Annual Junior Class Promenade Is Very Largely Attended

Despite freezing temperatures without, there was warmth and fragrance and beauty in the spacious garden in which the gymnasium had been transferred for the Junior Prom, an event of last Friday evening. Enclosed with white paling, the setting was attractive in every detail...

Music for dancing was furnished by Cooper's Orchestra of Jackson. The grand march, which comprised several novelty features, was led by Lawrence Baughn, president of the Junior class and Miss Jeanne Craut.

Freshman class members acted as check-girls, served punch and distributed favors.

In the receiving line were Supt. and Mrs. E. L. Hulce and the Junior and Senior class presidents with their guests. Patrons for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Reason, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Curlett and Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Swarthout and Frank Bowers.

Mrs. Anne Wilson is sponsor for Junior class activities and did much to make the party a success, as did Caretaker Jeffries. Some seventy-five couples were in attendance.

Michigan Mirror State News

War Interest Overshadows All and Exerts Large Influence on the Legislature

Whether for western hemisphere defense for "all-out" war in Europe open for defense of democracy, Michigan is rapidly becoming the leading arsenal of the nation as well as a military center of recognized importance.

This is the picture today as Governor Murray D. Van Wagener and the Michigan legislature act to create a state council of defense.

What the President and Congress may do during the coming weeks is obvious speculation. If this momentous decision were left up to the state legislature, little doubt exists what would be done for both houses accorded Senator Burton K. Wheeler Montana isolationist, a tremendous ovation at his recent appearance in the capital city.

The attitude of Michigan's senators and congressmen is also against involvement in a "shooting war." Senators Arthur Vandenberg and Francis Brown are pledged to oppose the use of convoys which the president has said is an open door to active war. Furthermore, Michigan congressmen voted overwhelmingly against the selective service act, Michigan being one of the very few states to appear prominently in the opposition column. All this is a matter of record.

Yet, come what may, the state government is preparing for any emergency that may arise. Michigan is getting to do its part.

Council's Job

To evaluate the magnitude of the defense council's job in Michigan, you must first know what the federal government is undertaking.

Place yourself for a surprise! Centers of military consequence are nine in number.

Guarding the locks of the Soo canal at Sault Ste Marie is Fort Brady. It is also a training camp for military police. To augment protection of the locks, the government is expending a half-million dollars on an airport base.

An expenditure of five millions is scheduled to enlarge the locks as a safeguard against possible paralysis of waterway facilities.

Little known to the public is the military use of an island off Alpena.

This bit of land is a natural target for bombing planes which simulate somewhat the actual war problem of a flight from an air base to an enemy concentration.

It is an extension of Selfridge field near Mt Clemens which is being mushroomed into giant size by the war department. Whereas only one pursuit squadron previously based there Selfridge Field has 200 pilots and enlisted men on duty.

A total of 213 new buildings are "on paper", under construction, or

DRAFT NEWS

There will be no draft call for selective army service in this county this month. In June, however, 42 men will be drafted from Livingston county. The only men sent this month from this county were three replacements to take the place of those rejected last month.

Questionnaires are now being sent out in this county at the rate of 25 per day and it is expected that by July 1 next, all of the 2,289 who registered in this county will receive questionnaires.

In this county, of the 2,289 who registered, 11.05 per cent were placed in class 1A, 3.91 per cent in class 2A, 72.73 per cent in class 3A and 6.01 per cent in class 4F of those so far sent questionnaires.

The state average was as follows: Class 1A, 11.11; class 2A, 2.29; class 3A, 73.24; class 4A, 7.89. Baraga county had the highest class 1A average, 25 per cent.

Norman Miller writes from Camp Livingston, La., that the two worst things they have to contend with are the mud and snakes. It has rained incessantly there. The snakes are 3 and 4 feet long, beautiful and apparently harmless. He also states that Royal Baker, Jr. is also at Louisiana in the same camp with him and according to newspaper reports, Hank Greenberg is also to be sent there on May 15.

CURRENT COMMENT

By Ye Editor

Col. Lindbergh and Senators Nye and Wheeler continue to draw full auditoriums, but this in no sense implies that their hearers are 100 per cent with them. Their audiences are composed of a number of elements. Some go out of curiosity, others go because they are 100 per cent pacifists, and many because they are Nazi sympathizers or hold an undying hatred for Great Britain. Senator Wheeler spoke at Lansing last week and the Lansing State Journal has the following to remark about it. They take issue with the senator's statement and say that he is wrong in believing that this nation could live free and prosperous in the same world with a victorious Hitler. As to the senator's assertion that Hitler could never invade this country, he wouldn't have to if he conquered Great Britain and got control of the seas.

