Speech Class To Present 3 One Act Plays Friday Night. Baseball Team Goes to New Hudson and Loss.

Next Friday night the Speech class presents three one act plays at the High School Auditorium. Admission is 10c to all. These plays are directed by students, and all actors, stage managers, electricians, etc. are students. The plays are:

"The Pampered Darling" which typifies a family where little brother always gets his way by some trick. Does he keep his sisters from going to the week end house party? How do they pull him out from his pretended deaf and dumb state? "The Mummy Steps Out" Did you ever hear a three thousand year old mummy talk? What do you suppose he'd say? Come and see Friday night "Elmer" This time little brother never has his way, and little sister, either. If you always wore hand-me-down clothes of your big sisters, and then suddenly somebody sent you a new evening wrap for your birthday, wouldn't you be happy? But what would you do if some one else was going to wear it before you got a chance. Come and see how Susan Collier and Elmer cope with this problem.

Remember, Friday, May 10, 8 o'clock, at the high school auditorium. Admission is 10c to all, and there is a door prize of a box of printed stationery. Help out the speech class and buy a ticket now.

Total receipts of the Senior play, given April 26, were $110.46. The Seniors are quite proud of the fact that this amount is, from all available figures, a ten year record.

Due to the courtesy of Dan Denton of Inverness Golf Club, students interested in golf may now take instruction. The only requirement is their own equipment. It is hoped that a golf team will be formed.

Megan Meyer will represent Pinckney as an extempore speaker at a district contest at Hartland, Thursday, May 9th.

The base ball team lost to New Hudson there 11 to 6 Friday. The New Hudson runs were scored mostly on Pinckney errors. Bob Martin pitched for Pinckney.

Local Industries of the Past

In the Early Days the Joiner Supplied the Furniture Needs of the Community. Many Samples of His Art are Still in Existence.

At the present time a "joiner" is a person who has a mania for joining all fraternal, social and political organizations. In the old days it meant something entirely different. It was a profession or trade. Then all nails, screws and bolts were made by hand and were expensive. The joiners worked at their trade without the aid of nails, screws etc. and they joined the articles they made together with glue. Hence the name of joiners.

In the old days the joiners made mostly furniture, coffins and did some kinds of carpenter work. They fastened their product together by means of wooden pegs, and dovetailed their joints always using glue to cement them. The material they used most in their work was walnut lumber and what they made was massive and heavy. In other words it was built to last and it did. Some of the articles made by them in this section were bureaus which stood 5 and 7 feet high with huge drawers which held as much as a trunk. They also made secretaries which were a combination of book case and writing desk. Some of these stood 7 feet high. They also made chairs, tables, what-nots for corners and everything in the furniture line. In the old days if a person died the family went to the joiner and had a coffin made. These were of walnut, varnished and highly polished with upholstery on the interior. They also made church pews and benches and many of the huge chairs now found in churches and fraternal halls were made by the old time joiners. Later the joiners were called cabinet makers after nails and screws had come into general use.

There were many joiners here in the old days. William Bertwhistle who came here from Blackpool, England about 1840 was a joiner in the old country and worked at his trade here. His sons, William and John, also worked at this trade and we have seen some of their work. They were great uncles of the editor of this paper. The Bertwhistle farm is now a part of the farm owned by Mrs. Alma Harris.

In later days Charles Plympton, Henry Barton, Samuel Grimes, and George Sigler worked at this trade and made furniture. Then nails and screws had come into use and they were called cabinet makers.

In the old days log cabins and barns were built without nails and screws. The frame work was fastened together with wooden pins and the sides and roof in a similar manner. This was in the days of barn raisings when the entire community turned out to help a neighbor get his barn into place and fasten it together with wooden pins. The man who built the barn had to furnish the refreshments which in many cases were mostly liquid.

RURAL MUSIC PROGRAM

The State of Michigan and the music world at large, lost a pioneering spirit and a great musician in the death of Lewis Richards, head of the music department of Michigan State College. It was Mr. Richards who conceived the idea of the rural music extension program.

