wrong food during childhood has the power to wreck health.

Investigation after investigation, by leading specialists throughout the country, has proven that a surprising percentage of retarded children—those who can not keep up with their school grades—do not really have inferior minds. They only seem stupid because the action of their minds is clogged and slowed down by sluggish, under-fed bodies.

Physical fitness is a far greater asset than material possessions. For in times of stress and trouble, those who can stand up under the physical strain win the battle. For those who collapse, all is lost.

The Homemaker's Responsibility. Every wife and mother is therefore faced with the tremendous responsibility of keeping her family mentally and physically fit. Her husband must have the right kind of food in order to earn a living. Her own diet must be adequate and well-balanced if she is to have the energy, wisdom, and patience required of a mother at all hours of the day.

C. Houston Goudiss, outstanding food authority, author, and lecturer, author of "What to Eat and Why." He knows food from soil to serving, from table to tissue. Watch for his articles each week.

Her baby will not grow into a healthy man or woman unless he or she has the right nourishment from the moment of birth. And school children can't keep up with their classes without the right food.

If you will follow this series of articles, and put into practice the principles of correct eating that I advocate, I can promise that you will increase both mental and physical efficiency, and as a result, achieve greater health and happiness for every member of your family.

Food Affects Your Body and Mind

Each morning when you awake, a new life is ahead of you. Whether that day and the days to follow will be better or worse than those that went before, depends largely upon what you eat.

Within a few hours the bread, meat, vegetables and liquids that you swallow are transformed into your personality. They begin to think, feel and act. They become YOU. What was food yesterday, today is carrying on the important business of the world.

Each meal that you eat helps or hinders the efficiency and ease with which these various duties are performed. That is why it is true that as you eat, so you are. And that is why I say that three times a day, at your table, you SIT DOWN TO LIFE.

How Often Should Your Furniture Be Polished?

Housewives differ on the question of "when to polish their furniture." Some have no set time for it—polishing when they think of it—or when, casting a glance about, they decide that the furniture can "stand it." Others, polish every cleaning day—which ordinarily occurs once a week. Others dedicate but one day a year to this important procedure. And still others, polish the furniture in their home regularly, once a month. This last group is the largest—but their schedule is not sufficiently frequent. Furniture can not be polished too often! True, the outward benefit of the best oil polish—the luster—will last through a single week—and more—but this same polish, with its light oil base, preserves and "feeds" the furniture, revives it, prolongs its life! So that every application is highly beneficial to woodwork and the various pieces of fine wood in the home. Our advice, therefore, for the sake of endurance, as well as appearance, of your furniture, is "polish up" with a good oil polish at least twice a month!

If there is no lighting, then one of the first suggestions is to see a light installed. That ends the groping for shoes, lost hangers, and articles that insist on dropping off the hooks and hangers.

Next step is to fix up the walls. Dead white is not inspiring, says Miss White.

Why not tint the walls a gay soft yellow of a light green? Woodwork can be light ivory or white.

The placing and number of shelves is another phase to consider. The shelves should match the woodwork in color and should be covered with white or tinted shelf paper set off by narrow and contrasting fringe.

Fittings can be part of the modernistic touch. Inexpensive shoe racks and tie racks can be purchased to fit the color scheme or repainted. Cellophone or chintz bags help keep off dust from clothes not often worn.

Chromium hat racks and shoe trees are other suggestions. Hangers are to be wooden for suits and heavy coats, velvet covered for silk dresses.

BUT ONE QUESTION READY FOR BALLOT

Of six special questions and proposed constitutional amendments slated to go on the November general election ballot, but one is thus far qualified.

The legislature of 1937, by a joint resolution, proposed a constitutional amendment increasing the annual salaries of certain state officials but, doubt as to its legal meaning has caused it to be transferred to the Attorney-General for consideration.

Four other proposed constitutional amendments have been approved by the Secretary of State as to form, each of these petitions must bear the signature of 174,977 voters of the state and be submitted by July 1, to be placed on the ballot. The number of signatures required is equal to ten percent of the total votes cast for all candidates for governor in the 1936 election.

The four proposals would provide for appointment, rather than election, of justices of the state supreme court; four year terms for certain county officers; prohibition of deficiency judgments for more than past due installments on purchase contracts; a one percent per month interest rate for loans of $300 or less.

The one special question thus far certified to the ballot is the referendum on the 1937 statute revising the state's welfare and relief machinery. Operation of this statute has been suspended pending the November election.

