

Pinckney Wins from Hartland

After Sustaining Two Crushing Defeats, Local Team, with a Revised Lineup Comes Back Strong to Beat Hartland 20 to 7

After suffering disastrous defeat at the hands of Stockbridge and Ann Arbor Reserves and with the future looking very dark, the Pinckney high school football team counter-attacked Friday and defeated Hartland, who had won their last three contests, 20 to 7. With both Kuhn and Ludtke out of the lineup and Clawson quitting school, the entire lineup of the first five contests had to be revised. Palmer, regular end, was shifted to quarter, Reynolds and Reid, the latter a lineman, played the halves and Paul Young, another end, played full-back. Fred Singer, a 104 pounder who has not been on the squad was at one end and Phil Gentile, a sub lineman, at the other. Hollis Swarthout and Dutch Baughn were at tackles, Melnik and Jim Burns at guards and Doug Plummer at center and, wonder of wonders, this green lineup clicked, did things, and went places.

Pinckney started right in making first downs but as they usually had to start from their own 10 yard line they did not get anywhere. Finally they made a touchdown on a line play after Reynolds made a 24 yard gain around end. Palmer made the extra point. Again they threatened and reached the 10 yard line but a fumble spoiled this chance. In the first half they made 10 first downs but scored only 7 points.

In the second half they had bad luck. Pinckney fumbled a kickoff and Hartland recovered on the 20 yard line. By the aid of a penalty Hartland reached the 1 yard line where Pinckney rallied and took the ball on downs. Pinckney started another drive and Paul Young received a pass and took it to the 5 yard line for a 30 yard gain. Here he went over for a touchdown.

In the third period all the reserves were sent in and Spark, the Hartland triple threat man, made a 30-yard run around end to the 10 yard line. Then he went over for a touchdown.

The Pinckney starting lineup was sent back in and they started another march with Palmer finally going over for his second touchdown after a series of gains by line plays and end runs with an occasional pass. Palmer forward passed to Reynolds for the extra point. Final score, Pinckney 20, Hartland 7.

16 Men to Go on Nov. 15

The New Method of Giving Men a Physical Examination Before Inductions Into Army Starts

On Saturday, Nov. 15, some 16 men from Livingston county will be sent to Detroit for physical examination previous to being inducted into the army. Induction will follow a little later in the month. Those to be sent are:

George Thomas	Howell
Clifford Line	Fowlerville
Charles Itsell	Howell
Julius Aschenbrenner	Pinckney
Robert J. Avis	Brighton
Donald Galbraith	Brighton
Charles M. Smith	Howell
Francis McClain	Howell
Charles Fawley	Hamburg
George B. Dickinson	Howell
Harland Elliott	Fowlerville
Raymond Goule	Howell
Robert Yates	Howell
Fred VanBlaircum	Howell
Harold Caskey	Gregory
Earl L. Ebert	Fowlerville

There may be some additions to this list as Aschenbrenner has enlisted in the navy and Fawley has appealed his classification.

In December, Livingston county will be called upon to send some 42 men to Detroit for pre-physical examination. This will about clean up the present group of class 1A, as only about 50 men are left in this class. However, when the deferrals for farm work of about six months expire in December and January, this is expected to add about 100 more men to the list.

NAVY RECRUITING OFFICER

Petty Officer Stork, in charge of the United States Navy Recruiting office at Pontiac was here several hours Friday and signed up Julius Aschenbrenner and Paul Singer for the United States Navy. Harold Farley also filled out an application but was rejected on account of bad eyesight. Officer Stork carries an eye chart with him and tests the eyes of all applicants who wear glasses. Burdith Clawson also signed. Several of those who signed coupons the officer was unable to contact but expects to make another trip here this week.

This officer has been in the navy for 19 years. Previous to this he worked for a summer or two on the Alvin Pratt farm between Dexter and Ann Arbor. Seven of the 19 years he spent in China and three were spent in different European countries. He holds the rank of chief petty officer, the highest an enlisted man can rank without going to Annapolis. On the boat he is chief water tender in the engine room. He will be on recruiting duty for three years.

A number of other boys talked with this officer while he was here and he expects to call on them later. He is a very pleasant person to meet.

Paul Singer and Burdith Clawson passed their physical examinations Tuesday and were enrolled in the navy. They will leave Friday for Newport, R. I. By going now they will be entitled to a furlough at Christmas.

