News and Items Concerning the Boys Who Are in the Service of Their Country

A second class petty officer's rating was given to Raymond Ellis, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ellis of this place.

Upon graduation from the Navy's trade school for diesel operators at Navy Pier here last week. Now a motor machinist's mate, sec. class he awaits assignment to duty.

The Bluejacket has completed an intensive course with the use of machine tools, operation & maintenance of combustion machines and overhauling engine auxiliaries.

He was assigned to the school upon showing aptitude for this work in a series of tests.

Raymond is now at Miami, Florida on sub-chaser duty.

Richard Buckley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Buckley of Isosco has received his 2nd Lt. comm. and his wings at Aloe Field, Victoria Texas. He started flight training last July. He was inducted into the service in July 1941 and was at San Antonio Texas, and San Diego, Cal. before going to his present location. He graduated from Fowlerville H.S. in 1938.

Jack Fitzsimmons 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Fitzsimmons of North Lake is at the US marine base at San Diego, Cal. He joined the marines March 9 last. Previous to that he attended Chelsea high school 3 years and the Ford Trade School 5 months before entering Willow Run plant.

Sergt. John Wise is home from Camp Maxey, Texas, on a furlough.

The date for the next draft call is on May 11. We understand the list will contain a number of Pinckney names.

Pvt. Max Reynolds is now at Camp Roberts Calif.

Pvt. Glen Kingsley is home from Nashville Tenn on a furlough.

Tech. Corpl. Friday Haines leaves today to return to Fort Francis Warren, Wyoming.

Lt. James Nash and family returned to Fort Howse, Texas last week. Herbert (Peach) Palmer will take his naval exam. on April 30.

The Wm. Shehan family have received word that Cpl. Ted Adish recently sent to Camp Custer from Maryland expects to be sent south soon.

Pvt. Hank Green, former Brighton high school left hand pitcher is now at Fort Lewis Wash.

Paul Flintoff, son of A.H. Flintoff recently graduated from the Riddle school of aviation at Coral Gables Florida.

Somewhere in Australia, April 14. Dear Paul: That paper of yours certainly gets around. I have received it in the most remote places and at the most unexpected times. I always look forward to getting it and should have written to thank you long ago. I have not seen Steve Geycz down here but see by the letter from Edsill Meyer he is in good health. In fact I have not seen a soul from Pinckney since I left Mich. Well I have had a long string of interesting and exciting experiences but on account of government restrictions cannot give you details. They will have to wait till I get back, and that will be quite a while yet. I see by the Dispatch the dam went out. What does Carr do for ice? Also the kids who used to swim there and fish the re will do without it. Some plan should be worked out to replace it. My address has been changed again as you will see on the envelop. Well, keep the old town running and thanks again for the paper.

Pvt. Howard Read, US Marines

TIN CAN PICKUP SATURDAY

Sat. of this week is tin can pickup day. Items have been carried in the Pinckney Dispatch for the past several weeks concerning preparation of tin cans so that all cans should be in readiness for pickup. County road comm trucks, 20 in number will begin the collection of tin cans at 7:30 Sat. morning. Mr. Hulce, supt. of schools will be in charge of collection in Pinckney.

Cans are to be collected at all rural schools, salvage depots, and in cities and villages from the street. All tin cans should be in place for pickup Fri. evening.

Last Week of Bond Drive

The Quota For Pinckney Village is $12,500 with the Amount About Two Thirds Subscribed. Drive Ends May 1

The bond quota in the April drive which ends May 1 for this village is $12,500. The bond sellers are making a house to house canvass and are trying their hardest to go over the top. They are handicapped by the fact that Pinckney has a few wealthy men and also that many of the people are employed by war plants & have to buy bonds at the factories every pay day. The biggest buyers in the village so far are we understand George Webb and Lee Lavey each of whom bought $2000 worth. The majority of the sales are in small lots and it takes a long time for them to mount up.

The quota for the entire county is $500,000. The city of Howell reports $85,000 already sold by solicitors and through banks. If each person in the county bought a $25 dollar bond the quota could be easily raised. This morning Pinckney had raised $10,500 of their $12,500 quota and have until Friday to raise $2000.

COMMUNITY SINGS

Three community sings will replace the usual music festivals which for the last ten years have climaxed the music work in the rural schools of this county. The meetings will be held at Pinckney Monday May 3 at 8 p.m. fast time; in Howell Tues. May 4th at 8 p.m. fast time with the Brighton area included.