Red Coral Always Prized

It is red coral that is and always has been prized, not solely for jewelry and buttons, but as a charm to bring safety, health and secrets not revealed to the ordinary person. As ancient Gauls rushed headlong into battle, they trusted their safety to their swords, strength and the "magic" coral imbedded in their shields or helmets. Many Italians and Indians regard coral as protection against the "evil eye." The world's red coral comes from the reefs off the Mediterranean coast of Africa, says the Washington Post, and is obtained chiefly by Italians.

Wore Prince Alberts

In the "nifty nineties," most United States senators wore Prince Alberts. The frock coat was a symbol of statesmanship and a beard was the mark of a man of maturity and substance.

What can we do for the pedestrian? Approximately three out of four traffic fatalities result from vehicles coming into contact with pedestrians. Safety education has helped to reduce the number of fatalities among school children, and from experience in various cities we know that adult education in safety is also effective in reducing the number of accidents. Laws and regulations alone will not prevent accidents. The idea of carefulness must be instilled in the minds of our citizens, and until the time comes every man, woman and child is safely conscious, little progress can be expected.

Safety meetings, lectures, movies, posters and articles in newspapers and magazines will all help to educate the public and to keep the important problem of safety uppermost in the minds of pedestrians and motorists.

While the press thinks highly of Vern Brown of Mason as a candidate for auditor general, they are apparently none too confident of his power to win the nomination. He would have to be nominated in the convention and nominations made in a convention are usually on a geographical basis as the powers that be want every section of the state represented on the ballot on the theory that it makes the ticket strong. The office of auditor general in the past has been usually handed to the upper peninsula. On account of this the nomination of Mr. Toy would probably strengthen Brown's chances as Fitzgerald comes from the upper peninsula of the state.

RURAL PUPILS TO VISIT IN DETROIT

Pilgrimage to be Made May 24 to Ford Plant, Rotunda, and the Institute of Arts

Rural pupils of Livingston county and their teachers are planning for their second annual pilgrimage to Detroit, Tuesday May 24.

The pupils of the county and the teachers will meet at east side of the court house at 7:30 a. m., Tuesday, May 24, and board buses that will take them to Detroit. In the city the children will visit the Ford plant, the Ford Rotunda, the Detroit Institute of Art and Belle Isle. Pupils must be accompanied by their teacher. The trip cost has been set at $2.00 including lunch.

Arrangements for the sight-seeing trip are being made through the office of Miss E. Alma Sharpe, the county school commissioner.

LIVINGSTON COUNTYS SAWERS

Although the forests have long since followed the Indian and other pioneers of this county into oblivion. The sound of the sawmill is still heard in parts of the county. Of course the big lumbering days are gone forever, but there is a good market for railroad ties, spile and fire wood made from the smaller trees. A saw mill has operated all winter in the Jim Henry woods, just west of Bert Hooker's farm. Every tree will be cut and then the land sold, the operators buying trees, land and all. It is operated by Charles White of near Fowlerville. Following are some figures released by the U. of M. School of Forestry. Livingston county's 16 sawmills produce about 6,696,000 board feet of lumber per year, it is revealed in a survey of Lower Michigan's timber industry recently completed by

24 HOURS A DAY

THE telephone service that is at your command 24 hours a day is unexcelled anywhere in the world.

That service is a product of the Bell System. Its high quality is the result of more than half a century of unceasing research, expert manufacturing, and continuous effort toward more efficient operation. Its value to the user has increased constantly while its cost has decreased.

In Michigan, telephone rates have been reduced in five successive years — 1931-1938. In the past 11 years there have been 17 items of reduction in Long Distance charges.

It is the policy of this company to provide a telephone service more and more free from imperfections, errors or delays, at a cost as low as is consistent with financial safety.

WIN FIRST OUTSIDE GAME

The Pinckney soft ball team went to the State Sanitarium last Thursday and defeated that team 15 to 6. Stanley Dinkel pitched for Pinckney and allowed only one earned run. Pinckney got 17 hits off two Sanitarium pitchers including home runs by Hookie Battle and Marsh Ledwidge with the bases full. Battles' was one of the longest ever made there, travelling about two city blocks. The Sanitarium team had several former Pinckneyites in their lineup including Walter Graves, Desmond Ledwidge and John Gruegel who once ran a bakery here.