MARAUDER ARRESTED

Last Thursday night Mrs. Clare Palmer was awakened by a noise next door, in the Floyd Weeks house. The Palmers live in the George Teeple house, which they recently purchased. She awakened her son, Herbert, and they saw a light on the porch of the Weeks home next door and a man apparently trying to get in. They called the sheriff at Howell and a couple of deputies came over and apprehended one Stanley Harrison, no home. He had forced his way into the screened-in porch of the Weeks home, which was untenanted and had gathered material to build a fire on the porch. Harrison was much the worse for liquor. He was given a 20-day jail sentence by a Howell justice when he pled guilty to drunkenness. His fingerprints were sent in to East Lansing and he was found to have a record, having served several sentences in the House of Correction.

NOTICE

The Regular meeting of the Pinckney Chapter No. 145 O.E.S. will be held Friday evening, Nov. 7th at eight o'clock. Election of officers.

Dear Folks: Well, our company reached here at 1:30 p. m. Sunday after a fast trip. The weather is wonderful here, just like summer. You can go around with only your pants on and no shirt. The food is fine and so are the sleeping quarters. This is a new station, only recently opened. This camp is mostly devoted to a metal smith school. There is good pay in it if you learn the trade. I am fine and there is no need for you to worry about me at all. I am going to save up my money and will probably be home Christmas.

So Paul wants to know what we do in the navy. After taking the examination in the main recruiting station you are sent to a training station. The Great Lakes Naval Station near Chicago is the training station for Michigan and 12 other states. When you arrive there you are taken to the receiving building where you receive clothing and bedding. Then you are assigned to a company which has 128 men. Your first three weeks are spent in quarantine where you are not allowed outside of a certain area. You are given three shots and a vaccination. The shots are for scarlet fever and other diseases you might have come to the station with. You are not allowed any visitors for three weeks.

After this three weeks of quarantine you are sent to the main side of the camp they call "PARADISE". You are given a 12 hour leave and may go to Chicago or to any other nearby place. You stay here for three weeks and then you get a nine-day furlough. I had appendicitis, so it took me six weeks instead of three to get through this stage of training.

After finishing this three-week training period you will join an outgoing unit and go either to a ship or a trade school. In order to go to trade school you have to take a written examination and have to pass it in order to make trade school. After you pass the examination you are given a month's preliminary training and then go to the trade school.

At all training stations recreation is furnished for the sailors. At Great Lakes is a fine gymnasium where they had boxing and many other sports. The food is fine and you can't beat the hours.

Yours with love,
Gerald Darrow

Demand Is Made That Agriculture Be Included in the State Advertising Program

As predicted in this column last February, state aid for advertising of Michigan agricultural products is due to become a legislative issue.

An annual appropriation of $100,000, only $20,000 less than the amount granted for tourist advertising, is sought by a new agricultural advertising committee headed by W. F. Doyle, manager of the Michigan Chain Stores Bureau and former state senator from Menominee.

This objective was determined at Lansing at a meeting called by Leo V. Card, commissioner of agriculture.

The state legislature set aside $30,000 for allocation to state groups on a matching basis for advertising Michigan products. When the State Supreme court upheld the apple advertising tax last winter, the rush for funds began. Requests totaled $64,000, more than double the sum at hand. The agreement for a $100,000 grant followed.

Doyle's interest in the advertising programs springs chiefly from co-sponsorship of "Michigan Days" last spring by independent and chain stores. Under the new advertising plan, one-fifth would be set aside by each group for promotion of "Michigan Days" annually for Michigan food products.

Tourist Conflict
State tourist associations, each of which now receives $30,000 annually for advertising, have been cool to the inclusion of any amount for agricultural advertising in the legislative appropriation.

They have pointed out that farmers received a direct benefit from the influx of tourist dollars into Michigan from purchase of additional foodstuffs at resort centers.

Whether harmony can be maintained between the food groups including the Michigan Food Council, representing the retailers, distributors and producers, and the four tourist association is a matter of speculation. Whereas food advertising would be handled through

VICTIMS OF AIRPLANE CRASH

Among the victims of the airplane crash near St. Thomas, Ont., last week were a number from this section. Erwin Benz, 35, was from Ann Arbor. He was the son of the late John Benz and was born on the Benz farm, east river road, between Pinckney and Dexter. Raymond Root, 39, was from Ypsilanti and Joseph Bacon, 37, from Jackson. All were enroute from N. Y. Among the 20 killed were the stewardess, Mary Blackly, the only woman victim.

George VanNorman of Detroit was also one of the victims. He is well known as he owns a summer home at Baughn's Bluffs, Portage Lake.

HALLOWE'EN DAMAGE

Not a great deal of damage was done here, Halloween, with one exception. The usual number of wind-dows were soaped. A number of outbuildings were tipped over or carried away. A school party and a race at the gymnasium kept most of the young people occupied until a late hour.

