News and Letters from Our Boys
Who Are Serving Their Country

John Eisele, slated for army induction on Nov. 24 has been given an extra two weeks leave and will not go until Dec. 7.

Private Joseph Aubin, formerly of Brighton, was captured by the Germans in the raid on Dieppe and is held in a German prison.

A picture in the last Wednesday's issue of the Detroit Free Press on the back page of a company of American soldiers in Australia enroute to the battle lines at Buna, New Guinea is believed to contain the pictures of Norman Miller of Pinckney and Edward Gilmore of Gregory who are on duty there with the 126 inf.

Ambrose Kennedy, son of Sheriff and Mrs. Kennedy who has been in Alaska is now in Russia we understand. William McPherson of Howell is now with the army on the Egyptian front.

Harry Murphy Arnold Rozek and Vorman DuPrima of Pinckney went to the army induction center in Detroit Tuesday for examination.

Emmett Widmayer, Dan Barser and Leo McCluskey were inducted into the army at Camp Custer Monday.

We understand that all boys who have reached the age of 18 years or since the registration date last June must register at Howell with the local draft board. Dates will be announced soon for some time in Dec.

Private Charles Battle of Howell after spending a furlough with his wife and son, there returned to Faucon Mass.

1st Lt. James Nash from Pinckney Michigan has reported for duty at Camp Howze Texas and has been assigned to the 86th inf. division to be activated here. Brig. Gen Alexander Anderson has been named to head the new Black division.

Postmaster Harry Murphey was rejected at the army induction center Tuesday. Judge Francis Barron of Howell was accepted.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Read received a letter from their son, Howard on Tuesday written, Oct. 24 from an army hospital in the south seas. he was wounded in the fighting with the Japs on Guadalcanal, the bullet striking him in the little toe. He expects to return to active duty shortly. One of the pictures in the Ann Arbor News Monday night of some bearded American soldiers on the far eastern battle front bore a great resemblance to Howard.

Julius Aschenbrenner who is in New Guinea is also thought to have been wounded. He wrote that his hand was getting all right and he was able to use it some now.

A LETTER FROM THE NAVY

Great Lakes, Nov. 14
Dear Paul-I was happy to receive your paper last week. It has not yet got here this week. Have not seen the Vedder Boys or Doug. Plummer yet. We do plenty of drilling every day. It is plenty cold and we march in the rain. Everybody in the navy does things at specific times. Certain times for smoking, marching washing and to write letters.

I got my double typhoid shot yesterday, it made some of the boys sick but it did not hit me hard. We just had an intelligence test. I hope to attend a navy service school.

How is the football team coming? The chow here is nothing to brag about but you can eat if you are hungry, the navy doctors are tops, very fast and painless. I attend happy hour every Wed night and hear Ed Vedder and his banjo. It was great. He is a Lt. commander in the Navy, well must close now as I have to clean barracks before taps.

O. E. S. Install New Officers

Local Chapter Installed Newly Elected Officers Last Friday Night

Installation was held at Pinckney Chapter Nov. 20, Mable Shaefer, I.O., Kitsey Dinkel, marshal; Winifred Graves, chaplain and Lulu Lamb, organist.

Letitia Nisbet, installed as worthy matron was escorted to the east by her daughter who presented her with a bouquet of mums and red roses. The soloist, Virginia Baughn, sang a song of welcome. The other officers were installed as follows:

Bonnie Henry Assoc. Matron
Merwin Campbell Assoc. Patron
Blanch Martin Sec.
Ethel Ellis Treas.
Dorothy Ellis Cond.
Eloise Campbell Assoc. Cond.
Mae Daller Chaplain
Winifred Graves Marshal
Florence Baughn Organist
Hazel Chambers Ada
Thelma Hulce Ruth
Carrie Griffith Electa

The soloist sang 'I Love You Dearly'. A basket of flowers was presented to the new worthy matron by Mrs. Sadie Read on behalf of her bridge club and also a spray of flowers from the chapter by Mrs. Lulu Lamb.

Mrs. Bonnie Henry presented the retiring matron, Mrs. Lulu Lamb with a gift from the chapter.

An interesting program was then put on by the retiring matron consisting of musical and vocal numbers. A banquet was then served to the entire assembly.