PINCKNEY SOFT BALL LEAGUE

In the Pinckney soft ball league last week Darrow won from Lavey 12 to 1 and Meabon beat Singer 10 to 8. Dinkel pitched both winning games. Fred Read broke into the game and hit a home run. So did Bob Read, a sort of father and son act only they were on different sides.

And Rickman ran into water to his knees, clasped the lieutenant's hand with a fervor which matched the tone of his words.

Up the lake shore the glow of a great fire stained tree tops and spread across the water, lacquering it in black and gold. Drums sounded and the nasal voices of native women singing in chorus reached them, punctuated by shrill whoops. The grand medicine was in progress. The rum which Rodney had promised was taking hold on hearts and tongues.

Rickman explained this to Capes' query and rubbed his hands.

"He'll be there," he said. "The renegade, he'll be watching the dance! A fitting moment to drag him to answer this charge, Capes!"

"Tonight? He doesn't suspect pursuit, does he? My men are worn. Morning will do, surely, and—"

"You may have been seen! And if word reached Shaw that soldiery is at hand? What then, Capes?"

"But to march among the Indians with muskets? They're drunk, by the sounds. It might mean disaster, Rickman!"

"You mistake my meaning. We can go to Shaw's gate by following the shore. The place will be guarded. I'll reveal myself and tell the guard I want word with Shaw. That will bring him. Yes, and on the run!"

He shrugged his shoulders and lifted upturned palms in significant gesture.

"We may as well be done with this, I suppose," Capes said and paused because a figure was running toward him up the slope; a small, cloaked figure.

"Lieutenant Capes? Lieutenant Capes?"

A woman? Calling for him? Here in this wilderness fort?

They'd had no warning whatever that Annette Leclerc was here, that she was running breathlessly up the slope, once she learned Capes' whereabouts.

"Lieutenant Capes?" she cried again but it was Burke Rickman who spoke.

"Annette!"

She came to a halt before them, one hand against the door frame for support, the other holding the long, maroon cloak close about her throat. Silence. Dumbfounded silence. And Capes, confused by the tableau, stammered:

"Ma'm'selle! Where did you . . . what brings you . . ."

"Orders, Lieutenant! I bring you orders from the commandant!"

She fumbled within the cloak as she spoke and brought out and thrust toward him a limp, frayed packet.

"Orders? What orders do you bring me, M'm'selle?"

"Orders calling you back," she said in a whisper, as if the completion of her errand had drained all the remaining strength from her body. "Orders revoking the orders that . . . brought you here."

She swayed then despite her hand on the wall and might have fallen had not Capes stepped quickly toward her, shoving the stupefied Rickman from his way, and encircled her shoulders with an arm. Rickman's mouth opened but no words came.

"From the beginning this charge against him has been known to be absurd," she said easily. "But still, with the persuasion and persistence put behind the effort to ruin Rodney Shaw, the officials have not had the courage to follow any other course until Giles spoke."

"Giles?"

"Giles! The man has been as frightened of company vengeance as any other. But when it became known that Rodney had bested you here, Burke Rickman; when the last unfair move in the cruel game you play was made apparent . . . then forces were brought to bear upon Giles which brought from him the truth."

"Then," she said, "the problem was to overtake you, Lieutenant, and stop this unwarranted and disgraceful arrest. There was none to come. A detachment had been ordered to Detroit. The major could spare no men. Someone had to come and . . . there was no one else." Her voice broke and she swallowed bravely.

"Fools!" moaned Rickman. "It can't be! It's not believable that any such order could have been issued! I demand, Capes, that you read that order!" The other drew himself up. "I read it," he said stiffly, "but not because of your demands, Rickman. Please understand, I know my duty!"

It would peel a man's ears, the major had declared to Annette, and surely it had effect on the ears of this young lieutenant because his ears reddened as he scanned the lines of script.

"I will disregard order to bring the alleged fugitive Shaw to Michilmackinac . . . will conduct yourself as though you were unaware of traders' contentions will return to this post immediately with no delays for any reason whatsoever . . ."

Capes folded the sheet slowly, thrust it into a tunic pocket. He drew a deep breath, as of relief, and settled his belt decisively.

One of Rickman's hands twitched upward as though a blow had stung him. The lieutenant stepped past him, confronting Annette. He was puzzled, glanced briefly at Rickman, and addressed the girl.

"In a place of contention such as this," he said, "an island encampment seems advisable for a military party. May I . . . may I offer the security of my detachment as a neighbor? Or . . . are there other plans?"