The one inexcusable bit of damage committed was the pushing of an Essex sedan, belonging to Edward Jankowski, of Detroit, into the mill pond near the home of Lucius Doyle. Jankowski married Miss Margaret Dark of Anderson. He had to leave the car in the business section when it refused to start. The entire front end of the car was submerged in the pond. The state police were called and took a number of fingerprints from the car.

CURRENT COMMENT

"By Ye Editor"

The American people are wholly unable to grasp the hostage execution system carried out by Hitler in his conquered European countries. He recently announced that for every German assassinated in France, 50 French hostages would be shot. This is an old barbarian system used way back in the middle ages to subdue conquered countries. When a city was captured a number of its leading citizens were carried off into captivity with the warning that their lives would be forfeited if the conquered people rebelled. It has been hundreds of years since such a system has been put into effect. Savages also use it. It was the custom of the American Indians to slaughter their captives when hard pressed and in some cases to burn them at the stake in plain sight of the fort or stronghold they were besieging. If these methods fail to strike the required terror into the hearts of Europe, Hitler may be forced to adopt more extreme measures from the dark ages, such as burning at the stake and crucifixion.

It is announced, after much dicker- ing, that the aluminum donated last fall by the housewives of Michigan has been consigned to smelters and that 20 per cent of it will be used to make airplanes. The 33,000 pounds contributed by the people of Livingston, Ingham, Gratiot, Shiawassee, Jackson, Eaton, and Lenexa counties was sent last week to the Rochester Smelting and Refining Co. at Rochester, N. Y. Mayor Sam Street Hughes supervised the loading of it and some 200 boys from the state industrial school at Lansing, assisted. Now a drive is being mapped out to gather up all scrap steel. There are thousands of tons of this rusting away in the many used car yards all over the state, which will be gathered. These places are a blot on the landscape and this drive will not only give the government much-needed steel but will clean up the landscape of the state in general.

Central America and the Panama Canal and South America in general will probably continue to be a weak spot in the scheme for national defense for the United States. Nazi agents are numerous there and are apparently allowed to work unmolested. This country had made arrangements for aviation bases in a number of these countries but the German advance in Russia has held up these grants pending the final result of the war as the South and Central American countries intend to be on the winning side. A big German victory would undoubtedly be a great stimulant to the Nazi influence there.

The Republican party continues to be put on the foreign policy issue with the majority of the members of that party in Congress leaning toward the isolation policy. Wendell Willkie, late Republican presidential candidate, has started a drive to blast his party from their isolation stand and has a petition signed by 100 Republican senators, state chairmen, and national committeemen of that party, from all parts of the nation asking for the complete repeal of the neutrality act. This is a highly important development. Up to date the party had drifted aimlessly with no leadership strong enough to follow a definite course. Several groups, all representing different shades of thought on domestic and foreign issues have attempted to take the leadership and the result has been confusion.

Witness Finally Admitted Stronger Force's Influence

Cross-examining a witness on the other side, an attorney tried by every means possible to discredit him.

"You tell us you came to the city in search of work," he said meaningfully. "I put you to that there was another, a stronger, motive which brought you all that distance. Isn't that so?"

The witness hesitated a time, then slowly replied, "Well, yes, there was."

"And," exclaimed the barrister triumphantly, "Now tell the court what it was."

"A locomotive," replied the witness blandly.

U. S. Farm Aid to Britain Likely to Pay Dividends

Better Home-Consumption Market for American Farmer Is Cited as Post-War Period Goal; British Expected to Co-operate.

By BAUKHAGE

National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street N. W., Washington, D. C.

After sitting down for an hour with the undersecretary of agriculture, Paul H. Appleby, on a quiet Saturday afternoon when only defense workers and newsmen have to labor, I walked back through the park with a feeling that perhaps some of the lease-lend bread which America is casting across the water might come back buttered, and even with jam on it.

Undersecretary Appleby was fresh off the Clipper from Europe where he and AAA Administrator Rudolph M. Evans had been talking food with the British.

Three things came out of my queries of the undersecretary as to his experiences.

First: Thanks to the United States, the British have passed what looked like a crisis in their food supply.

Second: The American farmer is going to get a little extra gravy for the extra sweating he is going to do to produce more "food for freedom."

Third: (and this is what I meant by the butter and jam on the lease-lend bread) Appleby believes, and he told the British so, that the United States has a post-war goal in its extra-production efforts. That goal is to build up a better home-consumption market for the American farmer—and all farmers—and the British are expected to co-operate.

