Pinckney Gets Written Up

Detroit Free Press Features the Old Home Town in Its Edition of Last Sunday

Last Sunday's Detroit Free Press carried a half page writeup of Pinckney's motion picture activities by J. D. Callaghan, feature writer with two illustrations. One was a still of the pavement dance recently filmed here and the other of the crowd. We are reprinting it for the benefit of our readers.

"The sun shines brightest in Pinckney; The birds sing sweetest in Pinckney; Hearts grow fonder and home's complete Where heaven and earth just seem to meet In Pinckney."

Thus did a local poet extoll the virtues of a little Livingston County town, where time stood still from the middle of the 80s until Detroit motion picture producers discovered it.

Pinckney was the answer to the prayer of a producer seeking a town where the long wooden facades of the business district were unbroken by the stuccoed atrocities so dear to the hearts of the modern business man.

Whole Town Takes Part

The calm of five decades was broken recently when the producers moved in with Kleig lights and war paint to turn the community into one large sound stage. Every resident of the town who was able to be up and about had a part to play and the street was ablaze with lights from dusk to dawn.

The story to be shot was one of those strictly commercial films, glorifying the American product, in the production of which Detroit has become the world center. The love interest wavered between a popular brand of automobile tire, a scarecrow and Betty Brown and Don Wright, whose farmer fathers were a-feudin'.

All Have a Good Time Everything, however, came out all right, with the wholehearted co-operation of the citizens of Pinckney, who danced sang and had a general good time before the grinding cameras.

The reaction to the excursion into the motion picture world was ably summed up by one of the participants: "We'll take Pinckney over Hollywood any day!"

The inhabitants, to the last of the town's 500 residents, thought that the main merit of being a motion picture actor is that it's fun. Wilding Picture Productions, Inc., which acted as hosts to the community, thought it was great fun, too, as well as being a huge success.

Churches are Benefited

The co-operation of clubs and the churches helped make the venture a success, and the enthusiasm of the actors was not whit dimmed by the knowledge that both St. Mary's Catholic Church and the Pinckney Congregational Church were made richer by donations in return for the help of church societies.

Among those who headed committees for the picture were W. T. Dilloway, alderman; the Rev. John McLucas, pastor of the Congregational Church; Mrs. Bert Daljer, head of the Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational Church; Mrs. C. Clark, head of St. Mary's Altar Society, and Prof. E. L. Hulce, of the Pinckney High School.

"What I liked best about doing old-fashioned dances for the picture company was that we older folks got a chance to show up the jitterbugs," Mrs. Ora Haines, one of the old-time Hige residents, explained.

Elders Show up Kids

"We used to get a bunch together and go from home to home, dancing each place to an orchestra of fellows from town. Today we don't have much fun at these young people's dances. But when they started doing the dances for the movies we had a grand time and we really showed up the kids."

(Pinckney will have the chance to see itself in action as soon as the picture is completed, when the producing company will give a free showing in the village.)

Some of the younger members of the community were attracted by the glamour of the film world, however. Eighteen-year-old Katherine

Week End Auto Accidents

Ralph Otwell Sr., and Daughter, Virginia, of Pinckney are Among the Injured Saturday in Accident at Howell

Two Pinckney people were among those injured in an auto accident at Howell on Grand River just east of St. Joseph's Catholic Church about 8:00 A. M. Saturday morning, when three cars collided. There are several stories as to just how the accident happened. Cars driven by Vernon Stone of Grand Rapids and by Warren Smith of Royal Oak turned out to avoid another car and crashed. Ralph Otwell Sr., who owns the old mill at Pettyville, east of Pinckney with his daughter, Virginia, enroute to Detroit applied the brakes to avoid hitting the wreck. It was snowing and the pavement was icy and he skidded into the smashup. All seven people were taken to the McPherson Hospital in Howell. Vernon Stone had a skull fracture, a broken leg and internal injuries, his mother, Mrs. Phyllis Stone, 42, suffered internal injuries. Mrs. Bert Cochran, daughter of Mrs. Stone suffered a broken collar bone and fractured pelvis, her son, Owen, suffered minor injuries. Warren Smith had a fractured pelvis. Ralph Otwell had a crushed kneecap and head injuries and his daughter, Virginia, a fractured arm and hand. Vernon Stone died of his injuries Saturday night.

