Pinckney High School Wins Football Game from Hartland. Meets South Lyon Here Friday. Other School News.

The Pinckney high school football team broke into the win column on Friday when they defeated Hartland there 8 to 0. Pinckney had it all over Hartland in all departments and according to the boys the score does not give the complete picture as it should have been four times as large. When Pinckney got into the scoring zone they usually became over anxious and fumbles and losses of ground were numerous inside the Hartland ten yard line. Once Pinckney was held for downs on the one yard line. Pinckney's big gains were on forward passes of which they completed many. Bill Baughn also made some nice gains carrying the ball and scored Pinckney's only touchdown. They failed to kick the goal. The other two points came on a safety when Hannett threw a Hartland man with the ball behind their own goal line.

Pinckney	L. E.	Hartland

The boys are showing improvement with each game and should give South Lyon a tough argument when they come here Friday. South Lyon has a good team this year and recently beat Ann Arbor high school reserves.

Due to Teacher's Institute there will be no school Thursday or Friday. However, there will be a ball game Friday afternoon at 3:30 here. It is the last home game so here's your chance to see the boys in action on their own field. No telling what they might do, after that game at Hartland last Friday. Pinckney is tied in the league now and if we beat South Lyon this coming Friday we will be in the lead.

The Junior play books arrived last week and tryouts will begin next week or the week after. The Junior party will be in the gym on Saturday, October 14. Refreshments will be cider and doughnuts.

The school children have another chance to be "in the movies" next Wednesday evening. If 50 children sign up for the school the A. L. H. Association will get $100. All of those who take part must be over 14 years of age.

PINCKNEY MAN PLEDGES FRATERNITY

Cyrus AtLee, of Pinckney, was formally pledged as a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity to Albion college, at a meeting of the fraternity at its house Monday evening, October 2. Official announcement of the 13 new Alpha Tau Omega pledges was made by Dean Emil Leffler.

AtLee is one of the 285 freshmen who enrolled at Albion college for the first semester of the 1939-40 year. A graduate of the Pinckney high school in June, 1939, AtLee is beginning a pre-law course at Albion. He must remain a pledge for at least one semester before he may become an active member of his fraternity.

The Alpha Tau Omega fraternity was founded at Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, in 1865. Its Beta Omicron chapter was established on the Albion college campus in 1889. There are 94 national Alpha Tau Omega chapters.

Caldwell Stock Company Continues To Draw Good Crowds and Put On Very Good Plays.

It was just another enjoyable evening for the large crowd that attended the performance of the Caldwell Comedians at the Community Hall in Pinckney on Friday evening as Dick Caldwell fulfilled his promise to give us another high class show this week, and now he has promised another one even better for this Friday.

Pinckney should be proud of the fact that they have such an excellent Company as this to visit them every Friday evening, as so far they have given us the very best of amusement.

Last Friday night George O'Brien as "Toby" proved himself to be a comedian as superior to any ever seen here, Dick Caldwell in the leading role, is about one of the cleverest actors we have had the pleasure of seeing in many years, Evelyn Easter, always looks and plays her parts well and she has made many friends here by her clever work in the first two plays.

Dainty Little Lucille Blackburn who worked opposite "Toby", the past week is another clever actress with the Company and while she is young is age, she has had many years experience, and you will hear big things of her before many years. Roy Kinkle had the role of the villain, and had most of the audience hating him before the play got far on the way. In fact there is not an that has not had many years experience of actress with this Company since in their work here and is not the best we have ever had.

The orchestra under the direction of Eva Kinkle, gave an excellent musical program before the start of the performance.

This Friday night Mr. Caldwell has announced another great comedy, "Love in High Gear" and he says that this one is even better than the other two plays they have presented here, of course there will be new vaudeville acts by George O'Brien and Lucille Blackburn, Ray Kinkle, also Mr. Caldwell has promised to give us a new act, so you are going to have a dandy show this week.

Most every merchant in Pinckney have the special courtesy tickets and they will gladly give them to you free, so when you make a purchase just ask them for as many tickets as you want and they will gladly give them to you, these tickets will save you money in seeing the show so lets all be in Pinckney again on Friday night and see this great show.

PRESENTED WITH BRONZE PLAQUE

A bronze plaque and citation have been placed in the Michigan Bell Telephone Company's headquarters work of Michigan telephone men and at Detroit in recognition of the women in helping restore communication following the New England hurricane of September, 1st year, according to J. E. Johnson, manager for the company in this area.

The plaque is a replica of the general award made to the Bell system employees by the National T. N. Vail medal Committee, "for loyalty, devotion to duty and achievement."

The Michigan Bell Company sent ten women women operators and 138 construction and repairmen with motor equipment and supplies to the storm-swept area. In addition, ten operators employed in the Detroit long distance center of the Long Lines department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company were sent.

Rehabilitation crews also were mobilized by 13 other Bell System companies from as far west as Nebraska and as far south as Arkansas, 2,300 trained men and 615 motor vehicles, in all. The hurricane put 600,000 telephones out of service and caused $10,000,000 damage to telephone plant in the worst disaster in the history of the Bell System.

JAMES E. HARRIS

James E. Harris, 75, son of the late Henry Harris sr., of Pinckney died at his home in Ann Arbor suddenly Sunday morning. He was born in Pinckney in 1863 and lived there during the early part of his life. Dexter was his home for a number of years but for the past twenty-five years he has lived in Ann Arbor. He is the last surviving member of a large family, his brothers and sisters, all having preceded him in death. Surviving are his wife, Mary Lenz Harris, two daughters, Mrs. Carl Boettger of Dexter and Mrs. James Murray of Jackson and a son, Martin of Grand Rapids. The funeral was held from St. Thomas church, Ann Arbor Wednesday morning with burial in Bethlehem cemetery.

