TWO PINCKNEY PEOPLE TO GET DEGREES
At the 94th commencement of the University of Michigan to be held June 18, 2,400 students will receive their degrees. Dr. Alexander Ruth-

Walter Kulbicki, president of the university will deliver the address. The procession of graduates led by the university band and the honor guard will start at 5:30 p. m. from the campus and will parade downtown to Ferry Field where the exercises will be held outdoors.

Mary Jane Otwell and Walter Kulbicki are two graduates of Pinckney High School of the class of 1934. Walter Kulbicki will receive a degree for mathematics and Mrs. Mary Jane Otwell, an A. B. degree. The former is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kulbicki and the latter the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Atlee.

BURGLARS GET $1,100 AT FOWLerville

Thursday night the office of the Fowlerville Co-operative Association was broken into and about $1,100 taken from the safe in the office. The safe was smashed with tools taken from the P. M. R. R. Car House. The loss was not discovered until Friday morning by the manager, C. Monroe. The sheriff and state police were called in.

Graduated from Cleary College

The Kulbicki Sisters of Pinckney Are Among the Cleary College Graduates

Elaine and Tamara Mary Kulbicki, of Pinckney, will be graduated from Cleary college, Ypsilanti, on Saturday, June 11.

The largest class in the history of the college, approximately two hundred fifty students, will graduate. Norman Hunt, of Jackson, has been chosen president of the class. He will speak for the students at the commencement banquet.

The program for the commencement week will start on Friday evening, June 10th, with a reception given by the undergraduates for the graduates, their friends and the alumni. All members of the faculty will be present to greet friends of the college and returning alumni.

Dr. R. W. Fairchild, president of the Illinois State Normal University Normal, Illinois, will be the principal speaker at the commencement exercises, Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Before accepting his present position Dr. Fairchild was professor at the Northwestern university, where he devoted his time to research.

This year, the first students will receive the degree of bachelor of science. One has completed a four-year course in accounting and one in secretarial training. These courses were instituted in 1935. Other graduates have completed two year courses for which they will receive the degree, Bachelor of Commercial Science, or Associate of Science, and one year courses for which diplomas will be awarded.

At six o'clock, a commencement banquet will be given at Charles McKenny Hall. Doctor Lee A. White, of the Detroit News, will be the guest speaker. His many important positions in business, civic and social organizations of Detroit have made Doctor White nationally known. Following the banquet, there will be dancing until twelve o'clock.

WRESTLING PROVES FATAL
Harold Snyder of Inkster and Julius Aschenbrenner of Pinckney finally met in a rematch at Ypsi. Aschenbrenner was claimed winner in 15 minutes when he dislocated Snyder's shoulder.

Roy (Lefty) Reason of Pinckney showed Aschenbrenner this hold and it is one that cannot be broken. Harry Michael, the negro star will meet the Pinckneyite next week.

NOTICE TO THE CITIZENS OF PUTNAM TOWNSHIP THE VILLAGE COUNCIL OF PINCKNEY AFTER DUE CONSIDERATION FINDS IT NECESSARY TO NOTIFY RESIDENTS OF OUTLYING DISTRICTS THAT ARRANGEMENTS WILL HAVE TO BE MADE TO PROCURE THE SERVICES OF THE PINCKNEY FIRE DEPARTMENT OUTSIDE OF THE LIMITS OF THE VILLAGE OF PINCKNEY.

News of the Circuit Court

Short Session of Circuit Court is Held Last Week

In the circuit court last week the Continental Credit Corp. was given a judgment against John Walsh and possession of the car in question. In the case of Wm. Shick vs Harry Gross, the plaintiff was ordered to pay $200 on farm indebtedness. C. Roberts of Detroit got his drivers license back. The damage suit of L. Coleman vs Edgar Musson was settled, the plaintiff getting $400. Edna Ridenour was given a divorce from Carl Ridenour. No more cases being ready the judge went back to Courthouse Tuesday night. Next week a number of chancery cases are scheduled. On June 20th the big damage suit against Steve Kontak, Ernest Hall, Mrs. Jessie Raymond and their bonding companies is set for trial. It is claimed Kontak became intoxicated on drink purchased at their places and ran into another car injuring the occupants. The beer dealers and their bondmen are included in the suit as defendants. We understand the case is arousing much interest as it is one of the 1st of its kind to be tried in this state. Jay Sweeney and a Detroit law firm are attorneys for the plaintiffs and practically every lawyer in Howell is employed by the defendants.

LAVERNE P. BROKAW
Laverne P. Brokaw, son of the late Isaac and Laverne Cate Brokaw died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Sabra Rose, of Bay City on June 11. He was born near Rochester, New York on August 12, 1849. He was brought to Pinckney by his parents and grew to manhood here. In the 60's he prospected for gold in Colorado and the Black Hills. Returning to Pinckney he was united in marriage to Miss Louise Reeves, daughter of George Reeves. A daughter, Katsie, with his sister, Mrs. Rose survives him.

The deceased was elected supervisor from Putnam township several terms. Then he lived on the Brokaw farm now owned by A. F. Brown. He was also elected to the office of county clerk and went to Howell. Retiring from that office he was in the furniture and drapery business in Howell for sometime. This business is now owned by Glen Beurman. Following this he lived in Detroit for twenty years. His wife died while he was living in Detroit and he went to Bay City to live with his sister. The funeral was held Monday with burial in the Pinckney cemetery.

ST. MARY'S ANNUAL PICNIC IS AUGUST 4TH

At the services at St. Mary's church last Sunday, Thursday, August 4th, was set as the date for St. Mary's annual picnic. The days event will consist of a chicken dinner served on the village square at noon games and a program consisting of remarks by prominent speakers. Two years ago Governor Frank Murphy spoke here. It may be possible to get him to come again this year. In the evening there will be a dance in the community hall. This event of some 40 years of existence always draws a big crowd and all roads will lead to Pinckney on August 4th.

MANY POSTMASTERS ARE NOMINATED

President Roosevelt sent the names of many postmasters to the Senate last week for approval. Most of them we believe were for reappointment for a second term. Here are the names of some in this section: Brighton, Richard Pitkin, Cornumna, Charles Garland; Holt, Herbert Gunn; Webberville, Frank A. White; Chelsea, Herbert Witherell; Holly, Robert Allen; Mt. Clemens, John Bannow.