GEORGE PALMER

George Palmer, 53, of Brighton was killed by an auto at 8:00 P. M. Saturday night while crossing Grand River near U. S. 23. The driver of the car, Samuel Kelly, 23, of New Hudson was questioned by state police and released. The accident victim lived with his son, Curran, at Brighton. The funeral and burial will be at Fowlerville.

MISSING MAN'S BODY FOUND

The body of George Ylmen, 34, who had been missing since June 5, last, was found in a swamp on the Peter Kelly farm, near Whitmore Lake by Walter Lesiak while hunting Sunday. It was badly decomposed and had been shot through the head. A shot was found near the body and Coroner Ganshorn recorded the death as suicide. No relatives have yet been located.

IRENE CHANYI

Irene Chanyi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Chanyi was born in January 18, 1923 in Monaville, W. Virginia. Surviving besides her parents are two brothers, Alex. Jr. and Ernest of Pinckney.

She passed away October 25, 1939 at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, following four operations there. The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from the Congregational church, Rev. J. M. McLucas officiating. Burial was in the Pinckney cemetery.

MRS. ISABEL E. BOWERS

After an illness of ten months, Mrs. Isabel E. Bowers passed away at the University Hospital, Ann Arbor on October 26, 1939. Mrs. Bowers was born in Detroit on February 15, 1883. She is survived by her husband, Frank E. Bowers, her mother, Mrs. Lenore Dupont, her sister, Mrs. Edward Dorion and three brothers, Fred, Henry and Peter Dupont of Detroit.

The funeral was held from St. Mary's church on Saturday morning with Rev. James Carolan officiating. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

NOTICE

The regular meeting of the Kings Daughters will be held at the home of Mrs. W. C. AtLee, Thursday afternoon at two o'clock.

A hearty welcome is extended to all who worship with us. Come with us and we will do this good.

The monthly family night will be held in the church parlors Monday evening, November 6th. Pot luck supper at 6:30 followed by a program of entertainment in charge of the following committee: Percy Swarthout, Fred Read and Elwin Hulce. The Philathea Class will be in the charge of the supper.

A budget committee will make a report of their visitation. All the members and friends of the church are cordially invited.

PHILATHEA NOTES

A good discussion and interesting class hour was the report for last Sunday in the Philathea room. A temperance lesson formed the basis of the study. For next Lord's Day 'Righteousness, in the Kingdom' will be the topic taken from Matt. 5:17-6:18.

Next Sunday will be Missionary Day in our Sunday School and on Monday evening will be the Church Night with pot-luck supper and program. Everybody welcome who are friends of our church.

Next week Wednesday, November 8, is the time for our regular monthly Philathea meeting which is to be held at the parsonage. A good attendance is hoped for, as this is our Missionary meeting.

The Caldwell Comedians Continue To Draw Good Crowds By Putting On High Class Plays

The Caldwell Comedians are all real players and they have been giving us the best line of plays ever seen in Pinckney, in fact the show that they present here every Friday night will equal many of the plays seen in the larger cities. There is not a member of the company that has not had years of experience in the business, and they are the very best.

The Community Hall was well filled again last week when they presented "The Woman Hater." This proved to be a real play and pleased the large audience, however Dick Caldwell says that he has many others coming up that are even better than this one, so we are sure of first class entertainment during the winter months coming.

For Friday night of this week Mr. Caldwell has selected another fine play "The Good Bandit." Of course Dick will be the bandit and Evelyn will be the girl in the case. The bandit in this play is really not a bad bandit, he robs the rich and gives to the poor, and at the finish of the play he robs the rich man of his daughter, then gives her to Toby for his wife.

In this play you are going to see Toby at his very best. He has a wonderful part and he plays it well and will keep you laughing from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

Eva Kinkle has arranged a special musical program for this week will be given before the start of the performance and Geo. O'Brien and Lucile Blackburn will have another new singing and dancing act for you. Roy Kinkle will give you some new numbers on his violin, so just take a tip from us that this week you are going to have a real show and vaudeville on Friday evening.