"I thank you, Lieutenant," she said, her gaze going to Burke Rickman. Then, significantly: "I will follow directly."

Capes hesitated, then bowed and disappeared through the doorway.

CHAPTER VIII

The girl stood there, holding the cloak about her, facing Rickman.

"Annette? This . . . this means what?"

"That at last I can speak truth!" she said, "after these weeks of shame and humiliation. Two great privileges have come to me tonight. The one is in that I have repaired, as far as it could be repaired, a great wrong which I did Rodney Shaw. The other is that I can confess to you the falsity of my words at our last meeting. From the hour I struck at Rodney by betraying his plan to you I was in misery. And that morning of your departure, when you came to me for your farewells . . . when I begged you to remain; when I embraced you and kissed you—"with a shudder—"I was only acting a part."

"Acting?"

"Acting, Burke, to save my . . . the man I love."

"All I wanted you to believe that day was that I desired you to stay. I loathed you, I hated you, but I wanted you to delay, that Rodney might have some chance to capture the thing he wanted so!"

She spoke that, slowly, with great intensity.

"So that's your object, eh?" the trader cried, grasping her shoulder. "So you confess to me your love for this upstart? You make this journey to save him and humble me? Is that it? Well, if that's it—"

"Burke! Let go! You hurt!"

"D'you think I'll let you have him? D'you think I'll let him have you? Why, if it takes the last breath that floods this throat I'll wipe this upstart out and leave for you not the memory of a strutting fool but of a corpse, spoiling in this wilderness!"

"Burke!" Her cry was faint and she wrenched in his grasp. His fingers slipped from her grip on her arms, caught the cloak and as she writhed out of it and stumbled free he flung the garment behind him into the room.

"With soldiery here, you'd do that?" she cried and her words stayed him.

"Do you think that after this forced march, the military will return at once?" she taunted. "Men must rest, after such effort. And while they rest, warning will be given. Be assured of that, Burke Rickman. Sufficient warning will be given and protection for decent men will be at hand!"

She backed a step or two, turned, began to walk down the slope and broke into a run.

Annette found Capes awaiting her on the shore.

Would it be distasteful for his party to encamp near hers? he asked. She protested that it would be reassuring and comforting.

"Then we'll move out to one of the islands," he said. "And before dawn, we'll leave this place behind!"—thankfully.

She gave him a curious look but, for the time, made no remonstrance . . .

And so a trader paced the beach, poison seeping through his veins, gnawing his lips, muttering to himself, smiting the sand in helpless spite with his moccasined heels. An enraged beast, this Burke Rickman.

Up and down he paced, heedless of the growing clamor from the gathering of Pillagers. Rickman had not detected the alterations in the sounds from the calumet. The throb of drums, the chants of women, had grown louder and faster with the passage of time. Occasional whoops and yelps had grown to a continuous chorus of boastful cries. And then, of a sudden, it climaxed in an ensemble of screams and screeches and dwindled suddenly to no more than a murmur.

At dusk the drums had begun to sound, women seated in a wide circle about the post and fire, beating the tightly stretched skins with their palms, chanting to the measure they set of the greatness of all Pillagers.

The old men danced into the circle, stomping, bending forward then back, uttering valiant cries, swinging near and nearer the post as they sometimes sang, sometimes shouted to their own greatness.

Younger men trickled in, singing and shouting of their achievements until the space about the fire was filled with prancing, slowly swirling bodies.

Up and up to an unplanned crisis, the savage spectacle pitched itself. Up and up went the tempo of the orgy; louder the singing, faster the drum beats, broader the boasting.

And now beside the post danced Running Fox, the son of Flat Mouth, beating the ground with his heels, not lifting the balls of his feet.

"Ee-eyah!" he cried and struck the post with his half axe and told of the wolf he had caught with bare hands.

"Ee-eyah!" he screamed and struck again and shouted that he had outrun a frightened deer.

Another youth danced close, head almost to his knees, stomping and gasping a song. Mongazid, this, in from his summer hunt with his mind, until rum fuddled it, filled with thoughts of his chosen maid, Nodding Spruce.

"Ee-eyah!" cried Running Fox again as Mongazid raised his torso and bent it far backward from the hips. But on the movement he caught sight of Nodding Spruce, her teeth gleaming as she beat a drum and swayed and sang. She was so lovely, so desirable; and the thought of the presents it would take to win her father's favor cleared the boy's stupefied brain for a moment, drove back even the frenzy of the calumet.

