Gov. Dickinson's Course of Action Puzzles People. Ignores All Issues Except the Liquor One

The "home rule" policy of the late Governor Frank Fitzgerald, that the legislature followed in enactment of the new welfare act, is now coming home to roost.

Countries "must take up the slack" in cost of relief, it is announced by Walter F. Gries, chairman of the state social welfare commission.

With the state "broke" (at least $80,000,000 in the red) and with a reduced state appropriation available for the present fiscal year, the state commission allocated $650,850 to counties for August relief.

Under terms of the new act the counties are given final authority over relief expenditures. When state funds are exhausted, responsibility for maintenance of welfare according to the new act, falls back on home governments.

Officials of some counties, however, think otherwise. Quoting G. R. Harris, Wayne county welfare superintendent: "Counties are limited by the 15-mill amendment and some of them can't raise enough taxes altogether to meet their relief costs."

The relief problem into which the home rule was injected by the 1939 legislature is but an example of how state aid to local governments has mounted in the past few years. In 1933 the total of revenue collected by the state and turned over to counties, townships, cities and school districts did not exceed $40,000,000 a year.

The schools obtained more than $25,000,000 more each year. County and township relief commissions last year absorbed nearly $40,000,000.

County road funds received $30,000,000 from the state treasury.

And so the story goes. What is the answer? Will "home rule", which taxpayers talk about so fondly, stop the apparently ever-increasing trend toward more spending of money for governmental public services? Here is a neat question. The property owner and consumer, who together constitute Mr. Taxpayer, must provide the answer.

Vulnerable G. O. P. Spots?

Conferences between Murray D. Van Wagoner and Frank Murphy at Washington over 1940 politics are said to have elicited a comment by the former governor that the Michigan Republican administration has two vulnerable spots in its armor at present:

1. Revision of civil service by the legislature. Murphy's belief is that civil service is now largely a figure head instead of a safeguard for the public interest.

2. Non-partisan public health department. On August 1 Dr. E. A. Hays, personal physician for Governor Dickinson, succeeded Dr. Don W. Gifford as health commissioner. Dr. Gifford, who is a Republican, was appointed by Murphy on recommendation of the American

Week End Auto Accident Fatalities

Three Persons are Killed in Auto Wrecks Over the Week End. Others End Without Fatalities

One boy was killed and his three companions seriously injured last Friday morning when a Wabash train struck the truck on which they were riding at the railroad crossing 7 miles southwest of Howell. James Parks, 11, was killed, his brother, Chester, 16, driver of the truck, Glenn, 7, and Harold Austin, a cousin, visiting at the Parks home injured. The three were taken to the McPherson Hospital at Howell.

Ranson Armstrong, 66, and Fred Paris, 65, bachelors and operators of a store at Cavanaugh Lake near Chelsea were killed Sunday when their auto driven by Paris crashed into a car driven by Mariano Valenti, 28, of Detroit at U. S.-12 and Moeschbach road. Valenti and his brother, Thomas, 17, were taken to Foote Hospital, Jackson. Thomas had a fractured skull.

William (Red) Dillon of Howell was mired up in an auto wreck on Monday but escaped without injury. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Dillon, former Pinckney residents and has been employed by the Sheehan Dry Cleaning Co. of Howell for several years. Monday he was delivering work on Grand River, east of Fowlerville. He had finished his delivery and got into his car to drive away when he was hit by a large truck and semi-trailer belonging to a Grand Rapids Trucking Co. His car was demolished but both he and the truck driver were unhurt.

4-H CLUBS AT FAIR TODAY

The members of the different 4-H Clubs from here are at the Fowlerville Fair today which is 4-H Day there. These organizations are the Coyle Canning Club, sponsored by Mrs. Louis Coyle, the Castle Canning Club sponsored by Mrs. Albert Shirley and three boys organizations sponsored by Francis Shehan, Joe Basydio and Albert Dinkel.

MAY GET POSTOFFICE AT HELL, MICH.

Rex White, Detroit News writer, had a writeup of Hell, the summer resort known as Hi-Land Lake, in the rotogravure section of Detroit News last Sunday. It included several views taken there. It also stated that a petition signed by some 65 people would be sent to Washington asking that a postoffice be established there. The revenue derived from the sale of Hell, Mich., postmarks and souvenirs it was believed will make it a paying proposition.

POISONOUS WEEDS

William Darrow recently lost a cow which had eaten some poisonous weed. This plant may have been marihuana although not many animals will eat this plant. Other plants poisonous to cattle, according to the state dept. of agriculture are water hemlock, poison hemlock, wild black cherry, bracken fern, and the white snakeroot.