Wilding Picture Company of Detroit Makes Another Film Here for the Goodyear Tire Company. Local Cast of 150 People Required.

Some six weeks ago the Wilding Pictures Co., of Detroit made an advertising film here for the International Harvester. Four or five days were occupied in making it and St. Mary's Catholic church and the Congregational church were each paid $75 for furnishing a cast of 25 people for the days in which the film was being made.

The Picture Company were here again last week and made arrangements to make another picture this time for the Goodyear Tire Company. This will be a night picture and will be made from 7:00 p. m. to 12:00 p. m. One of the scenes will be a pavement dance. A cast of 150 people is wanted and the two churches and the school will be paid $100 each for furnishing the cast. The pictures are made here for the reason that the film company after searching all over Michigan selected Pinckney as the typical country village. During the time the picture is being made the streets will be roped off and all traffic detoured. The picture will be made tonight (Wednesday).

COURT TERM SHORTENED

On account of settlements and postponements, the September term of court now in session is apt to be very short. Monday the jury case of Glen Garwood vs the Universal Credits Corp. was scheduled to be tried before a jury. This is one of the few jury cases ready. Glen Garwood, formerly managed the Ford Sales Agency at Brighton and is suing for money he alleges due him from the finance company.

The jury gave both Glen Garwood and Howard McCarthy a verdict for wages against the Universal Corp. Last week no cases were ready for trial and the judge heard a few motions and passed a few sentences. George Hase, convicted several times for drunkenness and once tried for negligent homicide appeared again for sentence and his case was put over to December.

Bert Stage and his sons, Roy and Hugh, of Fowlerville arrested for resisting an officer plead guilty. The father was ordered to pay $15 and the two boys $10 each and all were placed on probation for two years. Donald Sexton, 17, a Lansing boy was given 1 to 5 years in Ionia for breaking and entering. It was his second offense.

INFLUENCE OF MUSIC

In broadcast over WEAR, Com. E. Akma Sharpe emphasized the importance of music and its influence on the lives of boys and girls, inspiring them to nobler living, contributing much to their happiness and the happiness of those with whom they come in contact, and making them better citizens. To prove Miss Sharpe's statements, 50 boys and 50 girls from the schools of Handy and Conway townships were present and sang several numbers in a very creditable manner. Under the leadership of Miss Elsie Thrasher of Mich. State, music is becoming one of the most worthwhile subjects offered in our rural schools.

County Boards of Supervisors Struggle over Welfare Setup. New System is Liabl. to Increase the Cost of Welfare to Tax-Payers.

Home rule for administration of relief, authorized by the 1939 state legislature as part of an "economy" program, is coming home to roost in more than 80 counties this week. County supervisors are in session.

During the last gubernatorial campaign supervisors urged defeat of the 1937 welfare act. They insisted that a centralized system of providing relief to jobless and unemployed was fodder for a highly trained social worker, yet was a luxury that Michigan could not afford. Local control would lower costs, they pleaded. Many voters agreed.

The 1937 welfare act was defeated, and the problem was thrown into the laps of 1939 legislators.

A new law was enacted whereby handling of relief was returned to counties. The state was pledged to match local payments, dollar for dollar. A three-member board was to be set up in each county, two members of which were to be named by the supervisors and the third man to be appointed by the state social welfare commission.

This sounds simple, but complications were numerous. Big Business.

Relief has become "big business" in America today.

Expenditures for the poor once were nominal. The word "poor", usually associated with "charity" vanished upon the advent of the Great Depression which swallowed millions of workers into idleness. It became "unemployed". Millions of dollars were poured out from Washington to sustain life and to maintain morale on a basis of American decency. State capitals were called upon for legislative appropriations.

To prevent possible political misuse of relief millions, the social worker was glorified in a big way. Relief applicants had to be certified as to need, and that meant careful scrutiny by trained investigators. Salaries increased as responsibilities grew; payrolls mounted as more millions were spent; the entire administrative overhead sprang up like a mushroom.

The old relief system, keyed to a limited need, was put into total eclipse by a highly centralized system focused on Washington and Lansing. During the 1938-39 fiscal year the state spent approximately $15,000,000 for direct relief alone.

This was a lot of money. A deficit in the state treasury was one result.

Economy
The 1939 legislature, heeding demands for economy and hoping that local control for relief would aid in realizing this objective, passed a law that gives the county supervisors the whip hand with certain limitations.

First, the act attached a string to the "home rule" proviso by requiring counties to pay the cost of local administration - an expense which the centralized system (or state control at Lansing) had previously borne. Second, more administrative responsibility meant more financial responsibility. That called for raising the "ante" in some counties that had coasted along, letting the state carry most of their load.

Third, a practical limitation was imposed by an arbitrary slicing of the fiscal relief appropriation (1939-40) from $15,000,000 to $8,750,000 or a reduction of nearly one-half. True, legislators prayed that business would pick up, that the new plan would effect new economies, and that counties would absorb the balance of the need. The present state social welfare commission, headed by Walter F. Gries of Ishpeming, has turned a deaf ear to occasional cries for a special session of the legislature. Even Mel McPherson, unofficial state spokesman for the supervisors, has admonished counties to prepare to carry their part of the load. Having asked for home rule, supervisors were told to shoulder the new responsibilities cheerfully.

This they are doing for the most part, although grumbling profusely and loudly against Washington's hard-bellied attitude that spending of social security money (unemployment compensation, aid to dependent children, etc.) must be done only by persons hired under federal civil service standards.

CURRENT COMMENT "By Ye Editor"

We notice that another Detroit police officer has been given ten days in jail for contempt of court by Judge Ferguson in the grand jury gambling investigation. This makes number two. If the Detroit police are trying their darndest to get in wrong they seem to be succeeding or either they are too dumb for their jobs. Lt. John McCarthy previously sentenced for contempt of court is attacking the legitimacy of the grand jury inquiry. Both he and Patrolman Joseph Whelan were sentenced to jail for lying on the witness stand.