During the present year, eighteen counties have been supervised by Miss Mabel Miles, Miss Maryann Collings and Miss Elsie Thrasher. This means that approximately two thousand rural teachers have been studying music over a period of nine months meeting in organized classes once a month. Some thirty-thousand boys and girls have had the rich experience of entering the world of song and instrument playing. It is difficult to estimate the value of this training for the boys and girls of our state. As they grow into manhood and womanhood, it is hoped that they will be better citizens for having had companionship of melody and poetry.

Livingston County has had the music program for eight years, and will complete the present year with the Spring Festival on Saturday, May 18th.

Wildlife Fire-Wagon

Light, fast-towing trailers packed with spray-pumps, like the one being loaded here, together with enough water cans, axes and shovels to equip 25 fire fighters, are the department of conservation's newest answer to the threat of fires on the grasslands and woodlots of southern Michigan. The first four trailers are going into service at Allegan, Jackson, Ithaca, and in Tuscola county.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY RALLY

The securing of several of the most well-known leaders in the state makes it necessary to change the date for the Livingston County Rally which is designed to organize all the dry forces of that county. The convention previously scheduled for May 10th has been postponed until Tuesday evening, May 14th.

Governor Luren D. Dickinson will be one of the distinguished speakers for the evening supported by Dr. Dora Stockman, editor of the Grange paper and for years an officer of the Grange organization of Michigan and a number of other such well-known characters in Michigan.

The service will be held as formerly announced, in the First Presbyterian Church of Howell and will begin at 7:30 p. m. All individuals interested in control of liquor establishments or in any phase of the dry movements in Livingston county are cordially invited.

The enthusiasm shown by the ministers in the county forecasts a record crowd at the convention. Instructions and petitions for a statewide program will be given out at this time. An entire evening of interesting addresses and entertainment will make up the program.

George V. Stoll of Ann Arbor was in town this morning. Ellsworth Kirtland of the Michigan State Sanitarium was in town today.

Red Hen Tavern

Licence Is Approved

Portage Lake Tavern Is Given Licence Renewal By the State Liquor Control Commission

The Red Hen Tavern which has been closed since May 1st, 1940, was granted a liquor license by the state liquor control commission at Lansing Monday. All three commissioners, De Maas, Defoe and Cummings voted in favor of granting the license. The application for renewal had been previously approved by the Putnam township board. However the county authorities refused to approve it and it was necessary to have a hearing before the state liquor commission and go over the heads of the county officers to get it. The hearing was adjourned several times and finally came off Monday. Jay P. Sweeney, former prosecutor, of Howell was attorney for the Red Hen. The Red Hen Tavern was built at Portage Lake, Lawrence James. They have a restaurant and large dance hall and also sell beer and liquor by the glass. They run week end dances and are patronized heavily, especially in summer months.

According to those from Pinckney who attended the hearing, the liquor commission was in a jovial mood and joked among themselves. Commissioner Defoe lately visited the Red Hen. When he stated this Commissioner Cummings remarked, "So you know a Red Hen when you see one". At the hearing no one appeared to make any complaints against the granting of the licenses and for this reason it was granted.

Gov. Dickinson and Murray Van Wagoner To Be Gubernatorial Rival. Governor May Have Primary Opposition

"Dickinson versus Van Wagoner" will be the gubernatorial issue next November, according to best bets today at the state capital.

Although neither the present governor nor the state highway commissioner have formally tossed their hats into the political ring, observers take it for granted that they will do so at the proper time.

Two recent events are seen as harbingers of Dickinson's nomination for the Republican choice for governor. First, Dr. H. Allen Moyer of Charlotte, personal physician of the Governor's, announced that the governor was as fit as a fiddle to make a campaign and, in fact, was in better health now at 81 than he was a year ago, an octogenarian.

Second, 80 year old former Governor Chase S. Osborn released a 16-page letter in which he expanded upon his previous criticisms of Mr. Dickinson, releasing such barbed epithets as "Michigan's chief bartender", "inflated egotist", and "a conscious hypocrite". Osborn concluded with a tart plea for Dickinson to step aside.

Intimates of the governor are smiling. If anything was needed to induce the governor that he should run again, Osborn's front page statement was regarded as removing any doubt. Of course, Dickinson seldom if ever is a candidate. He merely has been nominated with regularity and has been elected much in the same way.