BAD AUTO ACCIDENT

Roscoe Kraft, 24, Bunker Hill, is dead and Leon Terney, 23, Stockbridge, Buford Kraft, 16, Bunker Hill, and June Boyce, 29, Stockbridge are in the hospital as a result of an auto accident on the Bunker Hill Road Thursday night. Terney suffered a concussion and possible skull fracture, Buford Kraft laceration and June Boyce, a broken thigh bone. The car hit a gravel pile while making a turn.

MRS. LOUISE SNYDER

Mrs. Louise Musbach Snyder, widow of the late Aaron J. Snyder died suddenly of a heart attack at her home in VanDyke Michigan, and was brought here for burial beside her husband in Oaklawn cemetery. Funeral services were held in the Baptist Church, Friday, June 9. Rev. Oliver of Detroit officiating, assisted by Reverend Peterson. Six of her nephews acted as pall bearers. She leaves one son and one daughter, Walter and Theodora and one grand son, Stockbridge Brief Sun.

Mrs. Snyder formerly lived near Pinckney on what is known as the Patrick Kennedy farm. Her husband was for a time the editor of the Pinckney Dispatch. Mr. Snyder died about six months ago.

Local Lodge Entertains

Livingston Lodge Holds Banquet and Third Degree Conference Saturday Evening

About 150 people attended the Masonic banquet and third degree conference here last Saturday night. John K. Bowman of Pinckney was the candidate and the work was put on by Detroit Lodge No. 2 of which his brother, William, a Detroit school engineer is a member. The latter was in the east and raised his brother. Also present was another brother, George Bowman, of Detroit and a brother-in-law, Warren Winnic. The Bownmans formerly lived on the Arnold farm near Gregory. Besides the Detroit lodges, Howell, Brighton and Dexter were represented. Lodge was opened in the afternoon and the first section of the degree was conferred. At this time

Wirt I. Savery

Livingston Lodge had the honor of receiving Wirt I. Savery of Detroit, grand master of the Masons of this state. This was his first visit to the Livingston Lodge. Incidentally he is the eighth grand master to visit the Pinckney lodge in the past ten years. Following the banquet a short program was put on. Grand Master Savery outlined his program for the coming year. Leland Kennedy, master of Detroit lodge spoke and short talks were given by Ralph Teeple, Master of Fowlerville, Bob Pence of Howell, Wm. Pidd of Dexter and I. Teeple of Brighton. Lucius Wilson, Pass Road and Norman Reason were also called upon and the candidate presented with a gift, the grand master making the presentation speech.

Following this the lodge rooms were well filled to witness the exemplification of the second section of the M.M. degree in an efficient manner by the Detroit lodge.

CONFERS DEGREE ON CLASS

O. E. S. Chapter conferred degrees on a class of four candidates here Friday night. The chapter room and banquet hall was profusely decorated with flowers and a banquet was served to about 75. Among the guests present were the Grand Associate Patron Harry Lott of Lansing, Grand Organist Elsie Hilliker of Detroit and 8 past matrons of Victory Chapter of Redford. All of these were called upon for remarks and also Rev. John McLucas, member of Imlay City Chapter.

CURRENT COMMENT

"By Y. Editor"

We doubt that the intolerance shown in various parts of the country the past few weeks, gains anything in the long run. We read that Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, was pelted with eggs at Newark N. J. when he attempted to speak last week. A congressman from Montana was prevented by force from speaking at Jersey City, recently. Leo J. Fitzpatrick, manager of the WJL radio station recently got publicity by cutting a program off the air who tried to play Loch Lomond to swing music. He again got in when he cut Earl Browder's communistic program off the air, which was scheduled over the Columbia network. These acts are as intolerant as those of the Klan Black Legion or other organizations and only tends to martyrize the victims of them. After all no one is compelled to listen to them if they do not desire to and these attempts to muzzle them only arouses the curiosity of the people and puts a halo around the victims who otherwise would not get anything but scant notice.

We read that Studenten a part of the state of Maine wishes to leave the United States and become annexed to Canada. It seems that the people there are French and all of their interests are in Canada, which is nearer to them than own state. Opportunity apparently is knocking at President Roosevelt's door. When he answers that letter he should offer Canada the entire state and in a postscript ask them if they could not also use Vermont.

The Iowa election is over and again the tea leaves readers are busy. One significant thing about it, however, escaped most of them. That is the very small vote cast. The wonder is if it will continue into the fall election. In 1932 although Herbert Hoover received a large vote than President Coolidge did in 1928 still he was defeated. In Michigan in 1936 Governor Fitzgerald received more than 200,000 votes than he did in 1934 when he was elected but nevertheless lost. The big question is whether these voters who vote only when the candidate pleases them stay away from the polls this fall. Undoubtedly every effort will be made to get the vote out but these do not always avail in an off year election.

Years ago we were told that the farmers kept guinea hens to frighten away hawks. That they usually made such a racket that the hawks were frightened away in their attempt to carry off the chickens. Now another use has been found for them. B. Beach, 38, who was arrested in Ohio and confessed to stealing 2500 chickens says that guineas are the best insurance that a farmer can have against chicken thieves. Dogs do not bother the thieves but they always steer away from flocks where guineas are kept as these fowl make enough noise to arouse an entire neighborhood.

Luren D. Dickenson, the perennial candidate for lt. governor who has been elected to that office six times and defeated three times has announced that he will call a conference of all Republican candidates to limit the field to one for each office. Up-to-date the Republicans have 3 candidates for governor and about six for lt. governor. Mr. Dickenson's ultimatum is that unless the candidates consent he will be a candidate himself and probably win by means of his dry support. He has just been elected to head the State Anti-Saloon League. However, none of the candidates manifest any desire to attend any such conference. Frank Fitzgerald says he is in the race to stay while Harry Toy says he expects to be nominated and that the people should have the power to pick their own nominees and not a self constituted click of men. That is what the primary election is for he adds. In addition to Dickenson the other candidates for lt. governor are Senator Fehling of St. Johns, Herbert Powers, Detroit, Senator Conlin Grand Rapids, and Tom R. Read of Shelby, petitions appearing for him last week. Mel McPherson of Howell beat Dickenson to it by withdrawing, but his candidacy for governor never was taken seriously. With Dickenson as the nominee, the Republican ticket would have too dry a tinge to suit many although the ticket would probably get the dry vote anyway.

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of waste impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbances.

Democrats
in Party Row

Washington.—New Deal political efforts have now reached an apparent nationwide scope in the strategy for control of the Democratic party machinery. It is no longer a secret—if it ever were concealed—that the White House board of strategy is determined to lick Democratic representatives and senators who have failed to respond to New Deal orders. This has happened despite President Roosevelt's repeated declarations that he is keeping hands off of all party primaries. The only exceptions to the above information are in states where incumbent Democrats are so solidly entrenched that there is no chance to defeat them for renomination.