NOTICE

Local Industries Of the Past

This Once Thriving Industry Which Furnished Employment to Many People, Declined in the Nineties and is Now About Extinct

One industry of which the present day person knows little is the cooper industry or the trade of barrel making, yet for centuries it was one of the important industries of the world. It is of great antiquity and Pliny, the Roman historian who lived about 100 B. C. mentions it and states it originated in the Alpine states.

Barrels soon came into general use to ship many different kinds of products and up to about the time the coming of the auto into general use flour, apples, salt, sugar, crackers, drugs, dishes butter, greases and almost everything imaginable was shipped in wooden barrels besides liquids such as whiskey, beer, wine, vinegar, molasses, oils etc. In those days the merchants of Pinckney bought salt in barrel lots and it was not uncommon to see 50 barrels of salt piled up out doors back of the stores. This sold for as low as 80c a barrel to farmers and other persons who used it to salt their meat, stock and for household purposes. Flour was also sold by the barrel.

A number of things contributed to put the old time cooper shop out of business. Faster transportation was one thing. With trucks delivering goods to their door daily it was no longer necessary for the merchants to buy in barrel lots. This held true for the farmer who also ceased buying in large quantities. Then the health authorities began to have great influence and put over the theory that the old time barrel method of buying was unsanitary and got the public to buying goods in small sealed tight germ proof packages. The price of material for barrels increased and also wages and it proved cheaper to ship goods in sacks and pulp wood containers. They were also much easier to handle and ship. In 1916 there was but one cooper shop in operation in Detroit making sugar, salt and apple barrels although whiskey and beer barrels were still being made in big quantities.

In the history of Pinckney taken from the records one of the first things that Prof. Wm. Kirtland did was to build a mill blacksmith shop and a cooper shop. We do not know where it was located but for many years there was a cooper shop on the present school grounds, adjoining the McCullough foundry. This was once operated by Darwin Woodward who is buried in the Pinckney cemetery. His daughter, Metta, married Ransom E. Olds, Lansing millionaire, and is still alive. NEW HUDSON WINS GAME

New Hudson excelled Pinckney completely last Friday in a game there and unleashed a forward passing attack which had Pinckney baffled. Bowers the New Hudson quarterback threw accurate passes and Jacobs and House, two rangy ends were adept in catching them. Pinckney couldn't get going and took their worst defeat of the year by a 31 to 0 score. The New Hudson team won from South Lyon recently who defeated Ann Arbor high school reserves.

This Friday Pinckney plays the Stockbridge team there. The following Friday they play their last game of the season at Saline.

CURRENT COMMENT

Once in a while you read something that warms the cockles of your heart. Such an article appeared in the Lansing State Journal last week. It relates that James Wheeler of Marshfield, Vermont, who was having hard sledding to get through Mich. State college received word of the death of his father. He was in pretty low spirits as was impossible for him to scrape up enough funds to attend the funeral. His classmates heard of his trouble, passed the hat and collected $90 and he reached his home by airplane in time for the funeral. This is real fellowship and one reason, perhaps, why Michigan State grows in popularity.

Do you think that there will ever be Jewish pogroms in this country, such as were recently carried out in Germany and Austria? Of course you don't. Still several members of the Silver Shirts, an Anti-Jewish organization were jailed in Chicago last week for throwing bricks through the windows of a large department store which was Jewish owned. No one will deny but that there is an anti-Jewish movement underway in this country. You run on to it in all circles of life. There is a growing disposition to blame the Jew for all the ills and catastrophes that have befallen the world. Of course this is bunk but Hitler used this same movement to get control of the German nation and Jewish wealth. Wars seem to breed intolerance. The Klu Klux Klan followed following the world war, elected governors, Congressmen and senators and then dwindled to nothing. According to the history of such movements of the past it would seem that this latest movement would meet the same fate.

The stalemate in the world war still continues with both sides showing little activity on the western front and issuing disputed claims of naval victories. According to the press the German submarines and cruisers have so far sunk 67 German ships. Just how many submarines have been destroyed is not known. Whether Germany can break the British blockade by means of submarines is a question. She could not during the last world war.

The Theodore Roosevelt family seem to be badly split over the world war. With Teddy Jr. and Mrs. Alice Longworth fulminating against the machinations of the allies, Brother Kermit scrambles the situation by enlisting as a captain in the British army. He served in the British army during the last world war in the far east but transferred to the United States army when they entered the war.

