

Pinckney High Alumni The Huron-Clinton Parkway Project

Annual Alumni Reunion Honors the Graduates of 50 Years Ago. Dr. Norman Wilson and Mrs. Laura Wilson Howlett.

The Winning Essays on the Huron-Clinton Parkway Project. Written by Helen Reason and Pauline McLucas.

The golden anniversary of the first class to graduate from Pinckney high school was observed at the annual alumni reunion of Pinckney high school graduates held at the school Saturday.

No. 1, by Helen Reason, winning first prize of five dollars. The Parkway-Playground Plan I am going to take this project from the stand point of how it would benefit the people of this town and Livingston County. However, first I wish to define the project. The Parkway-Playground Plan is a plan in which the five counties of Wayne, Washtenaw, Oakland, Macomb and Livingston will benefit greatly in their recreational facilities. This will be done by the voting of "Yes" by the citizens of these five counties in this coming November election. Or if any two adjacent counties vote "Yes" to the plan it will go through in those two counties. If this plan is voted through the result will be many public bathing beaches, parks, playgrounds and over night lodging place. Also, new highways, scenic drives and landscaped parkways will be constructed running from Detroit to each of these.

The festivities started at 3:30 with a soft ball game between the alumni and high school. The alumni had too much power for the school and won 17 to 6. Don Swarthout and Paul Singer pitched for the alumni with Norman Miller catching. Supt. Hulce and M. Lavey for the school with LaMont catching.

This will benefit this county very much for even though we have many lakes surrounding us, many of them are not accessible to the public. If this plan goes through these lake fronts will be made into beautiful public parks for the use of its three million inhabitants.

The banquet was served in the school auditorium at 6:30. The hall was very beautiful, the decorations for the J-Hop having been left up for the occasion.

The person against this plan may say it would increase the traffic accident hazard, but with these new highways, (no intersections or traffic lights) leading directly to these various recreational grounds traffic accidents would total nearly zero. As a matter of fact the argument against this plan on the accident basis is lost for another reason: It would actually cut down the number of accidents during the summer. Because about one-third of these accidents involve joy seeking motorists on their way to some recreational grounds. With these almost accident-proof highways all this traffic would be diverted to them thus cutting the accident toll.

On account of the absence of the alumni president the meeting was called to order by H. C. Vedder, acting chairman. The group rose and sang America. Then the roll call by classes was conducted by the secretary. This showed 38 graduating classes represented. The class of 1890 as usual had 100 per cent representation both its members; Dr. Norman and Mrs. Laura Wilson Howlett, being present.

Mr. Vedder then introduced Gerald McClear, an Owosso attorney, and a member of the class of 1924. He took over his duties in an able manner. Miss Mildred Haines played a piano solo and responded to an encore. Mrs. Laura Howlett welcomed the class of 1940 and Russell Gardner, class president responded. Life memberships were then presented to the class of 1890 by Mrs. Mary Jane Tasch. Dr. Norman Wilson responded for his class, his talk being on the reminiscence order. At the conclusion of his talk Dr. Wilson presented the alumni with a picture of his class taken in 1890 which was accepted by a rising vote.

Miss Dolores Farmer of Stockbridge favored with a tap dance and Guy Culver of the same place with a trumpet solo.

Statistics show there is a great need for such a project as this in all five counties. The population all together is nearly three million. The number of people to the acre of parkland available now is five hundred. This doesn't begin to measure up to the U. S. standards of one hundred people to the acre. In other words, these five counties have only one-fifth or twenty per cent of publicly owned recreational lands needed. In Detroit there are very few public bathing beaches. The city has 60 miles of water frontage but only about one-third of a mile of this is made into publicly owned and used bathing beaches. This shows something should be done to give those who are unable to gain access to some private water frontage, a chance to enjoy all these healthful recreational facilities that would be

Then followed one of the most beautiful and impressive ceremonies ever presented in Pinckney. This was a memorial in honor of the departed graduates and was directed by Mrs. Florence Baughn. Mrs. Lola Danforth sang the musical part of it. Rev. McLucas offered the prayer. Then the curtain rose on a flower decked stage. Mrs. Lulu Darrow read the roll of the deceased graduates and five girls, Pauline McLucas, Mary Jane Gallagher, Betty Baughn, Jean Clark, and Gloria Craft wearing white formals advanced to the center of the stage and deposited one at a time a large peoni in a basket in honor of the departed alumni. The following are the names of the alumni who have passed on: Will Cadwell, Amelia Goodspeed Brown, George Reason, Anna Reason Grieve, Josephine Reason Harlan, Edward Bowers, James Carroll, Rill Monks, John Tiplady Iva Placeway Hall, Florence Andrews Ratz, Alma McCluskey Roche, Mabel Clinton, Leo Monks, Gregory Devereaux, Thomas Moran, Fern Hendee, Miller, Carmen Leland, May Kennedy McFadden, Claudis Hinchey, Madeline Bowman Ashenbrenner, Bernice Cady Walker, Dorothy Darrow Amburgey, Blanch Frost Engle, Stacy Hall, Lucille Stackable Menard, Wm. VanBlaricum, Nellie Jones Pfau.

This Parkway Plan is the result of a discussion over a period of years of a parkway through the Huron and Clinton Valleys. The state and federal agencies made a survey of this area and found a great lag in its recreational courses. In view of this a conference of the representatives of the five counties was held and this Playground Plan was the result.

The following were then called up on for brief remarks and responded: Ross Read, Dr. Bert Green, Glenn Tupper, Supt. Hulce, Charles Poole, of Eugene, Oregon. The P. H. Swarthout family was honored as having three generations graduating from the Pinckney high school. They were P. H. Swarthout, his daughter, Mrs. Pauline Vedder and her daughter, Mrs. Geraldine Singer.

Several persons were sentenced. Lee Morehouse pled guilty to gross indecency and was given two and one-half to five years in Jackson. Jesse Allen, negro, who took wool belonging to Wm. Roche was probationed for 2 years and ordered to pay Mr. Roche $18.90. Marshall Campbell of Howell, erroneously reported to reside in Pinckney who pled guilty to burning the Dale Kettler cottage at Patterson Lake had his case put over to September.

