

School Holds Open House

Pinckney School Entertains Parents and Patrons at Teaching and Exhibit Demonstration Last Thursday Night

Last Thursday night the Pinckney school observed an occasion which is becoming increasingly popular in the Michigan schools. This is known as open house, School convenes in the evening instead of the afternoon and the pupils have their regular classes at this time which the parents are able to visit and observe. These classes started at 6:30 p.m. and all teachers held classes from then until 8:00 p.m. All the class rooms were well visited and probably 200 people attended the evening program. Exhibits of the work performed by the pupils of the different grades were on display in the rear of the auditorium and also in the class rooms. These consisted of notebooks, compositions, essays, drawings and other samples of handiwork, such as a French guillotine by Phil Gentile.

After 8:00 p.m. those present assembled in the auditorium and a program was put on. Rev. McClucas gave the invocation, and a chorus from the grades sang several songs with Gloria Craft at the piano. Supt. Hulce then read a letter from the University inspector, who recently approved the school. The inspector suggested a number of improvements. They were a supervised course of physical education, enlarged library, addition of agriculture, shop, and manual training courses, use of the motion picture machine, more excursions by classes to points of interest such as the university, Ford factory, Greenfield Village etc. Mr. Hulce explained that lack of money and facilities had delayed most of these suggested additions, but that some of them would probably be adopted in the near future. That $100 worth of new books had been added to the library and more would be added; that the present movie machine is a 35 millimeter one and a fire-proof booth is required for it; that plans were underway to trade it for a smaller one for which no booth is needed; that a supervised physical education course is under consideration. At the present time there are no facilities for agriculture or shop training.

Hunters Return from North

Report a Smaller Number of Hunters in The Woods Than Last Year. Shirey Bros. Get Three Deer

Many deer hunters who went north for the week end returned. They reported smaller numbers of hunters in the woods than last year. In fact, there are not enough to get the deer stirred up.

Henry, James Jr. and Louis Shirey returned Sunday night with three deer shot near Comings. The boys did not leave until Friday and shot them Saturday morning soon after they went into the woods.

Word was received from the Miller-Livermore camp at Douglas Lake was that the only deer shot there had been shot by Clair Miller of this place.

The mild weather and lack of snow has not been conducive to good hunting.

Others returning with deer are Lynn Hendee, Joe Singer, and Don Bell of Portage Lake.

Other deer hunters who went up north last week were W. H. Meyer and Albert Shirley to Manton, Loren Meabon to Hillman, Dan Young, Ed Spears Jr., and Marjian Ledwidge to Lewiston.

So far there have been two fatalities in the woods, both Flint men, who were accidentally shot. In addition, a number of hunters have been wounded.

Near Oscoda a hunters bullet cut a high tension power line of the Consumers Power Co., plunging 11 towns into darkness and staging an impromptu blackout.

THANKSGIVING SMOKE

Is Isolation Stand Sincere?

S. L. A. Marshall Questions the Sincerity of Isolationist Leaders

In an address given before a Father and Son banquet at Plymouth, Mich., last Friday night, S.L.A. Marshall of the Detroit News, let a little light on the reason why in his radio debate with S. L. Elliott of Tennessee, Congressman Ham Fish came out for the occupation of Iceland by the United States and its retention at all hazards. Both Fish and Elliott are officers in the U. S. reserve corps, and previous to the debate they had a meeting to establish rules. Elliott spoke thus: "Mr. Fish, you and I are both reserve officers. Speaking from a military view, do you not think it is expedient that our country occupy Iceland and hold it as a defensive policy?" Fish replied, "I certainly do." "Then," said Elliott, "will you state this during our debate?" "Impossible," said Fish, "I have my constituents to think of." Elliott said, "Mr. Fish I have had a dictograph record made of our conversation and if you do not declare in favor of the occupation of Iceland during our debate, I will play it." This was the reason Fish confounded his hearers by declaring in favor of occupying Iceland. Marshall cited it as an example of those congressmen who place career above country.

Peter Edson, in the Ann Arbor News, says that the abuse of the congressional franking or free mailing privilege by certain senators and representatives is liable to blow the top off the biggest scandal congress has ever experienced. These congressmen named are isolationists and besides the secretary of Ham Fish, who has already been indicted, Edson named five senators and 11 representatives. There are Senators Wheeler, Montana; Nye North Dakota; Johnson, Colorado; Taft and Clark, Ohio; and representatives Hoffman and Jonkman, Michigan; Tinkham, Massachusetts; Oliver, Maine; Short and Bennett, Mo.; Knutson, Minnesota; Stratton and Day, Illinois; Dworshak, Idaho and Vorys, Ohio.

They are said to have allowed their mailing franks to be used to mail out Nazi propaganda from different parts of the country.

Labor and War Defense Workers Appear Headed for a Showdown

The threatened strike of C.I.O. workers in the Chrysler tank plant at Centerline, one of Michigan's key industries in national defense, has focused attention again on the role of the state mediation board.

The idea of requiring labor to serve notice of intention to strike and thus to permit voluntary mediation during a "cooling off" period was conceived during the 1939 state legislature. The late Frank Fitzgerald had sensed the public's critical reaction to the sit-down strikes of 1937. Labor peace became one of his promises, and the state mediation board logically followed when he was elected governor.

