Local Industries of the Past

The Resurrectionist Followed an Odd and Forgotten Profession Which Flourished in this State Years Ago.

In the eighties and before a certain class followed an odd and forgotten profession called body snatching. A more polite name for these gentry was the name Resurrectionist sometimes given them.

In those days the medical schools had a hard time getting enough bodies to dissect so they had to get them clandestinely. As they paid about $25 each for bodies certain persons went into the business of supplying the bodies for the profit in it. Burial laws were not so strict then so these persons usually got the bodies of all friendless persons and those who died without relatives. However this did not furnish enough to supply the demand so they were forced to go to the cemeteries to get bodies. In those days there were many country cemeteries in lonely spots and little night travel. These were the ones usually visited. The body snatcher dug a hole down to the head of the coffin, broke the glass and pulled the body out with a rope around it. Then the grave was refilled and all traces of molestation removed. The most expert body snatcher in this section was a Fowlerville doctor, who attended college with the late Dr. H. F. Sigler in the seventies. Many were the bodies he sold to the medical schools. Dr. H. F. Sigler once told the editor that he saw this doctor drive into Pinckney about noon once and as he was an old classmate invited him to dinner. The doctor accepted and asked Dr. Sigler to get the tie strap from the back of the buggy. As Dr. Sigler lifted up the flap to do so he put his hand on a dead man's face. The dead man was Billy Blake, the village drunkard who had been found dead and whom the doctor was taking to the college to sell. The Fowlerville doctor finally overreached and had to leave the country. A woman died and her husband refused to bury her until compelled to. Naturally he discovered the theft of the body. It was found but the doctor disappeared and never came back. Years later Dr. Sigler had occasion to do business with a railroad in Arizona and got a letter from the former Fowlerville doctor who was surgeon for the railroad. As we understand it was generally known in those days that certain people were engaged in this business but as long as they did not overstep the bounds they were not generally molested. Dr. Sigler once told the editor that if many of the graves in country cemeteries were opened they would be found empty.

Later laws were passed giving the medical schools all unclaimed bodies such as inmates of poorhouses, prisons and insane asylums who died without relatives, the body snatchers went out of business for lack of customers.

Reg. L. Shaefer of Pinckney had the honor of handing in the first Dickinson petitions for governor on last Tuesday at Lansing. They contained 644 names and every township in Livingston county was represented. These petitions were distributed around the county by Grover Rouse two weeks ago. W. C. Miller circulated the petition in Putnam township. 23 other petitions were filed that day.

State Funds Liable To Be Used For War Preparedness. Highway Fund May Be Increased

More money for bullets; less for books. That, in a nutshell, may be the 1941 legislative picture in Michigan and pressure group lobbyists today. While the next state administration will still be wrestling with a large deficit, currently estimated at $30,000,000, there will be no setup by numerous pressure groups in the effort to obtain more state funds.

Ever since the highway people were successful in putting over a constitutional amendment to curb the juggling of highway revenues, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott and public school teachers have been looking enviously at the state treasury.

The four tourist associations have been hopeful, too, that the legislature will smile upon them next year with an increase in the tourist advertising appropriation. Nearby states are competing vigorously for Michigan's tourist business. Last year the tourist managers staged a luncheon at Lansing to stress the need for more state aid.

County road commissions through their Lansing representative, Dr. L. Webber, maintain that they are under-nourished financially and that they merit a better proportion of the tax dollar. A legislative drive will be made in 1941 to reach this objective, perhaps at the cost of highway department funds.

Merit of these causes is one thing. Chance of getting more money is something else.

The Washington rush to re-arm ourselves at a staggering cost of new taxes is an unknown factor in the 1941 legislative situation.

Here is how one legislative observer put it:

"This year's national rearmament bill has reached approximately five billion dollars and it is expected to hit the billion mark by 1942 and thereafter. These defense expenditures cannot be financed solely out of additional treasury deficit which is now at the federal limit of 45 billion dollars. To do so would merely invite ruinous inflation. The only alternative is more federal taxes, such as a 2 per cent manufacturer's sales tax as recommended by Senator P. Brown, a member of the senate finance committee, or broadening of the federal income tax.