In the judgement of one Lansing newspaper correspondent, Osborn's heckling attitude is "somewhat of a threat to the peace and harmony of the Republican party."

Joseph H. Creighton, a veteran observer of the capital scene, interviewed a number of the "top notch Republican leaders" and reported that one of them remarked causally "Why must the old man run, after all?" This same person informed Creighton that "one strong candidate Continued on Last Page

CURRENT COMMENT

The withdrawal of most of the Allied forces from most of Norway last week seems to give Hitler the advantage for the time being at least. Deprived of their aid there are rumors that Norway may sue Germany for peace and become another dependency like Poland or Finland. Without Allied aid Norway cannot last long. Just why the Allied forces did not wage a stronger campaign there is the subject for warm debate. The general conclusion is that Great Britain and France were subject to such great censure and blame when they left Poland and Finland to their fates that they could not take what they knew was coming their way if Norway as abandoned so their ill fated attempt to aid Norway was started. With Germany holding all the principal ports and landing places and only small Allied forces available and no airplanes or artillery the attempt was doomed to failure from the start according to military experts. However there are many unanswered questions such as why were not larger and better equipped forces sent and why did not the British fleet get into the picture. The answers to these questions may ultimately mean a new government for England.

Former Governor Chase S. Osborn subjected Governor Dickinson to another heckling last week in which he asked him to withdraw from the campaign for governor and let a younger man run. He said only the governors vanity impels him to enter the campaign. The letter was 16 pages long and while he passed off previous letters from Osborn as a joke this one seemed to nettle him. The press were all given copies of the letter and ran it on the front page. Osborn like Dickinson is over 80 years old. One paragraph in the letter stands out. In it the former governor remarks: "The greatest mistake Germany ever made was to have Hindenburg for chief executive. He was as old as you and I, and no good for the work before. Look at the mess Germany is in now. Old men for counsel! Young men for war!"

Samuel Harden Church of New York has offered $1,000,000 reward in cash for the capture alive of Adolph Hitler and his delivery to the League of Nations. As this offer is good only during the month of May beyond giving Mr. Church pages of publicity the results it will accomplish will be nil. Our experienced kidnapers could hardly get over to Europe and get their plans laid and contacts made in so short a time. Besides we doubt that the disappearance of Hitler would end the war. He has been made a bogie superman and invested with a thousand powers he does not possess. His successes so far have been because he represents the opinions and will of the German people.

Around July 1st it is planned to add about 12,000 persons in the state on the waiting list of 29,000 to the old age pension list, according to Dr. Callahan, state supervisor those whose applications have been on file two years will be added first and then those whose applications were filed previous to October 1st, 1938. There are now 72,000 drawing old age pensions. Dr. Callahan told a gathering at Alpena recently that from now on the legislature must appropriate $12,000,000 a year for old age pensions. The last legislature only appropriated $8,562,000 so no new persons could be added to the list and many of those on it had to be cut down to make the money available go around. Dr. Callahan warned that if the appropriation is not made big enough some of the so called visionary pension schemes may be adopted by the voters. He said that a branch of the Townsend group is now lobbying for a general $60 a month old age pension.

The Bay City Times notes the recent statement of Gen. Heinrich A. Pickert, recent Detroit police commissioner to the effect that he had no idea that gambling was going on while he was police commissioner in which his subordinates were involved. This shows that he was a man of good heart and believed the best of everyone but does not show that he was well equipped for his job. Strange as it may seem there are many such officials in high places and they are regarded by the crooks as easy marks and they like them very much.

PINCKNEY SOFT BALL LEAGUE

Inclement weather caused all but the Monday game in the Pinckney Soft Ball League to be postponed last week. In that contest the Ledwidge team won from the Meabon team 15 to 10. Dinkel, pitching for Meabon was hit freely and went into the last inning on the small end of a 15 to 5 score. The Meabon team staged a rally in the last inning and scored 6 runs when the ten men went to bat. Home run hitters last week were Marion Shirey, Roy Reason and Keith Ledwidge.

Gaylord - Two local youths took advantage of winter's last snow to set a new style in skiing attire. Wearing only swimming trunks, boots and a smile, the two skied down winter sports park hill, said it wasn't cold as long as they kept moving.