And there wildly dancing was Running Fox, son of a chief, who on occasion looked tenderly at the girl and who now shouted his boastful lies. Mongazid stopped his dancing as Running Fox shouted another boast. He swayed drunkenly before the son of the chief.

"The forked tongue!" he cried. "It was not Running Fox who clubbed the bear. It was Mongazid! It was Mongazid, and Running Fox would steal the glory of a brother!"

He dropped his axe, and tumbled in his girdle. The trade knife gleamed in his hand as, furious, he launched himself upon his tribesman. The steel crunched across a rib, plunging to the hilt, and as Mongazid wrenched it free, a crimson gush bathed the other's breast. He stood an instant and then with a brave cry, collapsed beside the post.

That caused the quick silence; that brought them crowding close, giving Mongazid opportunity to slip away. And when they had lifted the lolling head and saw that the flow of life was running into sands instead of limbs, the wailing began . . .

It was that wailing which finally attracted Burke Rickman's attention.

He stared, scowling, toward the scene of wailing and it was then that he made out a canoe coming toward him from the westward, silhouetted against the fire glow.

"Who are you?" Rickman asked. "Mongazid, trader. I come for the shelter of the company trader's lodge."

Rickman grunted. He owed Mongazid nothing. The youth had refused to trade with him but a few days before.

"Speak quickly, then," he growled.

"I go to the company house because I have poured sand over the son of Flat Mouth, who is the brother of your enemy."

Rickman grunted. "Killed Flat Mouth's son?"

"It is so. It was the dance of the Calumet. Running Fox boasted lies; he took the glory from my song with his lies. When I heard him stealing my great deeds my knife struck deep to his heart. I lay in the darkness a long time. Flat Mouth went to his lodge to meditate while they wailed. Then he came back and stood by his son's body. He made a talk. He said that for killing his son I must bring him three packs of beaver before the leaves come again. If I do not I must bare my breast for his knife. If I do not come for that he will take the life of my brother. The company trader's heart has much room. I come to him to be his slave if he will save me from my enemies who are his enemies. I cannot live alone."

Scowling, Rickman listened. Here was a native in need; here was a hunter whose life was at stake and one in such a strait may be used. Inspiration swept and shook him, making his mouth dry.

"Mongazid sees with a clear eye," he said. "He can never escape the fury of Flat Mouth alone. He was wise to come to the house of the great company. In the trade it is skin for skin. In your trouble it is a life for a life. Open your ears," he said and stepped closer and looked about and spoke softly.

Mongazid listened, betraying no emotion. When Rickman had finished he grunted.

"My life for the little trader's life it is. But the hunters are his friends. The old men are his brothers. Mongazid would not live to come for the three packs of beaver you promise."

The young man could not invade Fort Shaw and slay the master. He could not stalk him where others were about. The problem, then, was to entice Shaw away, to give Mongazid's trade gun a chance beyond observation. And, at the same time, arrange the circumstances so that he, Rickman, would be above suspicion.

"Wait here," Rickman said grimly. "Let no eye see you. Lie in these bushes and I will come. Flaming Hair will make the way smooth for Mongazid to earn his packs of beaver!"

Conrad Rich rolled from his blankets at Rickman's barked word.

"Into your clothes, man! and get Philippe."

And so three men, one fearful, one bewildered, one silent and intent, went hastily along the shore toward Fort Shaw.

"The guard is alone," Rickman whispered. "He stands there with the gate wide. The place is empty; the others are watching the mourning. Come!"

EXCEPTIONALLY smart new things for yourself and your daughter, that you'll enjoy making right now, and wearing on into the summer. Yes, even if you've never done much sewing, you'll enjoy working from our simple, easy-to-follow patterns, each accompanied by a complete and detailed sew chart. Hundreds of beginners are saving money, and creating really individual clothes, by making their own this season.

The Charming Basque.

Here's a perfect design for slim, youthful figures. The snug basque top, above a full, rippling skirt, is dramatized by little puff sleeves. Think how delightful it will look, made up in a plain or printed material, either one, but choose something colorful, because it's such a gay, young little dress.

Little Girl's Dress, With Doll.

Yes, this pattern brings you directions for making the little girl's dress, the doll, and a dress for the doll just like her small mama's. Just think how all that newness will make your little daughter dance with joy. The child's dress is a darling, with its full skirt, pockets, puff sleeves and round collar. Make it up in printed percale or gingham. Old-fashioned rickrack braid would be pretty to trim it.