DEER HUNTERS

Warm weather seems to have put the kibosh on deer hunting season and few deer are coming back to Pinckney. So far Albert Shirley and Ed Parker are the only ones to bring them back the first week.

Don Swarthout and Leon Meabon brought back a bear cub about 6 months old and told a harrowing story of one lowering the other into the bears den and pulling the cub out by main force. Afterwards they admitted renting it of Spike Horn Meyer of near Clare to bring home.

Two more deer came back here last week. One shot by Don Swarthout near Houghton lake and one shot by Harold Hinchey near Eckman where he went with Bert Hickey. Others who went were Wm. Loll, Orville Smith and Reynolds Wylie, to Lovells, Leon and Loren Meabon went back to Roscommon over the week end. Stanley Dinkle and Fritz Wylie expect to go to Mio today for a few days hunting.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

The following marriage licenses were issued last week in this county: John Howard, 41, Howell Maxine Philpenny, 27, Howell; Wilford Ellis, 36, Brighton, Dorothy Schram, 32, Detroit; Pvt. Hollis Holloway, 24, Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. Ardith Wright, 20 Gregory; Maurice Brigham, 25, Howell, Rita Winzer, 20, Fenton; Richard Labuschewsky, 21, Brighton, Mazine Herbert, 21, Brighton.

LOCAL GAS RATIONING

Less than 250 persons registered at the Pinckney school last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and received their gasoline ration cards. Only about 50 per cent of the car owners who were to be serviced by the local school. The date of the next registration is Dec. 2 at Howell. A queer thing about the rationing was that it caused a run on the postoffices for use stamps which was so great that stocks of these became exhausted here and in Howell and in other places. Many motorists evidently forgot to buy use stamps in July.

Great Lakes, Ill. Nov. 15.

Dear Paul
Well we finally got here. We left Detroit last night. We are sleeping in hammocks. In the morning we will get more exams. We had beans, lettuce, bread, butter, potatoes and baloney for supper tonight, served cafeteria style. A kid just rolled out of his hammock. We expect to be here 4 or 5 weeks. Louis Body is in Co. 1705 and the rest of us in Co. 1704 there are about 180 in our barracks. Well it is time for lights out so long. They go out at 9:30 Chicago time. Tell everybody hello and send us the paper.

MAY LOSE LICENSE

According to a statement released by Leo Card, comm. of agriculture, the Johnson Milk Co. may lose its state dairy license for failure to pay farmers for their milk. Mr. Card says the company continually pays farmers with checks that bounce. It also has a state sales tax indebtedness to the state which it is paying up at the rate of $2000 a day. This company operates a string of cash-and-carry stations in Detroit and under-sells other dairies.

Recently Rep. Maas, Republican, gained the front page by a speech in which he said that the Americans were losing the war and had not won a victory since Pearl Harbor and that the South Pacific sea battles hailed as victories were all American defeats. He also praised the valor and fighting ability of the Japs. According to press comments very few people took Rep. Maas seriously in view of the recent victories in the South Pacific and North Africa. Elmer Davis head news censor, undoubtedly referred to him when he rebuked two congressmen for making false statements of military losses. He said that there are some people who think the government ought to put out bad news whether it has any or not.

There Are Many Reasons Why We Should Be Thankful This Year

Speaking of reason why we should be thankful.

All records in Michigan for holiday buying are likely to be broken in the next few weeks. More money in circulation, more employment, higher payrolls and bigger family incomes.

In scores of industrial towns the factories are humming with push war orders. Pay checks are being swollen by overtime.

The approach of more rationing together with more shortages of merchandise, has started a rush.

Opening of the second front in Africa and news of outstanding achievements made by the U.S. made tanks in Egypt were welcomed by managers of several Mich. war plants.

One plant has been manufacturing heavy tanks. Because of shortage of a few vital parts hundreds of the assembled machines have not been sent to seaboard ports for shipment to our fighting fronts.

It is hard to convince a worker that he wants to stay on the job if he wants to go deer hunting.

Hoarding of surplus labor by management, fearful of a disadvantage in the arms race, and over-absenteeism by labor are two of the most common complaints to be heard at Lansing these days.

Selective service officials are convinced that many war plants are over-manned with draft age workers, that management is trying to hedge as much as possible against anticipated draft losses, that women can replace most men on the job just as well.