The latest of numerous New Deal entries in primary races is in Maryland. David J. Lewis, a representative for many years, who is accounted a full-fledged New Dealer in all respects, has entered the race for the senatorial nomination against Sen. Millard Tydings, who has been off of the New Deal reservation many times. Mr. Lewis is to be regarded as formidable opposition. He announced his candidacy after a visit to the White House, and there was none who failed to understand that he had the presidential blessings. It had been known since the court reorganization fight that New Deal leaders were looking for someone to do battle against Senator Tydings.

The Lewis candidacy virtually completes the list. There will be no New Deal candidate against Sen. Bennett Clark in Missouri. The reason is that Senator Clark, despite his frequent attacks on the New Deal program, can not be defeated for the Democratic nomination. Much the same is true about Senator Longmear of Connecticut. The New Deal board of strategy has no love for the Connecticut senator, but he is rather firmly entrenched in his state. So it seems the way to express the situation is that the New Deal strategists do not hate him quite enough to run a candidate against him.

In Colorado, Senator Adams has opposition from an avowed New Dealer. Senator Adams has never been quite so outspoken as men like Clark, or Burke of Nebraska, or Wheeler of Montana, but he has been "suspected" of being none too friendly to the New Deal as a whole. The board of strategy, therefore, is taking no chances.

Senator Adams' opponent is Justice B. C. Hilliard. A few hundred miles to the westward, a son of Justice Hilliard is seeking the Democratic nomination for the senate in Nevada. He is after the scalp of Sen. Pat McCarran, who has jumped off of the New Deal bandwagon when he disagreed with presidential programs. So it has been decreed that he, too, must go.

The Iowa battle is now over. In that fight, Harry Hopkins, professional reliever of destitution, sought to aid Representative Wearin relieve Sen. Guy Gillette of the Democratic nomination for the senate. The Hopkins outburst, given to newspaper correspondents here before the Iowa primary was: "If I were a voter in Iowa, I would support Otho Wearin against Gillette." That raised plenty of hot winds in the senate and, since it came on top of the Pennsylvania primaries and on top of Son Jimmy Roosevelt's endorsement of Senator Pepper in Florida, it gave a tip-off as to how far the thing was going.

It was perhaps the Iowa meddling by Professor Hopkins that caused President Roosevelt to tell a press conference that he was taking no part at all in the state primaries. Prior to that time, however, he had quietly given his blessing to Senator McAdoo, over his several opponents in California; Senator Barkley, over "Happy" Chandler in Kentucky, and it is understood he has shown a preference for Senator Bulkeley of Ohio, who is opposed for the Democratic nomination by former Gov. George White.

Not All Milk
and Honey

As is shown by the records, things are not all milk and honey for the 100 per centers who are seeking renomination. Mention was made of Bulkeley in Ohio, and Barkley in Kentucky. Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, the great advocate of cheap money and the man who forced congress to enact legislation allowing for printing of three billion dollars in new silver certificates, has opposition that promises a bitter fight to the end. The same is true of Senator Thomas of Utah, who is confronted with a campaign of a defensive character. He must show why he is so strong for the New Deal to win renomination in that state from which also comes Senator King. Senator King has been a violent opponent of the New Deal.

Then, there is another 100 per center in the far West. Sen. James P. Pope has to fight off the attack of Worth Clark for the senatorial nomination. Mr. Clark, now a member of the house of representatives, is said here to be making a battle of it for Senator Pope whose chief claim to fame seems to be that he fathered the agricultural act of 1933—and nobody knows yet how to make the law work. Clark's record is regarded by many colleagues in the house as proving him to be a Democrat of the liberal type, for he has supported the President on numerous occasions while voting against White House dictation when he felt that he should do so.

The New Dealers have persuaded Governor Johnston of South Carolina to run against Sen. "Cotton Ed" Smith. At least, it is the assumption that the governor was persuaded to enter the race.

There is a fight on in another southern state also. Sen. Walter F. George has opposition for the Democratic nomination. Lawrence Camp, United States attorney at Atlanta and a Roosevelt appointee, has filed for the nomination against Senator George. The understanding in Washington is that the New Dealers settled on Camp when they found that Governor Rivers of Georgia could not enter the fight because he was vulnerable on several points. Senator George, one of the ablest constitutional lawyers in the senate and long highly regarded in that body, apparently has a hard fight because of the likelihood of a divided vote. There are several other candidates in the field and it has been suggested that the vote may be so divided as to bring about defeat of Senator George.

Months ago, of course, Sen. Fred Van Nuys was marked for "liquidation" in Indiana because of his activity against the President's court bill. The state machine in Indiana is completely under the domination of former Gov. Paul McNutt, who aspires to the White House, himself, in 1940, and McNutt is sticking with the New Dealers.

But to turn to another phase of the interparty fight, the question of use of relief funds in politics has become hotter than a pan of boiling grease. Judge Brady Stewart, manager for Chandler in Kentucky, lately wrote a letter of protest to President Roosevelt, charging among other things that relief was being handed out only to persons "approved" by the Barkley faction of the party. From Pennsylvania there have been many squeals about political use of relief funds by Senator Guffey, and in neither case has there been proof that the charges are not true. Undoubtedly, if the WPA workers are being used politically in some places, they are being used in many places; it is a condition that must be expected if the country is going to turn relief of destitution over to politicians. They will fill their gullet first.

Passing of Warren

The death of an individual whom one does not know, however important the individual may be, creates only passing interest. Perhaps that is why so little attention was paid to the death, a few weeks ago, of Dr. George F. Warren. Professor Warren was nationally known as a Cornell authority on the economics of agriculture; he was known, too, for his famed experiment in causing hens to lay more eggs by keeping them in electrically lighted hen houses at night. But Professor Warren will go down in history for a much more important reason than either of these. It was he who convinced President Roosevelt that prices could be controlled by the federal government by means of changing the gold content of the dollar.

Our currency structure had remained much the same for 50 years until Professor Warren became an advisor, a consultant, for the New Deal. There had been many attempts, much fanfare, many blowings of trumpets, about "tight money" or "Wall Street control" of money, or various other ideas such as the free silver of Bryan days and the equally silly scheme of Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, who wanted to print three billion dollars in new paper money to bring the country out of the depression. The native intelligence and solidarity of the country, however, brought us safely through those periods until Professor Warren came on the scene.