The Detroit News, in remarking of the present time, says party lines have all but disappeared and in Congress they are hardly more than a shadow. The war has reached beyond these divisions to the very heart of men, not in the mass, but singly, evoking an attitude and faith which is at once personal and fundamental. Of course there are a few, too long in politics and too old to change, who still persist in reducing all issues, whatever the magnitude, to partisan size, but these are few in number and of little influence.

The house has passed the school appropriation bill, giving the schools $100,000,000 with a system of distribution destined to favor the rural and smaller schools. Last year the schools got $41,000,000. This is a sizable sum as the total appropriations for the coming year are only $22,000,000. According to the radio Gen. Van Wagener has threatened to veto the bill if it exceeded the $44,000,000 limit set by the ways and means committee before the house raised it to $46,000,000. Under this apportionment, the schools could be allowed $55 a year for elementary pupils and $75 a year for high school students. The school census, long the basis for school aid, would be disregarded entirely. Because the cities have a higher assessed valuation, they would pay more money while receiving less.

The first dog and pony show in years showed at Pinckney last week when the Wilson show came here. This show got a full tent the first night but a heavy downpour of rain cut the attendance the second night. Nevertheless they gave a good performance. Still, there was some difference between their's and the old time shows which once made this town. The present day show carried no band and had no street parade.

Two of the main features in the old times, 50 years or so ago, innumerable small shows travelled by wagon, making the small towns in Michigan. In the course of one summer this place might be visited by a dozen. Some of them were the Wixom shows, The Whitney Family, Bentley's, Van's, McConkey's Pomeroy's Wild West, Sutton Brothers, Perrine, Freed, Gus Sun's etc. Some of these shows hailed from Michigan. Wixom came from Wixom, Whitney from Imlay City, Perrine from Eaton Rapids, etc. Pinckney citizens at one time or another were connected with these shows. Verna Bennett, father of Harry and Haze, Bennett, was advance man for the Bentley show, Charles Mercer of Pettysville and Al Fishbeck of Howell were members of the Wixom Brothers band. Vet Bullis of Gregory was in charge of transportation for the Bentley shows. To this list could be added Ben and John Beckor and Ed Litchfield of Dexter, who played in the Pomeroy band. Besides these shows there were Uncle Tom and other stage shows. The radio and the movies sounded the death knell of most of them. Also rising wages and costs, but a few still manage to continue and long may they endure for they awaken pleasant memories in the minds of persons who have passed the half century mark.

Most of the high school students attended a wiener roast and roller skating party Tuesday night at Island Lake. It was chaperoned by the high school teachers and the trip was made in the school bus.

Assortment of Frills, Jabots to Highlight Summer Fashions

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

FRILLS, frills, frills! The call for frills and jabots and cascades of sheer loveliness as costume adornment resounds throughout all fashiondom this season.

Therefore, if you like to do dainty handwork, meet opportunity at your door. Make your own frills, for, as every woman knows, nothing can add the exquisite touch as well as a bit of fine needlework, whether it be in hand-rolled hems, deft hemstitching or wee hand-run tucks.

It is almost unbelievable what a wondrous assortment of frills can be made from a yard or so of crisp, snowy organdy, exquisitely sheer handkerchief linen or other dainty fabrics.

Take a look at the collection of frilly items here illustrated. By devoting spare moments to the fascinating pastime of handrolling hems, handrunning wee tucks and so on, you can very easily fashion a wardrobe of fashionable frills. Being meticulously handmade, they will launder perfectly.

The spotlight of fashion is on sheer lingerie yokes, either in collar form or sewed into the dress as an actual yoke top. It does not take long to hand-tuck a yoke. Like the one pictured in the circle in the upper left corner, you can edge it with a ruffle of self organdy or lace. You really should have at least one big yoke collar in your collection.

A dramatic collar and cuff set, such as the girl seated is wearing, is almost indispensable when it comes to accenting a navy or black dress. Note the new low-cut "plunging" neckline of the collar. The collar is lined with self organdy. Cut duplicates, seam the wide frill in between, then turn and press and you will have no fraying edges. You can either hemstitch the frill or finish with a tiny rolled hem. Make the frill very full so that it will fall in sprightly ripples, as pictured. The same working directions apply to the cuffs. You can launder these collar and cuffs as often as you wish, and they will come out like new.

Simple indeed but very effective is the organdy frill worn demurely about a round snug-fitting neckline, as sketched. Emphasize the frilly effect with ruffling on the sleeves, as illustrated in the picture.

Bolero jackets take on a new look this season when they are collared with a frilled ruff, made of gleaming white organdy that goes rippling down each side of the front opening as the sketch here portrays. Try it! With scraps of the organdy left over, make yourself a scalloped collar with a wide frilled ruffle as suggested in the sketch.

