A Letter from the WAAC's

Miss Margaret Aschenbrenner in an interesting letter describes life with the WAAC's

Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia
Dear Editor: I have gotten to the stage where I won't be able to look an honest man in the face unless I write some letters, so here goes.

It is two months since I arrived at Fort Oglethorpe, scrapped my chewing gun, cut my finger nails and officially became a WAAC.

I went through 4 weeks of basic training and then landed in the motor transport school. Our basic training is the same as the men get in 13 weeks but as the girls are smarter they do it in 4. In motor transport school our hours are long and classes tough but it is a lot of fun. I have driven staff cars, weapon carriers, 1 one half ton trucks and jeeps. The jeep is my favorite of them all and they do bounce.

Oglethorpe is a very beautiful army camp. It is known as the "Country club of the army". The landscape is beautiful. Poplar, pine and elm trees and hedges of honey suckle and rambling roses, also two swimming pools, riding stables and tennis courts. It was a cavalry post from the Spanish American to World War I, then a CCC camp then a military camp and now a WAAC camp.

When we get passes we go into Chattanooga. It may be a large city but it is still a typical small town. The streets are deserted during the week and crowded during week end. Above it is Lookout mountain, from which you can see 7 states. I gazed from it but couldn't see Pinckney.

Seriously though I am having the time of my life although a lot of griping goes on. I never saw so many women so happy at one time. Must cut this off now before the sergeant turns the lights off.

Miss Margaret Aschenbrenner

OUR DEMOCRACY

WE CAN DO IT OURSELVES -

A 25 BY 50 FOOT GARDEN PLOT WILL GROW FOOD FOR CANNING WORTH 2772 RATION POINTS.

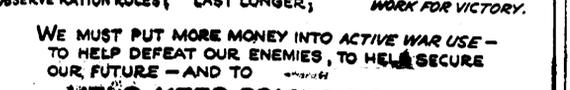

WE CAN INCREASE OUR FOOD SUPPLY BY GROWING OUR OWN VEGETABLES... PUTTING UP ALL WE DO NOT EAT FRESH - SO OUR ARMED FORCES WILL HAVE WHAT THEY NEED - SO THAT WE AT HOME WILL HAVE ENOUGH TO EAT.

WE CAN SHOP CAREFULLY - OBSERVE RATION RULES - MAKE EVERYTHING LAST LONGER - MAKE EVERY DOLLAR WORK FOR VICTORY.

WE MUST PUT MORE MONEY INTO ACTIVE WAR USE - TO HELP DEFEAT OUR ENEMIES, TO HELP SECURE OUR FUTURE - AND TO HELP KEEP PRICES DOWN.

WE CAN SHOP CAREFULLY - OBSERVE RATION RULES - MAKE EVERYTHING LAST LONGER - MAKE EVERY DOLLAR WORK FOR VICTORY.

WE MUST PUT MORE MONEY INTO ACTIVE WAR USE - TO HELP DEFEAT OUR ENEMIES, TO HELP SECURE OUR FUTURE - AND TO HELP KEEP PRICES DOWN.

In Which the State Highway Com. Comes Out in Favor of County Taking Over State Roads

Charles M. Ziegler, Michigan's new state highway commissioner, is rolling up his sleeves, working long hours a day and 6 days a week, and getting acquainted with his personnel and new problems which were not in the picture when he was a deputy commissioner more than a decade ago.

He is the commander of a multi-million dollar business which employs 2500 persons in a state wide network.

Elected to office April 5, Ziegler took over the reins on April 21 and by the first of June he had appointed only two persons to his staff.

We mention this fact because it is significant of the way Ziegler approaches a problem he acts slowly and deliberately and carefully studying a situation from several points of view before arriving at a conclusion.

The highway appointees of previous administrations are under civil service employment. At first they regarded the Ziegler slow approach to department decisions as a sign of distrust in them, but it is generally assumed today that his willingness to handle details is a desire to know departments before he turns over responsibilities to key executives.

The Republican attitude on patronage in worrying some of the Republican politicians. It is particularly interesting in view of the dire predictions made by Democrats that his election would mean the wholesale discharge of hundreds of skilled engineers and workers. As the new commissioner sees it his first duty to build business organizations which will assure efficiency in highway performance.