Another far reaching effect of the welfare reorganization program seems to be that it may mean the abolishing of mothers pensions. At the present time only 25 counties in the state pay mothers pensions. In the others no money is appropriated to pay them. There is a wide variance in the pensions paid. Wayne county pays $54.35 a family a month, Oakland $43.72 while Kent only pays $17.70 and Calhoun $17.44. Mel McPherson at the recent supervisors session at Lansing urged the supervisors to keep up the mother's pensions and to restore them if they had been abandoned. The welfare commission however urges that they be abandoned and the mothers aided from the welfare funds. Undoubtedly many counties will kill the mothers pensions by failing to make an appropriation for them and this will put them on the welfare list where their monthly pension will be much smaller.

As the neutrality debate goes on in Washington the average person becomes more and more confused as to the question in debate. Many well informed people have confessed that they do not know which side of the debate is right and do not see a great deal of difference in the two sides. The repeal sponsored by the administration would let this country make munitions and implements of warfare and sell them to the warring nations. However, they would be shipped on the other nations boats and sold on a cash and carry basis. The embargo people or isolationists led by Senators Borah and Vandenberg would only sell raw material of war like steel, copper, cotton, etc. but would allow it to be shipped on American boats. Apparently the minds of the senators are already made up and the present debates are only a waste of time. Wednesday Senators Vandenberg and Connolly spoke and as the world series ball game was on only about 20 senators heard the speeches, the others getting the ball game over the radio. The same thing happened on Thursday and it was with great difficulty that a quorum was kept on the senate floor. The nigger in the woodpile is that the anti-administration senators think repeal will boom the stock of President Roosevelt and give him too much power in 1940.

In the meantime the war in Europe gets screwier and screwier. American correspondents allowed to go to the western front found no fighting and no enmity between the rival forces. Great Britain and France apparently went to war to save Poland but for all the assistance they were to her they might as well have stayed at home. Poland was encouraged to resist the Nazi by them on promises of assistance which never came. Not a single airplane went to bomb the Germans and when Russia stepped in Poland was stamped out of existence in less than a month. With the danger that Turkey and Japan may throw in with Germany and Russia the odds against the allies may become too great. However, it is hard to see how they could make peace now with Germany as this would mean that France would be quickly overrun. If they allow Germany and Russia to gobble up the smaller neutral countries this would only satisfy them for a short time and then more territory would have to be given them.

Gay Aprons From Unbleached Muslin

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

Every one who has ever lived in the country knows the possibilities of unbleached muslin. The source of supply there is flour and food sacks but even purchased by the yard it is an inexpensive, sturdy material for aprons and many other things.

If you have friends who share your enthusiasm for interesting aprons, plan and cut them in a group; then trimmings may be exchanged and every piece-bag will produce something.

The diagram shown here gives you cutting dimensions for the skirt part of a plain little apron and shows how to shape the waistline. Belts for the bibless type are rather wide now—two or two and a half inches finished. Ties are generally 4-inches wide and as long as you like. Now, do be daring when you come to pockets or adding a bib. Try an idea of your own. These gay unbleached muslin aprons are just suggestions to get you started.

Of Such Is Friendship

Despite Cicero's "De Amicitia" and uncounted other books and papers on the subject, friendship remains difficult to define. But so is electricity. Both possess a dynamic quality difficult to catch on the photographic plate of words. Both are best understood by their works.

A boy once stood on a hollock, unwinding from a reel a string that stretched in an arc upward until it was lost in the clouds.

"What are you doing?" someone asked.

"Flying a kite."

"But you can't see your kite. How do you know it is there?"

"By the pull of the string in my hand," the boy answered.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not get an "acute" kidney condition—let it remain latent, it retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Caution! Do not be misled by cheap, patent medicines, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is vital. Do not wait until you are in a hospital. Do not have your kidneys cleaned out by a doctor. They have a natural way of cleansing themselves. Ask your neighbor!

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—The aged president of Poland, Ignaz Moscicki, put an air-conditioning system in his old plush-draped Baroque palace three years ago. A scientist, a devout believer in the benign miracles of the laboratory which will some day transform a tragically afflicted world, he devised the system himself and superintended its installation. It turned heavy, sluggish air into cool mountain breezes, and gave him new energy for his continuing scientific work, at the age of 70.

Perhaps the falling leaves give poignancy and sadness to the fate of this kindly old gentleman, driven from his country in the up-thrust of the new—or possibly the old—savagery of Europe.

One might write off Josef Beck and Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, political and military careerists, also exiled, as incidental casualties, caught in the backwash of their own ambitions. President Moscicki, although merely a symbol in feudal Poland, may find a place in the later balance brought forward. If there is to be a new dark age, it may be that laboratories will be the havens of the humane spirit and the aspiring intelligence, as were the monastic refuges of the Middle Ages.

He is one of the greatest electrochemists in Europe, ranked with the great German, Haber. In the field of synthetic chemistry, he holds about 300 patents. He was a college professor for many years, tall and thin with white hair and a spiked moustache, as convinced as was Woodrow Wilson that a "new freedom" could be gained by the mobilization of planetary intelligence and good will. Much in the manner of our own distinguished Dr. Robert Andrews Millikan, he acclaimed the ultimate triumph of science over hate and stupidity. To date, the good geni which they have summoned are enslaved by men of lesser understanding.

DR. JUAN DEMOSTHENES AROSEMENA, president of the Republic of Panama, is, in spite of his middle name, a practical man, cautious in speech and action. As the keynote for the inter-American conference of foreign ministers at Panama, he sharply assails totalitarianism and religious and racial persecution and invokes unity of the American republics in the spirit of constructive isolation for which our state department is proselyting just now.