Parma - A large cock pheasant startled Mrs. Roy Brewer when it flew through the glass in the front door of her home. After a brief chase through the house, the bird was captured and released, apparently unhurt.

NORWAY - Proving spring is here a specimen of grasshoppers is on display in the local newspaper office. They were found by Charles Albert, who each year brings the paper a glass container of hoppers. He had to ski over snow four feet deep to reach a sunny knoll where he found the insects.

MANCELONA - A healthy and frisky three-legged calf, with no stump or any other sign whatever of a left front leg, was born on the farm of John Fenner in Chestonia township. No other defect was reported.

BIRMINGHAM - Although it took them 12 years to do it, a Southfield township couple finally made up their minds and got married this year. Their license was dated Jan. 2, 1928. The justice who married them believed leap year had something to do with it.

MAY WE HELP YOU, PLEASE?

"Service with a smile" and excellent service, too, will be the lot of Michigan tourists who are lucky enough to be served by any of these lovely girls when the season rolls around. Living together in a resident work project operated by the Michigan National Youth Administration in cooperation with the City of Charlevoix and the Board of Education, 30 unemployed girls are receiving training in home management, office and library assistants and resort work. Skilled help is much in demand in Michigan's resort centers, and placement from NYA projects of this kind to hotel and resort jobs was almost 100% last year.

The parcel post social put on by the Young People's Class of the Cong'l church at the opera house on Saturday night was a success notwithstanding unfavorable weather, the receipts being about $37. All the tableaux except the first one had to be cancelled owing to smoke arising from the red fire used. Grace Grieve Florence Kice, Mrs. George Pearson, Helen Dunce, Madeline Moran, Laura Burgess and Mrs. H. D. Brown appeared on the program. The colored quartet sang several numbers. Pauline Swarthout also gave a reading. The parcels were sold off and refreshments were served.

The class had an inspirational session on Sunday morning after the church service, which was also a spiritual help, with fine sermon and beautiful music. The lesson in the regular quarter's series was again from Isaiah. Many thoughts were given about spiritual thirsts, and what is involved in accepting God's gracious invitation and our responsibility to make it known to others.

Next Sunday's passage will be from Habakkuk 1:12-17 and 1:1-4. The topic is "Trusting God Regardless of Anything." This lesson on faith should be especially helpful to all of us.

Sympathy was expressed in the class for one of our members, Mrs. Nettie Johnson, who recently suffered an automobile accident.

We have our receipt for our Chapter dues for 1940-41. This will be placed upon our framed chapter in our class-room.

HIGHER FERTILITY KEY TO BIG CROPS ON MICHIGAN FARMS

CHICAGO—It's the extra bushels per acre a Michigan farmer harvests that spell the difference between making a profit, breaking even on his season's work, or finishing "in the red."

This is true whether he is growing corn or wheat—potatoes or oats—or any other crop.

"All things considered," says a statement, "the cost of plowing, seeding, and cultivating a field is practically the same, whether the crop yield be large or small."

"The farmer who has the knack of getting large yields from his land year in and year out can teach his neighbors several important things. For example, his crops always seem to get a quicker start and thus he gets the jump on weeds and insects in the spring and frosts in the fall. He usually makes a bigger profit than anyone else in the neighborhood."

HIGHER FERTILITY KEY TO BIG CROPS ON MICHIGAN FARMS

CHICAGO—It's the extra bushels per acre a Michigan farmer harvests that spell the difference between making a profit, breaking even on his season's work, or finishing "in the red."

This is true whether he is growing corn or wheat—potatoes or oats—or any other crop.

"All things considered," says a statement, "the cost of plowing, seeding, and cultivating a field is practically the same, whether the crop yield be large or small."

"The farmer who has the knack of getting large yields from his land year in and year out can teach his neighbors several important things. For example, his crops always seem to get a quicker start and thus he gets the jump on weeds and insects in the spring and frosts in the fall. He usually makes a bigger profit than anyone else in the neighborhood."

WEEKLY LETTER CONGRESSIONAL

W. W. Blackney.

This week the House has had under consideration, H. R. 5435, known as the Norton Bill, Amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938. This bill reached the House under a peculiar rule which provided for the consideration also of two other bills of similar nature, H. R. 7133, known as the Barden Bill and H. R. 7349, known as the Ramspeck Bill.