"You recall that President Roosevelt last week called in Harold Smith national budget director, to outline plans for a reduction in other federal expenditures.

"We are resigned to the prospect of additional taxes from Washington. The national defense crisis has changed our minds.

CURRENT COMMENT

The anti-preparedness advocates jeered when President Roosevelt asked that 50,000 planes be built and said this program would take years. Henry Ford stated that he could build 1000 planes a day and again they jeered. Others think this huge program is not impossible. The Associated Press quotes a speech made by Ford R. Lamb of Pinckney last week at the Scientific Apparatus Makers convention at Chicago. In it he said that there is no reason why this country cannot exceed the airplane output of Germany. He declared that mass production depended upon the standardization of model. "We can obtain mass output by selection of the most efficient models and adopting the industry for swift production of thousands of these planes. "Henry Ford was right when he said his factory could produce 1000 planes a day." Lamb is executive for the American Society of Tool Engineers. day. Lamb in executive secretary for the American Society of Tool Engineers.

Back in 1925 Brix. Gen. William Mitchell was tried for unilitary conduct and found guilty by an army board because he said that battle ships were obsolete and planes were the most important military weapon. The recent world war has caused many to change their opinion on this subject and conclude that Mitchell was right after all. However Mitchell is now dead and the wrong did him cannot be righted. Among those who have changed their minds are Gen. Edwin B. Winans, retired, who was a member of the army board who found Mitchell guilty. He says that he admits that Mitchell had vision beyond men of his time. Gen. Winans is the son of the late Gov. Edwin B. Winans of Pinckney and Hamburg township but now lives in Vienna, Virginia.

The Jehovah's Witnesses have lost their case which they appealed to the United States supreme court. The West Mahoney school in Pennsylvania expelled 2 children of Jehovah's witnesses because they refused to salute the American flag, claiming their religion did not permit them to worship idols. It was carried to the supreme court. This body ruled the school was right in compelling them to salute the flag, that it was a simple rite of patriotism without any religious significance. In other words that the people should render to Caesar that which is Caesar's.

There seems to be much agitation for having congress stay in session all summer on account of the European war. There are two principal objections to this. One is that Washington, D. C. is the hottest place in the country in summer and another, it is campaign year and the members of congress want to get back home so they can campaign for re-election.

Years ago when a pitcher pitched a no-hit gamt he became famous. Back in 1927 Don Swarthout pitched one against Hartland and the Detroit Tigers sent Wish Eagen out to look him over. Now you can hardly pick up a paper but that you read where some high school or college pitcher has pitched a no-hit game. Western State Teachers college capped the climax the other day by pitching two no-hitters in one afternoon in a double header. Batting is evidently becoming a lost art in this country.

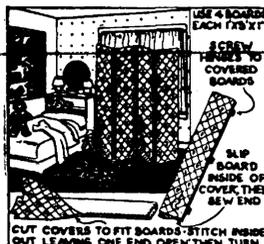

The Michigan Educational Association is sponsoring a minimum wage bill for school teachers which will be introduced at the coming session of the legislature. For starting teachers the bill provides that the minimum wage shall be $800 a year and would rise to $1050 over a three year period with increases of not less than $50 a year and $50 to be spent for training. Statistics show that of 10,000 public school teachers average $1200 or less a year. More than 1300 are paid less than $1000 a year. Clerks in liquor stores draw $1200 a year and the association maintains that school teachers are at least worth as much as that.

Slip-Covered Boards Make Handy Screen

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS
HERE is an idea for that bedroom screen. Buy four well-seasoned boards each 1 foot wide; 1 inch thick and as long as the height you wish the screen to be; also 9 hinges of the 1-inch butt type used for cupboard doors. Next, select a smart chintz to cover your boards. To estimate the amount of chintz, multiply the height of the screen by three and then add 1/4 yard. Now, just follow the directions in the sketch and you will have your screen in no time.