Dr. Arosemena, a realistic veteran of Panamanian politics, has, in the past, accepted our "good neighbor" policy on grounds of enlightened self-interest. He has been keenly aware that the Canal Zone might be a major trouble spot, if war comes this way, and, recently, discussing its defense, he said, "If they start shooting up the canal, they'll be shooting at us, too, and that's why we want to help defend it."

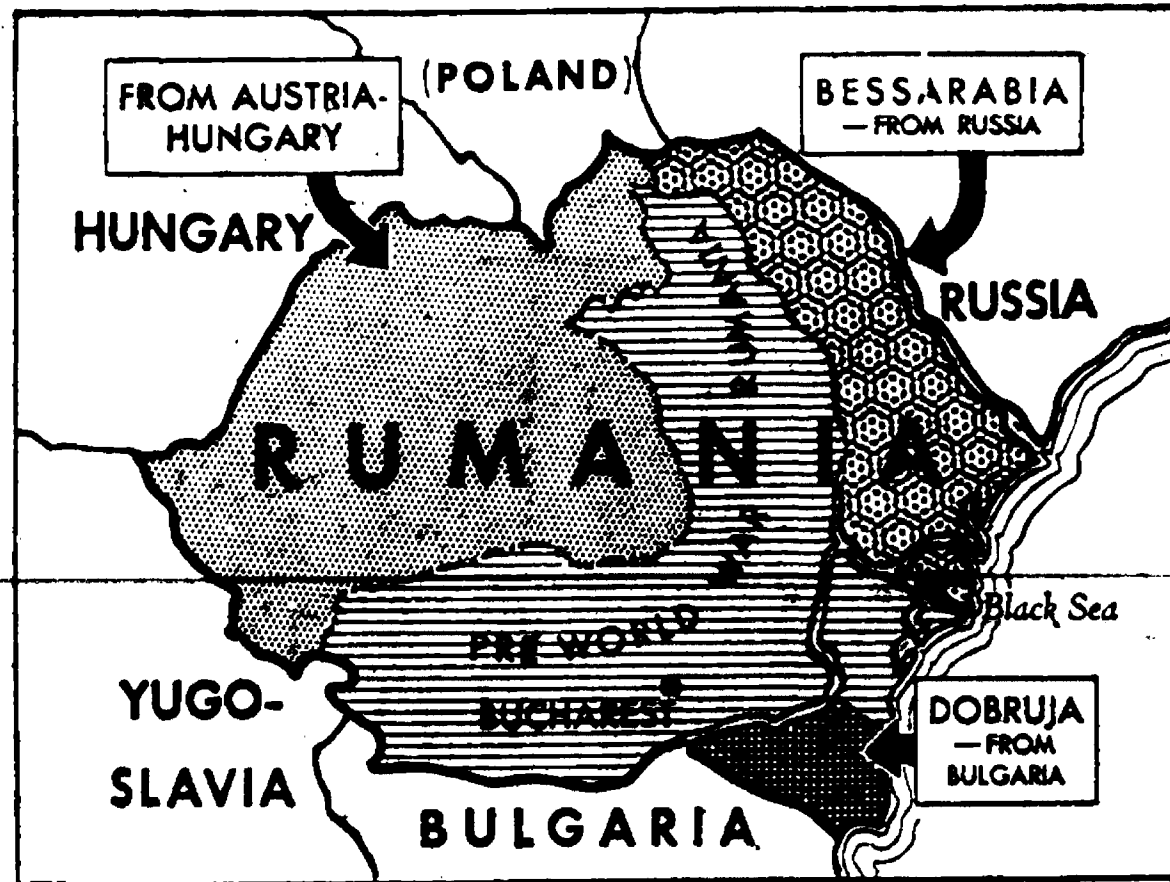

He was foreign minister of Panama from 1929 to 1936, elected president in the latter year, and in years past has been sharply opposed to the United States on various issues. In the presidency, he has inclined much more in our direction. He is friendly and genial, rather in the cut of an enterprising business man. In the 1938 Lima convention, he joined the Brazilian delegation in accepting the Roosevelt overtures for friendship and unity.

THIS writer has heard several expressions of astonishment over the eagerness of the Rev. Martin Niemöller to fight for Nazi Germany. It was only last June that the churches of democratic countries throughout the world proclaimed him "the first Christian martyr of modern times" and set aside a Sunday for commemoration of his heroism. The submarine commander of the World war, having become a great evangelical pastor in Berlin, had led the non-conformists in opposition to Nazi seizure of control of religion, and had gone to a concentration camp.

The explanation of his backsliding as a martyr may be found in the records of his earlier career. He was an early and zealous ally of Hitler and his brown shirts, aiding in stamping out freedom, complicity in the face of pogroms and the wreck of all civil liberties, resistant only when his church was assailed.

New European Peace Threat Centers on Rumania

Fearing pressure from Germany, Russia and other neighbors, Rumania appointed anti-Nazi George Argesanu (right) as strong-arm premier following assassination of Premier Armand Calinescu by pro-German Iron Guardists. Mass executions stopped a threatened overthrow of the government, but Rumania still fears her neighbors may try to regain territories she gained from them after the World war. International observers think these dangers might be minimized, however, should Russia continue her apparent policy of increasing sway over Baltic and Balkan nations, thus cutting off Germany's long feared drive to the east.

Living by Spurts

THERE are people who do their work in the world evenly, steadily, quietly. They get up in the morning knowing that the day has its appointed task, which must be done. They dispose of the task with serene equanimity.

The next day brings another, and the next another; each is performed in the same spirit. There is competence, accuracy, but no excitement, no enthusiasm, and likewise there is no discouragement or despondency. Such persons take work and play, as they take sleeping and eating, as part of the routine of life.