CURKENT COMMENT

Dr. Allen DaFoe, the doctor who delivered the Dion quintuplets, died last week at the age of 60. The doctor belongs to the class of people who have had greatness thrust upon them. He was an obscure country practitioner with plenty of accounts but little money. There are undoubtedly thousands of doctors like him. He was hard working, thorough and sincere and when the quintuplets were born he did a marvelous job and rose to fame. Money poured in from all over the world. Callender, Ont. became a shrine. The government took over the job of raising them and placed Dr. DaFoe in charge. Again he was equal to the occasion and all five Dions grew to girlhood. The doctor must be classed as a man who when opportunity knocked at his door was ready for it. However if there had been no quintuplets in the world we would have never heard of the doctor.

CONSERVATION NOTES

This dept. has received a few complaints this year of lowered lake levels and their statement in 1935 that increased rainfalls will solve the lake level question seems to have been borne out. There is a drawback to this as the levels will probably fall back again when the rainfalls decrease in coming years. If it is possible to dam the lake outlet, it should be done and then the level can be controlled.

Coyote pelts brought $8.55 and bobcats pelts $5.15, muskrat $1.91, coon 3.05, beaver $29.91, mink $7.91 and otter 16.25 at the recent sale of confiscated skins.

70 per cent of the fish caught on Little Bay DeNoc near Escanaba are perch, Walleyes are next.

This dept. will send out a free booklet telling how to build turtle traps.

Do you remember when light bulbs looked like this?

The young lady in the costume of thirty-three years ago is holding a 100-watt light bulb, vintage of 1910. In those days it was considered a wonder and people were glad to pay $1.45 for it! Yet it gave only half as much light as your 100-watt lamp of 1943.

Yes—you get twice as much light today for the electricity you use. But that's not all: Electricity costs you only about half as much as it did the lady in the picture above.

HOW TO GET THE MOST LIGHT FOR YOUR MONEY

Here are three helpful suggestions that will help your eyes to get all the light they need — without wasting electricity:

1. Avoid glare. Glare from bare bulbs or wrongly placed lamps makes it hard to see with comfort, no matter how much light you have.

2. Avoid shadows. When you read or work in your own shadow you are using only a part of the light that is available. It is just as easy to use it all.

3. Dirt and dust collecting on light bulbs and reflectors can cut your light in half. Clean them regularly.

"Good tidings of great joy"

AND the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord" (Luke 2:10, 11). This message from God, which came to the shepherds on the hills of Judea on a still, clear night long ago, is heard today by those who are listening for God's voice. The star of Bethlehem still shines to guide those who are watching and waiting for the appearing of Christ, Truth.

Christmas, to all true Christians, betokens a desire to give. The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, loved Christmas and explains its spiritual import as the coming of Truth to human consciousness. She begins the Preface to her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," with these inspiring words (p. vi): "To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, to-day is big with blessings. The wakeful shepherd beholds the first faint morning beams, are cometh the full radiance of a risen day. So shone the pale star to the prophet-shepherds; yet it traversed the night, and came where, in cradled obscurity, lay the Bethlehem babe, the human herald of Christ, Truth, who would make plain to benighted understanding the way of salvation through Christ Jesus, till across a night of error should dawn the morning beams and shine the guiding star of being."

In his ministry the Master put into practical use his knowledge of God, divine Love, ever-present good. He bade his followers to love one another as he had loved them. The test of true discipleship must always be our understanding and emulation of the love which Christ Jesus manifested in his healing and saving work. . . . The appearing of Christ, Truth, in human consciousness constitutes a continuous unfolding of spiritual light and joy. Each day of the year we must seek a better and higher understanding of the eternal Christ, Truth, and strive to become more faithful followers of the great Master and Way-shower, in healing all manner of sickness and sin, thus helping to bring the true light of spiritual being to men.

The question may well be asked, Has the light which penetrated the thought of the humble shepherds nineteen hundred years ago, and which, later on, brought healing and consolation to unnumbered thousands through the loving ministry of Christ Jesus, disappeared? The answer is, No. But men have permitted the mist of materiality to obscure their vision of the true light.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

we no longer walk in darkness, for the light of Truth illumines the way we are going. In her Communion Message to the Mother Church for 1898, Mrs. Eddy writes (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 122): "Beloved brethren, another Christmas has come and gone. Has it enabled us to know more of the healing Christ that saves from sickness and sin? Are we still searching diligently to find where the young child lies, and are we satisfied to know that our sense of Truth is not demoralized, flattered, cribbed, or cradled, but has risen to grasp the spiritual idea unenvisioned by materiality?"—The Christian Science Monitor.