Perhaps the most intriguing news of all is the frilled lingerie cascade that travels from the neckline to the hemline of the now-so-fashionable slim princess frock. The sketch in the group pictures the idea. To get best results, cut the ruffling on circular lines, and, if you finish the edge with a hand-rolled hem you will be delighted with the sheer loveliness of this cascade that falls from a sailor collar of the organdy on down to the very hemline of the dress.

Make a white organdy cascade to baste in the front of your simple basic gown. Duplicate this frill in pastel blue or pink or orange organdy to wear "on occasion" with your afternoon dress.

Glen-Plaid Suit

It's a suit season and no mistake. Plaids, checks and stripes are big news, they're tailored so meticulously they have the look of perfection. Here is a model that is characteristic of the present trend, which exploits quality-kind woollens styled in the new longer-jacket. Forstman does these Glen-Plaids in soft neutral tones, notably gray or beige with white. The skirt has grace and action because of its pleats. A suggestion of the military theme is achieved in the curved tucks at the shoulder line and in the saucy two-toned beret-type chapeau.

Wear Clothes Which Enhance Your Beauty

So you don't like slit skirts. Well, then, don't wear them.

You think purple is a horrible color? All right then, don't wear it. You can't wear sailors? Then don't try. There are lots of women who adore slit skirts, look marvelous in purple and are mad about sailor hats. Leave these women to their choice and you take yours. There are enough good styles to go around, and no one woman need take it upon herself to illustrate all the current fashion trends.

It's up to each woman to select from current—and past—styles those which she likes and which look well on her—and if she wants to delve into the future that's all right, too, provided she conforms with current laws about what constitute clothes.

Nowadays fashions are really flexible. Many long-held taboos have been broken, and women are in the mood to shatter more traditions. We wear open-toed shoes in the winter and wool all the year round. If we like suits we don't confine their use to spring and fall—we wear them all winter under our fur coats. We wear chiffon in January, as well as velvet and lame; we wear sequins and lame in the afternoon instead of reserving them for evening.

Fashion changes with the times. To dress well is not a matter of aping, but of creating.

The other is a princess pinafore with sunback and buckled shoulder straps. When little Miss 8-to-16 dons the jumper over her playsuits, with the collar fastened demurely close to the throat, she's dressed for runabout.

CONSERVATION NOTES

Millions of Michigan smelt died of a parasite on the south shore of the upper peninsula near Gladstone the past few weeks. The sea gulls cleaned up most of them and some had to be buried to prevent a health menace.

First tabulated reports of 1940 deer kills shows 6,800 more bucks killed in 1940 than in 1939. The 1940 take is estimated at 51,700 deer, 173,000 deer licenses were sold compared with 169,000 sold in 1939.

A pair of otter will be live-trapped and released at the Casino game refuge where they will be fed different diets.

A six year summary showing counties on 17,847 predators has cost the state of Michigan $228,500 since 1934. It also shows a decline in the number of animals killed. There were 4,187 taken in 1934 and only 1,903 in 1940. In 1940 trappers of predatory animals averaged 341 each.

HUMAN BABIES BROUGHT UP BY BABOON & BEAR MOTHERS

The Jackson Citizen-Patriot says the isolationists are fighting a battle that was lost when the Lease-Lend bill passed b. th houses and became a law and this paper just can not see what their object is. The Adrian Telegram remarks that there are still many wishful people who dare not grapple with realities and who hope that we can somehow avoid a part in the war and whose policy is to wait until the hurricane strikes us. This element is now bending all efforts to prevent effective use of the seized foreign ships for the benefit of anybody. Wishful thinking is the bane of all democracies. This is what held England back so long she almost lost the war and is in grave danger of losing it now.

PINCKNEY

CONGRESSIONAL LETTER

Congressman W. W. Blackney

The principal bill before Congress last week was H. R. 4466, a bill to authorize the acquisition by the United States of title to or the use of domestic or foreign merchant vessels for the urgent needs of commerce and the national defense and for other purposes.

As pointed out in a message from the President, there are in ports of the United States a large number of foreign merchant vessels which have been there for long periods of time and have not seen fit to depart because of war conditions. Much of this idle tonnage formerly served our commerce directly or indirectly; unlawful acts to delay or prevent any of these ships from serving our commerce and to interfere with that commerce have forced our government to take most of this idle tonnage into protective custody.

There is a serious shortage of shipping facilities and an increasing accumulation of cargo to be moved out of our ports. The requirements for tonnage have increased; the supply of tonnage has been reduced. Under the circumstances the government would be open to the charge of negligence if it permitted the continuance of immobilization in our harbors of shipping facilities.

There exists urgent need for additional tonnage both for our defense needs at a time when the supply program and our national economy and commerce. This increasing need of available tonnage is decreasing. One of the primary causes of the short supply (aside from war sinkings) is the withdrawal of the foreign-flag tonnage from the shipping trades serving our commerce before the European war.