And, by the way, if you are interested in making a collection of fabric toys, complete directions for the Rag Baby on the floor are in Sewing Book No. 2. The Sleepy Time doll on the bed and the Bandanna doll on the shelf are in Book 4; the Stocking Cat is in Book 3. You will also find full directions for the crocheted rug in Book No. 3. Directions for the lamp shades are in Book No. 1. Send 10 cents in coin for each book desired. Tricks of Sleep

Napoleon was credited with the ability to drop off to sleep at any time and in any position. It was this gift that enabled him to work almost round the clock for long periods at a time, and yet keep his brain and body fresh and alert. Lloyd George of England is said to share Napoleon's secret to such an extent that he has been known to bring a conversation to an end by exclaiming, "And now I am going to have a nap," dropping at once into easy sleep.

"What? WORMS in my child?.. Never!"

Don't be so sure, Mother!

Yes, right now, crawling round worms may be growing and multiplying inside your child without your even knowing it!
This nasty infection may be "caught" from other children, from dogs, from uncooked vegetables or bad water. And the outward signs are very misleading. For example: Scurrying and fidgeting. Nose-picking and scratching their parts. Uneasy stomach. Finicky appetite. Biting nails.
If you even suspect that your child has round worms, get JAYNE'S Vermifuge right away! JAYNE'S is the best known worm expellant in America. It is backed by modern scientific study, and has been used by millions for over a century.
JAYNE'S Vermifuge is pleasant tasting and gentle, yet it does a good job. Jayne's has the ability to drive out large round worms without upsetting the digestive system. JAYNE'S Vermifuge acts merely as a mild laxative, if there are no worms.

National Preparedness Drive Encounters Political Bickering

Washington Correspondent Sees Defense Program Being Turned 'Into a Vehicle for Selfish Use'; Racketeering Labor Leaders Climb on Bandwagon.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART
WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—It is exceedingly difficult to maintain a balanced viewpoint in the national capital these days. War hysteria is flowing at higher tide than in any other city of the land. Washington is the nerve center of the plans for a great and proper national defense scheme. That is bad. Yet, a calm perhaps would settle down and the serious job confronting the nation probably would be accomplished more effectively and efficiently if some other and more dangerous factors were not horn in on the situation.
It may not yet be so clear to the folks outside of Washington, but I must report that the urgently needed national defense program is being turned into a vehicle for selfish use. There is no longer room for doubt. The tragedy is that many otherwise sincere and honest individuals in places of responsibility are lending aid to this chicanery and boring-from-within.

The cold fact is that while patriotic and far-seeing folks are giving the best efforts available to the development and execution of the national defense program, fumes and stenches are beginning to arise from the midst of this very serious business. The condition is upon us and thus far there is no apparent effort on the part of anybody in authority to check it.

HERBERT HOOVER
He chose to disagree.

One hears and sees how the defense program is being speeded. One naturally offers commendation. But hardly is that applause given when through the cracks and the crevices comes the information that politics is preying upon the whole scheme. Some of it already smells to high heaven. The length to which some men will go to further their selfish political aims at the expense of all of us is beyond comprehension.
And in the midst of these serious endeavors, also, comes the shouts and the threats of some racketeering labor leaders. As usual, that type is simply getting on the bandwagon for the sake of publicity that they can get for their mouthings. It makes them appear important to benighted followers.

Opponents of Democracy Are Boring From Within

Behind and beneath all of these things that are to be deplored is the creeping and gnawing of the termites who would be most happy to destroy our form of government. They are seizing upon the hysteria and the patriotism of the day to worm themselves into the spots where their concealed efforts will attract the least attention until the floor falls in. I have complained about these fellows many times before, and I shall continue to write about the dangers from them. They are in our government to the tune of several thousands. Again, little is being done about those, or the thousands that are at large.

Let us begin with some details of the politics of the situation as it has existed now for several weeks. We should begin at the top. President Roosevelt is not less guilty than many of his supporters in the matter of playing politics.

The President's speech to congress was a good speech, a speech that should have aroused a sleepy nation. It did. But there were some parts of it about which there could be, and was, disagreement. Of those who disagreed, the President immediately said, in effect, that they were playing politics. He wanted ed a united people behind the program. The President hinted broadly in various utterances that anyone disagreeing with him was pretty much of sour puss.