Since singing has a vital contribution to make to the morale of a people during war the program is planned so that the entire audience will participate. Miss Thrasher, the music supervisor who is furnished at no charge will conduct the singing. Music sheets for community singing will be used. Inez Musson will accompany.

Miss Thrasher has met the children and teachers five times previously this year. She has worked with them on singing, appreciation, rudiments of music and folk dancing. This year the weekly broadcasts of the rural music program over WKAR at 10 o'clock each Monday have made a valuable contribution to the music program.

The public is invited to these sings. No Charge. Come and blend your voice with the voices of the children, as they sing songs which help to give strength and courage during these strenuous days.

RED CROSS DRIVE RESULTS

The Red Cross drive has closed and the county exceeded its quota by 79 percent the quota was $84,000 and $15,050.00 was collected. Since Pearl Harbor the people have contributed $25,000 to the Red Cross and the USO. This is an average of $1.25 per person. Every township but Hartland, Deerfield, and Cohoctah over-subscribed their quotas. The quota for the city of Howell was $1707 and $3,967.95 was subscribed. Putnam subscribed $533.14 their quota was $480. Unadilla had a quota of $389 and raised $538, Hamburg one of $435 and raised $820.

IS MAN POWER DIRECTOR

David Martin of Flint has been appointed deputy area director for War Man Power Comm. and been assigned to Flint where he will open headquarters if the US employment office. He will have charge of Genesee, Lapeer and Saginaw counties. It will be his duty to aid employers in obtaining workers and help them with war time problems.

SPECIAL NOTICE

By order of the Trustee Board of the Community Cong'l church, a meeting will be held after the services May 2nd for the purpose of extending a call to the present pastor, Rev. J. M. Lucas whose resignation has not been accepted, and to transact any business relative to the Pastor's relationship to said church for another year. All members of the church and contributors over 18 years of age have a vote. Signed, Eloyse Campbell, Clerk.

A wind storm did much damage in Howell and the Hartland area Tuesday.

Soldiers Tax Exemption

War Veterans Are Entitled To a Certain Property Exemption If They Apply for It

Frank Bush, director of Civilian War Services for this county, calls attention to an exemption from taxation that soldiers and sailors are entitled to under certain conditions. This exemption amounts to $2000 on property and occupied as a home steady by any soldier or sailor in service. Any soldier or sailor owning taxable property of a greater value than $5,000 is not entitled to this exemption.

In order to get this exemption such a man or his wife, child parent brother or sister, niece or nephew will have to file an affidavit promptly with the township supervisor or assessing officer where such property is located.

The unmarried widow of any veteran is also entitled to a similar exemption but must file an affidavit personally.

The American Legion posts in Brighton, Fowlerville, and Howell have blanks for making these affidavits. Those interested should contact any member of the American Legion. Be sure to take your last tax receipt with you.

PERSONALITY SKETCH

By Heck
Our subject this week is the man from Iron Mountain, better known as "Doc" Zera. Like Conn* he came up the hard way - backwards. From this little mining town in northern Mich. he made a pilgrimage to Pinckney, which was a life time dream of his. Then he went to the U of M and took a course in the "Art of Self-Defense" to qualify him for a job at PHS. Finally he decided to make a Great Sacrifice, that of teaching the Sophomores and Freshmen of PHS. His predecessor to this job had retired to an easy job of building bombers* After teaching here for two years, Doc was offered a quieter job of riveting at the Bomber plant. After his experiences with Jones in the study hall he was also recommended for the job of fighting the Gremlins. So the school lost one of its great figures and the town lost one of its most eligible bachelors? Don Jones says, "I'll miss him, but I always missed him with spittals anyway." FINIS
*The Conn referred to about is the Conn of Conn's clothes and not to be confused with Billy Conn, the engis Khan or Connie Mack.

Notice!
Men wanted for permanent work in war plant. No changes after the war. Skilled or unskilled. See Mr. E. Krahn after 5 p.m. at Detroit Die Set Corp. Pinckney Michigan.

Mich. Mirror State News

In Which Post War Planning and Buying War Bonds is Discussed

Why buy war bonds this month? Governor Kelly indirectly gave a powerful answer to the question when he depicted Michigan post war problems in an address at a midwest regional conference of the Council of State governments at Chicago. The future will not be a happy one, is about as follows.

Approximately 400,000 bread winners unemployed as Michigan industry tries swing back to peace time production.

100,000 service men back home, awaiting an opportunity to work. When wages are at high levels when there are more jobs than workers to fill them a war bond is insurance against the post war adjustment period.

Put you say, "Why should I buy war bonds as post war insurance. Isn't it the job of the government to keep me from starving?" This is one of the controversies existing today.