DEPOT ROBBERY SOLVED

The depot robbery in which about $13 in money was taken from a drawer on July 14 was solved last week when Adam Mervich of Detroit, a former Pinckney resident, admitted taking the money. He was released when he promised to make the amount good. Suspicion was directed toward Mervich when he was seen near the place at the time of the theft. Also he had no money earlier in the day but had plenty of funds at night.

S. W. TOMSON APPOINTED STATE DAIRY INSPECTOR

Samuel W. Tomson of Fowlerville was appointed state dairy commissioner last Thursday by Commissioner of Agriculture Beamer. He will have charge of Livingston, Washtenaw and Oakland counties. Mr. Tomson runs a creamery at Fowlerville and has been prominent in the affairs of that village for many years. His nomination was endorsed by the county committee.

Brighton Is Given Great Honor

Neighboring City Rejoices Because Tony Pastor Will Train There for Joe Louis Fight

Brighton has had greatness thrust upon her by the fact that Tony Pastor who will fight Joe Louis for the world's heavyweight title on Sept. 21 at Briggs stadium has selected the Ben Hur Country Club at the outskirts of Brighton as his training camp. Numerous Michigan towns were after the honor but Brighton copped the bacon. Pastor will arrive there early this month accompanied by a whole retinue of sparring partners, rubber, cooks, etc. and will establish his headquarters in the cottages there. He will work out there with sparring partners but it will cost public $1.10 each to see him box with them. Joe Louis may also be in this section as he may train at Northville.

It was not always thus. Only a few years ago boxing was forbidden in nearly every state. John L. Sullivan when champion had to fight on barges on the river and both he and Jake Kilrain, his opponent were arrested after a championship fight in Mississippi. Jack Johnson was billed to fight James J. Jeffreys in California but the fight had to be transferred to Nevada when the governor of California refused to allow it to take place in his state. During the war boxing was the chief pastime of the boys in the army and by their influence it was legalized in about every state following the war. Now the big boxing contest are attended by presidents, governors, congressmen, etc. and it is considered a mark of distinction to be present at one of these million dollar events.

HARVESTS FIRST FRUIT

Fred Block of Portage Lake now considers himself a full fledged orchardist and competent to speak with authority on the damage done by frost, drought, San Jose scale and the prospects for a bumper apple crop. Some time ago he set out an early harvest apple tree at his place at Portage Lake. This year he prepared to reap his first harvest. The tree bore twelve apples which he guarded zealously in spite of which 7 of them disappeared. The other 5 he picked and passed around among his friends who were all agreed that the fruit made up for their lack of quantity by the excellence of their flavor.

NOTICE

As many of the band members belong to 4-H clubs exhibiting at the Fowlerville Fair this week there will be no band concert at Pinckney Thursday night. The concert will be resumed next week.

Big Snake Hunt Here Last Friday

Reptile Killed in Farm House South of Town. Causes Much Excitement Is Identified As An Adder

Lorenzo Murphy got an SOS call from his family who live on the Lucy Harris farm, south of town, Friday morning that a huge snake had invaded the house and taken possession. Renz collected three of Pinckney's first class snake catchers Orville Amburgey and son, Dick, and Bob Singer and drove out. By the time they arrived the reptile had been shut up in a bedroom. When the rescue squad got there it escaped through the bedroom window but was at last cornered in a flower bed of blue flags and dispatched. It was a strange looking spotted snake over three feet long with a single button on its tail. It was brought to town where several viewed it without identification. At last Norman Miller who used to catch rattlesnakes alive for the U. of M. was contacted and pronounced it to be a milk snake. It is also called a spotted adder. The name milk snake comes from the fact that it is supposed to milk cows although no one ever saw it performing this act.

OFFER PRAYERS OR RAIN

A Lansing Dispatch to the Detroit Times states that Bishop Albers of the Lansing diocese requested both clergy and laity to pray for relief over the week end from the long dry spell.

ADVANCED SCOUTS CAMP AT MACKINAC ISLAND

August 20 to 26 has been set as the date for a camp of older Scouts to be held at Mackinac Island for purposes of advancement, recreation and leadership training. The camp will be limited to 16 picked Scouts. Applications are already being received for this event.

LAST WEEK OF SCOUT CAMP

August 6 to 12 marks the last week of the camp for Scouts at the Newkirk Reservation near Dexter, Michigan. This scout week will be followed by a week for Cubs, August 13-19, which brings to a close a season for 1939.

All Pinckney Scouts are invited to enroll for the week of August 6 to 12, either for the entire week or "short camp" which opens Sunday and closes Thursday evening. The cost of the "short" camp is $5 and the longer camp $7.50. The camp is limited to an attendance of 60 scouts. Applications should be made in advance by writing 324 E. Huron Street, Ann Arbor, Michigan of Camp Newkirk, Dexter, Michigan

DR. MAX DURFEE GETS APPOINTMENT

Dr. Max Durfee, former Dexter physician has been appointed director of health service at the Iowa State Teachers College at Cedar Falls. He left Dexter 4 years ago to accept an appointment on the University of Michigan State Health Service.