Former President Herbert Hoover disagreed, as did a considerable number of representatives and senators, with some phases of the defense program. The President sought to quiet them all by making another speech—a fireside chat. There were holes in that speech, and scores of newspapers pointed at them, editorially. Mr. Hoover took issue with some of the President's plans in a radio speech.
Two days after Mr. Hoover's radio speech, Assistant Secretary Johnson, of the war department, went on the air with a "reply" to Mr. Hoover. Notwithstanding the President's contention that there was no politics in the defense program, Mr. Johnson's speech was released by the Democratic national committee.

President and His Friends Have Right to Back Plan
At least, the copy which came to me was on the stationery of the committee. I do not mean to say that either the President or Mr. Johnson should not defend the program which is their responsibility. I do insist, however, that there is no excuse for accusations of politics when they, themselves, are playing politics.

In addition to the Roosevelt-Hoover interlude, any observer must have seen the deluge of propaganda coming from various places in the government. The press agents have been working overtime in thinking up ideas that link their department's job with the development of a national defense program. Some of the efforts are pretty ridiculous, as silly as trying to make the love life of a bull frog appear important in the training of a soldier. That sort of thing is going on—the promotion of President Roosevelt's candidacy for a third term.

On top of this situation, comes another request from President Roosevelt for congress to appropriate additional money. He started out by asking something over a billion dollars. One hundred million of this was to be turned over to him, personally. But now, he has asked for one billion more. He told congressional leaders that the terrific debacle among the allies, the surrender of the Belgians by their king, Leopold, and some other successes of the Hitler murder drive necessitated faster spending.

Those needs may be genuine. Army and navy people tell me—and they ought to know—that we have no army that is "ready to go," ready to carry on if we are attacked. But those same army and navy experts said this was not a new condition. They insisted that rebuilding of the army and the navy should have been undertaken a dozen years ago.

Cost of 50,000 Planes Is Ten Billion Dollars
Strangely, the request for additional money did not reach congress until newspapers throughout the country began calling attention to the total cost involved in the President's call for 50,000 new planes. Mr. Roosevelt subsequently had said that the planes ranged in cost from $133,000 to $350,000 each. Well, if one takes an average that must be below the minimum and figures the cost at $200,000 per plane, 50,000 planes would cost $10,000,000,000. Ten billion dollars is a lot of money in anybody's language.

So, a tax bill is proposed. A decision is made to issue "defense bonds" which would be paid off by the "defense" taxes that have been proposed, and the job will have been done in five years. It all sounds reasonable and logical, but the taxes proposed would amount to around $850,000,000 a year and it is planned to issue three billions in defense bonds. Which leaves the question still unanswered as to how we are to pay for 50,000 planes that must cost around $10,000,000,000. It is all so confusing to a country boy, like me.

It remains only to be said that there is no great reason to be confident about the success of our defense program. The program is needed in view of world conditions which cannot be ignored. For the most part, it is a good program. But I still am asking why there is a call for national unity when responsible authorities are breeding dissatisfaction or are permitting confidence to wane.

There has been one agency of the government that has become Americanized. The civil service commission has shown its colors. Notwithstanding that the commission has been shorn of much of its authority during the past few years, it has taken a definite stand on the matter of communists and fascists and others who do not believe in Americanism. It has announced none of these will be certified for jobs in the government. Which is all to the good, except that patronage jobs outnumber civil-service jobs under the New Deal.

Springtime Is Season of Joy And Zest for Wild Creatures

With Nature in Her Gayest Mood, Animals Enjoy Their Own Games and Frolics.

SPRINGTIME in the wilds is playtime. The majority of our mammals have their young in the early months of the year, and in April and May it is possible to watch the most delightful games among the puppies of the fields. Badger, fox and other cubs are very playful little creatures. The otter and badger appear to have a certain amount of method in their games, but fox cubs simply romp among themselves in a wild abandon.

On a sloping sand cliff near my home seven fox cubs came out of a large hole; on the ledge just outside they played with a round stone, pushing it with their feet, tossing it in the air and allowing it to run down the slope.

