Miss Jessie Green and Supt. J. P. Doyle Are to Get Honorary Memberships for Reward of Their Long Service. Date is June 25th.

Big plans are being made for this year's annual reunion of the graduates of Pinckney High School. The date set is Saturday June 25. The school will be open in the afternoon for registration and to allow any who wish to go through the school. There will be seats on the school lawn for those who wish to set and visit.

At 4:00 p. m. the high school and the alumni will clash in their annual soft ball game. Don Swarthout, Norman Miller and Rolland Shehan will line up the alumni and promise a strong lineup. Most of the alumni have been playing soft ball in the city league since April 1st and are in fine condition. The high school will have Paul Singer, fire ball pitcher in the box and promise a real battle. Last year Singer beat Don Swarthout in a pitcher's battle 6 to 5 in a game that required two extra innings to decide it. Feeling was intense and ye editor who umpired the battle was lucky to escape with his life.

The banquet will be served at the Congregational church at 6:00 p. m. This will be followed by a program in the high school auditorium at which Rev. Fr. Morgan Harris of Dearborn will be master of ceremonies. Ona Campbell will welcome the class of 1938 and Mary Jane Otwell president of the class will respond.

Honorary memberships will be presented to Miss Jessie Green and Supt. J. P. Doyle in reward for their long service to the school by Glenn Tunner. Miss Green taught 45 years in the primary room, retiring in 1937. Supt. J. P. Doyle is finishing his 24th year this month.

The Prairie Ramblers, composed of the Haines Family, will entertain with their melodies and there will also be talks by old grads.

At 10:00 p. m. there will also be a grand ball with the Cooper orchestra of Jackson furnishing music. John Rane of Whitmore Lake will call.

The alumni officers this year are: President, Ona Campbell, Vice President, Mrs. Mae Reason Rane, Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Majorie Shehan, Assistant Secretary Treasurer, Mrs. Alta Meyer.

FARMERS OF COUNTY OFFERED WHEAT INSURANCE

The farmers of Livingston County are being offered wheat insurance for their 1939 crop of wheat by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. Mr. Earl Grubb has been appointed County Supervisor and he will have five or six representatives throughout the county to write applications. Briefly, here is the plan of the insurance:

1. Your 1939 wheat crop can be insured from any cause for about one to one-half bushels of wheat covering three-fourths of your normal yield of wheat.

2. Your premium rate is based on your own farm in your own county, no outside figures are used.

3. Your premium is paid in wheat your losses are paid in wheat.

4. All of the premium bushels go to pay wheat losses. The government pays the expense of administration.

5. The premium bushels are stored off the market so in years of plenty should lower the visible supply and maintain the price to the farmer on the balance of his crop.

6. In years of losses, market value of wheat returned to the farmer should be higher than that paid in premium.

MR. FARMER: This is YOUR insurance. The amount of money available for administrative purpose is limited so no special effort will be made to see you.

8. This insurance must be all written up by seeding time this fall. For further particulars call or write the office of the Livingston County Agricultural Conservation Association at 110 and one half North Michigan Ave., Howell, Michigan. A representative will call at your home if you are interested.

Rev. McLucas Hired as Pastor

Accepts Unanimous Call to Become Pastor of Pinckney Cong'l Church

He accepted and will move here this week. For the past six years he has been the pastor of the Inlay City church. Rev. McLucas is about 37 years old and a fine forceful talker and speaker. He is a widower, his wife, having died last winter. His family consists of three daughters, the oldest being 15 years old. For several months he has conducted revival services in this section with Rev. Ryan of Plainfield, an old friend of his who formerly was pastor at Yale, Mich. Rev. McLucas is a member of the Masonic and Eastern Star orders.

His daughters, Eva, Pauline and Norma Jean, will remain at Inlay City until school is out on June 17. Rev. McLucas was assistant in a Detroit church for two years and then at Yale four years and Inlay City six years.

CIRCUIT COURT NEWS

The suit of several persons to break the will of Catherine E. Teller deceased was on trial in circuit court last week from Tuesday until Thursday. Catherine Teller, widow of the late Willard Teller left a will in which John Teller, brother-in-law was left $1000, a nephew, Clarence Stelzer, $500 and her sister and nieces Nettie Hockstra, Margaret Stelzer, and Etta Wilson $200 each. The rest of the estate after expenses were paid was to go to John Teller. The will was admitted to probate and Cecil Bohm appointed administrator. The sisters and nieces started suit to prevent the will from being carried out, alleging that Catherine E. Teller was of unsound mind and unduly influenced by John Teller at the time she made the will. The estimates of the estate varied from $10,000 to $50,000. The case was tried before a jury who brought in a verdict sustaining the will and admitting it to probate.