As to the first point, Mr. Appleby was chary about giving out facts and figures. He did assure me, however, that quantitatively the United States is now delivering at British ports an amount of food sufficient to take care of the basic needs of the population, civil and military. That means there are enough ships to handle and deliver, taking sinkings into consideration, this minimum tonnage. So if the present amount of tonnage is limited and the type of food required for a balanced diet is raised in the United States, this island will not starve. Although the British will be getting on with a lot less than they are used to, they will have enough of the right kind of food to do the job they are expected to do.

Complaining 'Wasn't Done'

According to Appleby, even when the pinch was at its worst early last spring, popular opinion in England was such that morale was not affected seriously. Complaining simply "wasn't done," as the English say. In other words, if somebody sounded off about what he was not getting to eat in a public place, he would be reproved in short order by his listeners.

The British food ministry and the department of agriculture officials now understand each other, according to Appleby, and each is satisfied as to the other's efforts, and those efforts have been co-ordinated.

Specifically, Undersecretary Appleby and Administrator Evans received suggestions as to improved packaging—for instance, minor changes in the content of a canned product, the kind of cartons that best protected a certain commodity. You see many of these products, in fact most of them, the United States had never exported at all before and American officials did not have experience in the best packaging methods. For instance, there were lessons in packaging and labeling to be learned about cheese.

The Americans suggested to the British that it would be easier to arouse the sympathy and co-operation of people in this country if they knew just what this food was being used for—say, one thing for school children, another for babies, something else for workers.

The British showed a break-down in the statistics was impossible because of exceedingly abnormal conditions of transportation. There is, for instance, uncertainty as to where a given ship is going to land, what railroad will be available for shipments. Then, too, there are many difficulties of administration which make it impossible to channel special shipments to special points or assign them to special groups.

Distribution Control

Another thing the Americans examined thoroughly was the control by the government of distribution of the products. All food belongs to the British government which turns meat over directly to the retailer and the other material to the wholesaler. The Americans say they were convinced that no profiteering exists in this procedure.

Although we have been able to bring lease-lend shipments up to 8 per cent of British food consumption in tonnage, and 20 per cent in value, that does not mean that our problem as far as production goes is solved. It is easy to provide a lot of things the British do not need, and hard to get some of the things they need most. For example: The British wanted 30 per cent of our whole navy bean crop. Navy beans were encouraged and American farmers produced 35 per cent more navy beans than normal. But a cow can't act that quickly when you ask for more calves, and when you get the calves it takes them longer to produce a quart of milk than it does for a garden to sprout a bean.

Cheese is another product that does not leap out of the ground. In some places you have to plant, not only the cow to produce the milk but you have to produce a factory to process the milk into cheese.

Now, as to point No. 2: What the American farmer is going to get out of all this. Mr. Appleby—expressing, I take it, the opinion of the department of agriculture and the government—feels very definitely that the American farmer must have a profit motive to bring about this extra production and likewise a profit when he has produced it.

What About 6 Per Cent?

"Mr. Morgenthau," I said, "believes that business ought to be allowed to make only 6 per cent on its investment in the emergency."

"Well," said Mr. Appleby, "if the farmer got 6 per cent and wages for his own labor and management, I think he'd be satisfied. Anybody ought to be satisfied with that in time of crisis."

And this factor—giving the farmer some assurance that his plant expansion, as they call it in industry, necessary to produce the things Britain needs, will not be a white elephant when the war is over, I mentioned—namely, the attempt to assure some universal benefit out of the whole lease-lend food effort—a benefit deriving from increased consumption in peace-time which the farmer as well as the rest of the nation would share.

The farmer does not want to have a new lot of surpluses on his hands when the war is over. He and the department of agriculture want to understand that the new production they are now building can be domestically consumed after the war is over.

Such consumption seems a long way off but it is a star worth following—once there were three wise men who had the faith to follow a star.

'Deep Satisfaction'

The other day a friend of mine went into a famous Washington restaurant. When he was seated a tall man strode in and took his seat alone in a corner. He is a well-known figure in Washington and my friend watched him. He took out the evening paper, opened it with a flourish and began to leaf through it. Suddenly his face lit up with a smile of deep satisfaction. He folded the paper carefully, set it up against the water carafe and began to read. His smile spread.

My friend wondered what he was reading and since he had a copy of the same paper and could see the lower half of the page the tall one was reading with such gratification my friend turned to that page in his own paper.

It bore a large picture of John Llewellyn Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and former head of the C. I. O.

The tall man looking at it was John Llewellyn Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and former head of the C. I. O.