Other people live and move by spurts. Everything with them is a matter of zeal and passion. There are days when their daily labor takes on a glory. They see rich possibilities in it of achievement and distinction. They throw themselves into it entirely; they see new openings for effort, and take advantage of them, build large and splendid edifices of hope and confidence and call upon every resource of their spirits to realize them.

Then come days of reaction. Perhaps there is a physical element to consider. At any rate, the spurt collapses. If there is character behind it, the man goes on working somehow, gets his daily task done; but there is no passion in it, and very little hope. Such lives are made up of alternations of enthusiasm and despair.

SPIRIT of SERVICE

Repair crews working over sleet-coated wire in a bitter storm; operator staying at their switchboards despite flood or fire—these are dramatic examples of the "spirit of service" traditional among telephone workers. But that splendid spirit is applied to routine duty too . . . it inspires the day-by-day work of all the men and women who help to give you the best telephone service in the world.

CONSERVATION DEPT. NOTES

Fawns orphaned by forest fires will be kept in the Cusino game refuge.

Anticipated brown trout eggs at the Paris fish hatchery will be approximately 4,225,000 an increase of 125,000 over last year.

The survey of the Menominee iron range and the copper country south of Houghton has been completed.

Deer hunters should know that a buck's tail is worth from 30 to 50 cents. Manufacturers of fishing tackle will give that much for it for use in making fishing tackle. One manufacturer buys from 2,500 to 3,000 tails annually.

Duck hunting seems to be best in Lake and Mecosta counties.

First examinations to fill vacancies in the unclassified positions in the Michigan Conservation dept. are now being scheduled. All applications must be in by Nov. 1.

There are now a total of 108 farmer cooperative hunting clubs organized in Michigan, totaling 495, 248 acres. Sept. 20 was the last day for applications to organize such clubs. Last year there were only 61 clubs.

The rise in the price of Michigan crude oil is reflected by the increase in the number of drilling permits issued.

Rogers City, Michigan has the largest stone quarry in the world.
Its limestone is so pure it is valuable as flux in steel manufacture.

Announcing THE NEW FORD CARS FOR 1940

22 important improvements, added to fundamental Ford features, represent the most advanced engineering in the low-price field

WHAT do the Ford cars for 1940 offer to match their brilliant new beauty? New comfort, convenience, quiet, safety—and the roomiest, richest interiors ever designed for a Ford car.

They have a host of interesting new features. Finger-Tip Gearshift on the steering post. An improved transmission, unusually easy to shift. New Controlled Ventilation. Improved shock absorbers. Softer springs, improved spring suspension and a new ride-stabilizer.*

A combination of new features makes the new cars quieter in operation. They have big, powerful hydraulic brakes. They have new Sealed-Beam Headlamps that are safer, stronger and stay bright longer. They have the famous Ford V-8 engine (85 hp in the De Luxe Ford. Choice of 85 or 60 hp in the Ford) — which blends 8-cylinder smoothness with economy.

You've never seen cars with so much performance, style and comfort at such a low price. Get acquainted. You'll enjoy the experience!

22 IMPORTANT FORD FEATURES

FOR COMFORT—More room inside. New Controlled Ventilation. New torsion bar ride-stabilizer.* Improved spring suspension.* Self-sealing shock absorbers. Two-way adjustable driver's seat. New-type resilient front seat backs. New "Floating-Edge" Seat Cushions.

PHILATHEA NOTES

You will be on the lookout for the report of the birthday party.

For World-Wide Baraca-Philathea being held this Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Nelson Buzzard. The first Baraca Class was organized 49 years ago.

The Ladies Aid are to be congratulated on the great success of the annual chicken dinner of Saturday night. The weariness following such an event extended over into Sunday, so that those services were not so well attended. Communion was observed on Sunday morning.

We had a fair percentage of attendance of attendance in our Philathea room and a most interesting lesson. Mrs. Elliott was observing her birthday with her sister in Clinton and Mrs. Peck taught in her usual capable manner. We regret that Mrs. Peck will soon be leaving us, and shall miss her.

Mrs. Elliott and Miss Fish with the pastor and wife enjoyed the autumn meeting of the Jackson Association of Congregational churches at Chelsea on Wednesday last.

Next Sunday's lesson, the third of this quarter, is "The Temptation of Jesus," the topic being "Choosing Life Principles." Study Matthew 4: 1-11.

The Sunday School needs us. Let us not stay on the outside, looking critically in, but come in and put our shoulders to the wheel. The study of God's Word is these lessons is too important to the children of this community, to let these young people drift away from our Church School. Philatheas, lets do our part, right now to bring them in.

BRIGHTON PAST MASTERS NIGHT HELD

The Brighton Masonic Lodge held their Past Masters Night and also 70th anniversary celebration at their hall last Thursday night. A large attendance was present. Dor Hartman, master of Brighton Lodge gave the address of welcome and introduced Guy Pitkin, the toastmaster. Arthur Boylan, past master, responded to the address of welcome. A past masters apron was presented to the retiring master, James Appleton by his father, Bert Appleton. A life membership was presented to James Collet by C. L. Case, past master. The address of the evening was given by Charles Sherman of Lansing, deputy grand master in which he quoted a number of interesting statistics. Of the 512 Masonic lodges in Michigan 254 had a membership of less than 131 which was the average membership for the state. Hugh McPherson, of Pontiac, grand treasurer also spoke briefly as did Edward Sharpe, supreme court justice George Bushnell, supreme court justice and 33rd degree Mason, gave an excellent speech in which he traced the beginnings of Masonry in this country and related some early experiences. Don Hill gave a history of the Brighton lodge. The visiting Masons were then introduced. The following outside lodges were represented: Howell, Pinckney, Ann Arbor, South Lyon, Milford, Northville, Rochester, Bay City, Kalamazoo, Mt. Pleasant and seven different Detroit lodges. The Brighton past masters were also introduced.