The original rule practically prohibited debate but the House defeated the rule and for six days Congress was engaged in the consideration of these bills. The Judiciary Committee certainly presented a peculiar rule. The Labor Committee were clearly divided into several camps, each advocating one or the other of the bills mentioned above so that we started a discussion of this bill under very peculiar conditions.

The House of Representatives is friendly to labor and wants to see labor protected by reasonable hours and wages but at the same time it realizes that labor cannot get jobs unless capital exists to employ them so a bill should be fair to both employer and employee.

The first thing that occurred of any importance was when Representative Ramspeck of Georgia, practically withdrew his favorable consideration of his own bill and that left his bill wandering around Congress like a lost child. The second thing of importance that occurred was when Representative Barden of North Carolina withdrew his support of his own bill leaving another orphan child. But the climax of the whole matter occurred when Representative Norton of New Jersey withdrew her support of the Committee Bill. Then the House was bewildered because each of the proponents of the respective bills had now denied parentage of those bills and cast them aside.

In this debate, all party lines were forgotten, some Democrats were for and some were against; some Republicans favored and others opposed the same legislation so that there was six days of aimless debate, wondering here and there without a goal. It made me think of the general who marched his soldiers up the hill and then turned around and marched his soldiers down the hill without accomplishing anything. That's just what Congress did after six days of debate.

Scores of amendments were introduced to each bill leaving everything in a chaotic state. The Ramspeck bill did not receive a single vote; the Barden bill received but a few and the amendments to the Norton bill were defeated by a ye and nay vote of 171 to 211. That left the original Norton bill which had been repudiated by the Labor committee of which Representative Norton is a member.

The motion was then made to recommit and passed by a vote of 205 to 175. The motion to recommit meant that the bill should be referred back to the Committee for further consideration. All party lines were forgotten on the motion to recommit; 79 Republicans voted for the motion, 72 opposed; 122 Democrats voted in favor of the motion, 102 were opposed thereto; 2 Progressives, 1 Farmer Labor and 1 American Labor member also voted for the motion to recommit.

Out of the six days discussion one clear fact is discernible; that is, in order to get proper consideration of a bill in Congress the committee which reports the bill must have thoughtfully prepared and considered a worthwhile bill and the majority of that committee should present a united front in its consideration.

Where a committee is divided into hostile camps, going in a dozen different directions, you can't expect the House to consider the bill with clarity and efficiency. Legislation must be first thoughtfully prepared in committee. 485 Members, each with different shades of ideas, cannot write proper legislation on the floor of the House. I am convinced that the only sound legislation along the line above suggested must be that legislation which adequately protects the employee's hours and wages and at the same time adequately protects the employer so that the two may work hand in hand to their mutual benefit.

You will recall that last year Congress passed a bill known as the Hatch bill or the "clean politics" bill so-called. The purpose of this bill was to prevent those holding political offices of responsibility from using those offices to coerce the voters either for or against some certain measure or candidate. This year a new Hatch bill was introduced, carrying the provisions of the bill farther than the original bill.

The Senate passed this bill and it was then referred to the House. The Judiciary Committee by secret vote refused to report the bill. It then became necessary to file what we call a discharge petition, which after it receives 218 Congressional signatures will discharge the committee and allow the House to consider the bill. Naturally I signed the discharge petition because I believe that the people were entitled to consideration of this measure. The petition had only been on the clerk's desk two hours when 108 House Members had signed it. If we can secure 218 signatures this measure will then be brought on the floor for full and complete debate.

Star's Magnetic Influence Felt, but Not Recognized

The film star, a practical joker, had an electrified chair, disguised, as an ordinary upholstered one, in his home. He delighted in seeing a guest, comfortably seated, suddenly leap at the press of a button.

A pretty girl came to interview him. She sat in the chair, and he couldn't resist pressing the button. But she just sat there, conversing animatedly.

Finally he asked: "Don't you feel rather strange?"

"Yes," she replied. "As if electricity were going through me. But I always feel that way when talking to film stars. They're so magnetic."