The Classic Shirtwaist.

This is distinctly a woman's version of the indispensable shirtwaist dress, gracious, slenderizing and dignified. The shoulders are beautifully smooth and the skirt has exactly the correctly tailored, straight effect. It's so easy to make, and looks so smart, that you'll want it now in sheer wool or light-weight flannel, and later in tub silk or linen.

The Patterns.

1471 is designed for sizes 12 to 20 (30 to 38 bust). Size 14 (32) requires 4 1/4 yards of 39-inch material, with 3/4 yard of contrast for collar. Belt not included.

1411 is designed for sizes 2, 3, 4 and 5 years. Size 3 requires 1 3/4 yards of 39-inch material, with 1/4 yard of contrast for collar, and 1 1/4 yards of edging to trim. Doll's body is included in the pattern. Sixteen-inch doll requires 1/2 yard of 35-inch material, with 3/4 yard for doll's dress, and 3/4 yard of edging.

1207 is designed for sizes 34 to 50. Size 36 requires 4 3/4 yards of

SORE THROAT WITH COLDS Given Fast Relief

Take 2 Bayer Tablets with a full glass of water.

Crush 3 Bayer Tablets in 1/2 glass of water—gargle twice every few hours.

The speed with which Bayer tablets act in relieving the distressing symptoms of colds and accompanying sore throat is utterly amazing . . . and the treatment is simple and pleasant. This is all you do. Crush and dissolve three genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets in one-third glass of water. Then gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head slightly back.

This medicinal gargle will act almost like a local anesthetic on the sore, irritated membrane of your throat. Pain ceases promptly; rawness is relieved.

You will say it is remarkable. And the few cents it costs effects a big saving over expensive "throat gargles" and strong medicines.

And when you buy, see that you get genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

TIPS to Gardeners

Miscellaneous Tips

BEFORE planting, work soil deeply, making the top three or four inches as fine and loose as possible.

For better germination, pour water into the drill or furrow just before sowing. Use enough water to moisten the soil, but not enough to cause caking.

If you have had little experience and wish to try the vegetables easiest to grow, select radishes, carrots, beets, Swiss chard, and turnips. With a good-sized garden you might add spinach, peas, beans and corn.

If your garden is small and you wish to increase the total yield, try the following quick-growing vegetables:

Radish, leaf lettuce, beets, carrots, peas and beans. You can replant most of these after space has been made for them by early harvest.

Do not plant seeds deeper than directed. After planting cover seeds immediately, pressing the soil down firmly.

Indians Linked With East in Trick in War Songs; Japanese Used Same Scheme

Even in their music, American Indians have preserved small clues suggesting oriental ancestry. Not that Indians are to be thought of as descendants from Chinese or Japanese civilization. Their stemming off from an ancestral tree goes far back to Mongolian-type tribes that roamed to the northeast tip of Siberia and thence, from time to time, crossed into the northwest tip of Alaska.

After that they were Americans, and their descendants "Indians." They brought some crafts and customs with them. They learned many new ones in America, and some groups like the Mayas evolved high civilization.

Anthropologists are greatly interested to detect what Indians owed to Asia, and from what parts of that homeland they gleaned their old culture.

Now, it develops that Indians in the Southwest had a psychological trick in war songs, of raising the song a semi-tone as it progressed and keeping it there to the end. It was exciting. And remarkably enough Japanese used the same device in stirring warriors by song.

Miss Frances Densmore, who has studied music of many Indian tribes, first noted this similarity when Pueblos were singing old war songs recently for her to record, reports a writer in the Kansas City Star. Reporting this and other similarities between Indian and Old World music, Miss Densmore disclaims any intent to theorize on the Indians' past. She is merely presenting facts, which may have significance.