De gustibus non est disputandum. The brilliant editor of the Farm Journal, Wheeler McMillen, says he doesn't like parsley. I enjoy the rabbit food myself. But I liked the corn-covered cover of his October issue so well that I pasted it right up next to my map of Europe to take my mind off the war.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

As might be expected since Camel cigarettes are America's favorite, the induction into service of thousands of selectees and volunteers has only emphasized the service man's preference for Camels. Actual sales records from service stores show Camel is the favorite with men in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard. Prince Albert is another big favorite with men in camp or on ships. Since service men have indicated in all surveys to date that tobacco ranks first in the gift line-up with them, it is natural that local tobacco dealers are featuring cartons of Camels and pound tins of Prince Albert as ideal gifts for the men in the service from the folks back home.—Adv.

WINDSTORM PROTECTION FOR ONE YEAR!

"The State Mutual Cyclone Insurance Company paid its policyholders over $500,000... as the result of a single windstorm on November 11, 1940. Since its founding, in 1897, State Mutual has paid over $5,000,000 in windstorm losses. Windstorm insurance is just as economical as it's necessary. Think of it! 15c buys $100 worth of windstorm protection for one year. Don't delay! Act today!"

BIG SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY

The John Marshall National Chemical Foundation of Chicago have sent us a bulletin concerning the manufacture of paint from milk. To state the walls of the new Detroit postoffice annex was painted with this. We question the newness of this method. Back in our boyhood days an auctioneer by the name of Chamberlain in Dexter made white barn paint of skim milk and lime and red paint of venetian red and skim milk, which he used on his buildings.

CONSERVATION NOTES

The deer hunter will have a wide variety of counties to choose from in which to hunt this year. Roscommon had the most hunters last year, there being 25 to the square mile. 3,152 bucks were killed there the most in any county. The biggest percentage of deer was in Ontonagon county, where every other hunter or 51.7 per cent got deer. The total kill, however, was only half of Roscommon's. 31,320 deer were killed in the lower peninsula and 20,393 in the upper.

With fur prices going skyward, trappers are again warned not to deplete the rat supply by trapping all the breeding stock in the marshes.

Over 300 licenses to hunt deer by bow and arrow were issued in this state this year. Last year they killed but eight deer.

A big stream pollution meeting will be held at Lansing on Nov. 17 to take up the killing of fish and ducks in the Monroe marshes. The sportsmen claim this is caused by the dumping of waste in the stream by a paper mill and steel company. Scientists say it is caused by lack of oxygen in the water.

Rabbits and squirrel were found in good numbers in the 6000 acres in the Waterloo project thrown open to hunters but pheasants are scarce. The reason for this is that pheasants feed mostly on corn and therefore keep close to cultivated lands.

Springer spaniels and beagles lead all other dogs in popularity among hunters.

Lake Michigan still furnishes the biggest share of Michigan's two million dollar fish supply. $764,478 worth of fish were taken from Lake Michigan and $599,057 from Lake Huron.

Why Do Banks Charge Higher Rates Than They Pay?

If a bank is to be profitable -- and thus remain strong and sound -- its income must exceed its outgo. Even if all its funds were available for loans or investments, it could not pay as much interest as it charges, because rendering banking service costs money. In actual fact, sizeable sums must be "immobilized" as reserves. Other sums are invested in government bonds which pay very little.

Irene Blades won first prize for being the best dressed and Barbara Crowell won second prize for being funniest dressed.

Square dances were called by Clare Swarthout with music by Mrs. Abe Haines, playing the violin.

Cider and doughnuts were served after which every one rushed to the haunted house to be haunted.

The basketball schedule will not start until next month but practice will begin soon for both boys and girls.

MICHIGAN STATE MIRROR NEWS

the state department of agriculture tourist advertising funds are allocated directly to the tourist groups which, in turn, must account to the state for their expenditures.

The tourist interests gave in to pressure from the administration this year by voluntarily setting aside $5,000 from their $30,000 annual grants for use of a $20,000 state-wide advertising program and the establishment of a central office at the capitol. During Frank Murphy's regime, the associations were threatened with outright scalping. Centralized state control was staved off, but it is bound to be revived under pressure for more advertising funds.

Defense Headaches

Financial headaches, due to defense priorities and a rapid swing to "all-out" war production, are beginning to multiply.

Governor Murray D. VanWagoner speaking at Washington, estimated gloomily that between 100,000 and 150,000 Michigan automobile workers would be thrown out of work between January and July as automobile plants re-tooled for defense.

This would place a new drain on unemployment compensation funds and a new burden on relief loads.

Another bottleneck is being felt already in many small towns where non-defense industries are being hard pressed to get raw materials needed for defense.

Washington is being urged to speed the letting of arms contracts in advance of the 1942 unemployment slump. The lag in blueprints and tooling is always greater than the worker believes it should be. Even if the war must continue until 1943 and possibly 1944 as Washington is now assuming, industrial hard-times will prevail and inflated prosperity in many communities of Michigan unless red tape is slashed, action is ordered. Such is the governor's belief, and signs are bearing out his predictions.