During the present emergency Governor Van Wagener has made frequent use of the mediation machinery established by the state board. To seek a settlement of the Chrysler tank dispute, the governor appointed a special mediation board headed by Thomas J. Donahue, chairman of the state board. The governor said to the press:

"I will do everything in my power to make sure that the continuous flow of tanks from the arsenal is not interrupted for as much as one day."

The rise here of labor disputes, some of which have seriously hampered defense production, is in rather sharp contrast to the cordial relations existing in England between unions and employers.

While strikes in war industries have been banned in England, the government's order was agreed to in advance by both labor and employers. Furthermore, it contained no penalty provisions against the strikers.

In the first World War Great Britain introduced compulsory arbitration of disputes in war industries, and yet more than 1,500,000 munitions workers took part in illegal strikes during thirty-three months after adoption of the act in July, 1914. Compulsory arbitration is difficult to enforce.

Even the United States during the last World War never prohibited strikes or lockouts. The national war labor board was without authority, as is the present national labor mediation board, to enforce its decisions. Yet, the record shows that the board's decisions were generally accepted.

COUNTY ROAD SUPERINTENDENT MISSING

Claude Taylor, 62, superintendent of the Livingston county, road commission, was missing since last week Monday and the police and sheriff's department of the state have been looking for him. Taylor is a former supervisor from Green Oak township and was elected to the road commission about 10 years ago. Later he was named assistant to the late Wm. Slavin, engineer, and on the death of Mr. Slavin last summer, replaced him. Taylor has a farm in Green Oak but left it some time ago and moved to Howell. Besides his wife he has a married daughter in the west. The last heard of him was Monday night when he called on the telephone at 7:30 Monday night, presumably from the county garage. The county car he uses was found at the garage and he wore his work clothes when last seen. He is comfortably well-to-do and has no financial troubles. As far as we can find out, no trace of him has been found since 7:30 Monday night. Taylor is said to have been in the habit of carrying large sums of money on his person.

According to the Sunday Free Press, Taylor was found by state police late Saturday on a farm he owns in Oakland county. No explanation for his six-day absence was given.

Norman Miller, who was inducted into the army last May, arrived home Tuesday p.m. from Camp Livingston, La., where he has been practically the entire time. He was discharged under the 28 year old limitation. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baughn, son, Neil, and Mrs. Alice Mauk drove there and brought him home.

CURRENT COMMENT

"By Yo Editor"

The house of representatives at Washington did as expected last Thursday and approved the senate amendments to the neutrality law. Just how they could have done any thing else is hard to see. The Rubicon was crossed way back last summer when the Lease-Lend bill was passed and became a law. Then we adopted a definite policy of aid to the enemies of Hitler and there is no backing away from it now. In other words, in that act we literally burned our bridges behind us. There was considerable jockeying before the vote was taken and there was a strong effort, mostly by the southern congressmen, to wring a promise from the administration to put down strikes by force in return for their support of the amendments. However, he made no definite commitment but, in all probability, strong public opinion will do much to restrain the wildcat strikes from now on where they effect important defense industries.

People in this section were surprised somewhat last week by the action of Judge Sample of Washtenaw county in ordering a grand jury investigation of gambling in that county. As far as the people here knew there were no elaborate gambling palaces there such as have featured Wayne Macomb and Oakland counties at different times. It is to find out if it was the policy or numbers racket which the judge was determined to wipe out. In this racket, numbers are sold and a combination of numbers of the racing results published in the papers each day are the winning numbers. The policy house gets half the winnings in each case and only about one person in a thousand wins. This form of gambling caused the upheaval in the Detroit police and political circles the past year and it is known to exist in other counties, although not to such an extent. The gamblers profits are enormous and they have usually been willing to split with the authorities in return for a tolerant attitude.

There seems to be many peace movements underway and President Roosevelt is constantly being opportuned to call a peace conference. Mrs. Rodeheaver, sister of Homer Rodeheaver, has asked all the voters of Michigan to pray for peace. This movement seems to be, to this paper, hazy and devoid of policy. We would ask just what kind of peace do these people want? The only peace possible now, with Hitler in possession of most of Europe would be a German peace. Is that their object? At the present time, any other peace, without added bloodshed and the defeat of the Hitler forces, is impossible.

On Armistice Day soldiers from many selective service camps were on parade in large numbers in many cities and despite their short training period, evoked much favorable comment. The Chicago Record-Herald, not a Roosevelt supporter, said in regard to those who marched in Chicago that quite evidently the boys have reaped certain benefits for themselves while serving their country. In fact, it classes them as superior men. Their months of outdoor living and strenuous exercise have made them muscular and lithe. They have an air of alert and controlled physical power and they seem, while moving in a mass, to flow without effort and with irresistibility and this is the outward sign of inner learning. These soldiers have learned that discipline is a thing that grows from within.

You no doubt think that the biggest gold producing days in Alaska were back in the gold rush years of 1898-99. You are wrong. In the year of 1940 gold production there set a new record with the production of $26, 78,000 in gold. In addition to gold, such vital metals as tin and antimony are also found there.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too-frequent urination.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

NEW YORK.—When Parks Johnson and Wally Buttersworth brought their pioneer quiz broadcast to New York city back in 1934, it took them just about eight weeks of diligent quizzing to get an answer to the question, "Where is Singapore?"