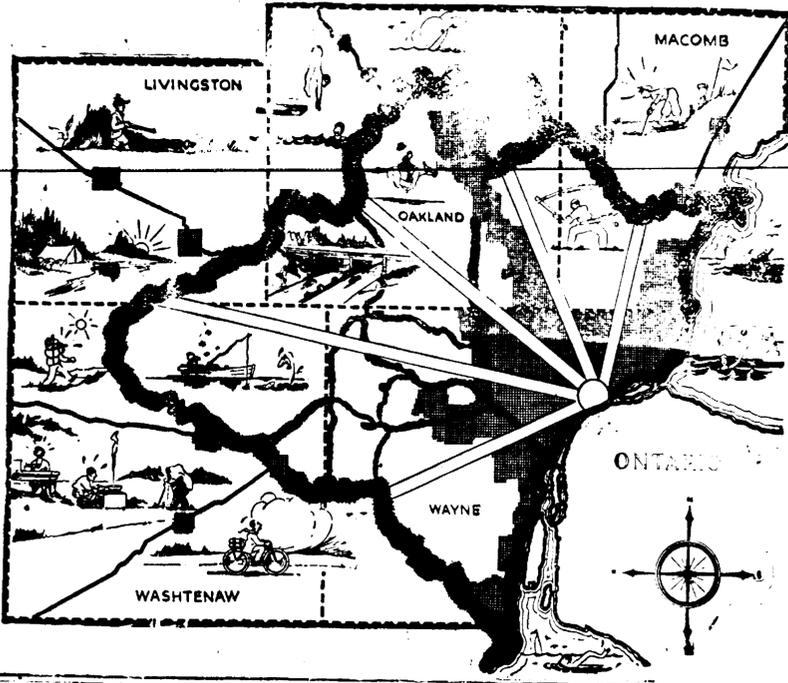

The balance of the evening was spent in dancing to the music of the Cooper-Mills orchestra of Jackson.

Hilda Sloan of Hamburg was granted a divorce from Shelby Sloan and Nellie Wylie from Kenneth Wylie.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Doolittle and son, Jimmy were in Mason Sunday.

Wednesday Judge Collins returned to hear the injunction case of David and Lillifred Reid vs Raymond Shock but the case was settled out of court. The judge may return in July to hear non-jury cases, providing any are ready for trial.

Frank Eagan, police Commissioner of Detroit is the speaker today at the Lion's noon-day luncheon at Howell. A Pinckney delegation is attending as the guest of Frank Shields of Howell.

BEATTIE — ISHAM

The home of Mrs. Berkley Isham was the scene of a very pretty wedding last Sunday afternoon at 3:00 when her daughter Bernice was united in marriage to Vernon Beattie of Howell. Rev. J. M. McLucas, Pastor of the Community Congregational church read the ceremony in the presence of 25 relatives and friends.

As the bridal party advanced toward the improvised altar which was beautifully banked with flowers and ferns, Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Mrs. J. M. McLucas. Before the ceremony Mrs. McLucas sang "Oh Promise Me".

The bride given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Floyd Isham of Onondago, Michigan, was beautifully gowned in white dotted French organdie with veil of white net decorated with rose buds. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Miss Joyce Isham, sister of the bride and Miss Raymonda Ledwidge both of Pinckney were bridesmaids. Miss Isham was lovely in pink net. She wore a corsage of carnations and bachelor buttons. Miss Ledwidge was attired in blue net and lace and wore a corsage of carnations and bachelor buttons.

Little Maureen Yarborough, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Yarborough of Detroit, was flower girl. She was dressed in white and strewn flowers in the bridal path.

Claude Beattie of Howell, brother of the groom and E. A. Congett of Brighton attended the groom. They were dressed in business suits of navy blue.

After the ceremony the bride and groom received congratulations after home of the bride's mother. A very delicious lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Beattie were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

Late in the afternoon the bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip to Northern Michigan. They will be at home to receive friends after July 15th at their home at Lake Chemung.

For traveling Mrs. Beattie chose a navy traveling crepe dress and a white hat of straw with an open pique crown.

Guests attending the wedding were from Detroit, Howell, Coruana, Onondago, Fenton, and Pinckney.

Local Industries of the Past

Years Ago an Industry Flourished Here for the Processing of Wood Ashes for Their By-Products. It is Now all But Forgotten.

Some thirty or forty years ago, a barrel called a leech stood in the backyard of many homes. This was filled with wood ashes and meat scraps and a mixture called soft soap drained through this mass and out the bottom of the barrel. This substance was like molasses in appearance and its principal ingredient was lye made from the wood ashes. It was very useful in those days being used for scrubbing floors and other things. In those days most kitchen floors were plain boards and this soap cleaned them to an almost snow whiteness. When kitchen floors began to be highly polished and covered with linoleum, the use of this soap ceased.

Michael Kelly of Dexter informs us that in the late eighties and before a plant was set up here to process ashes at intersection of Patterson lake and Mowers roads, just south of the dam. In those days immense quantities of wood ashes were available. When this land was cleared of the forests the trees were cut down and piled up and set on fire to get rid of them. This left huge heaps of ashes in many places. This plant here in early days processed these ashes and made lye and potash from them. They were hauled to the grounds south of the dam and this place was called Ashery Corners for many years after the industry had ceased to operate as the huge heaps of ashes made it a barren spot and kept any vegetation from growing there for years. Mr. Kelly does not remember seeing the plant in operation but remembers going crossroads through there while walking to town and seeing the huge heaps of ashes there. The lye and potash there were sold to soap factories and also for local use as many people made their own soap.

CHARLES SMITH INJURED

Charles Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith of Putnam was injured while working at the Pinckney Die Set Factory Monday afternoon. He was repairing the overhead crane when someone unaware of the fact put the fuses back on the circuit which operates it. Smith came in contact with a live wire and fell 5 feet to the cement floor below, striking on his head. He was taken to the Pinckney Sanitarium where he was found to have burns on his head and arm and was badly bruised on his head. Tuesday he was much better but was still at the Sanitarium awaiting X-ray pictures of his injury.

Pinckney has entered a team in the county National Youth League. Other county teams are Webberville, Brighton, Fowlerville, Hartland and Howell Legion and Howell Recreation. Pinckney opened the season at Fowlerville on Tuesday and play their first home game here on June 25 with Brighton.

Michigan Mirror State News

The shadow of labor discord has appeared again in Michigan.

Coming at a crucial time when the United States government is leaning heavily upon our industrial plants for armament, a threat at production output could easily become a national affair.