People's Responsibility

Eight billion dollars of the 13 billion dollars in this Second War Loan Drive must come from non-banking sources, so the responsibility for the bulk of this 13-billion-dollar drive rests with the American public. Indications are that Americans generally need only to be reminded of this responsibility and how much they should lend their government in order to reach this goal. Americans are backing up their fighting men on the battle fronts. They are supporting the Second War Loan. "They give their lives . . . You lend your money."

The goal of the Second War Loan drive is 13 billion dollars. That is just about one-fifth of the estimated increase of the Public Debt for the fiscal year of 1945.

WOMEN AT WAR

Sophia

Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. Worthington, dressed soberly and wearing their best black gloves, walked along the stony country road back toward Sophia Hardy's farm, to pay their visit of condolence.

"How do you reckon she'll be bearing up?" Mrs. Kimball asked Mrs. Worthington. Both ladies wore their most solemn, funereal expressions.

"A mighty severe blow," Mrs. Worthington said. "Mighty severe. To lose your only son, the mainstay of your declining years. And such a dreadful death, too—to go down with a ship. Mercy!"

"The first of our boys from Hand County to go, too," Mrs. Kimball said, mournfully.

"I wouldn't blame Sophia Hardy for feeling right bitter."

They stood on the simple stone doorstep, with downcast eyes, getting themselves into the proper commiserative mood.

"Come in!" The voice was brisk and cordial. They looked up in surprise. Sophia herself had come to the door. As they followed her into the parlor they exchanged glances, with eyebrows lifted. Sophia was not even in mourning. The parlor shades were not even drawn.

"It's nice of you to come," Sophia said. "Do sit down."

"We came," Mrs. Kimball said almost reprovingly, "to tell you that our hearts are bleeding for you in your great loss."

"We know how lonely you must be out here," Mrs. Worthington said. "With nothing to take your mind off off . . ."

She sniffed and reached in her purse for a handkerchief.

"Oh, I keep busy," Sophia said. "I've just finished applying for the Government insurance on Tom's life."

The visiting ladies could not resist a shocked glance at one another.

"I want to get it right away," Sophia said. "So I can put it into War Bonds. My boy hasn't finished fighting yet, not by a long shot."

The ladies were so occupied with feeling horrified, so titillated by this callous behaviour in a bereaved mother—that neither of them noticed Sophia's hands. Under the folds of her clean print dress, against the seat of her chair, they were tightly clenched.

GO—Reclaiming "worn-out farms so they can contribute to the nation's wartime production is largely a matter of using the process that extends their fertility, according to a report made public here by the West Soil Improvement Service.

Worn-out farms have lost ability to produce profitable crops because the farmers who used up the soil fertility in them replaced it," says the report. "These farmers sold plant foods off the land in the form of crops, livestock and milk without bothering to put back any of these plant foods into the soil. The result was lower yields per acre and poorer quality crops.

"The remedy," continues the statement, "lies in paying back to the soil what has been borrowed from it, so that its fertility account is solvent once more.

"The rebuilding job entails attention to four steps to put the land back in shape to be farmed profitably. These include: sensible crop rotation; the growing of clover, alfalfa and other nitrogen-fixing legumes; the more effective employment of manure by the regular addition of superphosphate; and the use of fertilizers containing plenty of phosphorus and potash."

Pray as You Go

GLANCING at the heading of a column of a newspaper he had just purchased, a reader mistook the words "Pay as you go" for "Pray as you go." What an arresting title, he thought, as he eagerly began reading the article to learn how the writer had developed the idea. The first sentence, of course, disclosed the correct subject, but the idea—Pray as you go—persisted.

"Pay-as-you-go" plans, by which income taxes may be paid as income is earned, have been in the forefront of public discussion. By this method, it is asserted, the burden of accumulated debt for Federal income taxes will be lifted, since the tax will be paid as the income is received. Thus, it is reasoned, taxes on former income will not accrue as a liability against present earnings. So, too, when we pay cash for purchases in everyday living, we avoid debt. We are spared the accumulated burden of unsettled accounts. As a result, our power to think is left free to be exercised productively instead of being hampered by worry and fear incidental to debt. Continued alertness and control of our thinking along constructive, spiritual lines will also ensure a balanced mental account.