LET US TELL YOU MORE ABOUT IT

"The Name Is Familiar"

BY FELIX A. STREYCKMANN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Wistaria
WISTARIA, the beautiful light blue or purple flower which makes your front porch so attractive, is a perennial memorial to Caspar Wistar, a Philadelphia physician who was born in 1761. He went to medical school at the University of Pennsylvania, was graduated in 1782 and then went to England and Scotland, where he served as president of the Royal Medical Society of Edinburgh and also as president of a society for the further investigation of natural history.

After his return to America, he became almost as famous a naturalist as he was a physician and anatomist and his home was a meeting place for students, citizens, scientists and travelers who met there to discuss subjects of common interest. In fact such assemblies, called "Wistar parties," continued long after his death in 1818.

When Thomas Nuttall, the English-American naturalist, discovered a new woody vine in the forests of the western and southern states, he wanted to honor the famous Philadelphia scientist by naming it after him. But he spelled it "wisteria" and if you spell it that way, too, you're helping Nuttall perpetuate an error instead of helping perpetuate the fame of Dr. Caspar Wistar.

Zeppelin
TECHNICALLY, an airship is a dirigible but it is popularly called a zeppelin and probably always will be. And so the name of Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin, its inventor, will live on.

This ought to please the count no end, as he was just a little conceited. As a military observer in this country during the Civil war, he wrote copiously for his German readers but told as much about how popular he was with the American officers as he did about military activities.

Immediately after the Civil war he stayed in America for a short time to "enjoy his popularity," and while in St. Paul, Minn., he made his first ascent in a balloon.

He returned to Germany and continued to serve in the army until 1891 when he retired with the rank of general and studied aeronautics. In 1900 he made the first ship that rose from the ground. It stayed in the air for 20 minutes but it was wrecked in landing.

In 1906 he made two successful flights with another ship of his and traveled 30 miles an hour. The next year his ship made 38 miles an hour and progress was steady from then on. The count died in 1917 during the World war when his zeppelins were at their peak of military usefulness.

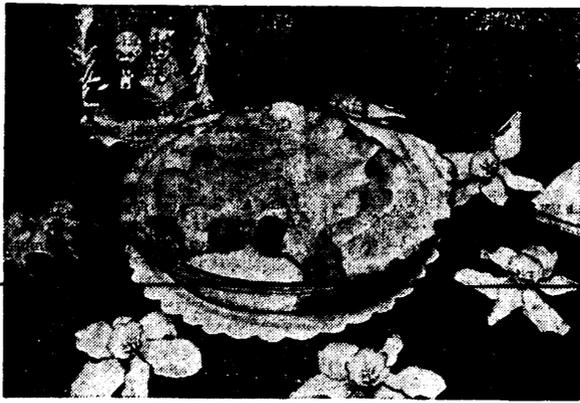

Morse Code

IN A small glass case in a museum at Harvard university is a little ribbon of paper on which is printed a series of dots and dashes. If you know your "Morse code," you can spell out the message which these dots and dashes tell. "What hath God wrought," it says.

For this is the first message ever sent over the "electric telegraph." It was clicked off on May 24, 1844, in Washington by Samuel Finley Breeze Morse, former daguerreotypist and portrait painter, who became the inventor of the telegraph, to his partner, Alfred Vail, in Baltimore. Its wording was suggested to Morse by Miss Anne S. F. B. Morse Ellsworth, daughter of the commissioner of patents, who had brought him the joyful news that congress had passed an appropriation with which to carry on his experiments with his invention.

As the use of the telegraph spread, men who were skilled in sending messages in the "Morse code" were called "Morse operators" quite as frequently as they were "telegraphers." Later they became known as "boomers" or "lightning-snatchers" but due to the increasing use of modern teletypewriters "Morse men" are rapidly becoming "vanishing Americans."

FOR A SHOWER PARTY FOR SPRING BRIDE (See Recipes Below)

Household News

By Eleanor Howe

Here Comes the Bride!

And so they are married—and after the ceremony there is to be a wedding reception at the home of the bride's mother.