This week the case of the Continental Credit Corporation versus John Walsh and the auto damage cases of Harry and Eunice Van Gorder vs Edward Chase are scheduled for trial.

WRESTLING MATCH STOPPED

Cyclone Here Monday Night

Much Damage is Caused by Windstorm Here Monday Night. Livingston, Jackson and Kalamazoo Counties Report Considerable Damage

Monday evening about 10:00 p. m. the hardest windstorm in many years hit this section. It was accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain. The Detroit Edison power lines were put out of commission and many of the roads were blocked by falling trees. The sign in front of Roy Clark's store blew down breaking two plate glass windows. Many other windows in town were also shattered. Store awnings were ruined and a large poplar tree on the square uprooted. The barn on the Alex McIntyre farm, now owned by L. J. Henry was moved several feet off its foundations. Mrs. Culver of Stockbridge, wife of Dr. Culver became blinded by the rain and drove into the ditch near Gallatin's Corners. Gangs were kept busy the next day picking up broken limbs and debris. Many telephone lines were reported down and the Michigan Bell Telephone and Detroit Edison crews were called out. Some of the power lines came back on at about half power but in the business section the power was off until around 2:00 a. m. In the meantime lamps, candles, flashlights etc. were put into use. The Detroit Edison Company reports 400 calls an hour from persons reporting lines down and the Consumers Power Co. states that 30 of the small towns served by them had their electric service disrupted. At Hudson, Dr. Blanchard was performing a tonsil operation when the power went off and had to finish it by aid of a flashlight. No deaths were reported but several were taken to the hospital in Jackson suffering from shock.

ST JOHNS MAN DIES SUDDENLY

C. G. Baker, 53, of St. Johns died of cerebral hemorrhage Monday night in McPherson Hospital, Howell. Mr. Baker was the proprietor of a bakery at St. Johns and was on his way to Pinckney in company with a cousin, Miss Emma Tekell to visit his sister, Mrs. Vern Cory. He was taken ill between Howell and Pinckney and became unconscious. Miss Tekell could not drive but sent for a doctor by passing school children and Mr. Baker was taken to the hospital at Howell where he passed away. He leaves two sons. Mrs. Baker died four months ago. The funeral and burial will be held at St. Johns.

MILK TRUCK DRIVER HELD

On April 16 last Herman Teeple who was driving a truck for Henry Kellenberger of Pinckney hauling milk from this section to a Grass Lake creamery disappeared with about $500 worth of milk checks belonging to Pinckney farmers. The Kellenbergers had been given permission to cash some of the checks for Pinckney farmers and Teeple took advantage of this. The milk truck was later found abandoned in Jackson and a number of uncashed milk checks in the trunk on it. No trace of Teeple was found. According to Jackson police he had a record and had been arrested several times and once convicted of larceny. A dispatch from Jackson in the Saturday Detroit Times stated he had been arrested by Portland Oregon police and was being held for $4 Jackson county officers.

Philathea Notes

The class is meeting this Wednesday afternoon for work, at the home of Mrs. Frank Johnson. Busy fingers help to make these class get-togethers really happy affairs. The discussion period on Sunday covered different phases of personal devotion, with examples to show how Mary, Judas and Peter proved the depth of their devotion or the lack of it; by the way they met crises in their lives.

S. S. Supt. Daniel VanSlambrook voiced the welcome of the school to the Reverend John McLucas who has just been called by the church to the pastorate of the parish.

We trust that the worshippers will freely make use of the new missionary envelopes which were placed in the pews last Sunday. These are primarily for those who do not find it convenient to contribute through the Sunday school or other organizations. The loose change on the plates and that in the regular envelopes go for the budget as before. The Benevolence Treasurer was very glad to note the giving of some last Sunday, as well as their usual pennies in the Sunday school.

Children's Day is next Sunday and the pastor will be glad to be notified of any who desire baptism at this time.

SPECIAL COMMUNICATION

High Schools To Drop Several Outmoded Subjects

On Permission of Eugene Elliott, Supt. of Public Instruction, 134 High Schools Will Drop Little Used Subjects and Replace Them with Practical Course.