Tax Headache

The federal government's insistence that all defense equipment and production must be tax exempt has sent chills up and down backbones of both state and county officials.

In Wayne county it is estimated that shutting down automobile plants will remove millions of dollars annually from personal property assessments. If defense equipment is tax exempt, what is going to happen? Figure it out for yourself.

Louis M. Nims, director of the state sales tax board, foresees an immediate decline in revenue if the federal government's policy prevails to waive all taxes on defense operations. Estimates of potential losses run from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000 although it is felt that eventually when the readjustment to defense production has been made the return of purchasing power will offset the temporary loss of revenue.

Farm Prosperity

At the Sault Ste. Marie state convention of the Michigan Grange, Dean E. L. Anthony of Michigan State college school of agriculture, counseled farmers not to buy larger farms and more equipment from the new profits from higher-priced products in 1942.

Avoid the temptation, he warned, as an economic letdown from today's crazy spending is inevitable when the emergency ends.

"We should know that as soon as this war is over, the world will return to its land, exhausted and too poor to buy our products. We will have a farm machine built for an excess demand."

Civil Service

Political control of Michigan's state prisons is on the way out, according to Garrett Heyns, state corrections director, who says that the new civil service amendment will prevent the frequent turnover of wardens and state employees and make for new efficiency in our penal system.

In civil service tests Warden Simon R. Anderson of Marquette prison Warden Warren J. Dodge of Ionia prison failed to qualify for their positions.

Eligibles for their jobs include A. Ross Pascoe, chairman of the parole board; Joel R. Moore, former warden at Jackson (appointed by Murphy); Dr. Wallington B. Huntley, medical director at Jackson, and Hilmer Gellein, former corrections director.

LET US TELL YOU MORE ABOUT IT

Elegance and Refinement Are Apparent in Furred Costumes

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THERE is a genuine feeling for elegance and refinement expressed throughout the fall and winter fashion program that bespeaks the discriminating taste of best-dressed women. Among the signs that point to a definite movement toward distinctive apparel that carries a message of "tone" and quality is the emphasis placed on luxury fabrics this season, on sumptuous furs, important-looking jewels and accessory accents that impart thoroughbred touches to the costume.

Then, too, the revival of dress-up clothes for "after five" is noted this season. The street-length dinner dress is an important fashion which in turn brings back into the picture formal little early Victorian dinner hats to wear with them. The new long gloves add dignity and luxury.

That there is a definite importance attached to richly fur-trimmed costumes was a fact emphasized when the Style Creators of Chicago presented a showing of representative fall and winter modes recently, three of which appear in the accompanying illustration. These luxurious costume suits of wool have dresses that are jeweled-studded at the top and have fur-trimmed jackets for added elegance.

Smart and distinctive is the fitted three-quarter length cutaway bordered in fox shown to the left in the picture. Its matching dress has below-elbow sleeves, a tucked neckline and a huge clip of silver, turquoise and aquamarine. A cleverly styled pompadour hat of felt adds a convincing style touch. Amethyst-colored wool is the fabric selection for the suit in the center of the group. Its hip-length jacket is distinguished by a flattering collar of blue-dyed fox. The high draped turban is in two shades of amethyst.

The fitted and bloused jacket of the soft brown wool suit shown to the right has a front of sable-dyed squirrel. An autumn brown felt hat with wide brim softly shirred and choux of green velvet tops this handsome outfit.

A record-breaking season that will dramatize furs to the limit is in promise. Designers are using fur so intriguingly that only seeing is believing. Their efforts run in two distinct avenues of thought. One approach leads to the lavish use of fur as a trimming, as demonstrated in the accompanying illustration. The newest coats are enriched with tuxedo panels of fur, dresses have tunics heavily bordered with fur, and there are attractive appliques of flat fur.

On the other hand, designers are playing up high drama in separate fur pieces. Muffs were never so huge and, as if to stress this fact, hats in matching fur are often so tiny they look like topknots perched on pompadours or thrust at a dangerous angle over the forehead. However, milliners are seeing to it that there are fitted snoods at the back or other contrivances that insure firm anchorage to the head. Nor are all fur hats tiny, for one of the smartest hat fashions this season is the wide brim that is fur-faced.

All sorts of fur neckpieces are made of fur, the latest bit of fashion gossip centering about the new stole effects. Some of them are like capelet scarfs. Other fur fantasies include fur-cuffed gloves, huge bows of fur to wear at the throat, shoe ornaments, bracelets with dangles of fur, corsages of fur flowers, and fur motifs to applique.