One need not review how the Thomas scheme for printing money was forced through congress nor how the Warren plan for control of prices was propagandized until members of the senate and the house, knowing nothing about economic subjects, swallowed the proposal. The gold content of the dollar was lowered—the dollar was devalued, and the government kept the profit, amounting to more than two billion dollars.

The important thing to remember is that a great government made such a costly experiment on its 130,000,000 citizens, and failed. For it must be said that the Warren scheme for raising prices has failed. © Western Newspaper Union.

Carefree Cotton Fashions

THESE two designs are particularly good inspirations for summer daytimes—they're cool, simple, becoming and easy to make. More than that, they are styles that adapt themselves to all seasons and many different materials, so that you can use them over and over again. The house dress can be made in a few hours, with a diagram, and the jumper frock includes a detailed sew chart, so it's no trouble at all.

House Dress in Large Sizes.

With darts at the waistline and inside tucks on the shoulders, this dress has an unusually good line—trim and slenderizing. Pleats in the short sleeves make them loose and easy to work in. It buttons down the front, and therefore goes on in a jiffy. Gingham, seersucker, percale and broadcloth are the best materials for this. Trim it with bright ricrac braid.

Girl's Jumper Blouse Frock.

With a jumper frock in dark cotton and several crisp white blouses, it's easy to keep your young daughter looking fresh and smart—and cuts down on the laundry, too. This style, with its flare skirt and puff sleeves, is the most becoming fashion in the world for girls between six and eighteen. For the jumper, choose shantung, pique, gingham or linen. For the blouse, frilly, sheer things like dimity, organdy, mull or dotted Swiss.

1533 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 4½ yards of 35-inch material. 1½ yards ricrac braid to trim.

1520 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1½ yards of 35-inch material for the blouse; 2 yards of 35-inch material for the jumper.

Prize Winning Recipes
To Be Announced Soon

C. Houston Goudias, who writes our "WHAT TO EAT AND WHY" series, reports that the Cake Recipe Contest which he recently conducted through the columns of this newspaper was a gratifying success.

A tremendous number of recipes were submitted and the home economists on the staff of his Experimental Kitchen Laboratory in New York city have been busy for days testing and tasting almost every imaginable kind of cake. They report that our town has some very fine cake bakers!

They regret that it was impossible to acknowledge individual entries, but they thank every homemaker who entered the contest, and have asked us to say that each recipe will be given the most careful consideration.

Because of the volume of recipes submitted, they will require a little while longer to complete their tests and to arrive at their decision as to the winners of the $25.00 first prize, the five second prizes of $10.00 each, and the ten third prizes of $5.00 each.

Prize winners will be reported in these columns in the near future, and as announced at the beginning of the contest, prize winning recipes, together with those receiving honorable mention from the judges, will be printed in a booklet to be distributed nationally.

A Glorious Inheritance

If we do our best! If we do not magnify trifling troubles; if we look resolutely, I will not say at the bright side of things, but at things as they really are; if we avail ourselves of the manifold blessings which surround us, we can not but feel that life is indeed a glorious inheritance.—John Lubbock.

FARM CHECK FOR 1938 AGRICULTURAL PROGRAM

The Michigan Agricultural Conservation Committee and their field representatives are in Chicago this week to receive instructions on visiting farms to determine the cooperation of the operators with the 1938 Farm Program, according to Earl Grubb. Checking of the farms will be done by the local community committeemen who are farmers elected by their neighbors.

The 1937 Program is drawing to a close and payments are nearing completion or payment applications have been made. The present indication is that for Livingston County about 2,700 farmers have participated in the 1937 Program, in balancing production and conserving the soil.

With the early start on checking farms this year payments to farmers can be made much earlier than was possible for cooperation last year. Present indications are that about 110,000 Michigan farmers will have cooperated in the 1937 Program.

The early checking of farms results from the further simplification of the Program under the 1938 Act which does not delay certification of performance until October 31, as has been the case in previous years.

A HAPPY REUNION HELD

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Darwin's home was the festive scene of a very happy reunion after the many years spent away from the farm. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Parsons, Miss Gladys Nichols of Grand Ledge, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Darwin of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Paul, and daughter, Mrs. Grover Gibbs, Mrs. Mae Gibbs, Mrs. Malcolm and children of Dearborn, Mrs. H. E. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scott and children, Mrs. Irene Hulst and children, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Dingeman, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burger, Mrs. Glenn Burger and the children, Mr. G. G. Clark of Detroit.

The dinner and supper was served on their spacious lawn with American Beauty and other garden roses decorating the table.

A very pretty part of this picnic was a table set asurpouse for the children.

In 25 years it will be nice to look over a map book and read their names again. All departed to their respective homes voting the "Best Time Ever". Hoping they would remain here long enough to come again.

pleasanter kitchen hours

When you buy a new stove, you want a stove that will make the task of preparing meals easier and pleasanter. You want a stove that will be serviceable for years to come—that will prove a good investment and return the most for your money. You want a stove that will give satisfaction in daily use, and make your kitchen hours more enjoyable. You want a stove completely modern in design, one that is attractive in appearance and lends a new and sparkling note to the room.

In selecting such a stove, you can get valuable help and advice from your dealer. He will be glad to point out the various features of different makes and models, and let you compare their advantages. He will answer your questions and offer worthwhile suggestions. He will assist you in choosing the stove best suited to your needs.

After you have looked at all types and styles of stoves, you may decide to purchase an electric range. If you do, your choice will be a wise one. An electric range offers extra value. It brings CLEANLINESS — with heat as clean as sunlight. It brings BETTER FLAVOR — the delicious natural flavor of meats and vegetables cooked in their own juices. It brings healthful WATER-LESS COOKING — with precious minerals and important food values sealed-in. It brings new CONVENIENCE, with more leisure hours. Ask your dealer to show you the 1938-model electric ranges today.

See the new electric ranges on display at department stores, electrical dealers or at your Detroit Edison office.

Conservation Dept. Notes

Total spring losses by forest fires this spring were only 5000 acres as compared to 10,000 acres for the spring of 1937.

As a result of national wildlife restoration week 64 different groups in 54 cities and towns have given notice of their intention to engage in special conservation projects. It includes bird feeding, fish rearing, ponds, pheasant hatching, planting waterfowl feed, financial outings for children and establishing park areas.

The first of a series of conservation schools is now in session at Pigeon River.

The 1938 spring reforestation program has been completed in this state with a total of eight million trees set out on 12,000 acres. Some 288 orders for seedlings were also received from private individuals.