The situation is some thing like this: (1) The C. I. O. is fearful that industrialists may seize upon the preparedness issue as a pretext to deny them the "right" of higher wages, and the "right" to strike.

(2) Industrialists recall the activity of communists in the 1937 sit-down strike, and they insist that unions shall give five-day notice of a strike only as a last resort in negotiating grievances. They want authority also to dismiss employees, alien or otherwise, whom they believe to be involved in sabotage.

(3) Commissioner Oscar G. Olanowitch men are needed to investigate "hundreds of reports of subversive activities in this state". While Olanowitch did not divulge where the additional men would be detailed, it is understood that officials are apprehensive that sabotage may hinder production of important war orders.

(4) And, this being a democracy, don't forget this one: National and state elections are due to be held next November. That means votes and lots of them.

Dictatorship With the European war possibly coming to our shores (this is believed inevitable should England move its capital to Canada), Michigan's auto plants occupy key positions in the national defense of the United States.

Our involvement in the war would probably evoke a war-time dictatorship. Rights of management and labor could be limited drastically by federal decree, all in the interest of national security.

Hence the peace-time actions of industrial labor leaders and workers in the rank and file may prevent or invite stern war-time regulation.

CURRENT COMMENT

We wonder if this fifth column business is not being used by a certain class to pay off private grudges and spite. We read that in some places stores run by Italians were looted and fronts smashed. In Benton Harbor a prominent citizen was forced to place a full page advertisement in a paper offering a reward of $1000 for information as to persons who started the gossip. This was a fifth columnist. The name of Ernest Bold, is of German descent. The police report that a number of complaints pouring in from the public are fifth columnists that it is impossible to investigate them. The recent German victories and persistent defeat of the Allies and neutral countries seem to have caused a hysteria among the people and all sorts of wild rumors fill the air. An Italian organ grinder in London seems to have hit upon a solution. He placed a sign on his organ reading "I'm British and the monkey is from India".

The Republican convention at Philadelphia is only a week off and still no one has the slightest idea who they will nominate for president. Of late all periodicals and papers have been devoting all their influence to boost Wendell Wilkie, ex-Democrat for the presidential nomination. He is a Wall Street man and president of a power company. One hears little of Dewey, Vandenberg or Taft now. It is all Wilkie. We asked a prominent Republican the reason for the Wilkie boom and he answered that the three leading candidates don't think Roosevelt can be beaten this year and are not anxious to run. Consequently they are willing to let Mr. Wilkie do the London stunt. This is only one man's opinion of course, but there must be some reason for the increasing boom for Wilkie.

Once more the Allies have shown inability and disinclination to stand up before Hitler's legions and France has met the same fate of Austria, Poland, Holland, Denmark, Belgium, etc. Once again the fight to the bitter end failed to materialize. The question now is: "Will Hitler be stopped?" England is said to be his next objective. Will they be able to succeed where the other countries failed? If so, what then? In the meantime this country seems to be setting on top of a volcano. Fifth columnists have been busy in Mexico and Central and South America for some time and they may have been softened up enough so that a German conquest of them will be easy. This country cannot allow the Nazi to get a foothold in any of these neighboring nations and will have all she can do to enforce the Monroe doctrine. The next years and even months are liable to be extremely critical for America.

In Michigan politics are looking up. Murray VonWagoner has announced his candidacy for the Democrat nomination for governor and is not liable to encounter serious opposition. Petitions to nominate Gov. Dickinson have also been filed. He will have primary opposition but in a large field he is unbeatable in a primary election. He claims the support of Henry Ford and says most of his petitions were circulated in the Ford factories. Frank McKay pulled a fast one last Thursday. He called a meeting to read nominated instead of elected with the understanding the conventions would elect McKay.

Velveteen Frames For Your Pictures

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS DO YOU remember Miss Fixit who, a week or so ago in one of these articles, made over an old rocker? Today's sketch shows how she used that chair at her desk. The full description of the transformation of the chair is in Sewing Book 5, which is offered here for the first time. This new book contains 32 pages of helpful ideas for homemakers and is available to readers of this paper for 10 cents in coin to cover cost and mailing.

Miss Fixit painted an old desk blue to match her chair. She had some enlarged snapshots that she wanted to hang over the desk but she also wanted to repeat the blue color and some of the red in the chintz used for the chair. So, she decided to make blue velveteen frames for the pictures and then hang them with red ribbon. The diagrams show you exactly how the frames were made for I have a feeling that you are going to want to hang some of your photographs in this colorful way. Betsy, who streamlined an old iron bed, which she found in the attic, will be with us again next week with more "attic magic." Meanwhile better send your order for your copy of Sewing Book 5 to:

Changes Charted in Heat of Sun

Scientists Make Analysis of Data Gathered Over 15-Year Period.

WASHINGTON.—Seven radiation pulsations of the sun have been confirmed by Harvard university mathematicians, who have completed a rigid mathematical analysis of data gathered by the Smithsonian institution over 15 years. Measurements with delicate instruments on cloudless mountain tops scattered over the earth for the last 20 years have shown that the solar heat received at the outer edge of the earth's atmosphere varies from day to day. The sun, upon whose radiation all life depends, is a variable star.

The increases and decreases, however, were interwoven into an almost inextricable pattern. Sometimes the peaks of two or more coincided and sometimes several depressions came together. Several years ago Dr. Charles G. Abbot, secretary of the Smithsonian institution, found, by splitting up the total curve of the sun's radiation, that it consisted of 12 subsidiary pulsations, all of which had a least common denominator of approximately 23 years. That is, every 23 years the star went through a complete pulsation cycle.

Some Statistical Illusions. The analysis, however, was extremely difficult. Some of the radiation differences, in so far as they could be detected by any instruments 90,000,000 miles away, were very minute. All the complex effects of passage through the earth's atmosphere on solar radiation had to be discounted. There was at least a possibility that some of the apparent pulsations were statistical illusions, difficult to recognize. Dr. Theodore E. Sterne of Harvard university undertook, with the aid of his graduate students, to analyze the data by a different, more laborious and more rigid mathematical procedure. A mathematician familiar with the pitfalls of statistical illusion, Dr. Sterne approached the problem with an objectively skeptical attitude.