Beneath the fears being voiced that the government will try to subsidize all human needs in some glorified post war scheme of Utopia is a significant trend on the part of Republican governor's to present the old issue of states rights in modern language: Bureaucracy vs rights of the individual. It offers what might be an inkling of what the key to the political issue of the 1944 presidential campaign.

Gov. Kelly believes that Mich will be confronted with the worst unemployment in its history after the war.

In the Michigan industrial centers today are literally hundreds of thousands of families from other states.

Few people realize the magnitude of job losses - sheer unemployment in our state in the period from 1929 to 1938 said Gov. Kelly.

In 75 of the 100 months between May 1929 and Dec. 1937, the number of unemployed gainful workers in the

COMMENT By Yo. Editor

The big news event of the week was the fact that all of the 10 planes who made the raid on Tokyo a year ago were destroyed in forced landings except one which landed in Russia and was returned for the duration and further that of the 8 American aviators who landed in occupied China and were captured by the Japs, some were executed and the Japs. served notice that all American aviators who attempt to bomb Japan will meet a like fate. In arriving at this conclusion Japan overlooks a number of things. Undoubtedly women and children were killed in the raid but history tells us that women and children are killed in every war, usually accidentally. There are no established rules for war. The old proverb "Everything is Fair in Love & War", still holds good. There is absolutely no way in which one party in a war can make their opponents observe any rules. There were many women and children killed by the Japs in their attacks on the Pearl Harbor base and in the Phillipines. Yet this country made no reprisal threats against the Japs. In such warfare sacrifice of innocent women and children is unavoidable. It all boils down to this. When the Japs are forced to take a dose of their own medicine they simply cannot do it.

Gov. Kelly seems to have pulled a hornets nest about his ears with his suggestion that the schools handle the liquor rationing as they have handled the issuing of the other ration cards. He added that they got a large percentage of the liquor money anyway. Supt. of Public Instruction Elliot and all the teachers organization are 100 per cent against it. So great is the outcry that some other system of registering drinkers will have to be worked out. The liquor supply has been steadily diminishing, the dwindling supplies have caused a rush of buying and many stocks are depleted. Detroit reports lineups at liquor stores several blocks long while the same photographer taking pictures at bond sale window only shows a few people. It is suggested that persons be allowed but two quarts a month. The system in use in other cases of giving a percentage of what was consumed a year ago is out the window as the heavy boozers would reap the advantage. However with cocktail ingredients a standard part of household equipment there should be a big rush for ration cards. Rationing starts June 1.

In the death of ex Gov. Dickinson Michigan probably lost a unique figure, the likes of which will never be seen again. The leading dry of Mich. he did most of his campaigning from the pulpits of Methodist churches and was elected Lt. gov. 7 times. With the usual number of 6 or 7 candidates in the race his dry vote was always sufficient to win him nomination. If it had not been for the sudden death of Gov. Fitzgerald he would probably never have become gov. However his chance came too late. When he became gov he was old and broken, nearly 80 years old. He had lost the energy and fire of his younger crusading days and sponsored no legislation of any importance. The important problems he ignored or left to others. Instead he came out against the shortness of Boy Scout shorts & the sin he observed at the governor's conference in New York. He was easily defeated by Murray VanWagoner in 1940. In all of his 10 political campaigns he never spent a cent of money to get elected. His honesty and integrity were never questioned but his vision could have been broader. For to him the only principle that mattered was prohibition.

State revenues are said to have held up well so far in 1943. According to the Aud. General sales tax collections in March 1943 were -1,410,000 ahead of March 1942 and the liquor excise tax $64,000. The total purpose revenue for the past 9 months is $5,143,000 ahead of the previous year, not withstanding the extravagance of the legislature the money spent is being swiftly replenished. The question is however, how long can this last? The people have lots of money and are buying heavily but everywhere merchants stocks are dwindling. Therefore it is greatly to be doubted that the current prosperity can last long.

FINAL INSPECTION:

Make sure it's right with

good light

INSPECTION has always been an important part in production. But in war work—where a soldier's life may depend on the accuracy of machined parts and the absence of flaws in a gun or shell or tank or engine part—inspection is doubly important. Final inspection must make sure that the product is RIGHT—and that no defective parts or workmanship are allowed to go out of the plant.

The more precise the work, the more critical the inspection—and the greater the need for GOOD LIGHT to help detect imperfections. Besides finding "rejects" when the work is finished, inspection helps to prevent losses by catching flaws early, as the work goes along. Periodic inspection saves wasted man-hours and reduces spoilage.