From an authority on oriental music, Miss Densmore learned the Japanese got the idea of raised pitch in war singing from Chinese priests, who brought it from India in the Seventh century. If Pueblo ancestors got the idea from a common source—or invented it—in the Old World, that must have happened far earlier. Pueblos were well established in the Southwest by that time

News Letter

By Congressman Andrew J. Transue
Recovery Program

By a vote of 329 to 70 the house last Thursday sent to the Senate President Roosevelt's Recovery Program. The measure, which was given to this measure is a good index of the preponderance of sentiment in the House for this recovery program. Almost every amendment was brushed aside by a huge majority. So in accord was the House on the program as presented that they rejected amendments at the rate of approximately one every five minutes when the bill was being debated under the "five minute rule" on Thursday night. Only three of the amendments offered were adopted. One of the most important of which was the inclusion in the bill an allocation of $100,000,000 to be used for Rural Electrification and to be in addition to an amount of $40,000,000 already provided in other legislation and to be used for loans to rural public power companies. On a record vote your Congressman voted for this amendment and for the bill. Other amendments adopted were: One making a provision which would permit the WPA to give aid to needy farmers whether they were on certified relief rolls or not, and the other permits the use of WPA funds for the production of fertilizer. As it now stands the bill has six main provisions the salient features of which are: 1. $1,250,000,000 for the WPA. 2. $1,465,000,000 for Public Works, for projects that can be started before January 1st. 3. $175,000,000 for the Farm Security Administration for aid to needy farmers and for soil improvement projects. 4. $75,000,000 for the National Youth Administration. 5. $60,000,000 for a public building program. 6. $100,000,000 for Rural Electrification. Which figures include the amounts to be loaned as well as outright expenses.

Tax Revision Bill Approved

On Wednesday the Congress completed action on the $5,300,000,000 Tax Revision Bill which modifies the two year old undistributed profits tax. Final action came as the House voted 242 to 89 for approval of the Senate-House conference report, your Congressman voting for the adoption of the report. The measure now goes to President Roosevelt whose approval is regarded as certain. In cutting the maximum undistributed profits tax Congress reverses its action of 1936. The undistributed profits tax then voted, admittedly revolutionary in nature, was designed to place corporations on an equal tax footing with partnerships and individuals. As it goes to the President the Tax Bill provides: Corporations earning $25,000 or less a year pay a flat income tax of 12 per cent on the first of $5,000 earnings, 14 per cent on the next $5,000, 16 per cent on the next $5,000. Corporations earning above $25,000 are taxed at the rate of 19 per cent which may be decreased in ratio with distribution of earnings to a minimum of 16 and one half per cent. Maximum undistributed profits tax now is 27 per cent. The measure also provides cushions for corporations in debt, abolishes many "nuisance" taxes boosts the tax on liquor from $2.00 to $2.25 a gallon, fosters the liquidation of the personal holding companies, aids utilities in reorganizing under the Securities and Exchange Commission Control, and strengthens the law against "hoarding" of profits. The tax bill in spite of the many changes made is designed to yield substantially the amount the Treasury now receives from these sources.

Unemployment Census

President Roosevelt received last week the final report of the Unemployment Census which was submitted by the Director John T. Biggers. The report pointed out that the cost of taking the census was only $1,986,000 out of the five million authorized for the work, thus returning to the Treasury about three million dollars. The report will be printed and made public in the near future. The savings in the work were made possible by using facilities of the Postoffice Department and other agencies. The general tabulation covered 3,070 counties, with special data on 952 cities, of 10,000 population and over, giving information of great value in solving unemployment problems. In commenting on the report the President said: that the census demonstrated the possibility of quick action between the various governmental branches, and was of real value, making it easier to conduct the employment census in connection with the decennial census in 1940. The sixth district of Michigan played a part in compiling the census in that the Special Counsel in the administrative office in Washington was Mr. Lucius Wilson of Pinckney, Michigan.

Big Radio Station

The House Naval Committee was scheduled to begin consideration of a proposal for a Government Radio Station designed for long-distance broadcasts. This project has the approval of the President and the War, Navy and Interior Departments on the ground that it would "strengthen the bonds of good will and friendship" between this country and the rest of the Americas. The station is intended to be used to off-set Fascist and Communist broadcasts to Central and South America. Commenting on the proposal Representative Celler of New York, declared: "surely some antidote is necessary. Air Mail Week

The nation celebrates National Air Mail Week. It is remarkable to note the progress of the Air Mail Service. Some twenty years ago mail planes flew but 16,000 miles in year and carried but 713,000 pieces of mail. Last year planes flew more than 70,000,000 miles and carried about 200,000,000 pieces of mail. The Air Mail service has been called the modern Pony Express.

This service with its improvement has made marked improvement in banking facilities. Credits are exchanged across the country on a three day schedule. A draft on New York or San Francisco is presented for payment in almost equally fast time. What used to take several weeks to accomplish now takes a days if air mail is used.

We honor the Air Mail.