Changes Charted in Heat of Sun

Only 10 of the 12 periodicities proposed by Dr. Abbot were susceptible to the method of analysis used by the Harvard mathematicians. Out of these 10, his work shows seven are certainly real and must be considered probably as actual happenings on the sun, although the mathematics merely shows that they exist and offers no explanation of them.

The 'Real' Periodicities. The Smithsonian observations show, he says, that the periods of 9 1/2, 11, 21, 25, 39 1/2, 46 and 68 months must be considered as actualities.

That is, every 9 1/2 months the sun's heat, for some unknown cause, seems to rise to a certain peak and then decline. Every 11 months there is a similar rise and decline. The same is true for the other five. Each period may have a different solar cause. If they all started together—and presumably they did in the beginning—they all would approximately coincide at the end of 23 years. Their complex combinations would bring into the record many features of increases in the sun's heat with associated declines.

This period of 23 years is about double the period of the sunspot cycle, when titanic whirlwinds in the solar atmosphere go through a maximum and minimum in frequency.

These solar periodicities, Dr. Abbot believes, are a major element in the earth's weather, although the relationship is very complicated. The independent confirmation of seven of them affords a substantial basis for further studies in this field.

THE NEIGHBORS DISCUSS MR. AND MRS. BULLY

OF COURSE such an unpleasant affair as the fight between Bully, the English Sparrow, and Skimmer, the Swallow, for the possession of Skimmer's house made a great deal of talk in the Old Orchard. Everybody felt sorry for Skimmer and told him so and said all the unpleasant things they could think of about Bully and his wife.

"Sympathy is very nice, but a little help from some of them during est stuff," remarked Welcome Robin.

"They don't use mud, anyway," said Pewee, slyly. Welcome Robin flared up right away. "Mud, good mud, is clean, and it makes the best foundation in the world for a nest. I wouldn't give a flit of my wings for a nest without it."

"Such noisy people as they are! They are all the time quarreling, and they tell the whole neighborhood all their affairs," said modest Winsome Bluebird, who would never dream of doing such a thing.

"Did you ever see such dirty things in all your life?" sputtered Jenny Wren who is very neat and trim. "Why, this morning I happened to be over by the road, and there were those two taking a dust bath and seeming to enjoy it as much as if it had been a water bath. They threw it all over each other, and then when finally they flew back to the Old Orchard they didn't half shake the dust out of their feathers. Phew! If that's the way city folks live I don't want to ever go there!" Jenny could not keep still, but as she talked she the fight would have been better," thought Skimmer, but he didn't say so. He and Mrs. Skimmer found an empty house, one that Drummer, the Woodpecker, built so long ago that he had quite forgotten it, and in this they once more started house-keeping. It wasn't as pleasantly located as the old home, but still it was in the Old Orchard.

Bully and Mrs. Bully worked very hard to build their home in the house they had stolen from Skimmer, and you may be sure that they were closely watched by their neighbors.

"Did you ever see such a mess of stuff for one home? Why, I could build three nests out of what they have already carried in there, and they are still bringing more." I see they use dead grass mostly, with some hay and feathers. They are not a bit particular where they get it, either, and some of it is the dirt-

Surgeons Shift Heart Of 7-Week-Old Infant

ANN ARBOR, MICH.—University hospital surgeons said today that a 10-week-old infant whose heart was moved from the right to the left side was recovering and gaining weight normally. The delicate operation was performed three weeks ago, surgeons said, on Elneda Baumann, the daughter of Theodore R. Baumann of Hope, Mich. The child was under an anesthetic for more than an hour. Surgeons said a misplacement of the intestines, due to an opening at birth in the upper part of the diaphragm, collapsed the infant's left lung and pushed the heart to the right side.

hopped about looking at everything with her sharp eyes and jerking her funny little stick-up tail to emphasize her remarks.

"Anyone who is careless about her clothes and how she looks as Mrs. Bully must be a dreadfully slack housekeeper," continued Jenny. "I do detest dirt and dirty people. They are a disgrace to any neighborhood. The Old Orchard always has been a quiet, respectable place, and some of the very best families have lived here for years."

"Does that include your own?" asked Chippy Sparrow, while the others smiled. "Perhaps it does, and perhaps it doesn't," retorted Jenny. "I'm not ashamed of my family or any of my relations."

Chippy looked a trifle embarrassed, for it had become generally known that Bully is a relative of his.

"As I was saying," continued Jenny Wren, "some of the best families have lived here for years, but I am afraid they will move away if any more such dirty, common looking, noisy people come here. Why, they'll make the whole neighborhood common! I think something ought to be done about it."

"But what can be done? This is a free country," said Brownie the Thrasher.

"Well, anyway, we needn't have anything to do with them. I won't for one!" snapped Jenny.

Before they separated it was agreed that no one would even notice Mr. and Mrs. Bully. © T. W. Burgess.—WNU Service.

Origins of Cattle Brands

Probably most of the stories about the origins of the 1,500,000 cattle brands registered in the West are legends. One such outstanding tale, still told and published as a true story, is that Burk Burnett adopted the famous brand "6666" in 1900 because he won his great Texas ranch in a poker game with a hand containing four sixes.—Collier's.

When your child BITES HIS NAILS It may be a Danger Sign!

It isn't always "nerves" that makes a child bite his nails. Often it's because of an entirely different reason. Mothers suspect—WOMEN!—a reason few mothers suspect. It's a sign of a very serious condition. It's a sign of an uneasy stomach, flabby appetite, fidgeting and restless sleep. For these may be the symptoms of roundworms, a nasty infection that can cause your child real distress. JATRA'S Vermoxol is the best known remedy in America for expelling roundworms. It has been used by millions of mothers, for over a century, and is backed by the most modern scientific study. JATRA'S Vermoxol has great ability to drive out large roundworms, pinworms, tapeworms, hookworms, and other intestinal parasites. If there are worms in your child's system, ask for "JATRA'S Vermoxol."

Remember this also, and be well persuaded of its truth: The future is not in the hands of Fate, but in ours.—Jules Jusserand.