On management's side we hear this: Organized labor is limiting production, compelling workers to slow down and is indifferent to absence.

Wednesday evening November 25th Annual Thanksgiving Service and Thank-offering at 8:00 p.m. A large attendance is urged at this service. We have much to be thankful for in times like these. Thanksgiving is a state of the mind, an attitude of the spirit, not a conclusion of logic of the result of a favorable trial balance. The custom of setting aside a day for the express purpose of giving thanks did not originate in the days of National fullness and wealth but in an hour of hunger and want when our forefathers were on the verge of despair.

Sunday, November 29th Baptism and reception of members at 10:30 a.m. Those who have church letters and who desire to join on confession of faith and who are not affiliated with other churches in this community are cordially invited to unite with us.

Monday evening, Nov. 30th family night and pot luck lunch at 7:30 a.m. A hearty welcome is extended to all the members and friends of the church. The Rev. Nelson Potter, retired Baptist Minister who is a resident of this community will be our guest speaker.

CURRENT COMMENT

By the Editor

In our last week's issue, The Mich. Mirror, contained a writeup by Gene Altman of the stand of Pres. Roosevelt or the U of M in the relationship of the University of Michigan to the war effort. There were many words used and the meaning of the university president is not clearly stated but the idea seems to be that he did not believe that the war effort should be extended to such a degree that the universities would be wiped out of existence. In other words he considered the survival of the universities to be of more value than the winning of the war. Few will agree with him although the editors of the state whom the university was entertaining gave him a vote of confidence. The effort to win the war has inconvenienced many of the people and deprived them of many things that they deemed essential and necessary and in the future the pinch will even be greater. To the editor there seems no good reason to exempt the universities from the war effort. According to Blair Moody the war will wipe the universities of the present day out of existence and in their place there will be war colleges, teaching courses relating to the war. Most of the university students are 18 years of age and subject to the draft, about 93 percent of them we understand. Those taking courses essential to the war will be allowed to continue. Those who are not will be placed in army camps. However the army will insist all students will be placed in uniform. Colleges who cannot fit themselves to these courses will close as some 50 have already done. Draftees will be moved from army camps to colleges and trained for officers there. The reserve system installed last spring was devised to give the army 35,000 students per year as second lts. No draftees will be sent to college until they have 12 weeks basic training in an army camp. All details will be worked out shortly in a meeting of army and navy officers and the leading educators of the state.

The idealists are shocked that Gen. Eisenhower has accepted the offer of Admiral Darian, the former pro-Nazi commander of French North Africa to turn over his forces bag and baggage to the Allies and become a part of the Allied army. Even Wendell Wilkie has let out a blast against it. This desertion of the Germans by Darian was arranged months ago by United States diplomats under the leadership of a man named Murphy. Eisenhower was only following orders in accepting Darian's aid. Many think the Allies should have done business with Gen. DeGaulle, the Free French leader. However he had his headquarters in London. Had no army, tanks, or planes to turn over to the Allies and moreover was not in command of North Africa and had no territory to turn over so consequently the Allies were forced to do business with the man who could deliver the goods and by this deal get possession of North Africa with minor casualties.

The Pat and Harry stuff and the pictures taken with their arms around each other of Gov. VanWagoner and Gov-Elect Kelly has gotten on the nerves of some of the old line members of both parties who want no such sentimental stuff. Consequently Kelly has announced that VanWagoner will still be gov. until Jan. 1 and in the meantime he will recommend no persons for appointment to offices thus declining the offer of Gov. VanWagoner to appoint any person to office whom his successor recommended. This two party system is not always satisfactory but abolishing this system would only result in a dozen different political parties springing up as in Italy Germany, and France and would provide the opportunity for a dictator to spring up as occurred in these countries.