Good light for inspection is "tailored" to the needs of the specific job. What is satisfactory lighting for one job may be wholly inadequate for another. For example, inspection may involve the internal structure of a piece, or its composition. It may involve surface contour, or color and finish. In each case there is a particular kind of lighting to assure best results. Our industrial Lighting Advisors will be glad to discuss any lighting problem you may have, and study your requirements. They will then submit recommendations without charge. Call any Detroit Edison office. The Detroit Edison Company.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS....

"You can't imagine, Judge, how much comfort Louise and I got out of reading that report by the Office of War Information on drinking habits in and around Army camps. If you hadn't loaned us your copy we'd still be worrying about our Jim... all because of those silly rumors goin' around."
"I'm mighty glad to hear that, John. As the report says, no Army in American history has been so orderly, so well-behaved, so well-trained. Why, even on pay-night there's very little drinking done. I was particularly interested in that part which said the Army, with an eye to its own problem, usually prefers to have its camps in wet communities rather than dry communities because wet communities can be regulated... dry communities with their bootleggers can't. It's just more proof that prohibition does not prohibit."

Guests of Mrs. W.E. Murphy were Miss Druilla Murphy of Detroit, Miss Florence Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. A.H. Murphy and son of Jackson.

Robert Kourt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kourt of Pinckney has been transferred to the radio operating dept. of the army tank div. at Fort Knox, Kentucky and is learning to operate a radio set from the interior of rumbling rolling tanks. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wilson have purchased 5 acres of the Hase farm on Unadilla St. east of the Frank Merrill home and expect to build their in the future. They have set out 300 strawberry plants there. Mrs. Wilson is a teacher in the Pinckney school.

KITES MAY BE DANGEROUS

"Fly kites only in open fields" is the springtime caution voiced to youth youngsters today by teachers, Boy Scout leaders and utility people. They explain overhead wires carrying high voltage electric current constitute a danger to children whose kites or kite strings may touch the wires. Flying kites away from electric lines will eliminate the hazard.

In addition the following safety rules were offered for kite safety. String containing metal such as Xmas tinsel cord should never be used. It forms a perfect conductor to the hand from any electric wire it might touch. Likewise, wet string or thread acts like a wire, conducting electricity and must be avoided. For this reason no one should fly kites in the rain. String that is soiled from lying in the puddles or wet grass should be dried out before using.

The use of metal for kite frames may cause a great deal of trouble. Ever apparently harmless wires may become charged at some point you cannot see. You cannot always recognize a live wire-it seldom sparks flares or smokes. So it is better to live with wire alone. Report all wires down to the Detroit Edison Co. at once and leave to experienced men

Bessie

"All right, Bessie," said the boss of the little factory which was making jackets for soldiers. "Did you want to see me about something?" The thin middle-aged woman stood up from the chair in the outer office and looked earnestly at the boss with her huge, grave gray eyes.

"It's about this ten percent pledge," she began. "Oh, that's all right, Bessie," the boss said. "I'd been meaning to speak to you about that. We don't expect you to pledge ten percent of your pay for War Bonds and Stamps like the others are doing. We know you have a hard time making ends meet since Jake died. Eleven kids, isn't it? That's quite a lot of mouths to feed. Let's see, you make $25.50 a week including overtime, don't you?"

"Yes, sir, but..." The boss smiled. "Don't give it another thought, Bessie. You've got your hands full now. Uncle Sam knows you haven't got a penny to spare. Don't let it worry you. We understand."

The boss turned to go back into his private office. "But what I wanted to say was Bessie raised her voice and the boss looked around. "I wanted to say, would a dollar a week be too little? You see, after we get the living expenses paid, there's just about a dollar a week left. Would they be willing to accept a dollar a week?"

"They'd be more than willing," the boss said quietly. "They'd be proud."

Bessie looked relieved. "All we have to do is scrimp a little," she said. "I'd feel just terrible if we couldn't give something."

Back in the boss' office a representative of the Treasury Department was waiting. The boss shut the door and sat down.

"I've just seen the greatest single sacrifice I know of," the boss said. "Listen, if you want to hear what American women are made of..."

Betsy

The little girl tugged gently at her mother's sleeve. "Now, Mother?" she asked. "Now can't we write my letter?"

"Why, of course, Betsy," Mrs. Carson grinned. "Are you going to write it or am I?"

"Well," Betsy said. "Maybe you'd better kind of say it to me. Only I'd love to write it."