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Jewels on Wool

A button craze is on. Designers are working overtime devising ways to "show off" buttons. Fashion even has a surprise for your tailored wool suit—jeweled buttons! It's this kind of ingenuity that keeps things interesting. From the American couture series by "la Mode," come the buttons of vari-colored jewels that march in double rank and file up and down the jacket of this smart suit, climaxed by a matching spray lapel pin. You will find these jewelry-and-button ensembles equally fascinating on tailored and dress-maker suits.

So brighten up that dark sheer wool, or make that gaudy plaid even more enchanting with buttons, buttons and more buttons!

All That Glitters

Is Right in Style

Everything in the way of hats, dresses, suits and accessories glitters this season. You do not have to stop and wonder if this glittering touch or that will be in good taste. It is good taste, according to fashion's decree. The embroideries massed on evening fashions are masterpieces of needlework. The jet accents on day frocks, be they simple wool or regal velvet, are everywhere. Nailheads are no respecters of fabrics. They glitter on suits and on elaborate dress gowns alike.

Black frocks are being illumined with flashes of gay beadwork and embroidery. And the latest is bright red, green or vivid blue sleeves, lavishly embroidered. Hats, too, come in for their share of glitter. Some are of fur encrusted with gay sequins.

Dressy Afternoon Suits Of Velvet or Rich Silk

The trend toward gentlewoman fashions is reflected in the new afternoon suits displayed in current costume collections. You will still wear tweeds for mopping and about town, but for afternoons you will be wanting a suit in black, brown or deep jewel-colored velvet. If you prefer, you can choose a suit of elegant moire silk. Most of the suits have jackets with flaring peplums.

Match Them

Match your petunia-colored gloves with stockings in identical hue. Give your simple black dress a dashing filip with these accessories. Top it with a little jet dinner hat—that's fashion's way of doing it this season.

Flag of Christian Church

It is an international flag, signifying the internationalism of Christianity, and may be flown by any Christian church anywhere in the world.

For many years church members in the United States and abroad wanted an emblem to symbolize Christianity. So, in 1897, an American, Charles Carlton Overton, created a flag with a red cross on a deep field of blue, surrounded by a white background. This flag has been adopted by the major Christian faiths.

St. Mary's Notes

The month of November is devoted to the suffering souls. A plenary indulgence may be gained during the octave of All Souls Day by receiving Holy Communion... receiving the Sacraments and making a visit to the parish cemetery and saying six "Our Fathers" and six "Hail Marys" and "six Glory Be to the Fathers." This privilege is extended only to next Sunday, for the intention of the poor souls.

This week's issue of the Sunday Visitor carries the following article "She needed no food whatever for herself at anytime, declared a stigmatized peasant woman of Donnersmuth, Bavaria, when Nazi authorities called at her house to insure war-time food tickets. Interviewed there shortly after the war started, Therese was found in excellent health."

We recommend in this month's issue of the Catholic Digest the following brilliant articles: "They Banished God", by Frank P. Cassidy; "The Inspiration of Francis Thompson", by Robert W. Gardner, M.M.; "Plans for Peace", by Michael De La Bedoyere. "Robert Fl-herty Rediscovered America", by Russell Lord. This digest may be found at the church Sunday.

Meaning... "I do not believe we can insert the principles of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States into the hearts of men with a bayonet. Bombs and poison gas should not be used as a missionaries to spread the doctrine of the Universal Brotherhood of Men."

The souls in Purgatory certainly pray for their friends and dear ones on earth. They probably know our struggles in a general way.

"The souls of the dead can have concern for the living" says St. Thomas, "even though we do not know their condition. Of themselves they do not possess information concerning the living. Yet they may obtain this information from souls that have gone to them from earth, or through the angels or devils, or, perhaps, the spirit of God reveals it to them."

Undoubtedly, the souls can pray for themselves. They can beg God to inspire the faithful to help them and they can also invoke the assistance of the blessed in heaven.

Consoling indeed is the doctrine of purgatory. Because of this tender doctrine, death cannot break the bonds of love between us and our loved ones. Whilst they suffered on earth it was our joy to perform acts of love and tenderness for them. Now that they are gone we may still show our love. We can offer prayers and good works for them. We can have the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass offered for them. Holy faith teaches us that they profit by these deeds of ours. The power of love thus extends beyond the grave. For all pure love is eternal.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

The following marriage licenses were issued in this county last week: Wayne Robinson, 21, Howell, Thora Dietrich, 20, Howell; Wm. Cronkshaw, 62, Howell; Pearl Harvey, 58, Flint; John Emery, 71, New Carlisle, Ind.; Mrs. Mina Rusley, Brighton.