For some time past there has been much complaint that the schools of today were not teaching studies to fit the average person to cope with the problems of every day life. Further high school course of study was in college and that only a small percentage were entering college. For years the complaints got nowhere but with the election of Dr. Eugene Elliott as superintendent of public instruction, this group secured a champion as he also regards the present high school course of study as outmoded.

Accordingly this year an educational experiment will be tried. In 134 high schools in the state next fall Latin, Algebra and ancient history will be dropped and practical courses substituted in place. The list of these schools has not yet been announced but Denby High school of Detroit is one of them.

As outlined by Dr. Elliott the studies to be added in place of those dropped will be health, safety at home and in traffic, domestic science, manual training, shop procedure, government, political science, agriculture, and the intelligent use of leisure time.

Michigan State College and the University of Michigan have agreed to admit students from high schools where the experiment will be made without demanding the usual credits in Latin and other foreign languages and algebra.

HOW TO PLAY TENNIS GAME

By Tommie Alexander, Coach

No. 6. The Serve.
The first thing a player should learn in serving is placing the feet correctly. Your left foot should be forward and about six inches behind the base-line. The angle of the left foot being left up to the player. The right foot should be about a foot and a half behind the left, changing the distance to suit the player.

Foot faulting is important in serving. The players left foot must be kept behind the base-line. He is not allowed to swing his right foot over the base-line before hitting the ball. The player must also keep one foot on the court while the stroke is being made. This point should be corrected as soon as possible.

The position of the body is sideways to the net with the left shoulder directed towards the court in which the ball is being served. The serve is combined arm and body swing. The toss is made on the back swing and starts, the weight falling on the right foot.

Tossing the ball to a correct hitting position is very important in learning to serve. The player should hit the ball at arms length above the head. In order to do this, he must toss the ball high enough above his head and the spot where he is going to hit the ball to allow completion of the back swing and forward swing before impact.

The toss should be made from the waist and go above the left shoulder. This helps the server to go slightly out after the ball and helps to throw his weight into the ball. Do not toss the ball too high or too low. Secondly, do not toss the ball so wide that it is necessary to swing out after it.

NEXT WEEK, The Overhead smash.

CURRENT COMMENT

The sale of lands for delinquent taxes is pretty well over except in counties where an extension was obtained. Such extensions were taken in Oakland, Jackson and other counties where there was a large amount of property offered for sale and where there was litigation. In Oakland county $20,532 worth of property was sold. Just how much was sold in the state will not be known for several months until all reports are in. In the rural counties not much was sold but the sale caused a rush of people to the county treasurers office to pay their taxes.

For the first time in the history of the state negroes have been called to sit on juries in Genesee and McComb counties. Both cases involve labor riot cases in which officers were injured during strikes. Larry Davidson, union attorney objected to trying cases unless negroes were allowed to serve on the jury and asked a mistrial unless negroes were allowed to serve. A consultation with the attorney-general's office followed and negroes were included in the jury panel. The accused strikers were negroes. The negro drawn on the McComb County jury is Samuel Davis, 61, Romeo.

There seems to be another outbreak of kidnapping in widely separated areas of the nation. These cases are extremely hard to solve and they are not as a rule, the work of organized gangs. Gangland knows the danger of this kind of crime and the small chance of profit. The kidnapper is usually a amateur with a kink in his brain willing to take a big chance for untold wealth. He usually bungles the case and then kills his victims to protect himself. He usually has no police record or no underworld associates and it is extremely hard to get a line on him. In a majority of cases the kidnapper is captured after his victims have been killed.

The McClave high school, wherever it is, is said to have adopted this motto, "WPA Here We Come". This is in keeping with the saying nowadays that "Youth has no Future Now". That means that with the present unemployment industry is loath to give youth a chance but sticks to experienced help. This is a lot of hokey. Every year, age, injury and poor health remove many persons from industry and their places have to be filled by younger, stronger, people. This replacement has been going since the age of man and it is here where youth gets its big opportunity. Of course with industry at its present low ebb this opening is smaller at the present time, but it will open up in time. Back in the twenties the opportunity for youth was much more limited. Then the sole opening for youth was on the farms during haying or harvesting or on the railroads. Many high school boys and college students were sent their summers working on farms and we know many prominent doctors, dentists, lawyers and other professional men who got their start in those old days by swinging a pick or using a shovel on the railroad especially when the Michigan Central was double tracked from Detroit to Chicago. This took a number of years. Both these avenues have long since been closed to youth. Improved machinery has made it possible for the farmer to get along with very little help and the railroads no longer spend huge sums to improve themselves. The auto industry for many years has been taking their place in absorbing the youth of the land. Now this is apparently able to supply the absorbing needs in six months work. Some other avenue will undoubtedly open up to make use of the youth of the land.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted By WILLIAM BRUCKART

Washington.—Congress has just passed another relief appropriation for the current year. This, like the earlier vote of funds, was done at the request of the President.