"All right, then, Miss Carson, take a letter," her mother said, walking slowly up and down the room. "Ready? Dear Mr. Morgenthau: The way I save money for War Stamp buying is to steer all the small household jobs toward my daughter, who is eight years old. She is so keen about buying War Stamps that I know all the money I might have paid to someone else for doing the jobs will go toward Victory when paid to her."

"Now make a list, Betsy. 'Windows washed, 60 cents. Apples picked from under the tree, 25 cents. Emptied trash cans, 4 cents. Sold string beans from the garden, 15 cents. Sold strips of spoiled film to children for sunbazing, at one cent a yard, 20 cents. Total, $1.24. Yours helpfully, I hope, — and then I'll sign it at the bottom.'"

Betsy was puffing like a grampus from her labors. The tall, painstaking letters tottered bravely across the sheet of paper. Gravely Mrs. Carson took the pen to sign.

"Mother, would it be the proper etiquette if I signed it too?" "Perfectly proper, I think," Mrs. Carson said without a smile, and handed the pen back to Betsy.

U. S. Treasury Department

His Pigs Go to War

Young Johnny Clay of Rocky Mount, North Carolina, is typical of farm children raising victory pigs and devoting profits to War Bonds.

Farm Youth of U. S. Looks to Tomorrow

TOMORROW'S farmers and farm homemakers are second to no school group in their enthusiasm for investing in War Bonds and Stamps to make sure their future is secure. Through the Schools At War program they are investing what they save and earn in War Stamps and Bonds.

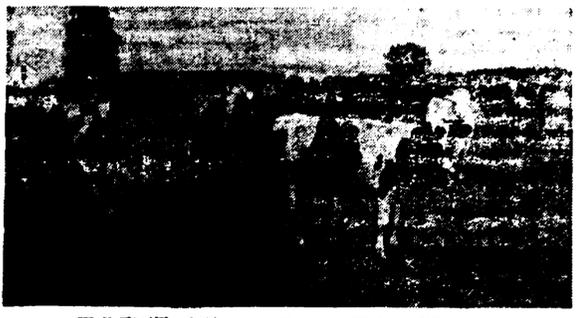

First evidence of this is the amount the 4-H Club boys and girls and the FFA boys invested in war savings in 1942 from "Victory Pig" and other projects. A million and a half 4-H Club members put $8,000,000 of their own savings in War Bonds and Stamps and sold $2,500,000 worth of War Savings to their neighbors. Nearly a quarter million members of Future Farmers of America invested more than $1,500,000.

Spurred by the realization that the financial welfare of farm families the next 20 years depends on how wisely they use today's higher incomes from increased food and other wartime production, both groups have set their goals still higher for 1943.

These farm youths are building financial reserves, and urging their parents to do the same, for after-the-war necessities, to meet financial emergencies and to help them get started in college.

They're building reserves today for tomorrow's farm buildings and for the other things they will need when they're tomorrow's farmers and homemakers.

U. S. Cow Army Biggest in History

Well-Fertilized Pastures Means a Richer Milk Flow.

CHICAGO. — Uncle Sam's milk cow army is 5,000,000 stronger than it was in World War No. 1, according to a statement made public here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"This year alone, 26,000,000 milk cows on the nation's farm pastures will produce 123 billion pounds of milk for our fighting forces, our allies and our civilian population," says the statement. "In 1917 there were 21,000,000 milk cows in the United States whose production was approximately 79 billion pounds."

"As a result of better breeding and feeding, milk production per cow has increased from 3,743 to 4,742 pounds in the past 25 years."

"Much of the improved nutritional benefit has resulted from pasture building programs in recent years in which legume crops such as clover and alfalfa have been the foundation."

"Keeping these pastures at a high productive rate to meet the dairy animals' war-time needs will require good farming methods. This means following a soil conservation program that builds up fertility and provides plant foods that will assure a good stand of legumes and grasses. In such a program, the use of a fertilizer containing necessary phosphorus and potash plays an important part."

"Agronomists at state colleges and experiment stations are prepared to cooperate in providing information covering the use of fertilizers on pasture crops."

"With the nation's commercial nitrogen supply being largely diverted to the production of war munitions, the value of legume crops is becoming increasingly recognized, for clover and alfalfa are an important source of atmospheric nitrogen."

Red Cross Field Directors Solve Soldiers' Problems

Thousands of U. S. fighting men last year accepted the invitation to discuss their personal problems with Red Cross field directors who accompany troops to all parts of the world. This picture, taken in London, shows everyone happy after the field men had satisfactorily solved the problems of the two soldiers at the desk. Contributions to the Red Cross 1943 War Fund, now in progress, make this service possible.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The soldier strolled into the Red Cross office at a southern Army camp. His mouth was set in a hard, straight line; his eyes were cold, determined. His wife trailed him as he strode across the reception room; her face was red and swollen from crying. They were not over 23.