BUSINESS UPTURN REPORTED

Business and industry expect a lively upturn in business this fall. Charles E. Boyd of the Merchants Retail Association reports business up 12 per cent over that of last year at the present time. Auto dealers expect a rapid cleanup of their 1939 stocks. Chevrolet reports 21,798 cars sold during the second ten-day period in July, a gain of 3,289 over the first ten-day period. Pontiac reports an 11 per cent gain over the same period. Industrial production was up 32 per cent for the period ending July 15 over the same period last year. Employment was 71 per cent normal. Bank deposits on July 15 were 10 per cent higher than for the same time a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bucher were Wednesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Morris in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Miller and children and Mrs. Henry Shiry and daughter spent the week end at Douglas Lake in northern Michigan. They saw many live deer while there and got some nice catches of fish.

CURRENT COMMENT

Governor Dickinson still continues to bask in the light of popularity. He gets bushels of fan mail daily which he is not able to answer. The requests for speaking engagements are too numerous to fill. Still he is booked up in a number of places. Sunday he was to speak at a camp meeting at Jordan lake, Tuesday he was to speak at Vandercook lake at an Emancipation Day program and he will be the head liner at the District Sunday school convention at Ogden Center on August 13. Plans are also being made to have him as principal speaker at a Good Templar Temperance Day at the New York State Fair. It was always admitted that there was considerable dry sentiment in this state and maybe Gov. Dickinson will be able to unite it enough to be the Republican nominee in 1940 for governor. The country went dry back in 1918 because the anti-saloon league was able to sell the manufacturers the idea that prohibition would increase efficiency among the working men. By this means they were able to get large funds to put over their campaign. Prohibition came but did not prove to be what it was promised because there was no enforcement. Repeal followed and state liquor control. This is still not entirely satisfactory for the same element of lack of enforcement of the liquor laws is present. Chairman DeMaas of the state liquor control commission provoked a storm at the meeting of prosecuting attorneys of the state at Charlevoix last week when he charged them with responsibility for lack of enforcement. This they hotly denied and said they were getting no co-operation from the state liquor control dept. This buck passing gets them nowhere.

As the time rapidly approaches for the new county welfare board to take over, conjectures are many as to what three men the three jobs on the new county board will fall. Under the new law the three man board of supts. of poor, county agent and county welfare administrator are abolished and a three man board takes over their duties. The board of supervisors appoints two men and the governor the third man. At the recent session of the board of supervisors at Howell one prospective candidate for the office passed a box of cigars around, we are informed. The board will not select the two men until their October meeting. As to whom the state will appoint there is no information. A former Republican chairman of the board informed us that he favors the appointment of Oscar Schoenhals the present head of the welfare dept. who is qualified and has given satisfaction and would be willing to sign a petition in his favor to be sent to the governor. The only fly in the ointment is the fact that Mr. Schoenhals is a life long Democrat and Gov. Dickinson is not reappointing many of them.

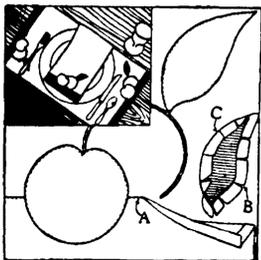

We see that a 19 year old married woman in Nettleton, Arkansas, was fined $50 last week for wearing shorts that left her knees exposed. In Arkansas they must have let the world pass them by. Shorts are common place in this section and no one pays any attention to them any more. During Lynn Gardner's last term in the legislature some uplift society got him to introduce a bill forbidding women to wear bathing suits or other such garb on the streets or highways. Lynn got bushels of publicity and kidding but as we recall, his bill got very few votes and was mowed under.

Years ago threshing was a profession and several threshing outfits started out from here every summer about harvest time for a several months tour. These were operated by steam engines and were a novel sight in those times. There is not as much grain raised in this section as in years gone by and the tractor threshing outfits and combines have put the steam engine out of business. The Ann Arbor News last week carried an interesting story of George Zeob who lives south of Dexter and has been a thresher for 58 years. He states that in the years gone by the threshing season lasted 130 days but now it is usually over in about three weeks. New and improved equipment is responsible for this, he states.

Pinckney soft ballers will play the Detroit Edison team of Ann Arbor here Friday night.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—One day, a long time ago, a 17-year-old girl, Janet Roper, was walking along Hanover street in Boston, a place where you meet sea-faring men. You meet sea-faring men from all parts of the civilized world. Attracted by a hymn tune, she stopped before a building, listened to the music of a melodeon, the lusty chorus of men's voices, and, at length, drawn by a power greater than her girlish timidity, she mounted the steps and so entered the headquarters of the Boston Seamen's Friends society. Thus destiny took hold of Janet's life and showed her the way to go.