The other day the ninth anniversary of their Vox Pop program, the first outbreak of the growing quiz craze, now rampant on all networks, was celebrated. In an age of deepening uncertainty, people find great felicity if they happen to know how many toothpicks there are in a cord of birchwood—and sustenance for an ailing ego. Messrs. Johnson and Buttersworth cash in in a big way.

Parks Johnson is the son of a Methodist minister. He had been a captain in the World war, a newspaper reporter, a cotton broker, and in 1932 was running a one-man advertising agency in Houston, Texas. A client wanted a radio idea. Mr. Johnson quizzed himself at length and got the right answer.

He set up a microphone in the lobby of a Houston theater and began his quiz. At first he had to hand out one-dollar bills to lure participants, but the "mike-fright" soon passed and Vox Pop quickly became a successful program.

Mr. Buttersworth, former phonograph salesman, radio singer and announcer, came in later. Soon after they were established in New York their program was on a big network. In 1940, they carried their microphone more than 50,000 miles around the country, and to date, have asked about 300,000 questions.

Newspapers were ahead of radio, however, in getting at the question-and-answer mother lode of interest in their own field. It was in 1920, that Miriam Tichenor, a reporter on the New York Daily Mail, suggested to George T. Hughes, the city editor, the daily questioning of five or six citizens at random. Mr. Hughes started the feature and slugged it "The Inquiring Reporter." Under this and other titles it still carries on in many newspapers. This, however, is an opinion, rather than an information inquiry.

A NEW YORK doctor, a friend of this writer, says physicians who have made a life-long study of diet, nutrition and mass conditioning are wondering why physical training for defense is being organized by athletes, instead of specialists in physical fitness. Without disparagement to any of the persons mentioned, he cited Gene Tunney, Alice Marble and John B. Kelly, the last an undefeated oarsman, as examples in which eminence in athletics is substituted for precise knowledge of how to "toughen-up" America.

The discussion had to do with Mr. Kelly's current prescription of a "courage diet" for the nation, in which he says he has listed caloric and vitamin combinations which will enable us to lick our weight in wildcats.

Mr. Kelly, a former bricklayer and contractor, is chairman of the Philadelphia Democratic committee, and last August became director of physical training for national defense. He was formerly a Republican, and is veteran of much fast and intricate milling in both parties.

The tall and athletic "Hand-some Jack" Kelly, as he is called, quit the Philadelphia public schools at the age of 16 and got a job in a brickyard. He was an ambulance driver in the World war, came back with a capital of $40 and opened his own brickyard. Twelve years later, at the age of 31, he was the Olympic single sculls champion, winning for America at Amsterdam. In 1926, he retired from rowing as the undefeated champion oarsman of the world. At the age of 32, he still rows five miles every morning.

In September, 1940, President Roosevelt saw an article "handsome Jack" had written for a physical culture magazine and summoned him to lead the national "physical preparedness" endeavor. He now officially and formally heads this department and is working up plans for national mass calisthenics.

He is one of four eminent brothers, George, a playwright; Walter, the famous "Virginia Judge" of the stage; Patrick H., deceased in 1937, who was the builder of the Free Public library in Philadelphia.

Three-Way Pulling Match Builds Defense Log Jam

Washington Sees Conflicts of Authority, Effort And Viewpoint as Threat to Satisfactory Carrying Out of Program.

By BAUKHAGE
National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N-W, Washington, D. C.

There is a log jam today holding up the defense program that is going to take dynamite to blow up. Whether there is the courage and the unity and the understanding to do the job remains to be seen.

It will take understanding because the men who make the charges will have to know the facts and realize the conditions and the traditions which have created the evils.

It will take courage, for a premature burst may damage a lot of innocent bystanders.

As far as can be judged from information leading out of the cracks in the defense machine it is a three-way pulling match. The difficulty in analyzing the situation is the difficulty in classifying and identifying the opposing forces.

The usual classification is: One, the New Deal group. Two, the dollar-a-year men. Three, certain army and navy officials.

But this is a very misleading classification because there are some dollar-a-year men who are working with the administration. There are some members of the administration charged with playing into the hands of the dollar-a-year men. There are some army officials who are co-operating with the so-called New Deal element.

Roughly—the Charges

Roughly the charges are these: Those sympathetic with the viewpoint of the New Dealers say that some army officials insist on favoring the dollar-a-year men who manage to steer defense contracts to big business, block sub-contracting to the smaller firms.

Some of the army and navy officials say that they are not going to let amateurs run their affairs, that they have dealt with certain firms for years who know how to do what they want done.

The champions of the small business men and congressmen who have attempted to help them say that priorities assignments are sending essential materials to the big business firms—and they mention the utilities in particular. Small manufacturers and public projects like rural electrification which is bidding for precious copper for its power lines, are being passed by, is the accusation.

The dollar-a-year men say that they are protecting free enterprise and that those opposing them are trying to turn business over to government control.