When tired of this they played a game which resembled "Follow the Leader." One would run forward, dodge and leap over all kinds of imaginary obstacles, and the others would follow in its tracks; then all would roll together in a rough and tumble, in which their small teeth would tug at the fur of their companions.

Bouncing Badgers.
Young badgers are among the most amusing cubs to watch at play. With their bold black and white markings they are quaint-looking little creatures, and rather clumsy, but there is no doubt that they thoroughly enjoy life, and their play is exuberant and strenuous.

First they poke their noses in the ground, searching for hidden grubs; then, without any warning, all stiffen their fur, making it stand upright, and now they look twice their size. With their short legs also stiffened they bounce round one another like footballs, then leap in, grip a mouthful of fur, and roll over and over. They break apart, and again play the bouncing game, and just as suddenly as they started to play they cease, and the next moment all are diligently searching for more food.

Fun in the Water.
Many young otters are born at an awkward time, that is at the beginning of winter, but they are hardy little creatures and appear to be able to stand any amount of cold. Otters, more than any other wild creatures, show us that they thoroughly enjoy life; a plentiful supply of food makes them contented, and both parents and young play the most delightful games.

What appeared to be a large brown ball was floating gently down stream, hardly making a ripple as it swept along. Suddenly the ball seemed to burst open with a loud splash, and four excited otters with their bright, eager eyes well above the water, started swimming round one another. One leaped right out of the stream and over its companions to dive on the other side, and as they floated along this acrobat made circles around them, those below trying to grip it as it passed over. Then they all joined up again, and seemed to be having a struggle as to which could pull the others under the surface, a sort of spirited ducking game.

They continue to play until all are tired. Then the parents lead their young off to a well-hidden lair, where they all sleep until hunger and high spirits call again. —Oliver G. Pike in London Tit-Bits.

PINCKNEY WINS AT M. S. S.
 Pinckney evened matters with the Michigan State Sanitarium team there last Thursday night when they put on a big league finish in the last inning scored two runs and took the game 8 to 7.

Dinkel started pitching for Pinckney and apparently had a 6 to 3 victory won up to the sixth when his support blew up sky high and handed the Sanitarium 4 runs on a platter. Pinckney as usual went very strong in early innings. They scored 3 times in the first on a walk to Darrow, singles by J. Lavey and R. Reason and Ledwidge's triple. They added 2 more in the second on hits by Dinkel and Darrow and a walk to L. Van. In the 6th Ledwidge doubled and scored on R. Reason's hit. The San. got a run in the second and two more in the third. In the 6th Beauprie hit one through Darrow, Brogan drove to first and the ball got away from J. Reason, Smith hit to right, Miller tried for a shoestring catch and missed, two runs coming in. Van muffed Reid's fly, Gruegel walked, Blackner hit through short, two more runs scoring. Here Thornydyke hit into a double play and Graves fled to Miller. Going to bat in the 7th a run behind, Miller first up, singled and stole second. Van hit a long fly to left, Miller going to third after the catch. M. Lavey batted for Dinkel and singled, scoring Miller. La Mont struck out. Shirey singled to deep center, scoring Lavey. P. Singer doubled. Ledwidge fouled out to first.

Paul Singer pitched the 7th for Pinckney. Hawkins singled over first. Beauprie grounded out pitcher to first, Brogan popped to Singer, Smith walked. Reid ended the game fouling out to Meyer.

Several Port Hope residents recently considered forming a "right hand injury" club, when four persons all received injuries to their right hand in the space of a few days. One failed to remove a middle finger from a bowling ball on time. When Charles Neiman went to bed one night, he saw a flock of white ducks on the Pine River near his home at Standish. Next morning they were still there, but were black instead of white. A truck had overturned, spilling 3,000 gallons of crude oil down a sewer that emptied into the river.

CONGRESSIONAL WEEKLY LETTER

By Congressman Blackney

During the last two or three weeks a great deal of panic propaganda has crept into this proposition of national defense. There is being sounded a new note of wild spending; also a new note of trying to accuse anyone who counsels coolness and caution and economy of being a peace-at-any-price advocate.