Right Motives and Aims

HUMAN thought and endeavor are constantly tending toward a goal. No sooner is an objective attained than another is pursued. In the struggle for attainment, moral mercury is tested, and it rises or falls according to the purpose and motive of the individual. Strife which has as its goal personal power, personal advantage, personal success, is engendered in the frigid zone of selfishness and sends the moral mercury downward, whereas strife for the betterment of humanity, in which one's own good is allied with that of every other individual, is begotten of a heart that glows with the sunshine of unselfed love, where the moral mercury tends ever upward. Human experience is beset with temptation, and each one must decide for himself whether he will serve God or mammon. "No man can serve two masters," declared Christ Jesus: "for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other" (Matthew 6:24). When Moses undertook to lead the children of Israel out of Egyptian bondage, he found it necessary in the perilous journey through the wilderness to establish a strict moral code as a standard for thought and action, and he received from God the divinely inspired Decalogue, or the Ten Commandments. This code admits of no divided allegiance. It calls for unqualified love for God and man. "Half-love," said the poet, "will not bide the storm." He whose purpose is to conform his life to the Sinaitic pattern will emerge from every conquest of error stronger and better equipped for the service of God and humanity, whereas selfishness weakens moral stamina and undermines the capacity for true service. Greed, fear, pride, and willfulness thrive in the soil of selfish ambition, while selfless service yields in ever-increasing abundance the fruits of righteousness—confidence, courage, steadfastness, joy, love, and allied virtues, which reflect divine Mind. Selfish pursuits have only human will for their sanction and support. Therefore their limited achievements fall of permanent good. True service, service for the spiritual betterment of mankind, has divine authority, for God is Love. God's purpose and plan for His children are always real, and lift our thought to God, good. Fear blinds our eyes to the good by which we are surrounded. God is omnipotent and omnipresent. In the infinitude of good, where is there any room for evil? When we realize the fact of God's aliveness we are no longer afraid, for we know there is nothing to fear. Fear is an illusion. We must realize that man, God's reflection, expresses His perfection, even as the sun is expressed in the sunshine. And as there is no darkness in the sunshine, so there is no evil in the man of God's creating, who ever reflects Him in health, abundance, all good.

One verse of a beautiful hymn declares (Christian Science Hymnal, No. 3):

"A grateful heart a garden is,
Where there is always room
For every lovely, Godlike grace
To come to perfect bloom."

Gratitude makes us receptive to the abundance of good which God constantly gives to His children. We seem to lack good only because we are not ready to receive all He gives. When we are receptive to Truth, we shall realize that God never withholds good.

Sometimes when we think we have sown good seed, but see no evidence of having accomplished good, we may well remember Paul's words (I Corinthians 3:6), "I have planted, . . . but God gave the increase." Our work is to sow the seed, leaving the results to God's care. Even though we may never see the results of some of our own spiritual sowing, we may be sure that somewhere good has resulted. . . . And God is constantly preparing the soil. Our own responsibility is to reflect God in every thought, word, and deed. . . .

Let us not be too concerned over the reaping. Our sowing prepares for that. Sometimes our human plans would limit us. Jesus declared (Matthew 13:39), "The reapers are the angels." . . . Knowing that angels do the reaping and that God, good, is infinite, can we not leave the results of our sowing of good seed, and the thought of how soon or how great the harvest shall be, in our heavenly Father's hands?—The Christian Science Monitor.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

On Tuesday afternoon the high school students listened to a comm-entator on WKAR on the subject of Know our Michigan. The town that he discussed for the day was Pinckney. It was enjoyed by the students. We are indebted to Lee Lavey for the use of a fine radio to hear it.

The grades were shown a very fine movie on the subject of milk Tuesday afternoon. It is hoped that more such information will be available at a later date.

There will be no school Thurs. and Friday of this week because of Thanksgiving.

In former years it was customary to start school a half an hour later after Thanksgiving but this custom will not be followed this year. School openings will be the same as usual.

The sophomores have already ordered their rings and will get them next year.

With new candidates coming out for both the boys and the girls basket ball teams the number has swelled to 18 for boys and 20 for the girls. A physical fitness program will undoubtedly be worked out for Pinckney students in the second semester. The school has sold more than $1,000. worth of Defense Bonds and stamps this year.

Mrs. Tillie Christina donated a pair of pillow cases in the gift on which chances were sold, Mrs. Mary Moore winning.

WOMEN AT WAR

Janey

Janey closed the bedroom door and locked it. Alone at last! She threw back her head and heaved a deep sigh. Then she peeked out of the corner of her eye at the mirror to see whether she really did look like Hedy LaMarr. Quite a lot, she decided.

And now to business. She drew forth from the bottom of her top bureau drawer the sheet of pink writing-paper and the envelope that she had been saving for this day. She sat down at the table by the window and dipped the pen into the bottle of green ink that her sister Rose was such a nag about. She wrote, with beautiful arabesques, "Dear Mr. Morgan," and held the pen back to her face as she read the effort of the best pupil in penmanship class.