These bitter conflicts of authority, effort and viewpoint naturally prevent the co-operation essential in the tremendous undertaking which the Office of Emergency Management is attempting to carry out.

This is one reason for the log jam. There is another. In Washington itself criticism is growing. This is not new. It is criticism of the overlapping and conflicting authority among the officials of the OEM.

Theoretically, Vice President Wallace is the responsible head of all defense effort and in that capacity he reports only to the President but the money he requires to carry out his functions is controlled by Jesse Jones, head of the RFC as well as secretary of commerce. That is just one example of similar anomalies right down the line.

The strange thing about it all is that everybody in Washington seems to know all about the log-jam except the President himself who is the only man who can straighten it out.

'ABC' Countries In New Trade Pact

The "A B C D" countries have just drawn up a trade agreement which bottles up a large share of the raw materials of the world. The ABCD's (America, Britain, China and the Dutch East Indies) control a large share of the things that do not or will not grow anywhere else. The agreement has a two-pronged purpose. One is a horn of famine, one is a horn of plenty. The horn of famine is pointed today at Japan as a threat to keep her within her own domain. The horn of plenty is a peaceful promise. Its purpose is to provide a working arrangement so that all nations may share in the riches of the earth, the precious raw materials of which the "have-nots" say the "haves" are depriving them.

We do not realize how much of a "have-not" nation the United States is. I did not until I saw the report of Carter R. Bryan of the department of commerce. It was a story of his visit to a country store.

Mr. Bryan looked over the goods on the shelves and counters and hanging on hooks against the walls and then began to trace them to their origin. I haven't the space to mention more than a few but the next time you go to the store you will be able to use this list as a starter and surprise yourself.

List of 'Have Nots'

Of course he began with tea from China and coffee from South America and then went on:

"Among other things were binder twine, made of sisal, which comes from Yucatan, and halter ropes, made of hemp from the Philippines; brushes, made of hog bristles from Mongolia, soft drinks containing coca leaves from Peru and kola nuts from Jamaica, and tapioca from The Netherlands Indies or the Dominican republic.

"Cocoa beans from South America are used in making cocoa and chocolate. The same is true of the chocolate bars in the candy case. Even those penny peppermint candy sticks," he continued, "are made of sugar, which probably came from Cuba, and peppermint oil from Russia, and that chewing gum was made of chicle from Central America or Mexico."

Then of course there are spices—"And spices," he pointed out, "have played a big role in history before. Columbus wasn't looking for America when he sailed west; he was looking for a new route to India and spices in the days when another barbaric horde interfered with trade."

After noting several large bunches of bananas from Central America and pineapples from Cuba, he continued:

"One whole section was given over to bottles containing cod liver oil from Iceland, old-fashioned castor oil from India and Brazil, hay fever and asthma remedies containing Ma Huang (Ephedra Vulgaris) from China, purgatives containing psyllium seed from India, ipecac from Nicaragua, senna from the Levant, and aloes from The Netherlands West Indies, that invaluable cold and malaria remedy, quinine, from The Netherlands Indies, camphor oil from Japan and iodine from Chile, horehound from Spain, and other medicinals from every part of the earth."

As I said, this was only a starter. Bryan named at least 100 other articles right in that one country store, all or a part of each shipped in from foreign lands. If this country, with its wide range of climate and mighty resources has to depend on foreign countries for these products used in our daily life it is easy to see how dependent all nations have become, one upon the other. Trade barriers must go down if civilization is to continue to go upward.

Birds, Traffic Signals And Early Risers

Some people here in Washington have been living dangerously before you and I start our day.

They are up and doing before the traffic signals begin their rhythmic cycle of red, yellow and green. It is a period of comparative freedom, the lights flash yellow—a warning to be careful, not a command to stop. To some of the mad, pre-dawn motorists the flashers are not warnings at all. They are simply lures for the heedless auto dashing at the intersections like moths at a candle flame.

That makes it stimulatingly dangerous for early folk whose reveille has sounded long before our bacon sizzles. They have to be wide awake. Except the birds—one of the few forms of life, feathered, furred, or pajamaed, whose waking is pleasant to hear—the plaintive peep that gradually swells in a soft crescendo to a cheerful chatter.

And the birds are about the only living creatures who can risk an early start for they can cross the street without regard for the traffic lights.

BRIEFS . . . By Baukhage

Instead of waiting for migrant families to find their way to the jobs, up in the Northwest hop and apple country the State Employment services are opening offices at each of the 20 Farm Security migratory labor camps. Already job placements in the hop and potato fields and in the apple orchards have outstripped all previous records.

Sweden's Tobacco Monopoly has estimated that about 800 tons of tobacco are literally thrown away each year in that country in discarded cigarette stubs, the department of commerce reports. It is proposed, therefore, to avoid this economic waste by use of hollow paper tips on cigarettes of a size approximating the length of the stub usually discarded.

Panholders Make Interesting News

PANHOLDER time is here—as transfer Z9384 illustrates. Two cute kittens with perky bows, a sunbonnet girl and her straw hat playmate, two cages holding applique birds, and a demure maiden with full panholder skirts—these are for kitchen decoration and your protection. The old-fashioned girl holder is cut from wood and painted, and two panholders hang from a hook at the waist to form her skirts.