The new sum is $250,000,000. Since the first appropriation for the current year was a billion and a half, we now find that federal relief during the current fiscal year will have cost at least $1,750,000,000. It may be added that the sum mentioned is in addition to local charity, community chests, etc., and also that it has been, or is being, spent in a period five years after we were told that the nation was about to be remade under New Deal ideals.

Now, it is a rather far cry from relief, the care of the aged and infirm, the destitute, to the question of politics. That is, it appears only to be a great gap between those two phases of national life. I insist it is very close; that there is no gap at all. I reach that conclusion because never before in history has there been such use of basic economics as in the last four or five years. That is to say, politicians have turned to questions of economics for their political buncombe—and it ought to be added that when a politician tries to do something with fundamental questions, just there begins a grand mess.

All of which brings us to the point of this discussion. When President Roosevelt went into the White House in March, 1933, he was confronted with probably the most unfavorable conditions, insofar as business conditions were concerned, that any President ever has faced. He called for a New Deal in handling the situation and he obtained almost unanimous support. Indeed, as we look back at that situation, the support was too nearly unanimous. He had no opposition to point out weaknesses of what was proposed by the responsible officials. I think I recall having written at that time that a stronger opposition would have been good for the country. Some of the pitfalls would have been avoided, I am sure, if congress had not been so subservient and if the President had not yielded so completely to the theories of advisers who had no practical experience.

The people of the nation were in a mood to listen to anyone. They heard new phrases of what can and should be done—the more abundant life, the economic royalists, the crushers of the poor, and on and on. But the trouble with the professor-advisers was that they ignored or did not know of another side to the story. In short, they believed that human nature had changed overnight and that a nation could be managed or directed or ordered as an individual. It has taken several years to re-establish natural facts and natural laws, but they seem now to be approaching that re-establishment through the processes that normally must be followed in a nation, as distinguished from an individual.

So, what do we have? I think the answer is that we have an administration headed by a man who is the victim of the advisers he selected. I believe it can be said that politically President Roosevelt is just as uncertain about where he is going as is the rank and file of citizens about where the nation is going. But he selected those advisers and, for the most part, continues to give them his confidence. They are still on the job. And in no better way has it been shown that they are utterly incapable of meeting national problems than is shown in the business of relief. Relief is more than just the care of those who must have help. Relief is a condition reflecting other conditions. The President and his theorists, therefore, must be charged directly with having failed. We have almost as many unemployed or under government aid as we had when Mr. Roosevelt took office.

I suppose someone will write to me asking what can be, or what should be done about it. Anticipating that query, I will attempt to answer now, but I want to illustrate it.

A friend of mine has been ill for several years with an intestinal ailment. Physicians to the number of a dozen or more have studied the case. Finally, the use of a drastic remedy, a potent and almost poisonous drug, was prescribed. The doctor began by ordering the patient to take three drops, only three, at the start. The dose was increased gradually. In the last few weeks, my friend has taken fifty drops of the drug each day.

There is no assurance that the ailment will be eliminated. There can not be a determination for many months because the treatment is entirely new in medical annals. Thus far, there has been no appreciable change in the patient's condition. But the point is, after all, that a professional man who has devoted years to the study of a science would not attempt to cure a basic condition without first providing opportunity for the human body to adjust itself to the new conditions.

Now, I am somewhat old fashioned and hold to the belief that a whole nation of people, after all, will make progress if given the chance to do so. I further believe that their collective reasoning in the end will be right. They can not, however, be turned inside out unless there has been some preparation for the ordeal and they can not take a dose which is poisonous in quantity any more than my friend, the individual, could take it and live. In making that statement, I must make clear my conviction that some of the New Deal prescriptions were needed. A few of them were badly needed. On the other hand, I think it can be fairly asserted that a good many of them were never needed, never were usable or workable. They were poisons not intended by nature to be so administered to the national body.