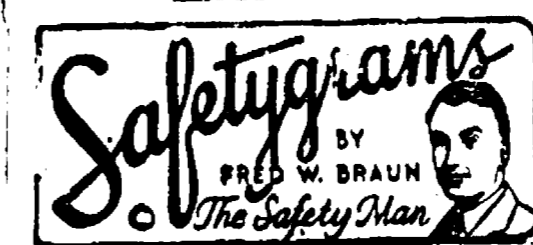

Over 1000 boys are being organized into groups for fire control by the 4-H Club.

A deer recently galloped through the main section of Escanaba, finally taking refuge in a grocery store from where it was removed by conservation officers.

The angle worm and bait market is expected to advance this year on the 25th due to the opening of the fishing season. Last year the average price for angle worms was 25c a hundred. There are plenty of worms this year although one year worms were brought in by plane.

The moose herd in the upper peninsula is said to be thriving. 69 moose brought there 8 years ago by Paul Rieky was the nucleus of it.

A scabies mite which burrows under the hide of fox squirrels and causes their hair to fall out is said to be killing many of them as they are unable to withstand the cold.

It's peculiar to note that automobile racing experts who compete at Indianapolis and other speedways year after year are very slow and careful drivers.

Statements from these men and evidence of their driving habits prove they are careful. They know the results of excessive speed. They know what will happen when the car gets out of control. They must have good judgement on turns. They exercise common sense.

Safety is about 99 percent common sense—accidents are 99 percent thoughtless hurry.

It's smart to be careful.

MICHIGAN NOW RANKS FOURTH

By producing 80 million pounds of butter in 1937 Michigan climbed into fourth place as a butter producing state. From 905 thousand cows 4.5 billion pounds of milk, 40 percent of this is used as fluid milk. The other 60 percent is used for butter, ice cream, cheese condensed evaporated and powdered milk. This state ranks first in manufacture of condensed milk, third in powdered milk, third in domestic cheese, seventh in cheddar cheese and sixth in ice cream with 14 million gallons manufactured annually.

PHILATHEA CLASS

The meeting of the class at Mrs. Nettie Johnson's on Wednesday last was a pleasant affair, the afternoon being mostly spent in piecing blocks of a quilt. The class had as one of its guests little Elaine May Johnson of Plainfield, granddaughter of our hostess.

The president had charge of the business meeting, and Mrs. P. H. Swarthout acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Vedder. The champion read parts of the fourth and fifth chapters of Thessa Conias and Mrs. Hattie Swarthout offered prayer. The roll call letter was "M".

It was voted for the class to pay for more Missionary envelopes if we find it advisable to buy more after these are gone. They are supposed to be in the pews every Sunday for the convenience of any worshippers who desire to contribute to the Benevolence quota. An earnest plea has just been received from the American Board of Foreign Missions from which we quote, "you have received other bulletins from the American Board, but never one that revealed a more grave situation. You will note the heavy loss in receipts through the churches this past year. A deficit of more than $75,000 for the year is threatened even after setting the budget severely low the past years figures, unless increased gifts are received during the summer. The Prudential Committee has already voted to cut the work abroad again, dropping many institutions and calling home 28 more missionaries from their posts". The news from overseas is that, "Now is the time to stand by". Will you not remember this, next Lord's Day in an especial way?

The Children's Day exercises and appropriate talk by the pastor were well received by the large attendance on last Sunday. Next Sunday the church school will follow the morning church service. Find a place in some class. The older young people's class will be formed again next Sunday.

We especially invite you to join the Philathea Class.

That's the Verdict When You Use a McCORMICK-DEERING SIDE RAKE and TEDDER

The best features in a side delivery rake and a tedder are combined to make this two-in-one hay tool indispensable for curing hay quickly and thoroughly. It forms a windrow in which the leaves are turned inward to prevent shattering and loss from breaking off. The stems are turned outward to get the quickest and most thorough action from the sun and air.

The shift of a lever converts the machine from a side rake to a tedder. Another lever sets the teeth at the right slant for either operation.

We would like to show you this machine on our display floor.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY PICNIC IN CALIFORNIA

Livingston County friends gathered Decoration Day at Echo Park, Los Angeles, about 60 were present to enjoy the day together.

The long tables were spread, and decorated with many vases of flowers and white and blue predominating and a bounteous dinner was spread.

A welcome several guests, and members who have not been with us for some time: Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith from San Diego. We are always glad when they can be with us, they are usually present although they drive 150 miles to attend. Mr. and Mrs. Rorobacher were with us as guests.

We were much pleased to have Edward Hastings, president of Michigan Society with us. He gave a very interesting talk and told many jokes.

Mr. Lauderbach, our president is on a trip to Michigan and the East, so Archie Gorton, vice president, acted in his place. New officers were elected. Dr. Wallace Clark, president, Mr. Andrew Van Patten, Vice pres., Mrs. Wallace Clark, sec. and Treasurer. We had a picture of the group taken.

Most visiting filled in the day all returning home having enjoyed a perfect day.

INDUSTRIOUS ANT READY FOR RAIDS

It's no fable that an ant' industrious.

So a timely warning to Michigan housewives is sounded by Professor E. I. McDaniel of Michigan State College, who sees no reason for a household to be plagued if a few precautions are taken with the food supply.

The grade school description of how ants follow up the findings of scouts is still gospel, says Professor McDaniel. Control of the foragers, however, is to forestall their work by several means.

One is not to leave food accessible. Crumbs of food sugar supplies not adequately protected or preserves set out in open dishes are invitations for ants to crawl in by the hundreds.

If ants appear, then two more measures are appropriate. One is to take care of them inside of the home.

Dry poison bait is easy to prepare. Make use of the ant's liking for brown sugar. But sprinkle the brown sugar with paris-green. One ounce of the poison is sufficient to mix with a pound of the sugar. Keep the dry bait available until the ants disappear. If the sugar gets wet the bait loses its effectiveness. Commercially prepared baits are also recommended, also powders and repellants.

Any nicotine spray suitable for rose bushes also is effective for the outside control of ants. Cultivation and crop rotation helps control in fields and gardens. Contract sprays of derris, pyrethrum or nicotine sulphate keep them off trees.

STRICT CHAIN STORE SUPERVISION INCREASES REVENUE

Leon D. Carr, Secretary of the State, calls attention to the new chain stores and chain counters licensed since the first of the year. Twenty new chains have applied for a license listing; totaling ninety-five new stores. This makes the total number of chains operating in Michigan 1,304. These firms operate 7,024 individual stores. There are 46 firms operating a total of 330 chain counters.