The Better Way to Correct Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and "cure" it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headache days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention"? If your trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, "the better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it regularly—and drink plenty of water—you can not only get regular but keep regular, day after day and month after month! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

HARVARD IS BUILDING WORLD'S LARGEST OBSERVATORY

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—The world's largest astronomical observatory will be built by Harvard university this summer in the Colorado Rocky mountains for the study of the sun. The station will be equipped with a coronagraph—a new instrument that creates artificial solar eclipses and makes possible regular observations of the corona and other phenomena usually only visible during the eclipse. Only three other coronagraphs exist and none in the Western hemisphere. High altitude, clear skies and freedom from dust are necessary for the best operation of the instrument, so Prof. Donald E. Henzel of Harvard observatory spent all last summer looking for a suitable location. He finally selected a piece of land owned by the Climax Molybdenum company. The observatory will be 11,318 feet high and will be situated at Fremont pass, Climax, Colo. Dr. Henzel believes the use of the coronagraph to study sun spots, solar prominences and the corona will lead to greater knowledge of the physical conditions of the sun and the relationships between the earth and its star neighbor. The new Harvard instrument is based on the invention of Dr. Bernard Lyot, a French astronomer. It is a special type telescope fitted with screens to create an eclipse by masking out the bright solar image. The equipment also will include a powerful spectrograph for the study of the corona's spectrum. Studies of the motions of solar prominences will be made with motion pictures. Movies also will be made of the corona, giving scientists their first record of light structure changes.

Now Is It the Typical American Family? Here is the camera debut of infant Theodore Woolsey Chase III, whose birth was forecast months ago for the readers of a national women's magazine when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Woolsey Chase II, were selected as the "typical young American married couple." The family is shown in the Ellis hospital, Schenectady.

HURON-CLINTON PARKWAY PLAYGROUND PLAN

Given if this Play-Ground Plan is voted "Yes" at this 1940 election.

The major problem in a plan of this kind is, "How is it to be financed?"

First of all the cost will be very little to each tax payer—twenty-five cents on a thousand dollar property value at the most. No one should complain about this because he would spend that much on cigarettes, ice cream, or candy in one day.

They would tear down his health, rather than build it up as this recreational plan would do. Second, most of the cost of this plan would be taken out of County and State agencies such as the Highway and Conservation Funds.

Another question that is always asked about such a new plan is, "Has it, or a similar one, ever worked in other places before?"

In New York there has been established about forty miles of public beaches. In Chicago there are twenty-eight miles of public beaches with a shore drive to each. Similar projects are in operation in ten other places. These examples where it has worked successfully proves the stability of such a plan.

After all the possible points against this recreational plan are overcome, and the plan goes through there are many benefits which will be received by the residents of all five counties especially ours—Livingston.

This would not only benefit the people of this generation but of many generations to come.

We are complaining about the fact that so many men are out of work, well, if this plan goes through it will create jobs for many hundreds of men and women both in its construction and operation. It will also improve the financial standards of the surrounding vicinities. First, it will raise the value of land. Second it will increase the tourist trade that will bring additional money into circulation in that certain locality.

Third, it will increase the motor car industry, which is the chief occupation in this particular part of the state, by encouraging the people to buy automobiles in order to reach these beautiful parks and beaches.

Even at that there are much greater benefits to reap other than the financial gains. For instance—if there were more clean recreational places for our idle people to go and spend their time at a good advantage it would cut down the crime bill. This alone would repay the people for the money investments. But there is even a greater benefit attached to this Parkway Plan—The health side of it. In this five county area it was found that the Doctor bill of the people totaled around seventy million dollars per year. With this new outdoor scheme this bill would be cut around the vast sum of thirty million dollars!

So, in conclusion, I, as a resident of Livingston county feel that, in spite of some disadvantages to this Parkway-Playground Plan, it should be voted through with an unanimous "Yes" in the coming November election.

No. 2, By Pauline McLucas, winning second prize of three dollars.

How About More Recreation!!

If what you want is more recreation at a low cost so that all the family may be included—Just listen to this.

If the Metropolitan Authority is willing to give their time to develop the vast areas of parks and lands to better our community it is not more than fair that we should put our support in this project. The people included in this project are the ones living in these five counties of the Detroit Metropolitan Area:

- Wayne
- Washtenaw
- Livingston
- Oakland
- Macomb

The surties of building and beautifying more parks will be asked in November and as it meets a very practical need you will be expected to answer "Yes" to this plan.

You might say you seen no need for any such project, but of the sixty miles of water front there are only one hundreds rods in public ownership. Some of the foreign parks are not much better than a cess pool or German "beer gardens" and yet every day crowds of people gather there. If we would build more state or public parks the other parks would be less crowded and they would be in a more sanitary condition.

Perhaps you think that the parks are not crowded but these figures tell better than words. In these five counties mentioned there are approximately three million residents. Now for this mass population, there is only one acre of public parks to every five hundred persons. The ideal standard of health is one acre to every one hundred. This shows you the serious need for more public and state parks.

If it is the cost that is bothering you, your trouble is a little one. Under the proposed law, the tax money would not amount to more than twenty-five cents on a property valuation of one thousand dollars. But due to the fact that it will be essentially a planning commission about one-fifth of the amount authorized would be required. The county and state would pay most of the cost of the projected developments.

The many benefits would be:

- A better looking land and a cleaner landscape.
- A place more desirable for new people moving into the country.
- Healthier for boys and girls and adults.
- Less crime and the boys and girls wouldn't think about doing bad things such as running away from home and stealing.
- Enough bathing beaches for every one.
- Easier ways to reach them.
- More money for the people who own tourist camps near the parks and beaches.
- Greater employment for the people who work with the up-keep of parks.

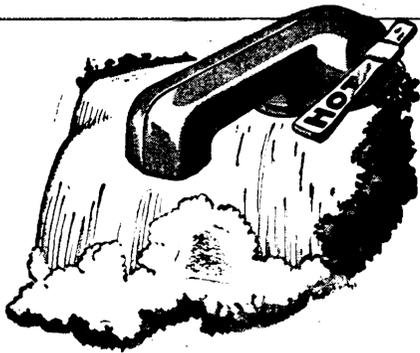

More automobile travel and therefore more sales for the automobile companies. Many other improvements will be found as the project advances.

The help of each individual is needed to bring about this Parkway Playground Proposal. It is for these many reasons we urge you to vote "Yes". If you ever need to go away you can leave your children at one of these parks and be sure the water is safe and clean for bathing. Your vote will not only mean a lot to you but also to the generations to come.

I am sure every good tax paying citizen will agree that this is a good plan. If you didn't think so before I'm sure you will now because you know the low cost and the great benefits of years to come. So for the sake of your own health vote "Yes" on the Parkway Playground Proposal.