Attorney General Thomas Read has just handed down another opinion which should interest many persons. He states in effect that if you are brought into a justice court on a traffic law violation do not let the justice charge you more than $1 justice court fee. Many justices apparently have been charging more than that.

At the present time there is an investigation on in the form of a one man grand jury inquiry by Judge Lee Carr of Mason into the publication of the lists of lands to be sold for delinquent taxes in 1938 and 1939. So far the inquiry has only been into the publications in Oakland and Wayne counties. $200,000 was appropriated for the entire state in 1938 and 1939 of which about half was spent for publication in Wayne and Oakland counties. In 1938 the Wayne publications cost $61,000 and in 1939 $41,000. Oakland was nearly as high. According to the Capital City Digest of Lansing the inquiry was started by the unions because in many cases the work was given to papers who do not employ union labor. Various charges and counter charges are made but as the inquiry is secret no information in regard to the inquiry has been given out. In 1938 this paper had the publication for this county and in 1939 the Fowlerville Review. In 1935 a labor paper in Wayne county had the publication there and the Rochester Clarion for Oakland. Last year it was controlled by Hymen Levinson of Farmington. The papers were the Farmington Enterprise of Farmington, Oakland ex-

Much has been said about safety driving. Many lessons have been read and also many lessons have been learned through bitter experience, disappointment, accident and death.

The lesson of safety when once learned thoroughly should stick with us like our shadow. It should become a part of us like our arms or our legs.

Let's adapt these safety methods we read and hear about. It doesn't cost anything. The main job is to make up our minds once and for all that we will drive safely, and then stick to the resolution.

It's smart to drive carefully.

HARTFORD (MPA) - A nearby farmer has displayed 12 ears of corn mounted on a board as a sample of his current crop. Longest was 13 inches and the shortest, 10. All are perfectly formed. The farmer estimated his crop a 1,600 to 1,800 bushels on 25 acres of land.

L'ANSE (MPA) - George Koski-naki lost his trousers recently, but he was still a lucky man. A logging truck in which he was riding with two other men overturned, pinning them in the cab as it smashed to the ground. Only injury was the drivers bruised eye.

IONIA (MPA) - In 1932 Jesse Christensen, then a 10th grade high school student, thought it advisable to quit school and go to work. This fall he returned to school at the age of 25 and took up where he left off.
He now wants to go on to college and study to be a mathematics teacher.

FIGS THRIVE IN OTSEGO OTSEGO (MPA) - Three flourishing fig trees are growing in the yard of a local home. This fall they were reported to be loaded with fruit which was ripening nicely.
Growing fig trees are very unusual in Michigan because of the climate.

CORNERSTONE YIELDS RELICS
GLADWIN (MPA) - Two 1876 newspapers, an 1862 penny, a piece of rock, and a horse chestnut were brought to light when workmen opened the cornerstone while raising the old court house building here.
The papers, which were in a tin box, were so crumpled with age that they couldn't be handled. All of the articles will be deposited in the cornerstone of the new court house.

USES CATS IN BUSINESS
AUGUSTA, (MPA) - Linden L.
Griffin, former Augusta resident,
uses cats in his business in Detroit.
He is head of an exterminating firm and selects cats to catch rats which are too clever to take tempting bait.
He leases them from stock by the day, week, or month.

"DEAD" MAN RETURNS
ADDISON (MPA) - Mr. and Mrs.
Noah Burns were shocked recently when a nephew, Wesley Burns, called on them with his family. Burns had disappeared from Lima, O., and had not been heard from in 20 years. He was declared legally dead 12 years ago. In the meantime he has lived in 44 states.

HORSE JUMPS CAR

WATERLIET (MPA) - As Herman Eppie was driving a truck to a canning factory recently, a horse ran from the woods beside the highway and jumped on the hood of the truck, breaking the windshield and gasoline supply line. Eppie was sprayed with gasoline, but otherwise unharmed. The horse was killed.