We can go further. It can be said that no individual who is ill can work efficiently, if at all. That is true of our economic life which includes business. And business is everywhere—from the smallest general store at the crossroads near my Missouri birthplace to the gigantic Marshall Field company in Chicago, General Motors in New York, Aluminum company in Pittsburgh, or hundreds of thousands of others. Business can not get going at its proper pace if it is ill.

The business of the country has something more than its own body, however, as a problem to constantly watch. That general store that I mentioned may not be much concerned about Washington affairs, but it feels the impact of things done at Washington whether it recognizes them or not. The larger concerns, of course, feel Washington actions much more directly. So, in addition to the influence of markets, buying and selling of or among the general public, business is influenced by what is done here in Washington, and that may be bad medicine or good medicine.

Let us take just one or two examples of what I mean. One of the Biblical proverbs of the New Deal was the necessity for a law providing what the theorists were pleased to call "social security." That includes old age pensions. New Deal campaigners sang many beautiful songs about caring for the aged, and certainly there are millions who have needed help. When it came to practical application of the plan, however, the boys started looking for the necessary money. Thus arose the so-called payroll tax for unemployment and old age pensions.

It sounded workable to many persons. It was a thing for the future and there was not too much worry about the problem of where those who were to pay the tax would get the money. The time has arrived, however, where the beautiful theory is a perfectly enormous practical problem.

The first year's "take" by the government amounts to something over a billion dollars. Some of it, almost half, comes out of the pay envelopes of the workers; the remainder comes out of the pockets of the employers. It is turned over to "Washington" and when money gets into government hands it becomes unproductive. The result has been that in the last year there has been taken away from its owners more than a billion dollars that would have added at least a billion dollars to the buying power of the country if it had been left with the proper owners. That is one of the big reasons for the Roosevelt depression, as distinguished from the Hoover depression obtaining, when the present administration took over the reins of government. It was a dose of 50 drops when the country was able to stand only a few drops.

To get back to relief: I have argued in these columns many times that relief should be handled by the states and, equally, I think the old age pension and unemployment benefits, if they are to be used, should be handled by the states. My point is that Professional Reliever Hopkins, here in Washington, can not know through any organization he may build what the facts are surrounding any of the thousands receiving help.

Something that can be done is to eliminate about one third of this general money spending that is going on here in Washington or out in the various states under direction from Washington. I wish Mr. Roosevelt had stuck to his campaign promise of 1932 to cut federal expenses by 25 per cent. The tragedy of this spending is that it saddles debt on the younger folks and those yet unborn for several generations. It has to end somewhere.

WHAT TO EAT AND WHY

Food Provides the Key to Mental and Physical Power

You Can Be Strong, Beautiful, Wise, Rear Healthy Children Only If You Know How to Combine the Right Food Materials in the Diet

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

6 East 30th Street, New York.

SINCE the world began, food has been man's first consideration. For it he has fought and died. To find it he has traveled over great continents and braved unknown dangers. His quest for food has changed the map of the world and colored the history of nations. But in all of these historic struggles, he has been motivated solely by the desire to get enough food to satisfy hunger.

Today, actual hunger is rare. But hundreds of thousands of people starve in the midst of plenty because they do not realize the tremendous power of food for good or for evil.

They do not realize that as a man eats, so he is, and that his choice of food materials gives or takes away the power to live vigorously—to think clearly—to feel warmly—to be strong, healthy and wise.

It can be truly said that your food is your fate. It has the power to shape your body—to make it strong and beautiful, or weak and ugly. It has the power to influence your language, your gait, your tone of voice, in short—your life. With the right food, life becomes a glorious adventure, for it increases your leadership, intensifies your magnetic qualities, strengthens your morale, and increases your physical defenses and resistance. Without it, one drags through miserable days—never realizing even half of his potential mental and physical powers.

Food—the Fuel of Life.
The human body is a machine, far more complex than any machine devised by the mind of man. Food is the fuel which runs this amazing machine. Food is also the material used to repair worn-out parts, and to keep the intricate mechanism in good working order.

The body machine cannot be run efficiently without proper food fuel any more than a car could be run without gas, or a house could be heated without oil, coal or wood.

Food also has the power to speed up or slow down the workings of the mind. It likewise influences the state of our nerves, the warmth of our affections, the type of characters we possess.

Finally, the power to have strong, healthy children is based on proper food. And nutritional scientists have discovered that the wrong food can even take away from us the greatest blessing that Nature has bestowed—our earthly immortality. For it can deprive us of the ability to bear children who will carry on after we are gone.