It takes a bit of planning to carry through a lovely wedding so that every detail is correct. And the reception which follows must be as nearly perfect as it is possible to make it. Plan a menu that's simple and easy to serve, yet appetizing and delicious to eat. Set the table for buffet service—using your loveliest linen, silver and china. Since the proverbial color scheme for the bride's table is green and white, plan to use white flowers for the centerpiece; if candles are used, they may be white or green.

A party for the bride calls for something very special in the way of food. Here's a menu for a wedding reception, with tested recipes to enable you to use it as it gives.

Assorted Hors d'Oeuvres
Grapefruit-Lobster or Crabmeat Salad
Buttermilk Rolls
Celery Olives
Pistachio Ice Cream
Bride's Cake
Punch
Groom's Cake
Coffee

For a shower party for a spring bride, serve simple—but very good—refreshments like this:

Bride's Pie
Coffee Assorted Salted Nuts
You'll find other recipes for special party cakes and desserts in my cook book "Better Baking." There's a recipe for wedding cakes, as well.

Bride's Pie
(Serves 10 to 12)
6 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ quarts strawberry ice cream
2 baked pie shells

Beat egg whites until foamy, add salt and continue beating until the egg whites are stiff. Gradually beat in the sugar and continue beating until the egg whites are stiff and glossy. Add vanilla. Pack ¼ quart of ice cream into each pie shell. Cover with meringue and bake in a very hot oven (550 degrees) until meringue is lightly browned. Serve immediately.

Assorted Canapes.
Place chilled shrimp on a bed of shaved ice; serve cocktail sauce with it as an accompaniment. Stuff celery stalks with cream cheese which has been mixed with chopped stuffed olives. Cut crusts from slices of very fresh bread and cut loaf in long lengthwise slices. Spread with cream cheese. Roll as for jelly roll and slice in very thin slices. Brush with melted butter, place on broiler and toast lightly. Serve hot.

Grapefruit Lobster or Crabmeat Salad.
Cut grapefruit in half, remove center with grapefruit corer. With grapefruit knife cut around each section and remove membrane. Cover edges of grapefruit with finely chopped parsley. Fill chilled center of grapefruit with lobster or crabmeat. Top with mayonnaise and serve.

Buttermilk Rolls.
(Makes 2½ dozen)
1 cake yeast
2 tablespoons lukewarm water
2 cups buttermilk (at room temperature)
6½ cups of flour (approximately)
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Combine with buttermilk and mix well. Add about 2 cups of flour and beat until smooth. Cover and let rise in a warm place until the batter is light and bubbly. Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly.

Add to raised batter and beat well. Sift together the remaining flour, the salt, soda and baking powder. Add to batter in 3 or 4 portions and mix well. Pinch off small bits of the dough, shape into balls and place in small, greased muffin cups. Cover and allow to rise until the rolls are very light. Brush with melted shortening. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for about 15 minutes.

Groom's Cake.
½ cup butter
1 cup light brown sugar
2 eggs
2 cups general purpose flour
¼ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon allspice
¾ cup sour milk
½ cup citron, cut
1 cup raisins
1 cup nut meats, broken
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Cream butter, add sugar, and beat thoroughly. Add eggs (well beaten). Mix and sift together all dry ingredients, reserving ¼ cup of flour. Add flour mixture and sour milk alternately—beginning with the flour mixture. Flour, citron, raisins, and nuts with the ¼ cup of flour which was reserved and add to the cake mixture. Add vanilla extract. Place in well-greased, small tube pan. Bake 40 to 50 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees).

Pistachio Ice Cream.
1 pint coffee cream
1 cup top milk
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon almond extract
3 to 4 drops green pure food color
½ cup pistachio nut meats (cut fine)
Mix all ingredients together thoroughly. Pour mixture into freezing container of modern ice cream freezer. (To allow for expansion fill not more than ¾ full.) Assemble and cover. Then pack mixture of cracked ice and rock salt (use 3 parts ice to 1 part of salt by volume) around the freezing container. Turn crank steadily about 5 minutes. When mixture becomes difficult to turn, remove cover carefully, take out dasher, and pack down evenly with a spoon. Cover ice cream with wax paper and replace cover. Draw off water and replenish ice and salt mixture. Cover and allow to harden at least one hour before serving.