"I need help," the soldier told the Red Cross field director at the desk. "And I need it fast."

The Red Cross field director smiled, but the soldier did not return it. "All right, soldier, let's see what's the trouble."

"If I don't get help I'm going over the hill," he blurted. "I'm on alert now—due to move out almost any minute. But I'm not going—and leave my wife with no place to stay."

Further conversation developed that the young bride was an expectant mother. She was unable to go home because of her stepfather. Her husband had a relative with whom she could stay. And the allotment he had made to his wife had not yet come through.

Two hours later—after much conversation and planning—the soldier was shaking the hand of the Red Cross field director.

The Red Cross man had arranged that the soldier's wife spend the night at the Army camp guest house. Preparations had been completed with a nearby Red Cross chapter for her transportation back home. The Red Cross chapter in the girl's home town had agreed to see that she had proper care until the baby was born. By that time the allotment would be coming through.

In every United States military establishment, at home and abroad, the American Red Cross maintains a field director and staff to help Uncle Sam's fighting men work out such personal problems. More than 1,000,000 servicemen passed through the offices of the Red Cross field directors last year. Their problems covered all phases of life—families needing financial aid, illnesses, deaths, loss of contact with the home folks. These and other problems are unfolded in a never-ending panorama before Red Cross field directors. Almost always they are solved.

The Red Cross field director is ready to furnish information, counsel, and assistance as needed to men of the armed forces. Reaching into every county in the United States through local Red Cross chapters, these workers and local home service chairmen act on behalf of the men of the armed forces and their families in matters affecting the welfare of either or both.

In addition to the servicemen aided by field directors, more than 500,000 families of men in the service received help through Red Cross chapters and branches.

Contributions of the American people to the Red Cross during the $125,000,000 War Fund appeal now in progress will help to keep and expand these services to the nation's fighting men.

Varied and often unusual are the other demands made of Red Cross field directors. Field Director William Fluharty, stationed in a remote Australian area, traveled down to a railroad junction to bring back 6,000 pounds of American magazines for troops to which he was assigned. Returning on a train, he was asked to help deliver a baby for a native woman, belatedly en route to a hospital.

Red Cross Field Director Albert S. Campbell and two assistants, David S. Oman and John J. Clancy, Jr., distributed clothes, cigarettes, soap, razors, tooth brushes, playing cards and other articles to American fighters during one of the most furious Solomon Islands battles.

Whatever the welfare and personal problems of American fighters at home or abroad, the field director, backed up by 3,755 Red Cross chapters and 6,000 branches, is the serviceman's best friend in time of need.

American People Face Acid Test in Treasury's 2nd War Loan To Raise 13 Billion Dollars in Three Weeks

The Nation Dare Not Fail in This Greatest Financing Task in History—"They Give Their Lives—You Lend Your Money."

Washington, D. C.—Coming as it does upon the heels of income tax payments, the people of America will face an acid test this month when the Treasury's Second War Loan drive opens April 12 with an objective of thirteen billion dollars to be raised through sale of Government securities.

A substantial part of this huge financing, the most stupendous ever undertaken by any government in the world's history, must be loaned by people in ordinary walks of life.

High Government officials have pointed out that the nation must not fail in this duty to our men on the battle fronts who are now carrying the offensive to the enemy at every stage. It is obvious to every thinking man and woman that as the United Nations take this offensive against the dictators, the cost of war operations increases in proportion.

The American people must no longer think of war costs in terms of equipping a soldier, building a tank or plane or a ship. We must now think in terms of the cost of battles, invasions and new offensives. Attacking armies cost more money than equipping that army and we must meet that increased cost by buying more War Bonds and Second War Loan Securities.

They Give Their Lives.

It is not only necessary that the American people left here at home assume this additional participation in the war effort—it is an honor to do so. . . for we here at home can do no less than attempt to approach the sacrifices of our brave men out on the fighting fronts to whom the last great measure of sacrifice is but a daily offering. They give their lives. . . we are asked only to lend our money.

And that is the theme of the Second War Loan, "They Give Their Lives—You Lend Your Money."

Financial experts who know monetary conditions in the nation point out that at the present time there is in liquid funds, cash and commercial bank deposits over and above taxes and present investment in Government Bonds and over and above what can be bought this year because of restrictions and rationing. . . approximately 40 billions of dollars which should go into Government Bonds.