CANNIBALISM LOSES

PLAINWELL (MPA) - A pickerel trying to swallow a bass was so intent on his meal that Robert Johnston, who saw the incident while fishing, was able to kill the pickerel by hitting him with an oar. The bass was released. Dressed, the pic-kerel weighed about seven pounds, and was 34 1-2 inches long.

SHADES OF ERIN

CASSOPOLIS (MPA) - A typical Irish crop, flax, has been grown as a cash crop in Cass county for the first time in many years. Grover Kimerle had 27 acres planted on his farm near here this season, producing 120 bushels of seed with a market value of from $1.65 to $2 per bushel.

PASS THE CREAM, PLEASE

BIRMINGHAM (MPA) - June in January is a freak occurrence, all right, but it is matched by strawberries in October here. Sam How-ting had a patch of the luscious red berries that were doing well about the middle of October, and expected them to last until the first heavy frost.

Fertilizer Boosts Farm Income

CHICAGO.—One dollar out of every eleven received by American farmers from the sale of farm products of every kind annually represents income resulting from the use of fertilizer promoting increased crop yields.
At the same time, only one dollar of every thirty-nine received from the sale of farm products is spent for fertilizer, according to a study of farm income.
The 1938 farmers received $7,538, including livestock, a bulletin points out. "In the same year they paid $192,000,000 for their commercial fertilizer. Thus the increased profits resulting from the use of fertilizer were $678,420,000 or more than three dollars for every dollar spent.
"While the price of fertilizer is lower by comparison than practically any other commodity the farmer buys, he spends less for it annually than for wages for hired help, feed for livestock, farm implements, gasoline or taxes."

WHO WROTE IT?

"My Heart Stood Still"
I took one look at you,

WE see here one-half of a team of composers and authors, who have been writing songs for nearly nineteen years, and who in that time have produced more than one thousand numbers. In spite of their inseparable collaboration, they are seldom seen together in public. The composer, pictured above, is reserved, quiet and lives with his wife and two daughters in Port Washington, L. I. and Manhattan. The lyricist is a Broadway character, a bachelor, lives with his mother and entertains celebrities. Both enjoy membership in the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.
They met in the early 'twenties, when the composer, working on the music for a Columbia Varsity Show, persuaded the author, who had preceded him through Columbia, to return to write the lyrics. Before they knew it, they had written the songs for the "Poot Little Bits Girl" and were on their way to "Dearest Enemy," "The Girl Friend," "Connecticut Yankee," "On Your Toes," "Babe In Arms," "I'd Rather Be Right," "I Married An Angel" and "The Boys From Syracuse."
"My Heart Stood Still" was written first for a London revue, and then introduced in America as the hit number of the "Connecticut Yankee."

They're best if both parties are social equals and were married in church; three children are good insurance; strictly romantic matches easily fail in his "Try, try again country", expert researchers reveal. The thrilling inside story of King Zog's wooing of the beautiful but sadly impoverished Countess who mopped floors, set tables, sent post-cards and worked as a model before she became queen, begins in the 5th of November issue of The American Weekly, the great weekly magazine with The Detroit Sunday Times. ELKTON (MPA) - When a straw stack on the John Kolar farm caught fire, it attracted the attention of a team of horses pulling a wagonload of cornstalks. They rushed to the flaming strawstack, where the cornstalks caught fire, then ran through the barn, setting fire to the building. The blaze spread to every building on the farm, except the house, for a total damage of $4,000.

State of Michigan, County of Michigan, s. s. I, John A. Hagman, Clerk in and for the County aforesaid, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct transcript of the original proceedings of the Board of Supervisors for said County, passed in regular session at their October meeting thereof.
IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of said Court and County this 31st day of October A. D. 1939.
John A. Hagman, County Clerk.

PORTLAND (MPA) - With blood in their eyes, two large dogs rushed down a business street here to chase what they thought was a cat. They were only partly right, however, for the cat proved to be a skunk. As soon as they saw the animal, the dogs calmed down, and meekly stood by while the skunk crossed the road.

DEARBORN (MPA) - I've taken a lot of hogs to market, but these are the noisest I ever heard," remarked R. Worthington to his helper, as he drove a truckload of hogs to Detroit. Just then a pedestrian pointed wildly to the truck, now ablaze from a cigaret the helper had tossed out the window, which landed in the straw. Firemen saved the pigs.