Now Janet Roper, house mother of the Seamen's Church institute on South street, New York, is observing the fiftieth anniversary of her work among sailors, and there is hardly a forecastle from the Cape of Good Hope to Cairo, from John O'Groats to the Ambrose Light which does not contain at least one shellback beholden to her in any one of an infinite variety of ways.

She is slender, almost frail of physique. There are only a few traces of gray in her hair for all her 66 years, and her eyes snap with intelligence, vitality and kindly humor.

Several years ago Mother Roper devised the idea of publishing lists of missing seamen, copies being sent to seamen's homes throughout the world for display upon bulletin boards. The service has obtained extraordinary results. Sailors out of touch with their families for years have been located and contacts restored, brothers have been reunited in far-flung ports; all sorts of happy things have been effected. In all, to date, 5,327 sailormen supposedly swallowed in the sea or forever merged in the melting pots of alien ports, have been recovered from oblivion.

While in Boston, Mother Roper met and subsequently married a Congregational clergyman, engaged in similar service. They worked together in Gloucester, in Canada and in Oregon until her husband's death in 1915, when she came to the Seamen's institute on South street. She has no illusions about sailormen, holding them to be no better and no worse than other men. Her work, and her three daughters, living with her in Brooklyn, comprise her enthusiasms.

JUDGE MANLEY O. HUDSON of the Permanent Court of International Peace at The Hague, recently arrived here, is, characteristically, spending his vacation at Cambridge, Mass., looking into things of international juridical import. He was once Bemis professor of international law at Harvard, a post he took, somewhat in discouragement, when his career was diverted by the refusal in 1928 of the United States to join the League of Nations.

The world's leading authority on all questions pertaining to comity among nations, this world to him is no abstract thing, no matter of geographical division. Human affairs and relationships are his passion. A Missourian—he was born in St. Peters in 1886—he reverses an attributed reaction of citizens of his commonwealth in that far from asking to be shown, he is at all times willing, nay eager, to demonstrate.

Genial, incurably optimistic, mentally brilliant, he enjoys nothing so much as to stand at bay in intellectual combat, indulging with D'Artagnan's ardor in sword-play, in thrust and riposte, until his opponents are either convinced or, at any rate, silenced. He will plunge into contest, or, if no struggle is waging, he is very likely to start one.

New 22 years old, Judge Hudson entered the League of Nations secretariat with its origin in 1923, and ever since he has been attached to it. Two years earlier, he was with the inquiry and peace terms commission established by the state department and later, in Paris, was a member of the international law division of the committee to negotiate peace. Work then began led directly to the World court bench when the league assembly gave him the second highest vote—42 out of 50—over received by a candidate.

A President's Attendance Caused Flurry of Excitement in Church

One Sunday during the summer of 1917 the President suggested that we drive quietly over to Virginia and attend the service at the Pohick church, which was the place of worship of George Washington. When we arrived, the little edifice was well filled. Mr. Wilson, my brother Randolph and I were escorted to the Washington pew, given prayer books and left to ourselves. The service over, we were accompanied to the door by a member of the vestry and permitted to depart without any of the crowding about which usually attends the appearance of a President in public. Also I was impressed by the large congregation, for it was raining.

Afterwards Mr. Jervis, one of the secret service men, asked:

"M" for Noon

According to the United States Naval Observatory 12:00 M is almost universally used to designate 12:00 o'clock noon. M in this connection is an abbreviation of "Meridien," the accusative of the Latin "meridies," meaning mid-day.

"May I tell you a story?" This is the story:

Knowing our plans, Mr. Jervis had reached the church at 9:30, finding it closed and not a soul about. At the nearest house he inquired whether there was to be a service. The man did not know, but said that the preacher was holding Sunday school at his own home and that Jervis might inquire of him. At the minister's house Mr. Jervis found a young man instructing a group of barefoot girls and boys. Jervis asked the man whether there would be a service at the church, because the President had intended to come. "The President of what?" asked the clergyman. "Of the United States," replied Jervis. The minister looked at his caller sorrowfully. "Young man, are you ill?" he asked.

Jervis showed his badge, adding that the President and Mrs. Wilson were due in an hour. The minister clasped his hands. "Children, Sunday school is dismissed. All of you run home and tell your fathers and mothers the President is coming to church and I want a good congregation to welcome him." Then he turned to Jervis.

Wise and Otherwise

Did the guy who said "honesty is the best policy" ever try telling the boss what he really thought of him?

Hank says his wife's new diet has fairly took her breath away!