JUST THE WAY YOU WANT IT!

★ A PREMIUM BEER AT A POPULAR PRICE

We must not forget that economy is now a more vital necessity in this nation than it has ever been before.

The fact that we have to create a national defense much greater than has ever heretofore been required in peace time is no reason and no excuse for us to abandon all thought of economy or efficiency and endeavor to do as we did during the first World War—try to overcome inadequate national preparedness by the sheer spending of huge sums of money.

It is just as certain as sunrise that if we permit a spirit of recklessness, if we permit a spirit of emotionalism take over the direction of the building of a national defense, we will repeat our experience of 1917 and 1918 and invite waste, extravagance, graft and the piling up of a new and huge public debt, and perhaps not accomplish an adequate national defense at all.

Everybody is agreed that we should spend what is necessary for an adequate national defense. Everybody ought to be agreed that the money should be efficiently spent. Those who counsel caution, calmness, firmness, practicality and economy are not disloyal citizens nor are they peace-at-any-price advocates; they are advocates of an adequate national preparedness at a proper price.

It would be worse than foolish, it would be inexpressibly dangerous, for us to develop the waste and the graft that developed during the first World War because of our haste and inefficiency.

We cannot forget, and we ought not to forget, that whereas when we started in the first World War we had a national debt of only $1,100,000,000, now we have a national debt of $45,000,000,000.

The preparation of our national defense under conditions as they now obtain in the world should be accomplished with the greatest possible amount of economy, efficiency, calmness and cool judgment. Partisan politics ought to be laid aside, not by the minority party alone, but by both parties, all parties, all groups, all classes and all sections.

We should give due attention promptly to those boring from within in this country, and while doing it we should at the same time be careful not to perpetrate injustices on innocent citizens such as were perpetrated during the first World War. Certainly, though, we ought not to take the slightest chance of permitting any "Fifth Column" to sabotage our defense efforts and perhaps cripple us at a critical moment.

There is no need for the hysteria that is being created. There is need for cool judgment and efficient performance.

The Birth of a Bank

Do you know how banks are organized? First a comprehensive analysis of the community is made. If the organizers are convinced that a new bank is feasible, an application for a charter is submitted showing the name of the bank, location, capital and surplus to be raised and names of proposed incorporators and officers.

A national bank charter must be secured from the Comptroller; a state bank or trust company charter must come from the state banking department.

The chartering authority makes an investigation to justify opening a new bank. If the decision is favorable, a permit to organize is issued, and stock may then be sold. When the stock has been successfully marketed articles of association and an organization certificate are filed. The charter is then issued and the bank may commence business.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

IN TROUBLE
Six members of the cult known as Jehovah's Witnesses were in jail at Kennebunk, Maine after a wild week end of disorder in which two men were shot, the sect's headquarters razed by fire and two men beaten. The fracas started at Sanford, a nearby town when two sect members distributing literature refused to salute an American flag on grounds that their religion forbid allegiance other than to the Deity. Fisticuffs followed and Dwight Robinson, 22, and Fred MacDonald, 38, were wounded by shot gun slugs as the battle raged over a 10 mile front. Following the shooting, a mob of 2,000 set fire to the sect's headquarters and raided an apartment house dragging out a number of cult members.

Philathea Notes

The Philathea Class is meeting this Wednesday afternoon at the home of our Secretary, Mrs. Jesse Henry for general business and a social hour.

There was no class session on Sunday, owing to the Children's Day program following morning church service. The sermon was especially appropriate for this day, and the baptismal service was beautiful and impressive.

The reporter is in receipt of a letter from the secretary of the World-Wide Baraca-Philathea Union, Hubert D. Warthman, of Detroit, stressing the fact that this is Jubilee year for Baraca-Philathea and urging that definite plans be made to join the Michigan delegation to Syracuse, on July 9 to 14, 1940.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—If there is a touch of hysteria as we prepare to prepare, it is more among the basses than the sopranos. Counsels Women Leaders of important Women Leaders women have Urge We Think been singularly calm and re-

With Calmness strained. There is little shrill outcry among them.