Start with this transfer on panholders for gifts, bazaars and your own use. Transfer Z9384 is 15 cents. Send your order to:

'They Got Me Covered' Is Funniest Book of Year

A NEW all-around champion has been crowned . . . in the entertainment world. He is Bob Hope. Not satisfied with being rated tops on the radio, Number One in screen box office receipts, he is author of one of the nation's best sellers, which just about nails down this triple crown for Bob. "They Got Me Covered," Hope's autobiography, has been claimed by critics and readers alike as one of the year's funniest books. It is a hilarious story, in narrative form, of Bob Hope's life, generously illustrated with photographs, in addition to having cartoons depicting scenes from his life.

The book is now available at drug and department stores throughout America at 10 cents per copy with the purchase of a Pepsi product. This low price is possible because the sale of the book has been sponsored by the Pepsi product Company.—Adv.

CONSERVATION NOTES

Officers and men from the 702nd military police from Camp Brady in swift moving army trucks and jeeps left Fort Brady Friday to establish camp in the company rifle range in the Marquette National Forest, near Rexford. A yard of red cambric will cover their head, chest and back and the men will hunt deer in groups.

Thursday night of last week a check showed that over 40,000 hunters had crossed the straits into upper Michigan.

Hunters will have 11,454 more acres of state land to hunt over this year than last.

It is necessary to secure a permit to transport deer killed in Michigan through Wisconsin. 703 such permits were issued last year.

This department has leased the oil and gas rights on 52,220.37 acres this month. These leases brought $46,910.

Here are the limits of the amount of game a hunter may keep in cold storage by securing a permit after 60 days after the close of the season: one deer, one bear, six rabbits, ten hares, ten squirrels, ten grouse, four pheasants and ten prairie chickens.

Art Jackson, 71, of Roscommon has killed 108 bear during his lifetime.

What Does Your Bank Consider A Good Loan

The two major tests which apply to loan applications are these: Is it sound? Is the purpose constructive? Will it be beneficial to the borrower and to the community? Is it safe? Does it provide a proper use for the funds of our depositors, entrusted to our care? Can the borrower provide assurance that the loan will be repaid as agreed? When the answer to these questions is "Yes", we usually say "Yes" too.

Million Red Cross Volunteers Aid Defense Program

Washington, D. C.—Behind the front lines of U. S. defenses more than 1,200,000 Red Cross volunteers are on the job—making surgical dressings, knitting sweaters and giving comfort articles, learning the rudiments of emergency mass feeding and scores of other duties in an all-out effort for national defense.

The largest defense task now being undertaken by Red Cross volunteers is the production of 40,000,000 surgical dressings for the Army and Navy, according to Mrs. Dwight F. Davis, national director of Volunteer Special Services.

Home Service volunteers and Gray Ladies, whose duties are directly concerned with the man in uniform also are expanding their programs, Mrs. Davis said.

As a preparedness measure, thousands of women throughout the country are learning mass feeding and nutrition as members of the Red Cross Canteen Corps. Added thousands are being trained in the Motor Corps to serve as emergency drivers.

SENIOR NEWS

A dance sponsored by the seniors Wednesday night. All come and bring your contributions. Your support will be appreciated.

The 12th grade government class taught by Mrs. Wilson are making plans to attend the naturalization court at Howell in a few weeks.

The annual Junior play is getting a good start. The actors and actresses have been picked and are busy busy learning their parts. The play is not until December 12, but practice has started so that we can present one of the best junior plays you have seen. The title is "Aunt Tillie Goes to Town" and with your help in buying tickets the junior class will go to town.

SCHOOL TO HAVE KITCHEN FACILITIES

At the school meeting Monday night it was voted to enlarge the small room off the gym sufficiently so that it can be used as a kitchen.

The new addition will be about 12 by 20 feet. As it will only be necessary to build two walls the cost will be slight. Work started on the building Tuesday. The construction will be under the supervision of Wm. Jeffreys, engineer of the school. It will be of cement block construction with cinder block finish. It is hoped to have this completed in a few weeks.

The school has long felt the need of such a kitchen. With it hot lunches for children at noon will be possible and in the near future the fond dream of an economics class may be realized.

MOVIE STAR JOINS NAVY

Ensign Wayne Morris Seeks Wings

Wayne Morris, recent star of "I Wanted Wings," became a member of Uncle Sam's Navy in May, 1941, when he was appointed to the rank of Ensign.

When asked what he thought of the United States Navy, Morris said, "I think every man who is considering joining a military service should look into the 'chance of a lifetime' which the Navy and Naval Reserve offer to get into the big-pay field of the future—aviation. In the Navy you can attend the finest flight training schools in the world, and receive instruction from Navy pilots who introduced dive bombing, aircraft carriers and catapult take-offs to the rest of the world. Also, there are opportunities in Naval Aviation for men who don't want to fly. They can be trained as aviation machinists, metalmiths, photographers, observers, or they can receive instruction in many other trades. It's a great life in the Navy."

Ensign Wayne Morris is pictured here in his line of duty as a member of the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board at the Long Beach Naval Reserve Air Base.