This foreign-flag tonnage carried two-thirds of our ocean-borne commerce when the war began. Because of the war needs of belligerents and greater competing demands from neutral tonnage, these withdrawals have reached the point where the tonnage needs for the United States become more critical day by day. Of the foreign tonnage immobilized in our ports formerly served in our commerce with South American countries and the far East, where urgent shortages of shipping facilities now exist, both for trade and for the import of commodities essential to national defense.

The bill H. R. 4466 would authorize the president during the emergency, through such agency or officer as he shall designate, to take over, for such use or disposition as the president shall direct, idle foreign-flag tonnage in the United States, needed for national defense, with just compensation to be made to the owner as provided by the Merchant Marine Act of 1936, in the case of requisition of American-owned tonnage.

There are lying idle in the United States more than eighty foreign-flag ships, which would be subject to taking over under the bill. These ships have a gross tonnage of almost one-half million.

There are lying idle in other parts of the Western Hemisphere nearly 150 vessels of approximately 880,000 gross tons, some of which may be available on a voluntary basis for purchase or chartered under the bill, if enacted.

I might state that the foreign tonnage serving the United States has been reduced by sinkings and by withdrawals of vessels for other services. Sinkings have now reached the $5,000,000-ton mark. This is one-half as much merchant shipping as was sunk during the fifty-one months of the World War. Belligerent countries have withdrawn tonnage in order to serve their military needs. Neutral countries, including the United States, must compete for tonnage with a reduced supply. The carrying power of merchant vessels has been substantially reduced by war conditions.

The need for more ships is the accumulated effect of many factors some of which could not have been reasonably foreseen. Far reaching steps have been taken to meet contingencies which were foreseen. The regular construction program had been sharply accelerated. Contacts for 67 ships were awarded in 42 days.

Because of the urgent need of additional shipping facilities H. R. 4466 passed the House by a vote of 267 yeas to 120 nays.

I voted for the bill.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

The following marriage licenses were issued at the office of the county clerk last week: Martin Eitner, 21, Pinckney, Ruth Nash, 20, Pinckney; Lyle Grover McDaniels, 21, Howell, Vera Dorcas Scott, 17, Howell; Emil Gerlitz, 51, Brighton, Mrs. Margaret Girard, 41, Willis.

St. Mary's Church

Word came today notifying us of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth, wife of J. J. Henahan of Cathedral parish, Toledo, and an annual summer parishner of this parish for a period of years. Her death occurred April 28 at Toledo. Her home during the summer each year was at Gallagher Cottage at Lakeland on Zukey Lake. She is survived by her husband, two children, her father, and several brothers and sisters, all of whom are frequent visitors at Lakeland and have a host of friends among the resorters, as well as in Toledo where she was most popular among her neighbors and parishioners. Complications following pneumonia was the immediate cause of her death. May her soul rest in eternal peace with her God whom she so well served here in this vale of tears.

Prayers are also requested for the late Michael Lavey of this parish, whose funeral took place last Saturday, and burial at the family plot in the parish cemetery; and for Leo Doyle, whose death occurred at the Battle Creek hospital and funeral took place from his former parish at Hartford, Michigan, Friday. Mr. Doyle was the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Doyle, pioneers of Van Buren county. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Richard McNally of Toronto Canada, and venerable sister, Sister Margaret Marie Doyle, Dean of Donbaron College, Washington D. C., two uncles, The Rev. Father Eugene Cullinane of St. Mary's, Jackson; and the late Rev. Patrick Cullinane of Detroit. Also two religious from the Holy Cross Order, South Bend, Ind., St. Mary's College, are aunts of the said Leo Doyle. The Doyle and Cullinane families were among the earliest Catholic families to move from New York State into Michigan. The Pastor of St. Mary's church, Pinckney assisted at the funeral obsequies and preached the funeral sermon, many of the clergy and religious of Washington D. C. and South Bend attended, as well as several of the old pioneers of Van Buren and Berrien counties. Burial took place in the Maple Hill Cemetery, beside the graves of his father and mother.

At the request of the Pastor, a meeting was held Monday p. m. of the members of the local cemetery board and committee, in order to study the workings of the past plans and organization of the care and upkeep of the Catholic cemetery. The Pastor has requested the committee, carry on as has been as, from the remarks of Madam Gardner as secretary, we had last year the best kept cemetery in this section of the state. Reminences of the past history of Pastors, people, and efforts of the good people, were discussed and suggestions offered to us in a less wise by the respected speakers. It is interesting to attend these discussions and meetings as much better understandings are a result. Miss Caidner has as usual been a very great assistant in developing the construction of civic developments. Men and women will no doubt as time comes along be called upon to lend their able ability and cooperation in necessary defense aid. It is well for those who have the ability to lend assistance where ever most needed in church, school and civic aid. We are always open for your opinions, come direct and let's talk it over. We hope all will work hard to keep our churches, schools, lawns, and churches well worthy of our country's ideals, and the church teachings, be boosters, and constructive builders. We are most grateful for the spring clean up and appearance of our neighbor's yards and lawns, and the sowing of the seeds of neatness and cleanliness.