"Young man, I must have. You run over to the church and tell the sexton to ring the bell—vigorously." At the church Jervis found the old sexton opening the door. He gave the minister's message. The sexton's mouth stood open for a minute. Then he said: "Here, you ring that bell. It's just outside in a tree. I got to go home and shave."—Edith Bolling Wilson in The Saturday Evening Post.

Bruckart's Washington Digest

Shaping of National Policies Influenced by Work of Congress

Party Defections, Defeats and Victories of President Have Important Place in Picture; Growing Split in Democratic Party Blamed on Roosevelt.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—When one examines political situations and maneuvers, there is nearly always a tendency to overestimate the importance of the current activity. That is to say, an action or a policy just completed is generally likely to be given an appraisal that exaggerates its significance.

For these reasons, there seems to be need for a review of the first session of the seventy-sixth congress. The things that have happened, the party defections and party realignments, temporary defeats for the President and balancing victories for him and his political philosophy, all should be analyzed.

Most every one has been aware, since 1938, that a split in Democratic party strength has been growing. Mr. Roosevelt, himself, led the way and was perhaps the main cause of the present-wide breach.

Old-Line Democrats Succeed In Building 1940 Platform

There has been much written and spoken about maneuvers underneath, and what the results of these maneuvers are. I am inclined to the opinion, however, that only now after seven months of the first session of the seventy-sixth congress are we able to evaluate them properly.

When one places the seething mass of legislation, bureaucracy and propaganda under a microscope, Mr. Guffey undoubtedly is correct—if the view is from the New Deal angle, alone. The wild reforms proposed by the brain trust of the first term were knocked down by the Supreme court.

Congress Takes Back Power Delegated to Mr. Roosevelt

It becomes less difficult, therefore, to sit back now and use hindsight. We see, practically from the line of the "backstage," how congress began to take back powers it delegated to Mr. Roosevelt in the hectic days of 1938 and 1939.

be just as free to take away from the President as it was to give powers to him before the party breach.

In between the extremes just mentioned, and particularly within the current session of congress, there have been unmistakable signs of congressional domination. I do not mean to say that the Democratic wheelhorses in congress have thrown the President overboard.

To elaborate on the generalities which have been stated above, I may cite such things as the house determination to continue the WPA investigation—something New Dealers did not want. Additional funds were voted for continuation of the investigation of un-American activities, headed by Representative Dies of Texas—a program openly attacked by the New Dealers.

Many Things That Annoyed New Deal Faction of Party

Reduction of the WPA fund total early in the spring, while small, was just another annoying mosquito bite on the New Dealers' legs. The voting of furloughs for WPA workers who have had 18 months of continuous checks was disliked by and was thoroughly distasteful to the New Deal faction of the party.

Nor did Mr. Roosevelt want to see congress change the tax laws. Senator Harrison of Mississippi, together with Undersecretary Haynes of the treasury, worked out the law that was passed. It eliminated the principal schemes for reform that the New Dealers had sponsored in the days when congress was completely subservient to the White House.

Changes that were made in the social security laws were never acceptable to the inner circle of New Dealers who constitute the President's principal advisors.

Perhaps, the statement of Senator Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania evaluates the circumstance better than I can do. Guffey, New Dealer, closer associate of the President than Mr. Roosevelt sometimes desired, asserted in a recent radio address that Mr. Roosevelt "has had no term in the White House at all, for his work was destroyed by the Supreme court in the first term and was wrecked by Tories in the second years."

President Gets Plain Mad The Way Things Are Going

It might be proper at this time to call attention to another phase of the situation here, although it can hardly be said to be a part of the circumstance that I have been discussing. Lately, Mr. Roosevelt has had his "Dutch up," so to speak, and has not minced words. For example, he called in Lyle Wilson, head of the United Press bureau here, and denounced Mr. Wilson and his organization for sending out dispatches which the President said were untrue.

This series of incidents came after many reports were in circulation at the Capitol that Mr. Roosevelt was mad about the way things were going. Whether these reports were true or false, they were seized upon by Republicans and by the Democrats who no longer want any part of Roosevelt policy.

PICNIC BASKET A PASSPORT TO FUN (See Recipe Below)

Let's Have a Picnic!

When skies are blue and cloudless and the weather's warm, a picnic basket is the passport to fun. It may be a spur-of-the-moment picnic with a simple lunch prepared from supplies on hand in pantry and refrigerator.

Whether your picnic is planned for a family, a Sunday school class, or a lodge, you'll find these foods prime favorites with the guests. Recipes are given here in quantities to serve a family; for a larger number the difference is a simple process of multiplication.

Cream Salad Dressing.

- 1 teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons flour
1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
Dash cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon butter
1 egg yolk
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup heavy cream

Baked Beans (Serves 6)

- 1 pound navy beans
1/2 pound pork (from the shoulder)
3 cups water
1/2 cup brown sugar
6 tablespoons molasses
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard

Camp Coffee.