Miss Hilda Hartman and Elise Gessert of Detroit are spending a couple of weeks with Mrs. Amelia Romberg.

Repeal Bill Would Extend Credit To Belligerents Buying in U. S.

Danger of Getting Into Same Mess Over War Debts That Followed World War; Added Authority Given President in Bill Carries Potential Danger.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART

WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—As the full dress of the so-called neutrality bill continues in the senate, numerous phrases and angles and incidents have cropped up and demanded attention. It is easy for one side to say that the thing must be accepted by the senate and the house and the country, without so much as a crossed "t" or a dotted "i" and it is equally easy for the oppositionists to say that we should have none of it at all. The truth is neither side is completely correct, and Mr. John Q. Public must remember that in forming his own conclusions.

The bill that was reported by the senate committee on foreign relations, I believe, must be accepted as a sincere effort. Sixteen of the twenty-three members of the committee believed it, or believed it should have a chance to be discussed fully and freely. There was no division along the lines of Democrats or Republicans; seven senators voted against sending the bill to the senate because they are opposed to repeal of the embargo against shipments of arms to any belligerent powers, while President Roosevelt and the majority members of the senate committee want to get rid of the embargo.

Publication of the text of the bill, however, shows some provisions that have gone far to load the guns of those who want to keep an arms embargo in force. Some of the members of the group opposing repeal were sufficiently wrought up to accuse the administration—Mr. Roosevelt, Secretary of State Hull and others—of having misled the country in telling what they think ought to be done, by way of legislation, to keep the country out of war. It is a condition of bad temper and it is likely to cause damage all around. Nevertheless, until the senate committee finished writing the bill, all of the discussion was whether to repeal the arms embargo; since publication of the bill, it is shown that not only is repeal of the embargo sought, but permission would be given for extension of credit to those belligerent nations that want to buy here.

Many Object to Giving President Extreme Power

Another section of the bill that was not well advertised in advance is a section giving President Roosevelt additional authority during threats of war. It allows the President to define "combat areas," and to forbid American ships and American citizens from going into those zones. That provision is highly provocative. For there are many who believe no Chief Executive ought to be clothed with such extreme power. I doubt that it ever will be misused or abused, yet it has that possible danger within it. Having such potential danger, the section is being vigorously opposed by men just as anxious to keep the nation out of war as those who say that only repeal of the arms embargo will keep us from being embroiled in Europe's mess.

Debate has made it appear, thus far at least, that the original "cash and carry" sections constitute a strong bulwark against our entanglement. But there surely is ground for objection to that part which was added—that part which will give buying nations 90 days in which to pay. A buying nation can come to our shores, load down many ships and go away with the cargoes within 90 days—and say at the end: "We have not the money to pay." Of course, it will not be as raw as that. The purchasers did that during the World War, also, and we are still waiting for those nations to pay more than $12,000,000,000 on those debts. I am the only correspondent to report every one of the conferences with foreign nations when the United States tried to get some tangible basis of payment worked out, and since that time I have had little faith in any of their promises. The "cash and carry" section of the current bill, with its 90-day provision, therefore, strikes me as nothing more nor less than a breaking down of the law that Senator Johnson of California forced through the congress some years ago. The Californian fought until he got a statute that barred any nation from getting new credit here if it still owed on its World War debt.

So-Called Neutrality Bill Shows Mistakes Can Be Made

It probably is an impossibility to "legislate" a nation into being neutral. It is like legislating people into being good. If they want to be good, or if they want to be bad, they probably will be just that way, regardless of what kind of a law the brain trusters in a legislative body put together. And, in the instance at hand—the so-called neutrality bill—there is ample evidence of mistakes that can be, and are being made.

Friends of the program of embargo repeal mistakenly assume that substitution of the cash and carry provisions will let us rest in peace. It is perfect, they say. Opposition sentiment can see only hosts of marching men and ships carrying warriors over seas if there is repeal. Therefore, neither side is giving really serious attention to perfecting the cash and carry provision, in event it shall be accepted, eventually, and the bill become law. That is a grave mistake.

That lack of consideration of details of this phase is a great mistake can be proved by the shudders of business interests when sharp eyes and analytical minds discovered what the section, as written by the committee, would do to commerce in this part of the world. Protests filed by shipping and air transport companies serve as an example. Actually, as originally presented, the cash and carry sections would have kept many businesses from dealing further with British and French possessions in the Caribbean sea. They would have halted buying and selling in some quarters of South America, like the Guianas; air lines from the United States could not have stopped there; regular North and South American ship schedules would have been disrupted. Well, the committee made hasty changes, but it remains to be seen whether even these will work in practice.

The trouble is that no one man or group of men can visualize all of the possible contingencies and consequences of a piece of far-reaching and rigid legislation. None ought to claim that it has been done, but claims to that effect are being advanced and ballyhooed.

Monroe Doctrine Must Be Given Consideration

Now, it might be said that these phases of the problem are matters that concern only "business interests," and big business interests, at that. Such, unfortunately, is not the case. Since every one of those points of difficulty lie in the western hemisphere, consideration must be given to the application of the Monroe Doctrine. Our trade with nations and possessions in the western hemisphere, therefore, is considerably different than with Great Britain and France, themselves. Yet, with all of the close commercial ties with those possessions, with due recollection of the principles of the Monroe Doctrine, there remains the fact that congress, under the urge of the administration, is seeking to legislate neutrality, a neutrality that works one way with the parent nation and another way with the colonies—the children—of the belligerent nation. It is quite evident, indeed, that whatever law is finally enacted will contain many imperfections, some loopholes and some dangerous principles.