Twenty-Four Hour Pike's Peak.
(Serves 6)
4 egg whites
¾ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
Add cream of tartar to egg whites and beat until the egg whites are stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in the sugar, and continue beating until the mixture is stiff and glossy. Spread in a greased pie plate. Bake in a slow oven (275 degrees) for 20 minutes, then increase temperature to 300 degrees and bake 40 minutes longer.

Filling.
4 egg yolks
¼ cup sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons lemon rind (grated)
Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add remaining ingredients and cook in double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Whip 1 cup cream and spread half the cream on the cooled meringue. Cover with lemon filling and top with remaining cream. Chill.

Now is the time for each foresighted homemaker to add to her own collection of favorite recipes, some new and unusual ones which are sure to please her family. Next week Eleanor Howe will give you some of her own tested recipes—recipes for meats, for vegetables and for desserts—and a choice recipe for rhubarb conserve.

could defeat Dickinson in the primaries.

Offsetting these statements was Creighton's personal conclusion that "Dickinson probably couldn't be stopped with a baseball bat and that he'd win the Republican primary just as he won seven others when running for lieutenant governor."

The latter analysis was prompted by a feeling that Dickinson's lieutenant's in his official cabinet; and party leaders generally could not agree among themselves upon a candidate other than Dickinson.

Thus, the administration aspirants for the governorship having largely neutralized each other's chances for the nomination, Dickinson is forecast as an early winner in the September primary. At least, that's the prevailing thought at Lansing today, prompted by favoritism for one candidate or another, being solely but a cool summary of the political situation as it exists at the moment. Osborn for Murphy.

In connection with the former governor's blast against Dickinson, it is recalled that Chase Osborn has been noted for his political independence, having been a Bull Mooseer in the 1912 campaign and as late as two years ago having jumped upon the Democratic bandwagon to support Frank Murphy for re-election as governor.

This spring, Osborn remains in the same seat, the only change being that he is against Dickinson instead of the late Governor Fitzgerald and that he favors a Democrat "of the type of Murray D. Van Wagoner" instead of Mr. Murphy.

But the Osborn attitude of political independence is a disturbing sign, to say the least. Whether it represent the viewpoint of a large number of voters is quite another matter which time will reveal in its inevitable way.

If Fitzgerald's election was due more to an anti-Murphy reaction following the sit-down strike in 1937 than to a positive action in behalf of Fitzgerald—and such a conclusion has been voiced privately by leading Republicans—then what will be the popular trend in Michigan next November if Dickinson is the Republican nominee and Van Wagoner is the Democrat's choice.

Party leaders are scanning the skies hopefully for a sign.

The answer will depend to a large degree upon whom the Republicans and Democrats nominate for President. For 1940 is a national campaign year—don't forget!

More than a year ago two Michigan-born Republicans, Thomas E. Dewey and Arthur Vandenberg, agreed to stay out of each other's home field—Dewey out of Michigan and Vandenberg out of New York.

Regarding Vandenberg as the state's favorite son for the Presidency, the state Republican organization has been plumping enthusiastically for the Grand Rapids senator, and it is a foregone conclusion that Vandenberg will receive Michigan's support on the first vote at the Philadelphia convention next month.

Howard Lawrence, former state treasurer succeeding Frank D. McKay, launched a Vandenberg boom a year ago. Leslie Butler, personal secretary of the governor, has been active in behalf of the Vandenberg for president movement. But when the Michigan senator declined to leave Washington to compete in person with Dewey in western states and the state primary verdicts showed a definite trend towards the New York racket-busting prosecutor, certain Republican leaders began to get nervous.

Melville B. McPherson, of Lowell, who was a candidate against former Governor Fitzgerald two years ago, and Senator Herman H. Dignan of Owosso seized upon the opportunity to launch a Dewey movement in Michigan.

Dignan was careful to explain that the Dewey organization is being formed without Mr. Dewey's permission because of the Dewey-Vandenberg agreement.

He said: His campaign is gathering momentum in Michigan as well as elsewhere and it seems advisable that something be done to organize the sentiment here.

McPherson is chairman of the state tax commission. Dignan is an independent hardware dealer at Owosso.

And so it goes. Michigan's political pot is beginning to boil.