FREMONT (MPA) - A local fisherman recently found a 23-inch bass dead and floating on the surface of a nearby lake. The fish evidently was killed when he tried to swallow a speckled bass weighing 10 and 1-2 ounces. Apparently the fins head the little fish in the big one's mouth and the latter couldn't quite swallow his victim.

INDUSTRIES OF THE PAST

were related to the Bennett families who lived here then. Later Thomas McCullough, the foundry man operated it. Some time in the eighties, Robert C. Culhane, a cooper from Sarnia, Ontario, came here and took it over. In 1885 the school purchased the land where the foundry and cooper shop stood. The cooper shop was moved to Livingston St. opposite where the DeBarr sister now lives where it was operated by Mr. Culhane until some time after 1900.

The property was later purchased by John Dinkel who tore the old cooper shop down. Many people remember the Culhane cooper shop & seeing Mr. Culhane, Tom Turner, Freeman Decker Sr. and Samuel Sykes working there. Mr. Sykes was a carriage maker but worked in the cooper shop at times. Undoubtedly tramp coopers were also employed during rush times. This cooper shop made flour and apple barrels mostly, the flour mills which operated on the Huron river and its branches from Reeves to Ann Arbor used a thousand barrels a day and kept the cooper shops busy supplying them with barrels.

The cooper shops were in reality only assembly plants. The barrel staves, hoops and heads were all made at planing mills. Plainfield had a large planing mill making barrel material operated by the Toppings. They also made barrels similar ones operated at Fowlerville, Mason, Leslie and Rives Junction. The staves for the flour and apple barrels were usually made of elm, the hoops of ash or hickory and the heads of lighter wood. Whiskey, pork and oil barrels were made of oak and had steel hoops.

The cooper worked before a small platform about two feet high. On this was a dummy form shaped like a half barrel. The staves were fitted around this and held in place with a large hoop two inches or more thick fitted with a thumb screw arrangement. This hoop was moved up about two feet and tightened which held the staves tight to the head. The barrel was then turned upside down and the hoops which had been soaked in water to make them pliable put on and fastened by notches in them. The barrels were then placed over a fire or steaming outfit to make them tight. Whiskey barrels were placed in a huge fireplace to char their insides. This helped refine the whiskey.

An average cooper shop would turn out about 100 barrels a day. Coopers got from 7c to 8c a barrel and made from $2 to $3 a day then considered very high wages for barrels were sold to the flour mills as low as 15 cents apiece.

The barrels were usually transported to the mills and other places in huge barrel wagons, holding nearly 100 barrels. The road between the Portage lakes was narrow and overgrown with brush. Some times the barrel wagon tipped over and the barrels had to be fished out of the waters of Portage lake.

In the late nineties improved milling methods and the development of the west as a great wheat raising center put most of the flour mills on the Huron and in this section out of business. The apple growers failed to keep their orchards up to high standard and the decline of the cooper shop was fast. Even beer barrels are now made of steel and whiskey is sold mostly in quart bottles. About the only cooper shop now in existence that we know of is the one in Henry Ford's museum at Greenfield Village, Dearborn.

We are indebted to many for material for this article. Judge H. W. Newkirk of Ann Arbor sent us a letter on the subject containing much information. Others who aided us are Mrs. Ora Waite whose father operated the cooper shop at Dexter, George Meabon Sr. who lived at Plainfield during the Toppings time and many others. We hope that this article will prove of interest to our readers.

TOWN WRITTEN UP

Dilloway, a high school senior, returned home to announce that she'd like to go to Hollywood and "be in the movies always."

Father's Ideas Differ
"The idea didn't last long," her father commented. "We like Pinckney."

The citizenry is proud of the fact that Pinckney is believed to be Michigan's most typical old-fashioned village, unspoiled from the Nineteenth Century.

Saving

It is the natural habit of man to save. The Caveman saved berries and bits of dried meat. If he did not do this, his family starved when poor hunting occurred. Later development in culture made money an important thing to save, for money could buy the things which formerly had to be stored to keep one alive. Survival and ultimate security are the main forces driving man to save.

A small saving may be a large reserve if added to regularly and consistently. Begin now. One dollar will open a Savings Account in our bank.