It should be said to President Roosevelt's credit that, thus far, he has not openly put the pressure on his congressional leaders for passage of the bill without changes. Membership of the two parties in congress is widely split. Perhaps that is why White House force cannot be used effectively. True, some of the anti-administration Democrats have predicted that the President will get both feet into the situation before action is had, but that has not happened, yet.

Pan-American Conference Does a Worth-While Job

While all of these things have been going on in Washington, the sessions of the conference at Panama City ought not be overlooked. The representatives of our own and our neighbor republics did a good job in arranging for co-operative action to keep the war away from our shores and in Europe, where it started. It always is possible for best intentions to go haywire, but surely there is credit due to Mr. Roosevelt and the department of state for the leadership exerted in getting all of the South and Central American folks around a single table. If nothing more happened than a free discussion of the potential dangers that exist, the meeting would have been worth while. More did happen, however, and the understandings that were reached, stripped of high-sounding words, mean that active governments in the western hemisphere are going to work and act together. Further, the conferences can be said to have produced a feeling that none of the smaller republics and so-called republics need fear any of the others. In the meantime, however, it is distressing to witness newspapers everywhere relegating important domestic news facts about our home folks and home problems, to inside pages. One of the Washington papers the other day had seven columns of war news on its front pages. That seems to me to be bringing the war here when we don't want it.

Influenza Sure To Follow War

Expert Declares Disease Is Almost Certain to Be Widespread.

NEW YORK.—Influenza is almost certain to be widespread again if there is a general war, it is predicted by Dr. Thomas M. Rivers of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and president of the International Congress of Microbiology meeting in New York, as the doctor is noted by Science Service. And no effective weapon yet exists for this plague. With two of the four horsemen of the Apocalypse riding again, scientists from all over the world for the Microbiology congress are making plans to outwit the third horseman, pestilence.

Microbes Play Part. Microbes will play a tremendous part in the war that has now started in Europe, Dr. Rivers declared. No one is going to start a war of microbes, that would be next to impossible. Epidemics of influenza, typhus fever, trench fever and dysentery, however, are sure to follow in the wake of this war as they did during the World War. Meningitis and European sleeping sickness, technically termed epidemic encephalitis, may also appear.

Medical scientists are better equipped to fight some of these war-borne plagues than they were in 1914, Dr. Rivers pointed out. Sulfanilamide, the new disease-conquering chemical, will not prevail against influenza or typhus fever, but it cures meningitis and gas gangrene, dreaded aftermath of war wounds. Serums also have been developed for fighting these deadly ailments.

Germs as Weapon Out.

The idea of using germs as a weapon of war is out on two counts. In the first place it is almost impossible for man to start an epidemic deliberately by releasing germs among a group of people or putting them in water or food. Not even cholera could be spread this way, Dr. Rivers declared. Many factors besides germs are needed to start an epidemic. Even in laboratories, where conditions can be controlled far better than in communities of men and women, it is difficult if not impossible to start an epidemic.

The second reason why germs will not be used as a weapon of war is that such a weapon would boomerang on the nation starting it. If an epidemic really got going, it would be impossible to prevent its spreading to people in the nation starting it as well as among their enemies. Germs, Dr. Rivers said, neither recognize nor stop at the front line.

Collection Shows History Of Light Through Ages

OXFORD, MAINE.—Adorning the paneled walls in the colonial mansion of Mrs. Leoline Stiles in this "down" Maine town is a collection of lamps that might well be studied to ascertain the steps of humanity from darkness into light.

Of every type and size, these old oil burners have been polished and recommissioned and include every forward step in illumination from early colonial days to the advent of the electric light.

For the last ten years Mrs. Stiles has concentrated on the collection of old carriage lamps and now has more than 150 pairs. Square and oblong, in plain and fancy designs these early illuminants in many cases once adorned the carriages of presidents, statesmen and others of wealth and prominence.

Relics of a day when the world moved slowly, a painstaking craftsmanship is evident in the hammered and designed brass and nickel adornments that grace many of the pieces.

The highlight of a Civil War period locomotive, in perfect working order, is prominent in the collection. Other lamps include old railway station lamps, ships' lamps, oil-burning street lamps and every type of house lamp as far back as whale-oil days.

Prince's Palace Bought For $300,000 by Egypt

ALEXANDRIA, EGYPT.—The Egyptian government has bought for $300,000 the palace at Ramleh owned by Prince Mohamed Ali, cousin of King Farouk.

The palace, which at one time belonged to the ex-Khedive's mother, will be converted into a fort. It has a commanding position overlooking Alexandria's popular seafaring promenade and is situated on a small hill enclosed by solid stone-work.

The palace is only a few miles from King Farouk's summer palace at Montaza.

Shape of Head Declared To Affect Mind Processes

AUSTIN, TEXAS.—Dr. Karl Buehler, former professor of psychology at the University of Vienna, believes there is a definite relation between the shape of a man's head and the working of his mind.

Dr. Buehler, a doctor of philosophy and medicine, has lectured at several American universities, including the University of Texas. Certain mental traits have a definite relation to a person's physique, he said, and mentally diseased persons can be identified by their body structures.

The world's 250,000,000 Moslems observe Friday as their Sabbath because, according to Mohammed, this was the day Adam was created, the day he entered and was also expelled from Paradise, the day of his repentance, the day of his death and the day he will be resurrected.

Chameleons are "slow-motion" fighters. When two enemies start a battle, many minutes, even hours, pass between each thrust and parry. Sometimes the only way that one can tell a fight is in progress is by the color of their skins, which have turned black with rage.

Increasing age diminishes attendance at the movies to an astonishing degree. Surveys indicate that the number who no longer attend increases from 50 per cent at the age of forty to 75 per cent at sixty to 98 per cent at eighty.