MRS. WILLIAM MAULBATSCH

Mrs. William Maulbatsch, 49, died at her home at Portage Lake, east side, Wednesday after a long illness. The funeral was held at the Meuhlig Funeral Home in Ann Arbor Saturday with burial in Forest Hill cemetery. The deceased is survived by her husband.

MET AT LANSING SATURDAY

Representatives from the large cities and urban centers who demand that their representation in the legislature be increased on account of a population growth, met in Lansing Saturday to take steps to bring this into effect. They intend to get enough signatures so that they can submit an amendment to the voters, giving them the representation they feel they are entitled to according to the state constitution. Livingston county, being a rural county, was not represented. Neil Stabler of the Stabler Oil Co. Ann Arbor, represented Washtenaw county. Paul O. Strawhecker of Grand Rapids, a brother of Mrs. O. L. Campbell of this place, was the Kent county representative.

FAMILY NIGHT

About 100 guests gathered at the Congregational church Monday evening for the November Family Night. A delicious potluck supper was served, with Mrs. Fred Read as chairman of the table committee.

Miss Joyce Isham was in charge of the program, which was greatly appreciated. Included in the program were several piano selections by Wilbur Herbst of Howell and readings by Mrs. Clarence Earl, also of Howell. A quiz contest was conducted by E. L. Hulce and Miss Isham, in which the ladies defeated their male opponents.

Brief remarks were made by Rev. McCluskey and Mrs. Edith Peck and Mrs. Lola Rogers, who will be away from the village during the winter months.

For December Family Night, the men of the parish will be in charge with Alfred Lane superintending the table service and P. H. Swarthout responsible for the program.

FORM WASHTENAW COUNTY BRANCH

A Washtenaw county branch of the America First Committee has been formed at Saline. The headquarters is the Saline Hotel, according to the Washtenaw Tribune. A. E. Hagan of Saline is chairman and Carolton Burkhardt, secretary. Both of these men are Saline residents. They state that branches will be organized in Dexter, Chelsea, Milan and Ypsilanti.

Last year a Saline minister conducted what he called an expose of Masonry and the American Legion.

NAVY QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

If I attend a Navy Trade School, how many hours a week of school work will I have? Navy men in the Trade Schools are given thirty-two hours of school work a week and about three hours of night watches.

Must my parents consent to my enlistment if I am under 21? Yes. All applicants must be at least 17 years of age and if under 21 years of age they need the consent of their parents or guardians.

How did the term "cut of his jib" originate? In the days of sailing vessels, nationalities of boats could be distinguished by their jibs (type of sail). A Spanish ship had no jib, English ships had one jib and French ships usually two. The phrase was later used to apply to men and gradually came into general usage.

Does the Navy offer retirement pay? Yes, it is possible for an enlisted man to receive as much as $133.75 a month in retirement pay.

One of the most popular hobbies of sailors in the U. S. Navy and Naval Reserve is that of collecting "covers" from the battleships that maintain their own Post Offices. Several naval magazines devote regular departments to stamp collections.

Many of the destroyers in the U. S. Navy are named in honor of enlisted men who are remembered for outstanding acts of bravery. A record of the service rendered by the individual for whom a ship is named is emblazoned on a plaque mounted on the ship and duplicate of each plaque hangs on the wall of Luce Hall in the United States Naval Academy.

In addition to the base pay received by enlisted men in the U.S. Navy and Naval Reserve, men receive additional pay for certain types of work or honors received. For example, a seaman awarded a Distinguished Service Medal, Distinguished Flying Cross or Navy Cross, receives $2 extra a month; gun captains receive $2 to $5 per month extra; mail clerks, $10 to $40 a month extra; expert rifle-men or expert pistol shots, $3 a month more; snaphoovers, $1 extra per month; divers $10 to $20 extra, etc.

In Uncle Sam's Navy all seamen can buy cigarettes, candy and ice cream from the "Canteen" at practically cost price.

A "rookie" in the U. S. Navy is called a "Boot." He is ranked as an apprentice seaman and receives $21 a month besides board, clothing and equipment. After four (4) months he automatically becomes a seaman second class and his pay is raised to $36 a month.

There are four (4) Naval Training Stations where Naval recruits are trained before going aboard ship or entering one of the Trade Schools. They are at Newport, Rhode Island; Great Lakes, Illinois; Norfolk, Virginia; and San Diego, California.

Enlistment in the United States Naval Reserve is for four years but if a man enlists today and the emergency ends within a period of several months, he will be returned to his civilian job as soon as possible after the emergency is over, and will not be required to complete his four year term in active service.