Christian Brown, 55, died at his home here Nov. 15 of cancer. He was born in Germany but had lived here since 1854. He leaves his wife formerly Harriet Granger of Dexter, and a son, Emil. The funeral was held at the Cong'l church on Tuesday, Rev. Thurston officiating.

The other day the horse driven by Mrs. S. K. Hause ran away, frightening the horse of Mrs. Eric Campbell, which also bolted. They collided with the horse of Mr. Jones and it also stampeded. Mrs. Campbell was thrown out against a fence and slightly injured.

The football purchased by the school boys is about worn out. It is said the ones who refused to contribute toward the purchase fund played the most with it.

PHILATHEA NOTES

The Philathea class held its November meeting with Mrs. Rose Hendee on Thursday, postponed on account of the funeral of Charles Hicks, a former resident here.

The president, Mrs. Dora Swarthout, presided and opened the meeting with the singing of "What a Friend We Have in Jesus". The roll call, secretary's report and usual routine business followed. The president appointed on the Christmas committee, Mrs. Winifred Graves and the Misses Bessie Swarthout and Blanche Martin. The calling committee for this month is composed of every class member. Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Henry reported a number of calls made during the past month.

A memorial service was held at this meeting for Miss Katherine Hoff, a much-loved charter member of our group, who passed away during the year and whose birthday was November 4. For this service the chaplain, Mrs. Hattie Swarthout chose an appropriate passage of Scripture and read a very lovely poem by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Miss Clella Fish read her verses "That Beautiful Land" and it was followed by a solo by Mrs. Ruth McClucas, "The Home of My Soul".

This was also the month for our Missionary meeting and the offering was taken for this cause. The program committee, Mrs. Vail and Mrs. Coyle, had prepared several interesting numbers, including a beautiful reading "To Mother" by Mrs. J. E. Leslie and read by Mrs. Lola Rogers, also readings given by Mrs. Daller, Mrs. Evans and Clella Fish.

During the afternoon the ladies sewed rag rugs and a potluck supper was the closing feature of the pleasant occasion.

The class extends loving sympathy to those in our community whose homes have recently been saddened by a visit of the Death Angel.

We regretted the unavoidable absence of our teacher on Sunday, when we had the important lesson, "Union with Christ." For November 23 the topic will be "Prayer and Thanksgiving" Matt. 6:5-15; Eph. 5:20; 1 Thess. 5:16-18.

HUNTERS and TRAPPERS!

I will be at Leo Devine's garage in Dexter each Saturday from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. during the season, to buy your furs, hides and pelts at market prices.

Don C. Leary, Buyer for Kalamazoo Hide and Fur Co.

The high school chorus then rendered two selections, accompanied by Gloria Craft at the piano.

The open forum discussion was next. The subject chosen was "How Can the School More Adequately Meet the Needs of the Community?"

The forum was composed of Mrs. Eleanor Ledwidge, Mrs. Hugh Doolittle, Rev. Fr. Murphy, Rev. McLucas and P. W. Curlett.

Mrs. Ledwidge spoke first and called for co-operation in the home by teaching morality, obedience and courtesy. With both carrying an equal part of the responsibility, better results would be obtained.

P. W. Curlett followed with the statement that there should be something to act as a link between the parents and faculty and suggested a Parent-Teacher Association. At the present time and for that matter, for the past years there has been little interest manifested in the school routine matters. Few ever visit the school sessions the annual elections are sparsely attended and the only time the parents turn out is for an athletic game, play, dance or commencement.

Mrs. Doolittle favored the addition of the agriculture and shop courses and thought that in some way such courses could be obtained in future years.

Rev. Fr. Murphy gave an inspiring talk in which he stated that obedience and discipline were the first laws he had been taught on entering school. He also stated that education without religion was of no avail, that those without the benefit of either were the ones who filled our prisons and institutions and that the present European war was caused by lack of religion and education; that Mussolini, at the age of 19 left the church and wrote a thesis denying the existence of God. Rev. Murphy received much applause.

Rev. McClucas also touched on the religious side of life and suggested that the pastors of Pinckney be invited in once in two weeks to talk on religion in an undenominational 15-minute discourse. That this had been often done in other places where he had been pastor. He also complimented the other speakers on their efforts.

Questions were then asked for Mrs. Alta Meyer asked about the serving of hot lunches at noon, which has been inaugurated by many schools. The A.A.A. furnishes the food out of the surplus products, free of charge. Mrs. Meyer was appointed chairman to select a committee and inquire into this.

There being no more questions, Rev. Fr. Murphy gave the benediction and the meeting broke up although many stayed around for some time talking and asking questions.

This affair was very interesting and entertaining and we understand that it is to be an annual affair.

Wool and Fur Combinations
Make Stunning New Outfits

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WITH surpassing artistry and craftsmanship American designers are setting a new high in costume design. Especially are our American style creators doing themselves proud in the campus, town and country ensembles which they create of gorgeous colorful wool and stunning fur.

Not only do the costumes pictured redound to the glory of American designers but there is fascination and patriotic thrill in the thought that the fur, American opossum, which is combined with the beautiful wools of these stunning costumes, is itself decidedly all-American.