Six Groups of Food Substances.
What food substances are necessary to build and maintain top health—to develop the greatest physical and mental power? There are six groups of food substances which must be included in the balanced diet which promises increased health, happiness and longevity:

1. PROTEINS which build and repair body tissues. These are found in such foods as milk, eggs, meats, fish, cheese and nuts.
2. FATS which yield heat and energy. The fats are represented by butter, cream, oils and the fat of meats.
3. CARBOHYDRATES—the starches and sugars. These also supply heat and energy, and are found chiefly in such foods as bread, potatoes, cereals and sweets.
4. MINERALS which build, repair, protect and regulate. Among the minerals which are absolutely necessary to health and vigor are calcium, phosphorus, iron, copper, iodine, sulphur, manganese, magnesium, sodium and potassium. These are found in varying amounts in milk, eggs, fruits, vegetables, whole grain cereals and meats.
5. VITAMINS which are necessary for body regulation, and as a protection against dread deficiency diseases. Six have been discovered to date—A, B, C, D, E and G.
6. WATER which is a part of all body tissue and must be present in order to have the other food elements function properly.

The ideal dietary is one that includes a correct proportion of the different food elements required to supply bodily needs without any of them being supplied in excess, or in insufficient amounts.

Danger in Omitting One Essential
To illustrate how important it is that not one of the necessary food substances be omitted, let me tell you how an eminent bio-chemist proved in his experimental laboratory, in one of our leading universities, that the difference between stupidity and genius depended upon the presence or absence of one vitamin.

He placed a pregnant animal upon a diet adequate in every respect, except that it lacked one of the six vitamins. As soon as her young were born and weaned, they were fed a completely adequate diet.

Then the scientist tested the mentality of the young animals. He wanted to find out whether or not their mental power had been injured in any way by the fact that their mother—during pregnancy—had been deprived of one vital food element. So he put them in a runway. To get out of this and reach a tasty morsel at the other end—they had to make their way through a series of passages. He had already made this same test on the same type of animals born of properly fed mothers. He knew that it never took them more than 25 trials to learn their way out of the maze. Most of them had gotten out after 15 to 18 attempts.

But what lack of skill was shown by the animals whose mother had been deprived of proper food! The stupidity of these pathetic little creatures was unbelievable. Some of them never learned to thread the maze and reach their goal, even after as many as 250 trials. They were being given—at the time—everything that was necessary to their diet. But they had entered life with minds totally unequipped to cope with the world—because their mother had not been properly fed before they were born.

This is a striking example of the power of food to make or mar existence. I could cite hundreds of other laboratory experiments, many of which have been confirmed by clinical experience.

Nor is this power of food to affect mental activity confined to prenatal life. Even if a child enters this world with a strong body and a clear mind—the wrong food during childhood has the power to wreck health.

The Homemaker's Responsibility.
Every wife and mother is therefore faced with the tremendous responsibility of keeping her family mentally and physically fit. Her husband must have the right kind of food in order to earn a living. Her own diet must be adequate and well-balanced if she is to have the energy, wisdom, and patience required of a mother at all hours of the day.

C. Houston Goudiss, outstanding food authority, author, and public lecturer, author of "What to Eat and Why." He knows food from soil to serving, from table to tissue. Watch for his articles each week.

Her baby will not grow into a healthy man or woman unless he or she has the right nourishment from the moment of birth. And school children can't keep up with their classes without the right food.

If you will follow this series of articles, and put into practice the principles of correct eating that I advocate, I can promise that you will increase both mental and physical efficiency, and as a result, achieve greater health and happiness for every member of your family.

Food Affects Your Body and Mind
Each morning when you awake, a new life is ahead of you. Whether that day and the days to follow will be better or worse than those that went before, depends largely upon what you eat. Within a few hours the bread, meat, vegetables and liquids that you swallow are transformed into your personality. They begin to think, feel and act. They become YOU. What was food yesterday, today is carrying on the important business of the world.

Each meal that you eat helps or hinders the efficiency and ease with which these various duties are performed. That is why it is true that as you eat, so you are. And that is why I say that three times a day, at your table, you SIT DOWN TO LIFE.

How Often Should Your Furniture Be Polished?