Early in the day measure the coffee into a sugar bag, allowing 1 tablespoon per cup. Place this in the coffeepot with a little cold water and let it stand all day.

Fresh Peach Ice Cream.

- 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg (slightly beaten)
2 cups milk (scalded)
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups coffee cream
2 1/2 cups crushed peaches
1/2 cup confectioner's sugar

Add cream and the crushed peaches, which have been mixed with confectioner's sugar. Pour into container of ice cream freezer and freeze, using 3 parts ice to 1 part salt.

Frankfurters de Luxe.

- 12 frankfurters
American cheese (cut in strips 1/2 by 4 inches)
12 strips bacon

With a sharp knife make a slit along one side of each frankfurter. In each slit place a strip of cheese. Press together and wrap a strip of bacon around each frankfurter.

Cabbage Salad. (Serves 6)

- 2 cups cabbage (shredded fine)
1 stalk celery (cut fine)
3 apples (unpeeled, diced)
2 to 3 green onions (sliced)
1/2 teaspoon salt

Shaping of National Policies Influenced by Work of Congress

Party Defections, Defeats and Victories of President Have Important Place in Picture; Growing Split in Democratic Party Blamed on Roosevelt.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—When one examines political situations and maneuvers, there is nearly always a tendency to overestimate the importance of the current activity. That is to say, an action or a policy just completed is generally likely to be given an appraisal that exaggerates its significance.

For these reasons, there seems to be need for a review of the first session of the seventy-sixth congress. The things that have happened, the party defections and party realignments, temporary defeats for the President and balancing victories for him and his political philosophy, all should be analyzed.

Most every one has been aware, since 1938, that a split in Democratic party strength has been growing. Mr. Roosevelt, himself, led the way and was perhaps the main cause of the present wide breach. It will be remembered how he sought to "purge" the Democratic party of Senators George of Georgia; Smith, of South Carolina; Tydings, of Maryland; and Representative O'Connor of New York.

Old-Line Democrats Succeed in Building 1940 Platform

There has been much written and spoken about maneuvers underneath, and what the results of these maneuvers are. I am inclined to the opinion, however, that only now after seven months of the first session of the seventy-sixth congress are we able to evaluate them properly.

Perhaps, the statement of Senator Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania evaluates the circumstance better than I can do. Guffey, New Dealer, closer associate of the President than Mr. Roosevelt sometimes desired, asserted in a recent radio address that Mr. Roosevelt "has had no term in the White House at all, for his work was destroyed by the Supreme court in the first term and was wrecked by tories in the second years."

When one places the seething mass of legislation, bureaucracy and propaganda under a microscope, Mr. Guffey undoubtedly is correct.—If the view is from the New Deal angle, alone. The wild reforms proposed by the brain trust of the first term were knocked down by the Supreme court. Further attempts to rebuild America were slowed down by congress, little by little, until the current session of congress has been telling the President what to do in a great many instances. Thus, it can be said, the Supreme court made the President's work to his liking, but he lost congress, and it is well to remember just how that the Supreme court decided many questions that are brought before it.

Congress Takes Back Power Delegated to Mr. Roosevelt

It becomes less difficult, therefore, to sit back now and see hindsight. We see, practically from the time of the "purge," how congress began to take back powers it delegated to Mr. Roosevelt in the hectic days of 1938 and 1934. A bit here and a bit there. The pinnacle was reached when the senate kicked out the President's power to devalue the dollar and took away the right to buy silver with a repulsive and disgusting subsidy. Of course, after a brief lapse, those powers were given back to the President, but there is significance in that fact. It showed that when congress is ready, it will be just as free to take away from the President as it was to give powers to him before the party breach.

In between the extremes just mentioned, and particularly within the current session of congress, there have been unmistakable signs of congressional domination. I do not mean to say that the Democratic wheelhorses in congress have thrown the President overboard. They have chosen to chisel away his strength; they have avoided knock-down and drag-out battles as much as possible, unless the issues were paramount. Their strategy plainly has been to build strength for themselves in their own districts and in their own states rather slowly. The whole thing amounts to a program of education of the voters who a few brief years ago were hailing Mr. Roosevelt as the national savior. I believe the work has gone so far now that most of the Democrats in congress have considerable support in their home playgrounds.

To elaborate on the generalities which have been stated above, I may cite such things as the house determination to continue the WPA investigation—something New Dealers did not want. Additional funds were voted for continuation of the investigation of un-American activities, headed by Representative Dies of Texas—a program openly attacked by the New Dealers. The constant threats of congressional investigation of the labor relations board and the federal communications commission are two other things which the inner circle of New Dealers are moving heaven and earth to prevent.