The reason for the Catholic's attitude toward the Blessed Virgin has frequently been demonstrated by the Catholic writers. This topic will be more fully explained next week.

DEXTER YOUNG PEOPLE HURT

Following the Dexter high school J-Hop last Friday night, several young people were hurt in auto accidents. The night was very foggy and driving was difficult. William Van Atta, 15, suffered a broken leg and facial injuries when the car in which he was riding, accompanied by Wayne Augustine and driven by Cecil Conrad, also of Dexter, left the highway and rolled over several times at U.S.-12 and Lima Center road. Miss Mary Livermore, 14, had some teeth knocked out and suffered facial injuries when the car in which she and Jack McLeod, 14, were riding hit a utility pole at Main road and Huron River Drive.

Mrs. Mame Shehan is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelly.

DEXTER PLANS APPROPRIATELY

Thank goodness, the Fourth of July is to be celebrated in one place in Michigan at least.

July 3, 4, and 5, Dexter, saw you know Dexter, down at the other end of the Dexter trail? - is to celebrate the centennial of the completion of the Michigan Central to that place. The celebration of the "Day We Celebrate" will be included. Perhaps, the dear reader does not know the Michigan Central. It may be called the New York Central in these days, but there is many an old timer still alive in the state, who will end his days thinking of the road as the Michigan Central and nothing else but.

It is not that another nice village is to celebrate a centennial within easy reach of our capacity to buy gasoline. The facts of the situation are: Lansing and Ingham county, in general, are beholden to the town of Dexter—that fact deserves to be set down here in print for the good of the record.

After great financial tribulation and much hard work, the Michigan Central, greatly in discussion, reached Ypsilanti in 1836. At that time there were not enough settlers in Ingham county to mention, hardly, and they cared little where the terminus of the railroad out of Detroit might be. But five years later, when the road reached Dexter, the situation was different.

Ingham county by 1841 was filling up. Stockbridge township was designated as such a little in advance of the arrival of the Michigan Central at Dexter—doubtless the legislature in March, 1836, was acting speculatively. But after the railroad had reached Dexter, the situation changed rapidly. Three years later in 1839—Stockbridge was well filled and so the newcomers began pushing northwestward over what is now the Dexter trail.

Dexter trail is what may well be termed a "natural," so far as its course is concerned in Ingham county. It follows the height of land in the south eastern part of the county and avoids streams that flow north to the Grand and those stream which reach the same river by flowing southward. Mud Creek which may be noted at the state game farm is the one exception. It crosses Dexter trail to join the Sycamore north of Mason.

But the terminus of the Michigan Central at Dexter was not the only help to Ingham county. There was a mill at Dexter and for a long while it was the only mill serving this county. Given a mill and a way to get salt, this county began to consider itself made. Ingham county was vastly beholden to the enterprise at Dexter in the beginning days and we folks who have debt to the past, but seldom acknowledge it, may well now bethink ourselves and turn to and help Dexter celebrate come early next July. Oh! Judge Dexter will not be present except in a ghostly way, but someone very like him will be all dressed, maybe, in the "judge's" very clothes, ready to extend a welcome.

Dexter does very well to celebrate the arrival of the Michigan Central. It was a great day for Michigan. Lansing State Journal

CIRCUIT COURT NEWS

Judge Collins held a one day court session at Howell last Wednesday. In the foreclosure case of the State Savings Bank of Fenton vs. Everett T. Truman, a decree of foreclosure was granted. Hazel Cotter was granted a divorce from Clarence Cotter, with $12 a week alimony for the support of her three children. Dean Howe was granted a divorce from Mac Howe.

Court will start on May 19, but the jury panel is not called until May 26. Only Chancery and non-jury cases will be heard the first week.

Present in body but absent in mind, her murder alibi. Did a strange, nightmarish mental lackout cause one girl to visit another, in her boudoir, tell her how pretty she was and take a lesson in makeup -- and then shoot her, as charged by the State, before she came out of her living dream? Read this exciting story in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

Philathea Notes

This is the week for the Philathea meeting at Mrs. Mae Daller's, and it is hoped that many are in attendance this Wednesday afternoon.

The Mother's Day service, with special music and sermon and beautiful flowers, was a lovely tribute both to living mothers and to those gone on before.

At this time our prayerful sympathy goes out to those who have recently laid away some dear one.