Housewives differ on the question of "when to polish their furniture." Some have no set time for it—polishing when they think of it—or when, casting a glance about, they decide that the furniture can "stand it." Others, polish every cleaning day—which ordinarily occurs once a week. Others dedicate but one day a year to this important procedure. And still others, polish the furniture in their home regularly, once a month. This last group is the largest—but their schedule is not sufficiently frequent. Furniture can not be polished too often! True, the outward benefit of the best oil polish—the luster—will last through a single week—and more—but this same polish, with its light oil base, preserves and "feeds" the furniture, revives it, prolongs its life! So that every application is highly beneficial to woodwork and the various pieces of fine wood in the home. Our advice, therefore, for the sake of endurance, as well as appearance, of your furniture, is "polish up" with a good oil polish at least twice a month!

TOURING DOG OWNERS NEED HEALTH WRITS

John L. Strange, state agricultural commissioner, Thursday warned Michigan citizens who plan to take their dogs with them on tours of other states that they may run a risk of delay, expense and embarrassment unless they first obtain a health certificate for their pets.

Strange said Michigan would enforce a regulation requiring certificates for dogs brought into Michigan, and that other states plan similar action as precaution against a growing outbreak of rabies.

He pointed out that an uncertified dog may be locked in quarantine until its health has been checked. Strange said applicants for certificates should apply to Dr. C. H. Clark state veterinarian.

Strange placed a dog quarantine in effect in Berrien county Thursday to extend until August 29. This is the seventh Michigan county quarantined this year.

OXFORD The thief that entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Allen while the owners were on a trip to St. Louis Mo., made use of all available accommodations. Besides taking a radio, electric clock, two overcoats, two suits, and other wearing apparel belonging to the Allen's the intruders took a bath in the hot tub and spent the night in the bed.

Only one driver is allowed to slow down or depend on the other driver to give you the right of way. He'll do it only four times out of ten according to a recent highway survey in Massachusetts.

Too many of us put too much faith in the ability and good intentions of the other driver. Cromwell once said, "Trust in the Lord, but keep your powder dry."

Do not depend on the other fellow. Slow down instead of expecting that the other driver will stop on his brake. Yield the right of way when there is a question. Keep your car in such shape that you can meet all emergencies instantly.

It's smart to be careful.

The first of six schools for conservation officers will open at Pigeon River next week.

Wet weather continues to keep the forest fires down, there being only 40 the third week of May. Thus far this year only 3,675 acres have been burned over.

Several hundred square miles have already been photographed in the Keweenaw peninsula. About 3300 square miles will be photographed.

A new plow to plow fire furrows and fight forest fires is in use. It is rubber tired and can be hauled over highways at a speed of 55 miles an hour.

Wild brook trout and brown trout spawn in autumn. Rainbow in the spring.

More than 600 persons have been arrested this spring for violating the fishing laws and have paid fines of over $5000.

Raccoons occupy most of the wooded portions of North American from Canada to Panama.

The Hook bill, endorsed by the conservation commission calls for the application of selective logging for the purpose of saving the last stands of virgin timber.

About 600 fires in 1937 were caused by cigarettes thrown from passing autos.

Michigan now has 57 administered state parks.

Now is fawning time and many fawns have been found hidden in thickets. They are placed there by their mothers while the latter search for food. A fawn a week old can outrun a man.

A beaver dam has been constructed near the highway on Bear Creek near Leaning.

RHUBARB HERALDS SUMMER'S FOODS

It takes rhubarb and sugar to make pastries into which rhubarb can be made to let Michigan housewives know that a new summer food has grown from the soil.

Two dishes suggested are: 1. Let rhubarb be cooked in boiling water. State College, are typical.

Mix together the sugar, lemon juice and salt and egg which has been beaten. Combine thoroughly with rhubarb and arrange in buttered casserole. Prepare plain pastry roll out and cut circles large enough to well cover the top of the casseroles.

MORE OPERATOR LICENSES ISSUED THIS YEAR

Figures just released from the Operators and Chauffeurs Division of the Department of State show that more operator licenses have been issued to date than during the same period last year. Up to June first there were 385,286 operator licenses issued as compared to 184,286 issued during the first five months of 1937.

In the two month period since the new compulsory examination law has been in effect there have been 108,595 licenses issued as compared with 90,360 issued during the same period last year.

The issuing of duplicate operator licenses is also a big item of the department. So far this year 12,247 people have either lost or misplaced their operator's license against the 11,439 of last year.

Apparently the new license act is uncovering many persons who have been driving without a drivers license.

OVID A highly informative watch is now on display in a local jewelry store. This unique timepiece which was carried in the California gold fields in 1849 tells not only the time of day, but also the month of the year, the day of the week, the day of the month, and different phases of the moon.