Many Things That Annoyed New Deal Faction of Party

Reduction of the WPA fund total early in the spring, while small, was just another annoying mosquito bite on the New Dealers' legs. The voting of furloughs for WPA workers who have had 18 months of continuous checks was disliked by and was thoroughly distasteful to the New Deal faction of the party.

Nor did Mr. Roosevelt want to see congress change the tax laws. Senator Harrison of Mississippi, together with Undersecretary Haynes of the treasury, worked out the law that was passed. It eliminated the principal schemes for reform that the New Dealers had sponsored in the days when congress was completely subservient to the White House. It is to be noted just here, too, that these tax changes had the support of Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee, who had been a dependable "yes man" for the President, up to that time.

Changes that were made in the social security laws were never acceptable to the inner circle of New Dealers who constitute the President's principal advisors. But, again, congress showed its teeth in only a snarl.

The senate foreign relations committee gave the administration something more than name-calling, however, on the question of neutrality legislation. This, of course, followed a real spanking by the house. The house, it will be recalled, took the administration's neutrality program and butchered it right out where all could see what was going on.

President Gets Plain Mad The Way Things Are Going

It might be proper at this time to call attention to another phase of the situation here, although it can hardly be said to be a part of the circumstance that I have been discussing. Lately, Mr. Roosevelt has had his "Dutch up," so to speak, and has not minced words. For example, he called in Lyle Wilson, head of the United Press bureau here, and denounced Mr. Wilson and his organization for sending out dispatches which the President said were untrue. These dispatches, or one, particularly, told of a purported split between Mr. Roosevelt and the able and patient Secretary Hull of the Department of State. Their differences were reported to be over the President's policy on neutrality. Anyway, the incident wound up with the President taking the almost unprecedented action of issuing a public statement accusing the United Press of falsification of the facts.

This series of incidents came after many reports were in circulation at the Capitol that Mr. Roosevelt was mad about the way things were going. Whether these reports were true or false, they were seized upon by Republicans and by the Democrats who no longer want any part of Roosevelt policy. They were spread in the most fanciful fashion and there was no opportunity overlooked by which those old meanies around the congress could add to the President's discomfiture. Of course, all of this is a part of the great game of politics. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

PICNIC BASKET A PASSPORT TO FUN (See Recipe Below)

Let's Have a Picnic!

When skies are blue and cloudless and the weather's warm, a picnic basket is the passport to fun. It may be a spur-of-the-moment picnic with a simple lunch prepared from supplies on hand in pantry and refrigerator; or it might be a steak fry or barbecue with the food cooked on the picnic grounds; but it's more likely to be an old-fashioned "family style" picnic for a half-dozen to a hundred hungry guests with plenty of good-tasting food of delicious variety.

Whether your picnic is planned for a family, a Sunday school class, or a lodge, you'll find these foods prime favorites with the guests. Recipes are given here in quantities to serve a family; for a larger number the duplication is a simple process of multiplication.

Cream Salad Dressing. 1 teaspoon mustard 1 teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons flour 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar Dash cayenne pepper 1 teaspoon butter 1 egg yolk 1/2 cup vinegar 1/2 cup heavy cream Mix all dry ingredients together thoroughly. Add butter, egg yolk and vinegar. Place in double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Cool, fold in cream (stiffly beaten) and serve with cabbage salad.

Baked Beans (Serves 6) 1 pound navy beans 1/2 pound pork (from the shoulder) 3 cups water 3/4 cup brown sugar 6 tablespoons molasses 1 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon dry mustard Soak the navy beans over night in water to cover. In the morning cut the meat into 2-inch pieces and brown well. Add the 3 cups water, and cook slowly for about 1/2 hour. Add beans and continue cooking for 2 hours, or until both meat and beans are tender. Add remaining ingredients. Place in a baking dish, and bake in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees) for about 1 1/2 hours. If necessary, add more water to the beans while cooking.

Camp Coffee. Early in the day measure the coffee into a sugar bag, allowing 1 tablespoon per cup. Place this in the coffeepot with a little cold water and let it stand all day. Then when nearly time to serve, pour boiling water, which has been previously measured, into the pot. Boil 5 minutes, remove the bag, and your coffee is ready to serve. It will not harm it to let it stand for a while. You will find that this unusual way of making coffee will give you a most delightful, full-flavored beverage, and at the same time saves considerable measuring and pot-watching when you want to be enjoying your picnic, too!

Fresh Peach Ice Cream. 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar 1 tablespoon flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 egg (slightly beaten) 2 cups milk (scalded) 1 teaspoon vanilla extract 2 cups coffee cream 2 1/2 cups crushed peaches 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar Mix sugar, flour and salt thoroughly. Add the beaten egg and bland. Add the scalded milk and cook as a custard in a double boiler until the mixture will coat the spoon. Add vanilla extract and cool.