Currently, Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Juliet M. Bartlett, the latter taking office as newly elected president of the New York Women's City club, urge calmness. Miss Bartlett says we "should keep our feet on the ground and our heads cool."

Mrs. Dunbar, addressing the federation convention at Milwaukee, stresses the collective need for thought, rather than emotion. "Never in our national history has there been a more desperate need for clear understanding," she says. Mrs. Dunbar's job is "community organization," heading this effort for the University of Oregon medical school. It is understandable that she should emphasize reasoned techniques rather than emotional excitements. "Community organization" seems to describe our present national endeavor.

Elected to the presidency of the federation in 1938, for a three-year term, Mrs. Dunbar represents about 2,000,000 club women. She tells them, "I want women to tune in with modern life." A widow and a grandmother, of pioneer stock, she has behind her a unique tradition of "collective organization." Her grandfather was the first white man to plant corn in Ganger, Mo., where she was born in a log cabin. Her family trekked on to Chanute, Kan., to Fresno, Calif., and thence to Oregon, where, after her graduation from the State university she taught school. She has served 24 years as executive secretary of the Oregon Tuberculosis association. She was one of six children and is the mother of a grown son and daughter.

A GOOD reporter these days should have a diploma from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Making inquiries among experts as to the possibilities of swift industrial and military preparedness, this inquirer finds the answers reassuring, but complicated, to be taken on faith, with political factors still an unsolved X in the equation. Both pertinent and encouraging is a general agreement by authorities that with all our fumbling and faltering, the index of productivity in a free state is higher than in a slave state once it gets going.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau recently met with representatives of the machine tool industry in Washington to start team work on tooling and standardization for the mass production of planes. Participating were Dr. George Jackson Mead, vice chairman of the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics. He accepts a newly created post, at $10,000 a year, the office being established to facilitate decision on types of planes, swift standardization of parts and swift production.

On technical qualifications, Dr. Mead shows a good report card, as one of the leading airplane designers of America. He received the Sylvanus Reed award, for 1939, for his technical contributions to the advancement of aviation, and his professional and business experience has covered both the technical and industrial field.

Mr. Mead attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology from 1911 to 1915. In 1917, he was in charge of the power plants at the laboratories of the United States air station at Dayton, Ohio. He then became a plane designer for the Wright-Martin Aircraft corporation and later chief engineer for the Wright Aeronautical corporation. He founded the Pratt & Whitney Co., and was chief engineer of the United Aircraft corporation. He is 49 years old, a native of Everett, Mass.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Standing on a heavy rug or rubber mat will go a long way toward preventing fatigue during long periods of ironing.

Take advantage of the next windy day to clean your chintz coverings and curtains. Hang them on a clothes line and brush them quickly with a clean whisk broom dipped frequently in warm water.

Cloths saturated with polishing liquids if stored away in a closet often cause spontaneous combustion. Keep these cloths in a covered tin container.

Cakes or cookies in which honey is used as a sweetening require a rather moderate temperature for baking. If the oven is too hot they will burn.

DON'T you think it's one of the prettiest ideas for cotton prints that ever bloomed in the spring—all set for a summer of great popularity? There's something so perky and young about 8716, with its choice of low-cut or tailored collar finished with a come-hither bow, and panels outlined in braid, to call attention to

Land of 300 Languages

The U. S. S. R. boasts that within its borders there are 59 nations, the peoples of which speak no fewer than 114 languages. Some of these communities are very small, the Oroks for instance numbering only 154. The British empire can easily smash this record, for in India alone more than 200 languages are spoken, and if dialects also are considered the number is about 300.

While most of the nations in the U. S. S. R. have some relation to each other, many peoples under the British flag are diametrically opposed in religion, customs and ideas, although they are welded together as a part of the British empire.

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS

ged the rules overnight. Washington merely beat us to the tax punch. The state legislature isn't going to add more burdens on Michigan taxpayers just after Congress gets through piling 'em sky high'.

Since the legislature turned to the state sales tax and abolished the state property tax, local government has looked increasingly to Lansing for solution of financial problems.

In two years, from the fiscal 1936-37 to 1938-39 years, state aid to local governments has jumped approximately $35,000,000—a sum greater than the current state deficit.