"Here are my stamps for a bond. $18.75. I started last Christmas when I got $3.00. Not counting 50 cents, I have earned all the rest, working one or more days a week at a local grocery store, and I'm quite proud to say I worked hard to get it."

Janey stared out of the window at Peterson's house and beyond at the big yard where the kids were playing football. She held her pen elegantly in air.

"Sitting here looking out the window, I see a peaceful little town, and I wonder how the world can be in such a turmoil and the people of this world can have such hate for their fellow men. So I'm proud to send these stamps because I know I'm helping to make the whole world peaceful again like our little town."

She signed her name with an important flourish, not forgetting a conspicuous "Miss" in front of the "Janey." After she had sealed the letter she went on staring out of the window. It really was awfully peaceful. Overhead she heard a plane go humming by through the sunny afternoon air.

Then the voice of her best friend, Betty, called from outside—"Janey!" In an instant Janey was on her feet and tearing downstairs and out. She was not Hedy LaMarr nor a deep philosopher any more, but exactly twelve years old.

(Letter from an actual communication in the files of the Treasury Department.)

Grown-ups and children alike should all help the "breadwinner" of the family to budget for War Bonds. Let's all join a payroll savings plan and "top that 10%" by New Year's." U. S. Treasury Department.

TO ALL OUR CUSTOMERS:

The price of electric service is low. It is one of the few things about the house that cost less than they used to cost. Twenty years ago the average price was 5.79 cents; today it is 3.16 cents. That is nearly half price — a bargain sale every day.

There are many reasons why electricity is cheap.

Our power plants are more efficient than they used to be. Our customers have helped to reduce prices by using more electricity — for better lighting, for cooking, for heating water, for dozens of jobs. We have learned how to do our part of the work better, have thought of many plans to save time and money, like the two-way radio sets for our trouble crews, and so on.

So there have been repeated rate reductions — right in the face of rising prices for almost all of the things which we have to buy to make electricity.

It is a record of good service and of lower and lower rates, of which we are very proud.

DECEMBER 1. THE DEADLINE

The bulk of Xmas mail must be in the post office by Dec. 1 this year if deliveries are to be assured, according to Smith Perdurum. Sei ass. Postmaster General. Mr. Perdurum is responsible to Postmaster General Frank Walker for mail service.

Unprecedented wartime demands on the postal systems, plus a prospective record volume of Xmas mailings were cited by Mr. Purdum as necessitating earlier mailing than ever before. It is impossible for the railroads and airlines, burdened with vitally important war materials, to handle Xmas mailings as rapidly as in normal times. If the bulk of parcels and greeting cards are held back until the usual time, the period of about Dec. 15 to 23 — they simply cannot be distributed in time and thousands will reach their destinations after Xmas.

The postal service usually borrows about 2,500 trucks from the army and other Gov. agencies, and rents about 10,000 from private owners handle the Xmas mails. This year, it will be extremely difficult to obtain enough of these vehicles to meet even a substantial part of the need. The army needs its own trucks and private owners are reluctant to let someone else use their tires.

Railroads are co-operating by converting some hundreds of steel box-cars and similar equipment for mail and Joseph B. Eastman, Director of Defense Transportation, has ordered that unnecessary travel be curtailed to the limit during the holiday season. But these measures cannot assure deliveries of gifts on time unless the public cooperates by mailing early and thus spreading the transporting load over a longer period than usual.

Mr. Purdum called attention to the task of the Post office dept. in moving billions of pieces of mail every day to and from soldiers through the world. The new employees naturally cannot handle the holiday mail jam with the smoothness and speed of the postal veterans who they replace.

In view of all these handicaps to the service, Mr. Purdum said, postal patrons should mail their gifts by Dec. 1 if they wish to insure that their friends will not be disappointed at Christmas.

CONSERVATION NOTES

Although 1000 fewer cars cross the Straits of Mackinac the week end of the opening of the deer season they carried 300 more hunters than last year.

If housewives could discard their prejudices more than a million pound of meat from fur bearing animals wasted yearly, would be available as food. The muskrat, raccoon, woodchuck and opossum are highly esteemed as food in some parts of the country. Last year Michigan trappers took 48,000 raccoons, 600,000 muskrat, 10,000 opossums and 7000 beaver. Kitchen skill could make good eating of all of them as it did in pioneer days.