FREE TOLL SERVICE ENDS

Beginning at 12:30 o'clock next Tuesday noon (June 25), it will cost 10 cents to make a 5-minute station-to-station telephone call between here and Brighton, according to J. E. Johnson of Howell, manager in this area for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

At that time the toll-free service heretofore supplied between Brighton and Pinckney will be discontinued and the standard toll charge for calls between the two points will go into effect.

A station-to-station toll call is one on which the calling party does not ask the operator to locate a specified person at the distant point but is willing to talk with whomever answers the call.

It is the company's position that an "unreasonably discriminatory" condition has existed as a result of the toll-free service between these two communities.

Establishment of regular long distance charges for calls between the two telephone communities will accompany the conversion of the Brighton telephone system to dial operation, Johnson said. The change and improvement program in the neighboring community.

Such contributions may be sent to the treasurer of the local chapter, Mrs. Don W. VanWinkle, Howell Michigan, or may be left at local banks whose officials are authorized to receive Red Cross Funds.

DEMOCRATIC SPRING

CONVENTION HELD

The State Democrat Spring Convention, held in Flint on Saturday, June 11th, was well attended by delegates from Livingston County.

The enthusiasm and optimism of the Party was keyed by the Convention chairman, George Burke, an Ann Arbor attorney, who early outlined the issues upon which the campaign may be expected to be carried this Fall.

A Caucus of the Livingston county delegates was held, at which Martin J. Lavan, County Chairman, was elected chairman of the delegation.

At the 6th District Caucus of 71 delegates, wherein Livingston county had four votes, a signal honor was given to the Democrat Organization of this County by the selection as a delegate to the National Convention to be held at Chicago on July 15th. In view of the fact that only two delegates are elected by the District caucus to the National Convention, the Democrats of Livingston County, as well as all those interested in National affairs may be well pleased that Livingston County has this representation. Miss Brogan's name was placed in nomination by Martin J. Lavan, and together with that of George T. Gundry of Grand Blanc, former auditor general of the State of Michigan, their election as delegates was unanimous.

The 6th District Caucus was a harmonious gathering of Democrats in contrast to the recent Caucus of the Republicans at their state convention, in which a controversy arose challenging the right of William McKeighan, Republican Boss, to name a delegate from Genesee County. The outcome of this controversy still is unsettled, and the selection of the Republican delegate is a matter for the Credentials Committee of the Republican National Convention.

Olivet College has again dropped inter-collegiate football from its list of athletics, and instead will play interclass games. It tried this out some years ago but it was not a success and it returned to college competition. Like Chicago University, Olivet has found it impossible to put out a winning team. The reason for this action is stated by the college professor, that football has developed into a semi-professional sport.

CONGRESSIONAL WEEKLY LETTER

By Congressman Blackney

This week has been one of the most important weeks in Congress. An appropriation bill was passed providing for the expenditure of 1,700,000,000 largely for national defense.

The bill was passed in the House providing for the deportation of Harry R. Bridges, whose radical activities in the United States has aroused the indignation of the American people. While there were a few Congressmen sobbing in Congress over his deportation, yet the great rank and file of the House voted in favor thereof. An alien in the United States is simply a guest of the United States. If he does not conduct himself in conformity with the law then the Government which allowed him to enter this country has also the right to order him to leave. The deportation proceedings carried by a vote of 330 yeas to 42 nays.

The House also considered H. R. 10039, known as the Revenue Bill of 1940. This bill will practically affect every person living within the United States, from a tax standpoint direct and indirect. It makes a change in the present income tax law by reducing the exemption of a single man from $1000 to $800 and the exemption of a married man from $2500 to $2000. It also provides for a gross 10 per cent increase in the total amount of your tax. In other words, if a taxpayer's income was $50, the 10 per cent increase above mentioned would add $5 thereto, making the income tax $55. By lowering the exemption as above mentioned, more people are brought within the scope of the law, and therefore more taxes will have to be paid to the Government. The portion of the law as to income taxes is made permanent.

The Revenue Bill also provides for temporary taxes known as super-taxes for five years: this increases the existing taxes. The bill provides for increase on the tax on: Beer from $5 to $6 per barrel. Distilled spirits from $2.25 to $3 a gallon.

Gasoline 1c per gallon to one and one-half cents per gallon. Cigarettes $3 to $3.50 per thousand which means an increase from the present tax of 6c on the package of cigarettes to 7c or an increase of 1c on each package.

The super-tax rate also applies to box seats, cabarets, passport stock issues, insurance policies, passage ticket preparations, automobiles, radios, mechanical refrigerators, match-kets, pistols and revolvers, tires, tubes, lubricating oil and a host of other articles.

This tax bill is expected to yield the Government $1,004,000,000. It is not anywhere near adequate to provide for the appropriation already asked for by the administration.

It is my judgement that the average citizen will willingly cooperate with his Government on new taxes for national defense, providing he has assurance that the money will be used for the purpose for which it is appropriated. The letters I am receiving from the Sixth District emphasize this fact, but, also the greater majority of the letters are insistent that the United States not enlist in the European conflict.

One of the constantly discussed subjects here in Washington is the subject of adjournment. The newspapers reported that the President wanted Congress to adjourn by June 22. The American people apparently felt differently, judging from the many letters sent to Congressmen, protesting adjournment.

Many Congressmen also opposed adjournment among whom I was one. I think that Congress should remain in session just so long as the present emergency exists. While I certainly would be glad to get home and to my district, yet I feel that my duty is here and I shall vote against early adjournment.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Most airplane makers who expressed an opinion about Henry Ford's offer to make 1,000 planes a day were doubtful about Mr. Ford's ability to deliver.

Industry 'Can Do Anything in Our Defense Effort' Young and energetic Sherman M. Fairchild, president of the Fairchild Engine and Airplane corporation, thought "anything would be possible" provided sufficient money, materials and personnel were available. He was reassuring as to the industry's capacities in tooling, plants and other requirements for a quick shift to mass production.

Mr. Fairchild is, himself, reassuring in exemplifying the tradition of Yankee inventiveness. His father, the late George Winthrop Fairchild, once chairman of the International Business Machines corporation, was the inventor of the dial telephone, the computing machine, and finally the adding machine, to keep track of his mounting millions—about 10 of which went to his son. He had begun his business career at $3 a week. "Anything is possible" seems to have been a sort of family slogan.