Three of our group, with the Pastor, enjoyed the spring meeting of the Jackson Association of Congregational Christian churches and Wednesday last. It was held at the attractive rural Webster church, and was very inspirational and well attended.

Next Sunday's lesson tells us of the birth of the missionary spirit in the early church. The tenth and eleventh chapters of Acts can be very profitably studied as a whole, although only a portion is printed for our lesson. The topic is "Broadening Christian Horizons: Peter's Vision."

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Birthday interviews with venerated patriarchs of this land are usually given to bland optimism, though the heavens be falling. It's an old American custom. Henry Morgenthau Sr., just turned 85, has been an exception. We haven't seen his customary chat with the reporters this year, but when and if it is recorded we may be sure he sees what he sees and isn't trying to slick things up. Not that he's a pessimist or defeatist. I remember meeting him on Mt. Desert Island, Maine, a few years ago and was tremendously impressed with his faith, ardor and fighting spirit.

He knows a lot about wars and trouble. It was our Civil war that brought him here from his native Mannheim, Germany. His father was a prosperous cigar manufacturer. Civil war tariffs put him out of business and the family came to this country when Henry Morgenthau was nine years old. He was a lawyer at 23, turned to real estate and finance, and had his money-making over at 55, with time, means and mental equipment to turn to the humanities, to philanthropy and good works in general. Now he has a son in the cabinet, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and the unflagging energies which are the reward of an abstemious life.

If there's a dark side, he isn't afraid to look at it. He was back from Europe in 1933 with the simple conclusion that the world was heading into another war. "There is, in Europe," he said, "no honest, moral desire for peace." In 1913, his friend Woodrow Wilson made him ambassador to Turkey, which post he held until 1916. Thereafter, he helped pick up the pieces, in the ruin and chaos of the middle east. He has been both observing and studious and unhappily for easy-going optimists, singularly clear-sighted in his prophetic look ahead.

THERE'S a tale of a professor who grew old writing a history of civilization. Late one night he finished it. Then, after a brief survey of the result of his arduous labors, he heaved a great sigh and threw the history in the fire. "What's the matter?" asked his wife.

"There isn't any civilization," he replied.

Dr. Edward L. Thorndike, author of the famous Thorndike intelligence test, probably wouldn't say there isn't any intelligence, but he does say intelligence can't be tested, according to news reports of his address before the American Philosophical society at Philadelphia. Dr. Thorndike's apostasy no doubt will set up some new measuring standards.

If we don't learn much, about keeping out of wars and such, it isn't Dr. Thorndike's fault. A professor at Columbia for 37 years, he is the author of a shelf of books in the general field of the psychology of learning. He has just about surrounded the subject of "How We Learn." The question of what we learn seems to be still wide open.

From Williamsburg, Mass., he went to Wesleyan university, Harvard and Columbia and taught at Western Reserve before joining the Teachers' college faculty in 1837. He is 87 years old.

THE word is getting around that the founding fathers could fight well because they were supercharged with vitamin B. They ate anything handy and got the thiamin of the B, which is to be found mainly in roughage.

Prof. Russell M. Wilder of the Mayo foundation is alarmed over our shortcomings in this regard. He says, "Continued deficiency of the thiamin content of American diets may have led to a certain degree of irremediable deterioration of the national will."

His conclusion is one of many in which it is insisted that we must look to the drug store and the grocery for the real fighting urge. Courage comes in bottles or baskets in these fantastic days.

Dr. Wilder is one of the country's leading specialists on nutrition and diseases of metabolism. Born and reared in Cincinnati, he was educated at the University of Chicago, and Rush Medical college; practiced in Chicago and has been with the Mayo foundation since 1922. He was a medical gas officer in the World war.

Wickard's Policies Studied By Farmers, Consumers

Both Groups Decry Price Fixing Program; Wayne Coy Appointed to 'Chaperon' Federal Defense Budget.

By BAUKHAGE
National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has discovered that he has been elected chief devil by the leaders of two large groups of Americans—farmers and consumers. You know you cannot be a successful group leader of any kind unless you have a devil to fight.

And so the otherwise genial gentleman who runs the department of agriculture has learned something new. It is something that all news and editorial writers and all radio commentators know: namely, that if you can make both sides in any controversy mad you can sleep with a pretty clear conscience because that means you are walking a fairly just and middle course.

In Secretary Wickard's case the farm group leaders say he is forcing down prices. They say he has deserted his own and gone consumer-minded. They say this because he announced on April 3 that the government would support prices of hogs and poultry and eggs in the open markets at certain prices. These prices are somewhat below the level of the so-called "parity prices" and that is one reason why he is a devil to farmers. Parity prices, as all farmers know, were established in the twenties and were written into the agricultural adjustment acts in 1933 and 1938.