It should be the objective of every American to invest these loose dollars, idle dollars, in Government securities, not only from a patriotic standpoint, but from the standpoint of their own financial security. There is available during the Second War Loan a type of Security to fit every pocketbook.

Are Wild Dollars

Every dollar of these forty billions of dollars available, which is not invested in Government securities during this War Loan Drive is a "wild" dollar which, together with its mates, will tend to increase inflation. Uncontrolled inflation might raise the cost of living to a point where the dollar is worthless. It can happen. It happened in Germany after the last war when the price of a loaf of bread cost more than an annual wage.

Invested in Government securities, your dollar will work for you. It will hold down inflation because it is harnessed in war work; it will help buy food, transportation, munitions for our boys on the front lines and it will be earning interest that, together with your original loan, will come back to you later to help you buy the things you cannot buy today. . . to insure your peace of the future.

Remember those boys out there. . . in Tunisia. . . in the South Pacific. . . They give their lives—You lend your money.

Will Americans Be More Tender With Their Money Than Lives of Their Sons

Washington, D. C.—A blunt challenge—whether Americans will be more tender with their money than with the lives of their sons—confronts U. S. citizens as they prepare to meet the appeal of the government to put an additional 13 billion dollars into the fight in the next three weeks.

American dollars which run off to some cozy shelter to hide while American boys are dying to defend our cities and towns from destruction and invasion will face a rising demand from all classes of patriotic citizens to come out and fight.

Millions of workers who now are buying War Bonds regularly out of current income must lend extra money to their government during the Second War Loan campaign (which started April 12).

In recognition of the spirit of sacrifice which is sweeping over the land as our troops swing into offensive action in Africa and await the signal for a landing in Europe, the Treasury Department is offering a series of government bonds to fit every pocketbook.

No matter whether Americans buy the familiar Series E Bonds or 2 1/2 per cent bonds or 2 per cent bonds or tax certificates, they will be doing their part to make the Second War Loan drive a success.

Consumer Spending Too High. Consumer spending in 1942 was much too high to meet the war situation of 1943. Last year more than 82 billion dollars of our soaring national income went to feed the desires of Americans for clothes, recreation, foods and luxuries. As these items grow scarcer, more of our income must be diverted from such expenses into government bonds.

During 1942 millions of our fathers, sons, relatives and friends were in training here and abroad. Some were already in action. Casualties were beginning to bite into every community. War Bonds became a vital link between the home and fighting fronts.

Today sacrifice has become a way of life for America's fighting men. Civilian spending on the 1942 scale must go out the window if the home folks are to attempt to match the heroism of our boys at the front.

Not every American can take his place in a bomber or in a foxhole or on a fighting ship but he can fire away at the enemy by lending money to the government.

CONSERVATION NOTES

Thousands of geese at the Ottawa marshes in Allegan county at the Swan Creek station are announcing the arrival of spring. They have already cleaned out a 2 acre experimental patch of winter wheat sown for them last fall.

It cost two Battle Creek factory workers $88.75 for shooting doe out of season in the Allegan county reserve last week.

The Wyoming game laws classify the stray cat as a predatory animal.

Of the many game law changes at the present legislative session only about 12 passed and most of them are of minor importance. The pheasant season and limit was changed from 6 to 8 and the daily cotton tail bag from 3 to 5. All fish shanty owners must have name and address on their shanties. Changed the frog season from June 24 to Nov. 16. Provides for referendum votes in several townships in Oakland county which desire to prohibit hunting. Prohibit fur dealers from buying beaver trapping licenses.

Up-to-date 150 carcasses of starved deer have been found in northern Michigan. Snow prevents an accurate count and the number is believed to be much larger.

Suckers which will be soon running by the tens of thousands in Michigan streams make good eating if prepared right. They can be canned or smoked. The Kaleva school canned 500 lbs of them for children's hot lunches last year. For canning they must be clean and put in salt brine for 24 hours. Then rinsed in hot water, put in qt. jar, a teaspoonful of vinegar added to each jar and pressure cooked for 2 hours.

Addition of $50,000 worth of land to the state game areas is announced. In Livingston 888 acres has been added near Oak Grove. These lands are open to hunting. The purchase funds come from 25c out of each hunting license and the federal tax on firearms of ammunition.