As a youth, Sherman M. Fairchild was mainly interested in cameras. His father had tapped him for junior executive of his company. When the young man stuck to cameras, this interest later shading into airplanes, his family was indulgent. They thought the boy was just having a "wanderjahr" and would round up at a desk when the time came. But the camera obsession wasn't just monkey business. At 21, he had invented a unique flashlight camera and several years later brought through a radial aerial camera, organized the Fairchild Aerial Surveys and caught attention with a trail-blazing aerial survey of New York. This led to plane-building. In 1927, he corralled several companies, set Igor Sikorsky building planes and turned out the first cabin monoplane in the United States.

SINCE chivalry is not inseparable from patriotism, this writer asked Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, to send Red Cross Chief a few Lauds Response paragraphs about the work of the Red Cross in its greatest endeavor. He responded as follows:

"Anyone attempting to bring material assistance to the millions of homeless and miserable war refugees is inevitably seized with a sense of futility. There is so much that needs doing immediately, and there are so many obstacles to overcome that the burden of responsibility becomes almost overwhelming.

"These needs of futility I can dispel by concentrating my thoughts on the splendid support received by the American Red Cross from all over the country. When I think of the 350,000 volunteers sewing bandages and knitting garments, or of the millions of Americans in every walk of life who are contributing to the Red Cross war-relief fund, my spirits are immediately buoyed. Pride in the generous and patriotic response of the public gives each Red Cross worker new courage to carry out his tasks.

"The war-relief funds are going to work for humanity almost as fast as they come in. Relief supplies are being distributed, hospital supplies are on the way and ambulances have been ordered. Clothing and surgical dressings are being shipped to the stricken areas, in huge quantities. Our activities are rapidly being geared to greatly increased needs as the toll of invasion continues to mount. I have an abiding faith that the people of this country will help the Red Cross keep pace with its increasing obligations.

Mr. Davis is a Southerner by birth, and therefore fundamentally humane; as a successful business man and financier, he is effective, and as a European ambassador at large under five Presidents, he is discreet.

In the dark depths of the rear seat of his town car, one night two years ago, I had a talk with him about power politics in Europe. He was, indeed, discreet, but I gained an impression of his shrewd awareness of the deeper realities of the European impasse, as now tragically revealed. When, later, he was appointed chairman of the Red Cross, it seemed to me that our greatest humane tradition had been fortunately personalized, in a man with both a touch of homespun and the sophistication of one accustomed to getting things done.

Bruckart's Washington Digest

Aftermath of World War II To Present Serious Problems

Economic Depression, Threats of Other Conflicts, Large U. S. Standing Army, Are Among Grave Situations To Be Faced With Arrival of 'Peace.'

By WILLIAM BRUCKART
WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—It may be some- what early to talk about what will happen after the second World war, but I believe it is time to look in that direction. With that bell-hole that is Europe still far from giving us and the rest of the world an answer as to whether Hitler's murderous philosophy or the reasonable type of freedom shall be the governing force, there are nevertheless many things to come as an aftermath. We may wish to avoid thinking of those things, but I repeat we will gain nothing by failing to look to the future.

Wm. Bruckart

For one thing, if the first World war was the cause, direct or indirect, of the depression that has now gone 10 years, then there is another one due after several years of wintry blasts and burning summer suns have destroyed the stains of blood on Europe's battlefields. My inquiries of men who study the field of economics have brought little more solid information than that we must expect another cycle of torn business and personal relations. As far as I am personally able to figure out, the depression that has been with us for 10 years may prove to be only a rehearsal for the real worldwide depression that is to come. I cannot see how it can be avoided.

Another thing that gives the life perspective a blue-black appearance is the certainty that whoever wins the gigantic martial explosions of the current war, there will remain thereafter hatred and threats of new wars. The hatred is certain. Who will not hate another people by whom hundreds of thousands of husbands, brothers, sons and sweethearts were destroyed? The hatred will obtain whether Hitler dominates all of Europe or whether, as my sane person hopes, he is destroyed and his followers subjugated.

Constant Threat of War Will Remain a Long Time

The threats of war are bound to come, likewise. If Hitler wins, obviously every Frenchman, Englishman, Pole, Finn, Dane, Norwegian or any other member of an oppressed people will hope and pray for liberation. And liberation can come only through fighting for that liberty, especially when the force of government is vested in the hands of a beast. The threat of war will be with us, and the current generation of our people will have to live with it.

That is the tragedy. The current generation will know no real peace. Children of today and tomorrow will grow up, hearing rumbles of thunder from the god of war. They can know only of large armies and great navies. They must learn to look to the future of war plans, fantastic plans, weapons of mystery, life underground if the warclouds roll nearer. I repeat, there is so little hope for a final adjustment of the hatred in Europe upon a sane basis that the current generations in the United States will know no real peace.

Then, there is the cost to which we, as Americans, must look. Of course, it is only infinitesimal compared to the price the fighting nations of Europe are paying. But that is their war. It is not our war. The price that we must be prepared to pay is for keeping us out of their troubles by keeping them away from our shores. It promises to be a terrific price in cold cash, and so there will be taxes a-plenty. They are starting now. Congress is giving taxes quick consideration, and there is every probability that the nation's tax bill will be a billion or a billion and a half dollars greater than ever before in history. It has to be. For seven years there has been a terrific waste, and the public debt of the United States now is around $45,000,000,000. We have no cushion upon which to lean. The tax bill for preparation must be met from scratch. It will go on and on.

Country's Industrialists Are a Bit Dissatisfied

I hear also rumblings of discontent and dissatisfaction among the industrialists of the country. They are being appealed to—yes, they are being told emphatically—to get going and produce and produce and expand and expand. It is a part of the hysteria that grips the national capital.

With respect to the situation in which the manufacturers find themselves, the story is simple. It is merely a repetition of 1917 and 1918. The nation's industrial structure was urged and threatened and cajoled into the greatest speed possible. "Make war materials" was the cry. Industry did. But in the end, industry that went overboard, headlong into the manufacture of war materials went broke. Its expenditures for plant expansion and for general increased facilities bled it white. When the tax bill was paid, war industry had nothing left. It will be the same this time, unless common sense prevails. There can be war preparation without hysteria; there can be war preparation without the destruction of business firms, but I am afraid it will be the same story as evolved from the first World war.