These prices were established in this way: The prices the farmer had to pay for the things he bought and the prices which he got for the things he sold in the years 1910 to 1914 were averaged. That ratio thus established was accepted by farm leaders as a goal to shoot at in the long fight in the twenties when agriculture tried to obtain legislation which would give it an equitable share in the national wealth. Later the parity figures were recognized by congress in the drafting of the agricultural acts, the purpose of which was to obtain for the farmer a decent return for his efforts by adjusting supply and consuming power as a part of the recovery program following the depression.

Desires Higher Prices. Now Secretary Wickard wants prices to go up. He does not say how far. All he says is that the government will support a price up to a figure which, admittedly is below the parity prices but higher than they were when he made the announcement and as high as his advisors felt the present situation required.

He has received plenty of complaints and what is more he has encouraged complaints by saying that he would take full responsibility for his action.

Now we know that one man's meat is another man's poison. Prices that are not high enough for the farm leaders are too high for the consumer group leaders. It gives them a fine opportunity to get together and chant: "In a crisis you mustn't boost prices."

The dead cats from both camps fill the air and all Secretary Wickard has to do is duck with a quick eye and a clear conscience.

And, incidentally, he is getting a few moribund felines that are really for Leon Henderson whose job is price fixing under the OEM. Mr. Henderson announced that farm machinery should not sell for any more than it did in the first quarter of this year. And immediately the department of agriculture received a flood of letters which, instead of saying "hurray for our side," said that Mr. Wickard was letting his colleague, Mr. Henderson, get away with murder by fixing the cost of farm machinery at what the whiners say is already exorbitant.

And so nobody is exactly happy but the unhappiness, according to Wickard (including his own) is fairly equitably distributed!

President Appoints Coy To 'Chaperon' Budget
A little over a decade ago a young Hoosier from the town of Franklin moved to Delphi, Ind., not with the idea of becoming a Delphic oracle but to run a newspaper. He bought the Citizen and met a lot of other citizens around the court house and over at the post office.

Today, former assistant Federal Security Administrator Wayne Coy is executive assistant to the President of the United States with the job of chaperoning the biggest peacetime defense budget in history. He was recently made liaison officer for the Office of Emergency Management.

Mr. Coy has just moved from his office in the Federal Security Administration building into a corner of the bureau of the budget office in the state department, with one end of the hall screened off for a secretary. But his quarters do not concern him. He is used to making himself at home where he can hang his hat.

Just what a President's executive assistant does is not easy to describe. He is supposed to have "a passion for anonymity" and likewise a passion for keeping quiet. His function is to take as many details off the President's mind as possible, to carry messages and give other officials as many right answers as possible. In other words, help them settle problems about which otherwise they would insist on talking to the President.

Supported McNutt. Everybody in Indiana knows that Wayne Coy was the man behind McNutt. He left the Delphi Citizen to become McNutt's secretary when "handsome Paul" was governor of Indiana in 1933.

When the governor became high commissioner of the Philippines, Coy went along. He returned to run the presidential campaign for his boss. Earlier, when he was state relief administrator, he had met Harry Hopkins. At the Democratic convention in Chicago last summer he met him again. This time Harry was engineering the third-term nomination and Coy and his boss had to step back. But Coy and Hopkins are still close friends. That helps in the present job with Hopkins, virtual first assistant to the President. Harry can answer a lot of Wayne's questions without bothering the Chief.

Wayne Coy started out when he was in high school to be a newspaper man. He was a reporter on the local paper in Franklin before he became a publisher in his own right in Delphi.

I talked with him as he sat in his temporary office in the state Federal Reserve building with its marble panels and its indirect lighting—quite a contrast to the office of a weekly newspaper. Naturally I asked him if his editorial experience had been any help in his present job.

He paused a moment and then said, "I know this sounds like orating, but there is nothing more valuable than having to live with people. That's what you do on a weekly newspaper. You live the lives of your subscribers."

"Here in Washington too many people forget the people in the country seats. My experience has helped me to visualize programs in terms of people. That helped me especially when I was in the Social Security administration. It helps you to see that your administration is carried on the county level. The tendency in the federal government is to carry on at the state level." At this point a secretary popped in.

"Brigadier General Watson on the phone," she said.

"Hello, Pop," said Coy. I knew this was going to be a very private conversation. Presidential Assistant Coy was going to talk with Presidential aide Watson (known to his intimates as "pop") about affairs of state. I left the ex-editor to his new job.

NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

SMALL windows and book shelves at the sides of a fireplace often create a monotonous series of rectangles. Watch out for them for they play an important part in decorating plans. You see them here in the small sketch—six of them—window; over-mantel space; window; book shelves; mantel; book shelves—around and around they go.