LAPEER That old typical example of what a news story actually is took place here recently. Four year old Jack Connors stopped at the home of Mrs. H. C. Kudner for his daily cookie. His dog, Peggie, found a baby robin on the ground in the Kudner yard and brought it to her master. When the dog refused to give up the bird, Jack bent down and bit Peggie on the forehead, upon which the dog dropped the robin.

CRYSTAL FALLS If she completes this, her senior year, without an absence or tardy mark on her record
Miss Krja Koivo will have achieved an attendance mark that has been bettered by only one or two students in the history of Crystal Falls schools. She has not missed a day nor been late for a single class since she was a student in the sixth grade.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Andrew J. Transue

Recovery Program Conference Work

Conference Committees of the House and Senate this week were considering recovery and relief and wage and hour legislation following Senate approval of the recovery and relief bill by a 60 to 10 vote last week. The House debated amendments for the Federal Housing Act which would eliminate delays in slum-clearance projects where cities are unable to furnish the 10 percent now required by existing law. During the week Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced the Government will buy larger quantities of surplus farm products to distribute to persons in need of relief.

The Senate passed the recovery and relief bill late Friday night on the third consecutive night session following several weeks of prolonged debate concerning various features of the measure. Attempts to earmark portions of the recovery and relief appropriation were defeated and the Senate by the narrow margin of 40 to 37 votes rejected a proposal to put political gags on WPA officials.

Total Increased

As the Senate bill went to Conference the total appropriation has been raised to $3,722,000,000 through Senate additions of $300,000,000 for the Federal Housing Administration and $1,000,000 for the administration of $100,000,000 in the program of the rural electrification projects. The Housing amendment, if it is adopted by the House, will increase the Housing Authority's lending power to $800,000,000 and will accomplish the same purpose sought by the House Banking and Currency Committee in separate Housing Act amendments last week.

The proposal to restrain WPA officials from having any public voice in politics was defeated after opponents of the plan declared it to be inconsistent to deny WPA officials any of their political privileges while state employees and officials remained free to campaign without restriction. Amendments giving veterans preference on WPA projects and requiring the electrification Administration to use only American made materials were approved. Another provision added by the Senate will make $40 a month the minimum wage for any relief worker consistent with the House-approved wage and hour bill. Present regulations permit monthly payments as low as $21 to relief workers in some sections of the South.

Personal Question

Before the Senate added the Housing amendment to the recovery and relief bill the House devoted two days to debating the elimination of the 10 percent now required as a local contribution toward slum-clearance projects. This requirement forced cities to borrow ten percent of the necessary money from banks at higher interest rates than were prevalent for the balance of 90 percent to be obtained from the government. The Senate proposal stipulates that the Housing Authority may lend 100 percent to get these projects started and give employment throughout the nation but the cities will have to repay 10 percent to get rental subsidies. In concluding an address in the House in favor of dropping the 10 percent requirement that is preventing many of the slum-clearance projects, your Congressman asked the Members of the House what cities in this country have ten percent surplus for one of these projects in the city treasuries. I know of no city of Michigan that has such a surplus. The question comes down to whether Congress is going to try to improve the unemployment situation in this country; try to give men jobs and to give them the mass purchasing power that brought us out of the doldrums of 1932 and 1933 or is Congress going to say it cannot meet the situation.

Twin Disasters

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace outlined the policy of purchasing greater quantities surplus products of the farms under instructions of President Roosevelt for distribution among those in need of relief. The emergency action will be taken, he said, to meet the twin disasters of urban unemployment and price-depressing accumulations of farm goods. The extended utilization of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation functions will supplement rather than replace the supplies ordinarily purchased for the destitute through regular commercial channels. In his statement Secretary Wallace said, Once more the factory shutdown and farm surpluses have brought to thousands of families the danger of going hungry in the land of plenty. ### Biggest Issue

The Conference Committee deliberating on the wage and hour legislation decided on a rigid 25-cent-an-hour minimum wage base and adopted the more extensive House ban on child labor in the initial session. The Committee holds the biggest issue still confronting the Congress before adjournment. While progress was satisfactory in the early sessions of the Committee there remained for solution the delicate problem of sectional differentials. The House measure has no provision to distinguish between sections of the country as in the meantime the Senate legislation contains these differentials. It will be the object of the Conference Committee to compromise this and other controversial points before the revamped bill is returned to the House and Senate for final vote.