To bring this phase to a specific basis, it is necessary only to call attention to the tremendous losses that were sustained by individuals who had savings invested in stocks or bonds of great corporations. Whenever those losses occur, there naturally follows destruction of the whole economy of a family's life. It is fatal. But it will be so again, I am afraid.

We are told that we must have a gigantic army. There is need of it. We do not know now what may emerge from the secret that belongs to Mexico. Nor can we be sure of South American countries—at least some of them. There is a decision to be faced in that direction. It is a decision which will require the United States, as a matter of national policy, to let the world know whether we are ready to defend all of South America or whether we shall withdraw within our own boundaries and dare somebody to come get us. But we need an army to meet such eventualities. Nobody knows what they may be.

Large Standing Army Presents New Problems

And these observations about the army—they are true, also, of the navy—bring another problem. It has been true all through history that a great standing army has served to give that army or some of its outstanding leaders undue importance in determining national policy. I fear it may be a case in which history is going to repeat itself.

Of course, there can be patriotic army leaders who will look first to the nation's general welfare. There can be another kind, too. It is a thing to which the current and next generation must look with an eye of caution. Indeed, it is entirely possible that we, as a race of people, could be converted into a warlike nation.

I am thinking, too, of the losses that are coming—many of them already recognizable—in the ways of science. Scientists work for years to accomplish whatever advances are made in the direction of better living. It is too obvious to need a reference here that all of the great scientific developments that have come from Germany are lost to the world of the future. That is to say, there will be none of consequence—except war machines—coming out of Germany, because the inducement to invent and discover is being driven out of the hearts and the minds of men and women in the war-torn continent.

In our country, there are losses being sustained in that direction. Not as much, it is true, as has been noted in Europe, but there are losses because brains and imagination will be directed towards the evolution of machines and programs to meet any attack. The world will be armed and we must know what others are doing. So our scientists will be devoting fertile brains to the production of terrible machines of death, and there will be praise for those who produce the most horrible types of death-dealing apparatus.

It is indulging in idle imagination, perhaps, but I contend that even in our peace-loving country, those with a life of 30 years more may yet witness great terminals of railroads underground; great artificial reservoirs of food established in safe places, new types of defenses not now envisioned. All of these things may come because the warclouds are going to continue to roll and the United States must sit with its anti-aircraft guns trained to the skies.

There is then only this thought to be added: the United States must accept the idea of greater protection than it ever has had, and it must be prepared to pay for it, which is to say, taxes and more taxes are coming. It must accept a readjustment in its business pursuits and individual training. But while it can do all of these—must do them—there is no plausible excuse for going nuts and adding to the bill by wasting resources in preparation that has not been thought out.

Son Knew Economical Way To Bring About Result

Father and son had gone together to a bazaar where a pretty girl was selling kisses in aid of local charity.

"My boy," said the father slyly, "here's a dollar bill. You go and kiss her. When I was young, you can bet I made 'em scream."

The son left his father, and shortly after returned in a high state of satisfaction.

"Well, did you kiss her, Son?" asked the father.

"Yes, you can bet I did, Dad," was the reply.

"And did you make her scream?"

"Scream? I'll say so! I kept the dollar."

MICHIGAN MIRROR NEWS

The alternative would be to raise the price paid by France where the production of necessary war supplies, even two years ago was insufficient to meet urgent needs of national defense. In a remarkable report to the president of the French Republic on Nov. 12, 1938, M.M. Deladier and Reynaud declared:

"The gravest failure, from which the others follow, has been the persistent low level of production. If production is insufficient it is primarily because its possibilities of development have been paralyzed."

"The idea of a reduction in the length of the working day had been entertained on the assumption that as a result of increased efficiency of labor and more intensive use of machinery, the same output could be obtained with fewer hours of work."

"But the efficiency of labor has not increased and the hopes founded on technical improvement have not been realized. How could it have been otherwise, when the majority of factories and shops were closed two days out of seven?"

Joint Responsibility

In this new period of national emergency—and signs already point that it has arrived—special responsibilities rest upon the management, capital and labor.

Mr. Reynaud, co-author of the 1938 report is now Premier of France.

Like Winston Churchill, he is bearing a heavy task of trying to overcome the dreadful waste and lost time in the years prior to the war.

In the light of French experience it is clear that every element of our population may be called upon for new sacrifices—perhaps by longer working hours, perhaps by heavier taxes, and perhaps by postponing the satisfaction of former wants in favor of present wants of a more urgent nature.

In a democracy such as the United States and in a state of advanced technological development such as Michigan, the challenge of 1940 is whether we can solve the problem of defense as efficiently as a totalitarian state. Cooperation of capital and labor will be put to a new test. Upon the success or failure of this teamwork depends the security of millions.

Ford, Apostle of Peace

Henry Ford, America's outstanding genius of mass production, financed a "peace ship" to Europe in 1916.

When this nation entered the conflict, Ford swung his huge plants into the manufacture of tanks, submarine chasers and ambulances.

Still an apostle of peace, the Dearborn manufacturer a few weeks ago received world-wide attention when he declared in an interview that the Ford organization could produce 1,000 airplanes a day through mass production methods "if" he were guaranteed no governmental "meddling"—presumably by the National Labor Relations board.

The army rushed one of its latest models to Dearborn for Ford engineers to examine.

Because Ford's management policies have always been liberal to labor, the C. I. O. has been unsuccessful to date in efforts to unionize the Michigan plants. How popular the automobile maker is with labor was revealed recently by a Gallup public opinion poll which placed him high on the list, along with John L. Lewis and CCC youths.

Non-combatant military training in CCC camps in Michigan appeared to be a probability as Congress rushes plans to integrate federal relief and national defense.

The youths would not be trained with guns for military combat, but they would be given instruction in bridge and road construction, cooking, first aid, radio, photography and mechanical work. The camps may help to train young men for industrial employment in an effort to break the present bottleneck due to lack of machines and skilled machinists.

The NYA camp at Cassidy Lake (between Ann Arbor and Jackson) is already training young men in vocational fields such as aviation and automobile engineering.

Michigan national guardsmen will train this summer at Sparta, Wisconsin and at Grayling. The CCC camps would "prove valuable assets in case of mobilization" as was stated at Washington by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.