The age of cock pheasants may be told by their spurs. Spurs of young birds are blunt, light colored, not very hard and not more than four tenths of an inch long. The older birds have sharp spurs, black and curved and are not less than 5 tenths of an inch long.

If deer hunters so far have been have been killed accidentally and the season has a week to run.

Wings Over America

Twenty "wings" or local branches, one to each of the Latin American republics, were set up by the Inter-American Escuadrilla which recently spent 4 months touring the nations to the south under the auspices of the Pan American Commission. The new organization proposes to organize Pan American air touring, a series of airports for civilian flyers and to adopt a uniform touring card for amateur pilots. Designed to free them from red tape in international air travel. Included in the plans is a convention of the 21 "wings" in U. S. before the end of 1941.

TO Domingo Faustino Sarmiento can be traced most of the fundamental bases of present Argentine life. Iron-jawed opposition leader, exile, deputy, senator, diplomat, general, President of the Republic, he had only one motto, the teaching of the ignorant.

Born in 1811, Sarmiento was truly a son of the revolution. For the previous year the Spanish colonies preferred their independence to incorporation into the empire headed by Joseph Bonaparte, King of Spain by appointment of his brother Napoleon. Immediately, the young Sarmiento's life took on that movement and adventurous character it would have to the end: his father migrated to Chile. And it was in the neighboring province of Chile that the young Argentine grew up, and worked first as a small retail merchant, then as a clerk and later as a mine operator.

No schooling was available. Nevertheless, Sarmiento, like the Abe Lincoln whose biography he was to write later, found time and opportunity to read and learn. In 1836, he returned to Argentina and opened a school for young women in his home town of San Juan.

Beginning in 1829 the notorious dictator Rosas dominated the whole country by controlling the fountain head—then as now—of all Argentine life; the city of Buenos Aires.

Started Liberal Newspaper
 Two years were enough for Sarmiento and he returned to Chile in a hurry, having meanwhile been in jail for opposing the dictator. In Chile he engaged in journalism, founding a liberal paper which ceaselessly attacked the Rosas regime and tactics. All this time, however, Sarmiento had been showing that while he deserved consideration as a journalist and writer, his real work was education. In 1842 he founded in Chile, the first normal school in Latin America.

From this point on, education was the real interest in Sarmiento's life. As Mrs. Horace Mann says, "Sarmiento had as his watchword, 'The education of the people.' Adventures and political activity; diplomacy; study abroad or warring; all meant to Sarmiento only the fulfillment of his creed, that 'public education is the only basis of a republic.'"

Sarmiento participated in the revolution led by General Urquiza which overthrew the Rosas dictatorship at the battle of Caseros in 1852. He was then made minister of public instruction.

There were at that time no schools to speak of in the Argentine. The principle of universal education which today one takes for granted had not caught on. There were a couple of universities specializing in theology and law and the parochial schools maintained by the Church. Yet governors of states needed to learn to read and write; the young republic was crying for administrators, technicians, agriculturists. Education of the people meant literally the education of a nation, and Sarmiento threw himself into his life's work.

Finally in 1865 he was appointed Minister to the United States.

Admired Horace Mann
 Horace Mann, crusading New England educator and first president of Antioch College, had died a few years previously after profoundly affecting the course of education in the United States. He had advocated free public schooling and at Antioch College was first instituted coeducation and non-sectarian instruction in higher education. Sarmiento had met Mann and knew the work that he had been doing. The high qualities of the American appealed to the Argentine. Like Mann, he saw education as the duty of the government and the foundation of freedom and prosperity.

So convinced was he of the rightness of his views, that while in this country, Sarmiento wrote a small book entitled "Education basis of prosperity in the United States." Mary Peabody Mann, the good doctor's widow and an educator in her own right, translated into English what is said to be Argentina's greatest literary work: Sarmiento's Facundo. It was Mrs. Mann's influence which brought Sarmiento into closer touch with her late husband's work and as she writes, it was in the name of Horace Mann, that Sarmiento on returning to the Argentine introduced the common school system in his country.