To give you an idea of how Michigan has been spending money—and all for good and worthy causes, we hasten to add—here is how the $124,037,881 total of state aid in 1938-39 was expended:

Education	$45,726,894
Relief	38,163,016
Roads	30,006,941
Other grants	10,151,031

To attempt an increase of these expenditures would be political dynamite, so the argument goes, in the face of new blitzkrieg army and navy levies which are expected to affect every pocketbook directly or indirectly. The taxpayer is likely to foot the military bill almost cheerfully, but he can be counted on talking loudly if local politics even hint about upping the state spending.

To phrase it bluntly—democracy can't fight dictatorship now with books; it will have to rely on bullets and lots of them.

Defense Problems
Europe's lessons in Hitler-style military tactics, however, may influence us to make concessions on state expenditures if they are linked directly to national defense funds.

Take for example, express highways. Since modern warfare is largely dependent upon motorized equipment trucks and tanks, to transport men and guns not only to the battle front but into enemy ranks at lightning speed, military roads are of paramount importance.

It may seem far-fetched at the moment, but even Winston Churchill hinted the other day that the British Empire may move its capital to Canada in the event of defeat on the continent and on the English isles. Instead of the Yanks going overseas this time to fight a far, a war may move right into our front yard—Canada.

Across the Canadian border at Detroit is Fort Wayne; at Sault Ste. Marie is Fort Brady. Military roads to Sault Ste. Marie and Detroit may be considered vital. In the Van Wagner program for highway spending in the next ten years are Detroit-to-Toledo and Detroit-to-Chicago military roads at a total cost of $177,720,000.

Also imagine trying to ferry over thousands of men and trucks at the Straits of Mackinac, and you will get a faint idea of possible transportation complications.

The European war will have a far reaching effect on Michigan in many ways other than payrolls. These are a few possibilities which are receiving serious thought at Lansing today.

HOW TO PROTECT CROPS AGAINST NATURAL ENEMIES

CHICAGO—In the never ending battle against plant diseases, weeds, insects, and the destructive effects of frosts and storms, farm crops that are fertilized are likely to fare better than those that are unfertilized.

This is the conclusion drawn in a statement issued here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. "Fertilizers are often associated only with increased yields," the statement points out, "yet tests have proved that they promote a sturdier growth that enables plants better to withstand their natural enemies."

"It has been demonstrated repeatedly that fertilizer gives practically every farm crop a quicker start. This is especially important in the spring when rainy weather may delay planting a week or ten days beyond the normal date."

"It has been found that fertilized corn, for example, can be cultivated several days earlier than unfertilized corn. This gives the farmer the jump on weeds. Moreover, the fertilized plants are usually stronger and thus able to resist late spring frosts more easily. Experiments have shown that fertilized corn has withstood, without injury, a temperature several degrees lower than unfertilized corn could withstand."

NEW TELEPHONE EXTENSION

Plans for a 40-mile northward extension to Standish of Michigan's $10,000,000 trans-Michigan long distance telephone cable this year were announced today by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

It was made known that the company has filed an application with the Federal Communications Commission at Washington for permission to construct an underground cable north of Saginaw and Bay City to Standish at a cost of $236,365.

Linked with the proposed cable extension are plans for the additional expenditure of $177,500 at Standish. Improvements there will include the erection of a new building, initiation of dial telephone service for distance amplifying equipment in Standish, and the installation of long connection with the new cable. The Standish building program is expected to get under way early in July.

The cable project will make Standish the northern terminal for the trans-Michigan long distance cable which now terminates at Bay City. From Standish go wire circuits to Petoskey and Alpena and northward into the Upper Peninsula.

The new cable extension will carry 250 wires, which, if open wire were used in their place, would require the construction of five pole lines of 50 wires each. Both interstate and intra-state circuits will be continued in the new cable.

Replacing the present open wire circuits with cable will give additional protection to the state's long distance service, it was said. That is held important inasmuch as the projected cable will pass through the northern fringe of Michigan's worst sleet storm belt. Modern telephone cable is virtually storm-proof.