Statistics show that the large chains have decreased the number of stores operated by combining several small stores into one large super store, while the individuals owning two, three or four stores have in-

Dog Quarantine

Livingston County

THE FACT HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED THAT DOGS AFFECTED WITH AN INFECTIOUS AND COMMUNICABLE DISEASE KNOWN AS THE "RABIES" HAVE RECENTLY BEEN AT LARGE IN THE TOWNSHIPS OF BRIGHTON, GREEN OAK, HAMBURG, MARION AND OCEOLA IN LIVINGSTON COUNTY, MICHIGAN, AND ARE KNOWN TO HAVE BITTEN PERSONS AND ANIMALS AND MAY HAVE COME IN CONTACT WITH DOGS YET UNKNOWN.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT ANY DOG WHICH IS OWNED, KEPT OR HARBORED WITHIN LIVINGSTON COUNTY, MICHIGAN, SHALL BE SECURELY CHAINED OR SECURELY CONFINED UNDER CONTROL OF THE OWNER OR CUSTODIAN OF SUCH DOG TO PREVENT THE AFORESAID DOG FROM ATTACKING ANY OTHER ANIMAL OR ANY PERSON. NO SUCH DOG SHALL BE ALLOWED TO RUN AT LARGE DURING THE PERIOD OF THIS QUARANTINE.

The attention of all owners or keepers of dogs in the above named territory is hereby called to the following sections of the Michigan State Laws relating to the Bureau of Animal Industry which provide a penalty for violations of this quarantine order and read as follows:

Sec. 6. Said commissioner shall also have power to declare and enforce a quarantine on dogs in any district of this state in which there is an outbreak of rabies, hog cholera, hoof and mouth disease, or any other contagious or infectious disease among the livestock; and may order that all dogs in said district shall be securely chained or otherwise confined. Any dog found at large in contravention of terms of such a quarantine or order may be killed. It shall be the duty of the sheriff of each county in the district affected and of his deputies, constables and other municipal police officers to see to it that such quarantine and orders are enforced. Any officer killing a dog pursuant to the provisions of this act shall not be subject to any liability therefor.

Sec. 23. Any person violating, disregarding or evading any of the provisions of this act, or any of the rules, regulations, orders or directions of the Commissioner of Animal Industry, (Commissioner of Agriculture) made pursuant hereto, shall be deemed to be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof for the first offense shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars or shall be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not more than ninety days or both such fine and imprisonment within the discretion of the court, and for each subsequent offense upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not more than six months or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. Any person, corporation, or common carrier shall be liable for all damages caused to any livestock for evasion or failure to comply with the requirements of this act.

This quarantine order shall be in full force and effect from and during the period between May 10, 1938 and September 30, 1938, inclusive.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

"No matter. I am free."
And she was free! Her own plane, her own life!
"So, now," he was saying gravely, "you will fly."
"Now I will fly."
"That is good."
They met the car from Danavale and Sarah Lynn jumped out and ran to explain. "Oh, you've brought me!"

"I had to," Lynn Dana told her. "I was having refined hysterics. I'll take her along. I'll telephone your mother." They waited, watching contentedly, until the fliers were out of sight.

Lightning crouched at Sarah Lynn's feet, making small sounds. "Mountains I like; large trees I like," Gunnar said, coming out of one silence and going into another. She nodded without speaking, and the companionable stillness held, mile on mounting mile.

Redwoods were outlined against the heavy blue sky.
"So, now you fly," Gunnar said again, seriously. "So, now, also, we are friends?"

They were now friends, she told him with a gravity matching his own, and comfortable cloaks of silence enveloped them again.

But a sound of pure astonishment escaped him at sight of the first forest giant.

"But—I have never believed it could be so!"

"Wait!" she pledged him happily. "That is only the prelude to the great ones."

He settled back in his seat with a long, relaxing sigh of contentment. "Large trees I like," he said, "and mountains and the sea, and songs and books; most I like the sky. Also I like a friend."

Sarah Lynn leaned over Lightning and gave her a hug. "You have one good American friend already. My Uncle Lynn says Conrad Jordan is the best possible person in this country for you to know. He says he's everything—a fine flier, a scholar, a sportsman."

"Also, he makes good music."

"But I didn't know that."

"Yes. At his lodge on the Lake of Tahoe, many nights I have sat by the fire, wind and rain sounding, to listen to his deep thoughts from the piano." He gave generous gangway to a truck. "You shall hear. I will bring you there one day."

She did not answer, unless, indeed, he heard the thumping beat of her heart. She thought he must. It was a relief to reach the park and get out of the car, and to watch his face as they went walking into the presence of the Big Trees.

The effect upon him was satisfying. He would never be ecstatic or explosive, she knew, but all the appreciation and emotion which others expelled went into the quality of his looking, his silence. He stepped softly, as if he found himself in a cathedral, and his face, under the watch of unsalted butter-colored hair, might have been the earnest countenance of a Boy Scout bent on good deeds.

Gunnar was looking only at the trees, so Sarah Lynn was able to look at him. He seemed younger somehow; his austerity was giving way to a little-boy-like wonder, with an interlining of wistfulness.

"So, now, you fly," he began as before.

"So, now, we are friends."

"Yes," she told him contentedly.

"Friends," he repeated, but there was clearly more on his mind. "Fliers," he stated with authority, "shall not marry."

"No?"

"No," she agreed docilely.

Then they walked on, and he was evidently relieved at having tied an important matter swiftly and finally. She would be a flier, and they would be friends, and fliers did not marry.

Newspaper publicity broke out in a rash.

Miss Ethelinda Pennington proved to be putty in the hands of bright reporters and bland feature-writers from San Jose and San Francisco papers. Quickly and painlessly they extracted a vivid picture of Sarah Lynn's odd childhood with quaint details as to the morning in the meadow and her preparation with ladybugs, and depicted jubilantly for their typewriters before she was well out of the car.

Ladybug was a rich theme and rang endless changes upon it. Many pages went from the tele-chair to Sally Ann in Corn-

There was an epic battle between Cousin Adelaide, big and stately and lyrically maternal, the little old matriarch, small and mighty and mad. "I'm sorry you, Addie," she said, "but you make up your mind to it. It's worse off than the hen that had ducks; you got an eagle, I guess maybe it's harder to fly than a hen."

"We bought her that flying-machine, Lynn and me, and we're paying a young feller to teach her to run it. Didn't I tell you, first time ever I laid eyes on the young-one? I knew right off she was one of the dark ones."