Sarmiento thus forms a link through education between Chile, the United States and Argentina. It was Chile which first gave asylum to the young exile "Schoolmaster"—a title which he prized above any—and allowed him to begin his brilliant career.

His stay in Washington as Argentine minister was fairly short. Arriving immediately after the close of the Civil War, Sarmiento was witness to the havoc that conflict had caused. He also saw the beginning of the reconstruction period and during his stay here, he found time to write a short biography of Abraham Lincoln. Politically also, Sarmiento was influenced by his mission in Washington, for contact with the operation of the federal system in the United States brought him around to advocating it also in Argentina, where today it is the basis of constitutional life.

Diplomacy, however, was only an interlude in Sarmiento's career. Chosen as a compromise candidate, he was elected in his absence to the Presidency of the Argentine. Though he brought an end to the costly and bloody war of the Triple Alliance against Paraguay, typically enough it is his work as "Schoolmaster" which stands out on reviewing his tenure of office.

Founder of School System
 It has been rightly said that Domingo Faustino Sarmiento is the father of the Argentine school system. His country knows and loves the irascible old man who had no patience with ignorance, and is aware that he is directly responsible for Argentina having one of the most complete and advanced school systems in the world. He was a prophet of free public education. Today we accept this as an everyday necessity, but his life and that of Horace Mann both show that they suffered the bitterest kind of opposition and attack. Sarmiento cast the mold of Argentine education, and thereby of Argentine thought.

Sarmiento's genius resides in having been ahead of his time. He personified progress and that lively spirit of inquiry which is so typical of his countrymen today; what Ricardo Rojas' great Argentine critic and writer calls, "the anarchistic individuality of the Argentine character." Sarmiento had no theory to sell. His only aim was to make the people enlightened, democratic, modern, whether in Chile, the United States or Argentina.

Sarmiento's life was like that of Chaucer's scholar. "Pain would I learn and gladly teach." He did both.

More Schools In Peru
 President Manuel Prado recently took measures to enforce a law passed in 1920, providing that the owners of plantations, mines, and factories in Peru must establish free schools for the children of their employees when other educational facilities are not available. According to a proclamation by the President, more than 2,000 work centers, each with 30 or more children, lack schools.

President Santos Favors Closer Links With U. S.
 In a speech to the new Congress in Colombia recently, President Eduardo Santos strongly condemned a "cold-blooded neutrality" which had been previously advocated by a minority group, adding: "The question of war is intimately linked with our relations to the United States, as well as to our understanding of a Pan American policy."

Choose Best Diet for Potato Crop

How potato leaves reveal plant food hunger is indicated by above illustrations which show: 1—A healthy growth; 2—The effects of nitrogen deficiency; and 3—Typical signs of potash starvation.

Whether feast or famine is to be the result at potato harvest time is an event that can be foretold during the growing season.

Potatoes, like other crops, require a properly balanced ration of plant foods. Their diet should always include nitrogen, phosphorus and potash in greater or lesser amounts.

When any of these elements is lacking, the growing crop shows definite symptoms of distress. To enable the potato grower to detect these signs so that he can apply correctives and provide his soil with adequate plant food, the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee has listed these symptoms.

Nitrogen hunger. The young plants are stunted and listless. Leaves lose their healthy green color and take on a pale green or yellowish-green hue. Leaves later show a tendency to "fire" and curl at the edges.

Phosphorus hunger. Plants are spindly and slow growing. Leaves are darker in color. Foliage is crinkly and leaves fail to expand normally.

Potash hunger. Potatoes are heavy potash consumers. Without it they cannot live. With potash deficiency the leaves lose their smooth surface, are undersized and become droopy. Older leaves become yellowish and eventually develop a brown or bronzed color starting from the tip and edge and gradually affecting the entire leaf. Sometimes the lower leaves dry up.