The only architectural change shown in the large sketch was a mantel facing built of three boards and simple mouldings. This broke up one rectangle. Irregular lines for swag drapes over the windows softened the angles of two more. A large picture or mirror over the mantel just added still another rectangle, so small prints were hung with ribbons. The arrangement of vines, books and bibelots on the shelves took care of the rest.

NOTE: Directions for cutting and making the swag draperies shown in today's sketch may be found on page 17 of Book 1, in the series of service booklets offered with these articles. Also book 7 is now ready for mailing. It contains more than 30 of these home-making ideas with step-by-step directions for each; as well as a description of the series. Booklets are 10 cents each and should be ordered direct from:

You don't have to be a nut to use a toothpick—privately. But if you are a pecan tree you can use a lot of them. The department of agriculture has discovered that toothpicks soaked in a growth-promoting substance and stuck into pecan tree roots, improve the circulation, stimulate new roots and help the trees survive the first critical season.

In these days of crowded White House press conferences unless you get in the front row the best place to hear is in the middle of the room. MICHIGAN STATE MIRROR NEWS already completed. The air force would number 6,000 men.

Detroit Arsenal
Because of its pool of skilled labor and machine tools, the Detroit metropolitan area is becoming the leading arsenal city.

The war department has built near the Chrysler automobile plants a center for making medium and heavy tanks. It will employ 3,200 three shifts twenty four hours a day.

The navy department has contracted with the Hudson Motor company to operate a government arsenal in Warren township of Macomb county for manufacture of naval ordnance. This plant, when in full production, will employ 3,800 men.

Within the city of Detroit is Fort Wayne, a historic military post, the future status of which is yet to be announced.

Naval Stations
A naval aircraft station has been established at Grosse Isle near Detroit where preliminary ground work is being given prior to actual flight training at Pensacola, Florida.

The navy department has also established a machinist's training school at the Ford Motor Company River Rouge plant. Emphasis is placed on use of torpedo boats and submarine chasers.

These two training stations of the navy, together with the force at Fort Wayne, also constitute a military reserve for emergency use in the Detroit area.

Fort Custer
A few miles from Battle Creek is Fort Custer, headquarters of the Fifth army division, a so-called streamlined blitz-style unit of combat teams.

Besides the 12,000 men in this division, Fort Custer has some 5,000 draftees who are undergoing training. This spring the government acquired 4,300 more acres for use of an enlarged airport and an artillery practice range.

Sprawling over hundreds of acres are 832 new buildings, while some 200 more are "on paper" or under construction.

If the nation's destiny in 1941 is to be involvement in the European war, Fort Custer may be called upon to house two or three times its planned capacity.

Graying, the national guard camp, may become a chemical warfare center.

New Problems

It is inevitable that nine government military centers in Michigan in addition to the privately owned and operated "arsenals" throughout the state will create a multitude of problems, mostly within the radius of each center: Defense against sabotage, civilian protection, health safeguards for both civilians and soldiers, wholesome recreation possibly at resorts centers as official "leave areas" for soldiers and sailors, agricultural resources and production, housing for industrial workers, price stabilization and consumer interests, training of human resources and so on.

The subject of civil defense alone—and this is only one problem of many—would require preparedness to meet possible emergencies due to air raids, fire, medical care and sanitation and chemical warfare.

Thus the council will become a clearing house to integrate the parts of governmental and private agencies in the defense effort.

Prices
Co-operating with the Michigan Food Council which is a separate coordinating food agency for food production, distribution and retailing in the state, the defense council would be expected to integrate action against unwarranted rises in prices or depreciation of quality and supply of consumer goods or services.

Price activities would include strengthening of machinery for consumer protection to prevent speculative accumulation, withholding and hoarding of materials and commodities; checking of food laws; comparing and following up enforcement methods; publicizing laboratory tests; assisting in inspection and grading of food supplies.

The two councils would work closely together with farm co-operatives, the Grange, and state and federal departments of agriculture.

Room
Regardless of the immediate outcome of the "Battle of the Atlantic" whether England goes down or not, authorities apparently agree in forecasting an unparalleled expansion of the present industrial and military activity for many months to come.

Financially, the cost leaves the average citizen punch-drunk and numb; the total sum will be fantastically unreal.

Over Sixty-Eight Years of Safe Banking
IN DEFENSE OF SAVINGS

For eight years we have lived in an expensive atmosphere. The cry has been "spend, spend." Spend our way to prosperity. Government and business have contributed their voices to this psychology. Government has supplied large sums of public funds. Business has advertised by publication and radio the easy payment plans. As a result public debt and private debt has risen and is still rising.

We, as bankers, can speak from over seventy-five years of experience. We know that governments do not differ greatly from individuals. We know that those individuals who over-buy, over-borrow, overspend, sooner or later have little to show for their money but memories. We know that those individuals that save, plan expenditures, plan borrowing wisely are enjoying the fruits of their labor even in depression times.