DESIRES

Our nature is inseparable from desires, and the very word desires—the craving for something not possessed—implies that our present felicity is not complete. —Thomas Hobbes

There is nothing capricious in nature and the implanting of a desire indicates that its gratification is in the constitution of the creature that feels it. —Emerson

A wise man will desire no more than he may get justly, use soberly, distribute cheerfully, and leave contentedly. —Richard Burton

Happiness consists in the attainment of our desires, and in having only right desires. —Augustine

Desire is prayer, and no loss can occur from trusting God with our desires, that they may be moulded and exhausted before they take the form in words and deeds. —Ely

Therefore I (Jesus) say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them and ye shall have them. Mark 11:24

What Is Inflation?

Do you have excess cash? You will answer, "No." But the fact remains that you do. For almost every wage earner these days has an income, in checkbook or pocketbook, well above the cost of his living, taxes, insurance and debt repayments.

You never actually "bid" against anybody for a porterhouse steak, but when you take the spending of all average Americans as a group, it's a different story. So it is important that excess money be saved rather than used collectively to bid up prices. If it is spent, instead of saved, prices soar. . . That's inflation.

Ideally, it should be invested in Government securities during the Second War Loan. "They give their lives. . . You lend your money."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Faced with the greatest wartime program in history, the American Red Cross will launch its 1943 War Fund appeal for $125,000,000 on March 1, Chairman Norman H. Davis has announced.

Pointing out that the bulk of the fund will be used to expand Red Cross services to the men of the armed forces and their families, Chairman Davis urged every American man and woman to contribute to the fund.

With the approval of President Roosevelt, who also is President of the American Red Cross, the month of March is being observed as Red Cross Month. Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, is chairman of the Red Cross 1943 War Fund.

"Red Cross services to our armed forces and to the needs of distressed civilians on the battle and home fronts can be supplied only by great expenditures and sacrifices," Chairman Davis said. "We are exerting our utmost efforts to accomplish these tasks with the least possible drain upon the resources of the people in funds, time and energy. We must never falter in our determination to meet these definite obligations. The Red Cross is confident that all our people will be generous in their support of the 1943 War Fund."

More than 65 percent of the fund received by the national organization will be devoted to meeting Red Cross responsibilities to the armed forces. These include the Red Cross overseas club program, recreation and hospital program, the stationing of field directors at all foreign and domestic military camps and bases, the huge surgical dressing production program, and the blood plasma project which recently was expanded to a total of 4,000,000 pints at the request of the Army and Navy.

Chairman Davis pointed out that the 1943 program will be vastly greater than the accomplishments of last year, in which the Red Cross aided millions of war victims through its foreign war relief program; gave aid to thousands of prisoners of war; collected 1,500,000 pints of blood for the armed forces; produced 520,000,000 surgical dressings, and aided more than 1,500,000 servicemen and their families.

The $125,000,000 quota, he said, will finance the local, national and international work of the Red Cross for the entire year, barring unforeseen emergencies.

state was never less than 250,000. It even reached the half million mark during 25 of the hundred months.

And yet, as the governor points out, although the year 1936 was the best year from the standpoint of employment in a 10 year period, the number of unemployed workers in Michigan was ten fold the amount for the best month in 1929. It also emphasizes the fluidity of Michigan's mass production industry and its relation to relief increase, for example was nearly 10 times that of Pennsylvania and five times that for the country as a whole.

What is the state doing to meet this post-war challenge.

Among the leading accomplishment of the 1943 legislature was the creation of a post war reserve fund 50,000,000, to which the state appropriated twenty million dollar, from its surplus, and the allocation of 8 million for a post war construction fund for Michigan public institutions.

The legislature also reorganized state planning commission to increase its effectiveness in dealing with the unemployment problem.

An aid during post war unemployment period will be compensation payments available to idle workers from Michigans one hundred sixty million dollar reserve.

As Gov. Bricker of Ohio sees the situation, state government must meet the post war responsibilities in rebuilding post war America or others will move in and do the job, no doubt referring to Washington.

Gov. Green of Ill. emphasizes that state governments must plan ahead for the post war era and that Ill. was establishing a long range program to provide for the return of more than 600,000 men the state has sent to war.

Gov. Dewey of New York says that the farm problem exists today chiefly because the federal government never saw the problem- and never acted on it until a few weeks ago.

Dewey sums up the states rights issue as a choice between a reaction ary totalitarianism, which is a super bureaucracy of the national government, and the rights of the individual for the government of the free people.

Gov. Kelly pleads for the return of the first principles, an old fashioned maxim that private initiative must be freed of hampering restrictions if total employment is our goal.

This is the opposite of the creed of ambitious social planners who seek to remake our world through government control and direction.

Besides being the patriotic thing to do, buying a war bond is also a most sensible investment against the rainy days to come.