Take Them Now PARKE-DAVIS ABDOL Improved A B C G

1. The four important Vitamins, A, B1, B2 (G.Riboflavin) and D are necessary for maintenance of health and vigor. Parke-Davis Abdol IMPROVED (A-B-C-G) Vitamin Capsules offer these four important vitamins and this medicinal preparation may be used in cases of pregnancy and lactation, poor appetite, restricted diets, malnutrition, debility and gastrointestinal disturbances.
2. Growing children and adults with deficient nutrition may often require a larger intake of vitamins than a normal person.
3. Since many defective conditions of the body are associated with a lack of more than one vitamin, a medicinal preparation including these four factors should have a wide usefulness.
4. PARKE-DAVIS ABDOL improved (A-B-C-G) Vitamin Capsules contain a suspension of concentrated Vitamins B1 B2 (G.Riboflavin) in an oil containing Vitamins A and D which are derived from refined fish liver oils and Viosterol.
5. This preparation will be of material aid in preventing or mitigating conditions arising from vitamin deficiency, particularly when specific deficiency is difficult to diagnose.
6. Each capsule is equivalent to 1½ teaspoonfuls of cod liver oil, meeting U.S.P. standard requirements in vitamins A and D.
7. Each capsule is equivalent to approximately 237 grains of average dried brewer's yeast in Vitamin B1 and to 76 in vitamin B2.
8. The gelatin capsules protect the four combined vitamins against deterioration on exposure to the air.
9. The capsules are small and tasteless, therefore easy to swallow.
10. There is a minimum volume of fish liver oil in proportion to the vitamins present in the capsules. Therefore, their administration is much less liable to cause gastric and intestinal disturbances (nausea, eructations, etc.), which may at times result from the ingestion of large amounts of fish liver oil.

NUTRITION MEETING NOV. 30

The food requirements committee of the WPB Washington, has inaugurated a campaign to prepare the public for meat rationing which will become effective on or about Jan. 1 1943. It is vitally necessary that every home in Livingston cc. be reached by December 5.

Meat rationing will be necessary to assure that our armed forces, and the starving inhabitants of the Axis occupied countries shall be fed. Our job is to prepare the public for this new type of rationing. To place the required information and supplies in the hands of local workers, we are calling an organization meeting in the court-house of the Howell court room Nov. 30 at 3:00p.m. All members of the OCD nutrition committee of this area are urged to attend this meeting.

Uncle Sam has promised the hungry people of Europe that we will send them food. Let us all be ready and willing to do our share toward keeping that promise.

Livingston Co. Nutrition Chairman
Gladys Potts, R.N.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

by workers.
According to two British labor leaders who recently visited a number of American war plants, the average American worker is not aware of the danger confronting him.

Arthur Stace, editor, Ann Arbor News, makes this observation:
While paying the highest tribute to the magnificent physical establishments connected with the job of building weapons, the two visitors observed that the average American war workers seemed to lack the sense of urgency that motivates British workers.

Still more recently, an American reporter in Britain contributed a somewhat similar observation. His is a different aspect of the situation.

Wouldn't you like to buy a War Bond with an official validate stamp, Dec. 7, 1942?

Frank Isby, Frank Murphy's choice for manager of the Michigan State Fair who is chairman of the Michigan war savings committee, invites Michigan citizens to remember Pearl Harbor by buying an extra war bond between Dec. 1 and 7.

Within 12 weeks after enlistment 300 Michigan volunteers in the U.S. Marines will be on their way to battle in South Pacific war zone.

This fact, together with the 167th anniversary of the founding of the Marines prompted a group of chain store executives in Detroit to arrange a Xmas party in San Diego for the Michigan lads.

Each youth will receive a box containing cakes, cookies, cigarettes, razors and belts, etc.

Repeal of war time for Michigan the most western state to be within the eastern time zone, is a good bet for the 1943 state legislature.

The last legislature repealed the advanced war time, only to have the governor repeal the bill.

Streamlining the state legislature job into two annual sessions, instead of the biennial seige at Lansing that usually goes well into May or June, is one of the objects of Gov. elect Harry F. Kelly.

Other governors have had similar dreams, economy in government, for example... and it remains to be seen whether Kelly can do it.

AVON REPRESENTATIVE

I have a very lovely and complete line of AVON Xmas gift sets. Orders taken up until December 11th. will be delivered in ample time for Christmas.

We at home should surely be willing to do what we can to give our boys the best equipment and food. Buy bonds and stamps as fast as you can. Have a definite program, as many do, to buy so much from each pay check. Others who have check and savings accounts instruct us to buy a certain amount each month and charge their accounts. We know of no safer investment so we do not hesitate to advise all to buy as many United States War Bonds and Stamps as they can. We are satisfied that you will be glad you did this in future years because some day this war will be over and then you will have nice cushion of savings to fall back in to buy the things you need and want.