"Then she went close and peered up at her and shook a parchment finger in her face. 'And you listen to me, Addie, for it's the gospel truth. She's more my child than she is yours, for all you borned her and there's worse than seventy years between us!'"

Sarah Lynn was sincerely sorry for her mother's martyrdom, but life contained for her now only two shining and splendid facts—flying and Gunnar Thorwald: when other subjects came into her mind it was like pouring fluids into an already brimming bowl; they simply ran over and off.

Whenever she flew with Gunnar Thorwald, Sarah Lynn sat in silence watching his sure hands, looking, and bread, honey," he ordered briefly.

The woman slammed down their plates and cups and Gunnar was buttering a thick slice of bread.

Their taxi-driver had risen and slouched into the back room, and now a little man in an enveloping apron came out. He had scared eyes and an unimportant chin, and he was staring at them. He spoke over his shoulder. "Honest? You ain't stringin' me, Nick?"

The woman said something to him and he popped out of sight like a gopher into its hole, and the taxi-driver came back, grinning.

It was the usual thing to be recognized. Almost everywhere they went someone knew Gunnar Thorwald at once, and then there would be nudges and whispers.

Other customers came in. The woman served them truculently. Her husband came edging out of the kitchen again to stare at Gunnar and Sarah Lynn. He had a ing at the counter, and stuck his head into the steam and stench.

"So it interests you—flying?"

"Interests—say, boy! I read every scrap I can lay hands on, and I see every movie that's got flying in it, and when I stand here, hashin' and hear 'em go by in the sky—" he stopped, gulping, his Adam's apple moving convulsively in his stringy throat.

The wife came back with a pile of soiled plates and pushed rudely past the flier. "Pop, you tend to business! 'Tea-bone and country fry!'"

The Norwegian looked through and beyond her. "Yourself would wish to fly?"

The little man put down a long pronged fork and clasped small pudgy hands with broken and black-rimmed nails. "Just once—before I die—I wouldn't ast nothin' more. I wouldn't."

"Come, then!"

It was all done in a flash. The aviator's arm which seemed to lift learning, remembering, and stored up questions for the earth.

"I have the wish to see your Golden Gate in sunset," he said one day.

They were driving to the landing-field. "Gunnar, I want to come down in a parachute," Sarah Lynn said.

"Yes. But not yet. There is for you much more learning."

"Of course. After I can really fly. It must be the most satisfying thing in the world and not so terribly hard. Just wait and count ten before you pull the string."

"That is, you think, so simple?"

She shivered happily. "It must be the most gloriously terrifying thing—just bailing out into the blue beyond with a silly trick parol over you! But I want to do it, Gunnar."

He nodded. "You shall do it. That I promise. From my plane. But—when I say you are ready."

"Yes." She settled back in her seat, entirely content.

Lynn Dana had written Sally Ann the night before: "As to your question—I don't know. Our queer dark one, beyond all possibility of a doubt, quite literally worships the air he flies in. As for the lad—he approves her utterly for her courage and cleverness, but he's flint-hard and bat-blind. If her heart's on her sleeve, he doesn't see it, and she has a nice young dignity and reticence."

Something did not quite suit Gunnar in Hermod's rhythm as they flew up the valley, and they came down at Oakland before crossing the bay. It needed only a minor adjustment, but would take a little time.

"Tea, while we wait," the ace said. He hailed a taxi and put her in it, and they drove a couple of blocks. "Here! This will do!"

It was a shabby little eating-house with a menu written in chalk on a blackboard at the door.

"Wait!" Gunnar directed the taxi-driver.

"Sure," he said amiably. "Comin' in myself. 'Lo, Lena!' he greeted a big-busted woman with dyed hair. "How's tricks?" He sat down in the last seat before the counter which was close to the kitchen.

The fliers sat near the door. "Tea roll little pot-bellied figure and pipe-stem legs, and he stood nervously rubbing his hands over his dirty apron.

"I just got ast you," he began in a hissing whisper. "Nick, he's a great one to kid you along. On the level, are you Gunnar Thorwald and—that girl?"

They were, they told him, Sarah Lynn gently, the Norwegian ace with a sudden friendliness which surprised her.

The wife wheeled about, snarling. "You get back where you belong!" She took an order. "Stack a' wheats!" "Ham and!"

Without a word he scuttled back into his unsavory domain.

Gunnar finished his bread and honey and drank off his tea. His eyes were narrowed to a gleaming blue slit. Then he stood up and walked back through the stuffy room, past the hunched figures feed-him bodily out of his fetid trench and propel him through the tiny restaurant and into the taxi, the driver, wiping his mouth, grinning, running after, jumping into his seat, Sarah Lynn, delighted, aghast, following Gunnar, the staring customers, the woman emitting shrill staccato cries—

"Pop! Pop! You come back here! You crazy? Want to break your fool neck? Pop!" She began to whimper and storm. "You let loose a' him, Mister! I'll call a cop! You can't kidnap—"

They were rattling down the street, the little man wedged in between them, the unhealthy pallor of his face suffused with scarlet excitement.

When they reached the field Gunnar placed a friendly arm about the man. "Still game?" he asked. To which the fellow, too overcome to talk, nodded eagerly.

Soil Treatment Kills Japanese Beetle Grubs That Feed on Roots of Vegetation

When Japanese beetles, the offspring of those that slipped unobtrusively into the United States some time before 1916 on nursery stock from the Far East, were first discovered in New Jersey, entomologists could suggest no effective way to stop their spread. In their native home, various parasites and predators keep these beetles from becoming a serious economic pest but those that migrated here brought no natural enemies with them. Consequently they multiplied rapidly.

Now they infest continuously about 11,400 square miles, mostly in New Jersey but running into New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. Isolated colonies have sprung up elsewhere along the Atlantic seaboard. Nothing can be done to stop the natural spread of the Japanese beetle here. Each year it extends its territory a few miles on every front, notes a writer in the Detroit Free Press.

The only effective control measure for the Japanese beetle, treating infested soil with lead arsenate, is too expensive for use over a large area. In small, isolated areas of infestation, it is a cheap safeguard against a spreading infestation that would soon become very costly.

Soil treatment kills the beetle grubs that, just below the surface, feed on the roots of grass and other vegetation. Unsightly brown spots in lawns and on golf courses in the East are evidence of this feeding. Adult beetles feed on about 280 different plants. They live mainly on foliage and the upper and outer parts of plants exposed to bright sunlight.