The possibilities presented in this new alliance of wool with opossum are endless. Not only is opossum a flattering young fur when used for general utility costumes, but through scientific skill it has also been made available for dressy daytime and evening wear as well as for all-purpose wear.

A beautifully cut coat is shown to the left in the group. The exquisitely colorful wool stripe of which it is made speaks for itself. Now that fashion is advocating color, women are going in wholeheartedly for coats that add a bold dash of color glory to the winter landscape. The soft front fullness achieved by skillful manipulation of the stripes is decidedly effective. The wide notched collar and cuffs of natural American opossum are perfect with the subtle blue, lavender and pink in the tweed.

When one invests in a three-piece outfit as perfectly ensembled as the handsome model shown to the right, she has underwritten for herself a feeling that wherever she goes she is sure to be among the best dressed. This important ensemble for town carries an air of matchless distinction. The suit is a masterpiece of fine tailoring. The three-quarter length cape of American opossum with striped tweed to match the suit will carry through triumphantly as a wrap to wear through the winter with daytime frocks and party dress as well. A sure, safe, sound and sane investment, this, that will pay big dividends in chic, charm and self-gratification.

Centered in the picture is another example of the intrigue and glamour expressed in the alliance of bright wool with smart fur. The coat is lined with a plaid wool in glowing high color to match the hood and blouse. When thrown back the hood forms a colorfully lined collar. The jacket and skirt pick up two of the colors in the plaid. Mittens too, if you please, of matching fur!

If your new wool ensemble happens to be of wool in the now-so-fashionable magenta color, and if it is without fur, you will look very smart if you carry with it a stunning huge muff of opossum, and, of course, there must be a hat of the same fur to wear with it. The hat and muff twosome is an accessory combination especially cited among top-notch fashions.

Colors highlighted in wools this season especially stress browns and dark greens. The new bright blue is the talk of the town. With furs it is outstanding in any fashionable gathering. Amethyst tones and purples also are being played up to heights of distinction in wools, their beauty accentuated with handsome amethyst jewelry and sumptuous furs.

Crocheting Has a
Gay Fashion Role

Crocheters, now is your big moment. Crocheting is rising to dizzy heights of style prestige this season. It is nothing less than astonishing to see what novel and intriguing costume accents can be achieved with crocheting. This new enthusiasm for crocheting is "going big" with leading designers everywhere who are bringing new artistry and imagination into the field of crochet design.

One of the most fascinating gestures noted this season is that the new longer length heralded for the smartest vividly colorful suede or fabric gloves is being achieved by either gauntlet or mosquitoire tops done in simple crocheting decorated with tiny crocheted flowers or tiny ruffles that finish the top edge and then go meandering down the glove.

Wool suits and dresses are cunningly detailed with pockets crocheted of yarn in either a matching or a contrasting color. A crocheted patch pocket embroidered in your monogram will add a thrilling touch to your long middie-like jersey sweater.

Other ideas include a border of crocheting that widens the brim of your gay colored felt hat. Add a bag and belt with related crocheted detail. Cover big button motifs with plain crocheting adorned with an applique of crocheted flowers. Designers are also bringing genius to play in the crocheting of scarfs and triangular head coverings. In fact, there is no end to the charming and unique uses now being made of crocheting.

Silk Jersey

Here is a perfectly charming dinner gown made of silk jersey that combines sun tan beige for the blouse with black jersey for the skirt. The skirt is subtly draped in the new long sleek lines so popular this season. Note the new, long dolman sleeves. A wonderful black cire felt turban has superfine sheer black lace veiling arranged over its crown, the ends brought down and fastened under her chin. Gold buttons adorn the blouse.

Removing Dents in Wood.
WHEN a table top is dented by the dropping of a candlestick or other heavy object, the dent can usually be taken out by a process that will swell the fibers of the wood. For this the finish around the dent should be scraped off so that bare wood is exposed. The dent is then covered by a cloth dampened with warm water, which is pressed by a warm—not hot—iron. The steam produced will be absorbed by the dented fibers, which will then swell, and return to their original positions. The refinishing of the table top will be required, at least in that part around the dent. Should the wood be actually gouged, so that some of it is removed, the hole that is left can be filled with stick shellac. This can be had in all shades of wood colors at many large paint stores and from dealers in cabinet-makers' supplies. An old screwdriver is heated to a point at which it will melt the shellac, and a little of the shellac carried by the blade is then transferred to the hole. If the correct amount of shellac is picked up, the surface can be smoothed by the warm blade; if too much is used, the surface can be cut off with a razor blade. A job of this sort can be so neatly done that the patch will hardly be noticed.

Thermometer Setting
One of my correspondents describes an interesting experience with a thermostat. He could not understand why the house felt so cold with the thermostat thermometer standing at 70 degrees. After a time he checked with a second thermometer, and found that the thermostat was registering two degrees higher. His service man was called in and adjusted the thermometer by lowering the glass tube, so that it registered correctly. He says that home owners might be interested to know that thermostat thermometers are often so made that they can slide in relation to the scale, to change the reading, should it be out of adjustment. I am sure that the above information will be found useful. An experiment with thermometers that is usually starting to those who have not tried it is to take the temperature of the air at floor and ceiling at a time when the wall thermometer is standing at its normal 70. Only too often the low temperature on the floor is the unsuspected cause of chilliness.