Add cream and the crushed peaches, which have been mixed with confectioners' sugar. Pour into container of ice cream freezer and freeze, using 3 parts ice to 1 part salt.

Frankfurters de Luxe. 12 frankfurters American cheese (cut in strips 1/4 by 4 inches) 12 strips bacon With a sharp knife make a slit along one side of each frankfurter. In each slit place a strip of cheese. Press together and wrap a strip of bacon around each frankfurter. Fasten with toothpicks. Roast on a charcoal grill, turning occasionally, to cook the bacon evenly. Or place on a toasting fork (or stick), and roast over an open fire for about 5 minutes.

Cabbage Salad. (Serves 6) 2 cups cabbage (shredded fine) 1 stalk celery (cut fine) 3 apples (unpeeled, diced) 2 to 3 green onions (sliced) 1/2 teaspoon salt Mix all ingredients in order given. Add cream salad dressing and garnish with paprika.

Cup Cakes. (Makes 18 small cakes) 1/2 cup water 1 1/4 cups sugar 2 eggs (separated) 2 cups cake flour 2 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup cold water 1 teaspoon vanilla Cream the butter, and gradually add about half of the sugar. Beat the egg yolks until very light, add remaining sugar, and beat well. Combine with the first mixture. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt, and add to the batter alternately with the water. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and fold into the batter. Add vanilla. Bake in well-greased muffin pans in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for about 25 minutes. Cool and frost with boiled icing sprinkled generously with cocoanut.

Public Health Association.
A report just released by the association, after a 11-month survey of Michigan's health facilities, recommends a non-partisan appointment of the commissioner by the state council of health. A sentence says: "The fact that the commissioner of health is appointed directly by the governor and may be removed by the succeeding administration, without any consideration other than that there has been a political change, makes for a lack of efficiency and results in a periodic lowering of the morale of the entire personnel".

Dickinson's Crusade.

City slickers can laugh all they want to about Governor Dickinson's crusade against "high life", but a lot of folks respect him for it just the same.

Gov. Earl Long, bother of the famed Huey, has decided that a governor should set an example. Hence the Louisiana governor's mansion no longer will serve liquors of any kind

We inquired of an upstate newspaper editor about how people there had reacted to the Dickinson drive on sin. He said: "It has been popular with most people, I would judge that he has made votes."

Of course, the governor's attitude on drinking and gambling and immorality in general is very much in a personal matter. It is not a political issue. James Thomson, state republican chairman, has made that clear.

The governor's famous expression "pipeline to God" elicited this explanation the other day: "It's simple enough-you have electric and gas lines passing your house, bear-comforts you can get only by making a connection. There is not a place on God's earth without one of those spiritual lines. It's near you and it's up to you to make the connection."

Medics to Serve

Apropos to the home rule situation in which the welfare problem finds itself is that resulting from the current curtailment of state aid for care of crippled and afflicted children.

The legislature, economy-bent, limited such state aid to $800,000 for the entire state. This sum was only $100,000 more than the 1938 quota for Wayne county alone. If any county feels that the state aid quota is insufficient, it may supplement the amount.

When the cut was applied, criticism was voiced that the administration was neglecting the welfare of children. The Detroit Medical Journal, publication of the Wayne County Medical society, took a middle-road position to the effect that doctors could afford to quarrel with the legislature in the latter's effort for economy. This stand was applauded widely by the press.

The Michigan Medical society has taken a fairly liberal attitude on the subject of public health. Physicians and hospitals say they will willingly do their part not to deny medical aid to anyone in an emergency. Furthermore, the society took the leadership this year to pioneer a new field of group health insurance. Incorporation papers have get under way shortly after Sept. been filed, and the program will 18 when the society holds its annual meeting.

No other state has a comparable health insurance program.

More Liquor Stores

Whereas the late Governor Fitzgerald advocated that the state get out of the liquor business entirely, the opposite is about due to take place.

Additional liquor retail stores are to be opened soon by the state liquor commission in the hope of increasing the state's revenue to the treasury, the latter being sorely in need of money. Studies have disclosed that private retailers netted substantial profits from liquor sales, and the state commission believes this profit could well be utilized at Lansing.

Michigan, one of 16 states with state stores, enjoyed a net revenue profit last year of $19,210,827. Of this license fees produced nearly $3,000,000; state liquor taxes, $4,800,000; miscellany income, $380,000, and the balance in retail sales profit. Gross receipts were $45,900,000. Administrative and collection costs plus cost of goods and selling cost amounted to $28,800,000. Michigan "takes" out of the liquor business thus was more than $16,000,000. Nationally, the net revenue of state and local governments from alcoholic beverages reached a staggering total of $318,500,000.