Changes in United States Capitol In 1864 congress transformed the old house wing of the Capitol into Statuary hall. On December 2, 1863, a patriotic crowd assembled to witness the placing of Thomas Crawford's Statue of Freedom on the top of the dome. When the field battery fired the national salute at noon the Capitol was complete in its main lines. Subsequently minor renovations were made to permit the introduction of steam heating (1865); elevators (1874); fireproofing (1881); electric lighting (1882); modern drainage system (1883); and air conditioning (1937).

Woven Fillet Crochet For Bags and Purses

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

EITHER crochet cotton or wool yarn in two or more colors may be used for a knitting bag or purses of woven fillet crochet. The foundation is made in the lightest color. The knitting bag in the sketch is white fillet with navy blue threads woven through, as shown. The zipper purse and vanity pouch are ecru with carmine and Delft blue woven stripes. The plain spaces between the stripes are made by weaving through the fillet mesh with matching thread.

To start the fillet foundation, make a chain the length of your bag, then chain 5 more, turn, and make a double crochet in the 6th stitch from the hook. Chain 2, skip 2 and make a double crochet in next stitch. Repeat to end of row, then chain 5 and turn. Make a double crochet in the top of the last double crochet. Chain 2. Continue across the row, then chain 5 and turn. Repeat from * until you have enough of the fillet mesh to make your bag or purse. The weaving is done with double thread and a large blunt needle. Work across and then back through each row of the fillet mesh as shown. When a new weaving thread is started, hide the ends in the edge of the crochet.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears' latest book gives complete directions for making many other things for yourself and to use as gifts. It also fully illustrates ninety embroidery stitches with interesting variations. You will use these again and again for reference. Ask for Book 2, enclosing 25 cents (coins preferred). Address Mrs. Spears, 210 S. Desplaines St., Chicago, Ill.

Don't Get Hurt

Below are given some suggestions for "Safe Gardening" compiled by the National Safety Council:

Get first aid for any cut or scratch, no matter how slight it may seem to you.

In driving nails, start the nail with a few light taps, then remove your hand and proceed.

Replace split, broken or sharp-edged handles. Avoid splinter and other wounds.

Never leave a scythe or sickle hanging in a tree. Hang them, heads up, on the wall.

Never leave a hoe, rake or fork lying or standing with the head pointing up.

Use a hatchet or ax with great care; a glancing blow may cause a serious injury.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Andrew J. Transue

Adjournment Question

Conference Committees worked rapidly last week to make possible an early adjournment of Congress while the House and the Senate held overtime sessions to clear their respective calendars. At the end of the week, however, the exact date of adjournment was indefinite as new issues including assistance for railroads & the question of acreage limitation for farmers next year demanded immediate attention.

From the very start of the Conference consideration of the Wage and Hour legislation the necessity for compromise was apparent. The House had passed a rigid bill calling for a minimum of 25 cents an hour and a 44 hour week with escalator provisions aimed at 40 cents an hour and a 40 hour week in three years. This bill allowed no exceptions on a geographic basis. The Senate last year had passed a Wage and Hour bill that included sectional differentials that were demanded and insisted upon by the South.

Final Compromise

After more than a week of give and take debate the House and the Senate Conference virtually agreed upon a compromise which would fix a minimum of 25 cents an hour for the first year to be increased to 36 cents an hour the second year. After that industry boards would recommend minimum wage to an administrator in the Labor Department after considering living conditions, freight rate and average wages in the various localities. Theoretically a seven year period has been set to reach the goal of 40 cents an hour but actually this schedule may be indefinitely postponed by recommendations of the investigating boards.

The hour provisions which caused a great deal of controversy in the House, sailed through the Conference with an amendment that would permit a 48 hour week were arrived at by a valid collective bargaining agreement. Otherwise the measure includes a 41 hour week for the first year dropping to 42 hours in the second year and finally to 40 hours in and after the third year. Reports of Southern opposition and a possible filibuster "Till the Snow Flies" were discounted when the compromise was announced with the provision for discretion of investigating boards.

Senate Alternations

In the conference consideration of the recovery and relief bills the House group insisted upon speeding the additions suggested in the Senate. The House conferees stood firm for an opportunity to vote separately on the Senate provisions that would increase the House measure by $212,000,000 for farm parity payments and by $300,000,000 for the Housing Administration. The Senate approved the House measure and insured the additional appropriations that must be approved by the House to be incorporated in the act.

Congressional leaders announced a possible adjournment last Saturday it became obvious that it would be impossible to conclude the legislative business last week. Tuesday was suggested as a tentative date for a possible conclusion of the 3rd session of the 75th Congress. Then came the White House conference with RFC Chairman Jesse Jones and Senator Burton K. Wheeler, the Chairman of the Special Railroad Committee. Following the conference Senator Wheeler stated that the railroads are in desperate need of immediate legislation. Financial experts were fearful that a collapse of some of the railroads after Congress adjourns might cause havoc for institutional investors unless existing laws for railroad reorganization are modified.

Beauty Supervision

Another House and Senate Conference reached a surprise agreement last week and prepared to submit to both Houses a food and drug bill to provide federal supervision for cosmetics. This bill has been a controversial issue in Congress for the last few years. The proposed bill would supervise cosmetic manufacture by federal agencies for the first time. It would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to seize any misbranded article that is believed to be dangerous to health, fraudulent or misleading. After years of deliberation leaders of both Houses hoped the bill would become a law before Congress quits.

Unfinished Business

Working night sessions and Saturday hurried to dispose of the few remaining items on the legislative calendar. The Senate approved the first extensive revision of the bankruptcy laws in 40 years and sent the measure back to the House to consider minor amendments. The bill would permit corporations and other business concerns the right to make debt adjustments with creditors and persons earning less than $3,600 a year could petition Federal courts and pay a proportion of each salary check to the court for distribution among creditors.

In addition to final action on the major issues in conference the House has yet to act on Administration's request for an investigation by Congressional Committee of monopolies. The Senate has approved such an investigation and the House Judiciary Committee has reported a bill corresponding with the Senate measure.

Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Wilson sr. while at their home near Portage Lake saw a girl running up the hill to their home. She appeared to be exhausted and fell. They brought her into their home and gave her hot coffee. She revived and ran from the house but ran into the fence around the Wilson home and again fell. The sheriff was called and sent a deputy out from Ann Arbor. The girl proved to have come out from Plymouth to a cottage where some Plymouth girls were staying. According to them she had arrived with a party about 5:00 p. m. They could not explain her strange actions. She was left with them and eventually came out of her stupor.