Although about nine thousand members of Britain's aristocracy and sporting world are admitted to the Royal Enclosure at Ascot, England, at each meeting, thousands are excluded because they are in bankruptcy, involved in a divorce, owe too much money to a bookmaker or have not been presented at a royal court.—Collier's.

AROUND the HOUSE Items of Interest to the Housewife

Preserving Rugs.—Constant turning preserves rugs. They should be turned around every six months.

Metallic Scarfs.—Silver and gold embroidered scarfs will not tarnish when packed away if wrapped in black paper.

Distributing Bluing.—When making blue-water, try adding a little common salt. This helps to distribute the color evenly and prevents the clothes from looking streaked and patchy.

Spicing Your Cookies.—Add one teaspoon of cinnamon and one-half a teaspoon of cloves to your favorite cookie recipe. The two spices will convert an ordinary cookie dough into something delightfully different.

Apple Fritters.—Pare several apples, slice them, sprinkle the slices with sugar and allow them to stand in a cold place for an hour. Meanwhile, make a batter from one cup flour, two beaten eggs, one-half cup milk, one grated lemon rind, two tablespoons sugar and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Dip the cold apple slices in the batter and fry in deep fat. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve.

Flowered Hat Came To Do Double Duty

A young matron found herself somewhat hustled by the number and variety of her engagements.

One day in particular she found troublesome, for she had to go first to a funeral service and then to a garden party.

She solved the dress problem by wearing smart but sober clothes and taking in a hat box a flowered hat which, during the service, she placed in the vestry.

Her sense of quiet pleasure at this successful solution of the problem was somewhat marred, however, when the coffin was brought into church. For reposing in the center of the wreaths on the coffin was her flowered hat.

PATTERN SEWING CIRCLE DEPARTMENT

It will be lovely made up in thin wool, flat crepe or sheer velvet, with a gleaming brooch or clip at the plain v neckline.

Three Styles in Aprons. This practical pattern, 1829, really gives you three apron styles, because the pinafore part is perforated so that you can make it two ways, and both ways are thoroughly protective and useful, with buttoned straps, crossed in the back, that won't slip off. Both pinafores and the little tie-around have a pretty flare. Make these of linen, gingham, lawn or batiste, and tuck two or three sets away for gifts, too.

No. 1830 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires 5½ yards of 39 inch material with long sleeves; 4½ yards with short.

No. 1829 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires, for No. 1, 1½ yards of 36 inch material and 8 yards bias fold; for No. 2, 1½ yards of 36 inch material and 2 yards of pleating; for No. 3, 1½ yards of 35 inch material.

The legislative intent, as expressed in the law, was that the state should match relief dollars of counties. It was thought at the time to be insurance that counties would do their part in a decentralized program.

However, just the unexpected happened. In Wayne county, for example, the 50-50 plan was hailed with delight. Wayne county had been doing more than a good many upstate counties. With only $8,750,000 on hand to spend, state officials realized the matching plan would quickly exhaust their 12-month appropriation. This part of the law has been openly ignored, and probably will not be enforced by the present commission.

A hitch also developed between the supervisors who wished to control the spending of all relief funds and the social security administration at Washington which adhered strictly to a policy of hiring skilled, trained workers on a non-partisan, civil service basis, thus minimizing any chance of political mishandling of federal or state funds.

Supervisors proposed in some counties, to engage a single director whom they will hold responsible for administration of all welfare funds direct relief by the state and county governments, unemployment compensation and old age pension jointly by state and federal governments, and so on.

Washington was unyielding to suggestions for an integrated system unless it was established according to civil service requirements.

And there hangs another interesting hitch in the Michigan welfare situation today.

Civil Service
This Saturday (Oct. 14) written tests will be conducted by the civil service commission for social workers and social work administrators who are to handle social security money.

The minimum requirements for a social work administrator under federal standards are these: "Four years of experience in social welfare work in a public or private social agency, one year of which shall have been in a responsible administrative capacity and completion of two years of college training including or supplemented by courses in the social sciences."

Higher classes for social work administrators (to be hired in larger counties) call for six years of experience as a social welfare administrator and up to four years college training.

It is said on good authority in Lansing that not one county supervisor in Michigan could possibly qualify for the job of relief administrator under these conditions!

The result was inevitable. Dual System Favored
Because of the civil service standards which automatically ruled out the average local official, most of Michigan's four score counties are going to accept what is known as the "dual system".

Under this plan the three-man county welfare board will either become a working board whose members draw annual salaries and devote their full time to their duties or will become a policy board with per diem allowance and with the actual work being done by full-time administrators.

Federal-state funds (social security) will be expended by persons who meet federal civil service standards.

State-county funds will be handled by persons who meet requirements established by the local county board.

This, in brief, will constitute the "dual system".

For example, Genesee county has a three-man working board. One man will administer direct relief. Another will be in charge of hospitalization, infirmary, and other services. The third man will be responsible for the social security funds—unemployment compensation, old age assistance, and so on.

Each administrator will get $3,000 a year salary.

Unless Washington rules otherwise, the social security administrator must meet rigid civil service requirements for a competent, trained man in the field of social welfare. Supervisors can pick who they please for their two members on the board and the state commission is expected to concur in their recommendation for the third man who is to represent the state in welfare activity. But the social security administrator must hurdle the civil service test of proven competency.

Saving

It is the natural habit of man to save. The Caveman saved berries and bits of dried meat. If he did not do this, his family starved when poor hunting occurred. Later development in culture made money an important thing to save, for money could buy the things which formerly had to be stored to keep one alive.

Survival and ultimate security are the main forces driving men to save.

A small saving may be a large reserve if added to regularly and consistently. Begin now. One dollar will open a Savings Account in our bank.