Avoiding Greasy Hands.
When a dirty or greasy job is to be done, time will be saved by first coating the hands with something that will keep the dirt from working into the pores of the skin. One good material for this can be made by dissolving 2 ounces of gum arabic in 1 pint of water, to be mixed with 1/2 pound of soap chips, dissolved in 1 pint of water. The liquid is heated in a double boiler, and 1 ounce of lanolin is then added. The result is a soft paste, to be rubbed well into the skin, and especially under and around the finger nails. On finishing the job, the hands can be washed with clear water, or with soap and water. It is worth while to make up a quantity of the compound, to be stored in tin cans or glass jars until needed.

Smoky Furnace.
Question: A piped hot air furnace admits soot to the rooms, in spite of a recent cleaning. What treatment should it have?
Answer: Smoke and soot are escaping from the firebox into the air passages through open joints between the furnace sections, due to the giving out of the cement with which they were packed. The best remedy is to renew the cement, which should be of a variety made for the purpose and resistance to heat. Even with the best cement, the job usually gives out in five years or so.

'Woody' Smell.
Question: About a month ago I was given a bedroom suite of maple furniture. I do not like to put any of my things in the chest of drawers because of the very strong "woody" smell inside. Airing does not seem to help. Is there any way to get rid of this odor?
Answer: "Paradi" (moth) crystals make an excellent deodorizer. Put a generous amount of the crystals in each drawer and allow to remain for several days.

Faded Veneer.
Question: A damp towel was carelessly left on brown walnut veneer, and made a grayish cloudy stain. How can this be restored?
Answer: The damage is probably only in the finish. Try the effect of scraping it off with a razor blade. If this also removes the color apply successive thin coats of oil stain of the proper shade; get a color sample card at a paint store. Finish with a thin coat of varnish.

Friendship is the supreme tie. It is stronger even than the bonds of blood, as we see in the case of Jonathan, who stood by his friend David even against his own father. When two hearts have become one in the mystical union of friendship, that relationship should mean more to them than any matter of circumstance, fortune or individual benefit.

MICHIGAN STATE MIRROR MORALES IS KEY

Capt. Don Leonard, Michigan State Police executive who visited England last summer on a national defense mission, was impressed greatly with the high morale of the British worker in support of the government's war efforts.

He visited industrial plants in which men and women are working long hours daily to produce vitally needed tanks, airplanes and munitions. Any thought of depriving the government of defense material was considered by the British 'man on the street' as subversive, unpatriotic, and downright sabotage.

"One factory was hit by bombs during an aerial raid," Captain Leonard relates. "The workers were so outraged at the Germans that they voluntarily increased their own production and stepped up the normal output 20 per cent for the next few months."

British labor unions are of long standing, contrasted to the newness of many unions in this country. The regular machinery for collective bargaining has been effective in adjusting disputes without recourse to interference in production.

Since his return from England, the Michigan police captain has been appointed a special assistant to Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, commissioner of civilian defense, and has been "loaned" to the federal government for special service in promotion of civilian defense.

How has the average American citizen received the civilian defense program?

According to Captain Leonard, the attitude of Americans today is somewhat like the attitude of Britishers before the Nazi invasion of Belgium and Holland and the collapse of the French army. Britishers were unmindful of the possible dangers of bombing attacks from the air; invasion of the island was considered a fantasy; industrial production of war materials took an easy-going pace.

The combined result of such circumstances and thinking is a lagging morale with regard to defense production. Rise of labor strikes is current proof of it. Even the so-called "shooting war" on the Atlantic has not been enough to create a spirit of determination to defeat Hitler. We present this conclusion not in criticism of labor, nor in defense of any administration, but as an observation objectively borne out by the facts.

As Capt. Leonard puts it, many of us still do not realize that our government has pledged America's entire national resources to secure the military defeat of Hitler, regardless of the cost.

A costly tie-up of tank production, should the C.I.O. strike actually develop, might create a 1942 political liability akin to the sit-down strikes that proved so disastrous to Governor Frank Murphy. The public moves slowly, yet public opinion, once aroused, becomes a swinging pendulum that tends to go from one extreme to another.

Because the United States has 3,000 miles of water between the Atlantic coast and Europe, the average American is complacently confident of the country's security from military attack, the captain observes. He is inclined to overlook the military hazards that would follow a triumph in Europe; he is confident also that the Japanese are bluffing, that we will not be engaged in a two-ocean war with another.

Mrs. G. W. Goodson and children and Mr. and Mrs. Collett Humrick of Detroit were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bucher Sunday night.

Jack Caldwell Jr. was given a five-day jail sentence Tuesday by Justice Knapp at Howell. He and Linley Garrison were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Kennedy Sunday night. Caldwell had no driver's license, no plates on his car, no tail light and had a loaded gun in his car. Garrison paid a $9 fine.

Mrs. Jack Roberts (Dorothy Carr) of Detroit is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Carr, while her husband is deer hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Chamberlain who have been deer hunting called at the Charles Chamberlain home on their way back to Ann Arbor Sunday night.

Let's get acquainted. I'll be looking for you Friday night or Saturday. The gift is yours just for coming.