Does not effective prayer mean continuous spiritual thinking? The common notion that prayer is a form of thinking or talking to be used only in special cases of emergency has been pretty well disproved. More and more are men coming to see that a habitually reverent attitude of thought, a daily acknowledgment of God's ever-presence, brings an assurance and a poise that nothing else can.

Pray as you go. "Pray without ceasing," the Bible states it (1 Thessalonians 5:17). This becomes a practical possibility when prayerful thinking is understood as an admonition to think rightly all the time. More than this, it urges us to keep our mental accounts square as we go. We are not only to pray—to think rightly—"without ceasing," we are to cancel undesirable thoughts as they are suggested, and thereby square accounts hourly. There will then be no accumulation of mental weights of discord, fear, suffering, or unhappiness. . . .

A simple rule by which to make practical this power to govern our thinking is given by Mary Baker Eddy on page 261 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," where she writes, "Hold thought steadfastly to the enduring, the good, and the true, and you will bring these into your experience proportionally to their occupancy of your thoughts."

There is no mystery, no impractical advice, in the phrase, "Pray without ceasing." It requires primarily the conscious effort to entertain only right ideas as they unfold. "Practice makes perfect" is an axiom, applicable to praying, or thinking rightly. When confronted by an emergency, the right thinker, instead of striving frantically to meet an immediate demand upon his spiritual resources, finds himself conscious of dominion over fear and over a belief that he is in danger. He then needs only to hold his ground, understanding and acknowledging God's presence and protection. . . .

Just as wisely utilizing one's financial resources avoids debt, so utilizing one's divine abilities enhances one's spiritual resources and dominion. In the mental realm we are to do what "Pay as you go" requires in financial matters—accumulate no debts. No mental burdens of anxiety, doubt, or fear are to be allowed to accumulate.

Under the stress of circumstances, astonishing things are sometimes accomplished through prayer by those unaccustomed to pray as they go. Faced with an emergency, people have been known to reach unthought heights of spiritual resourcefulness. Do not such occasions offer an inkling of the divine capacities that would be ours daily and hourly were we to develop our ability truly to "pray without ceasing"—to prove the actual presence and supreme power of God, good, in our experience? "Pray as you go" may well be heeded daily by us all.—The Christian Science Monitor.

"It Takes Both"

It takes an Isbell and a Hutson . . . a Sammy Baugh and a Dick Todd to form a forward pass combination. It takes both . . . War Bonds and Taxes to provide the necessary finances to win this war—a war for freedom and humanity. Are you doing your part? U. S. Treasury Department

WOMEN AT WAR

Mom

"Sausages for breakfast! Sausages for breakfast! I can smell 'em!" Small Joe came tumbling downstairs fastening the belt of his shorts as he came. He made a beeline for the kitchen. Pop was already sitting at the table, reading the paper, while Mom held the handle of the frying-pan over the stove. Small Joe came close and sniffed the delicious smoke, wriggling all over with early-morning joy.

"Better be thankful for them while you can still get them." One glance at Mom's face told small Joe this was one of her tight-lipped days. "Not a drop of coffee in the house, and no sugar left to put in it if there was. Some war!" Small Joe kept still.

"Letter for you, son." Pop said in his quiet voice. Small Joe made a leap for his place at table. There it was, a private personal letter for him alone, propped against his milk glass.

"Hey, Pop! It's from brother!" Small Joe was pulling the envelope apart and diving into the contents.

"Hey, look what he sent me." He passed over an oblong of thick, crinkly paper while he leaned over the sheet of writing-paper.

"A twenty-five dollar War Bond," Pop said slowly. Mom turned and looked at it over Pop's shoulder, with the frying-pan in her hand.

"Listen what he says. 'How are you doing, kid? Hurry and grow up so you can help me slap the Japs. Aren't you most big enough to get into the Army? Here's something for you in your name. Let's the whole family gang up and help to win this war.'"

Pop and Mom were silent. But small Joe didn't notice that. He was full of his letter and his War Bond.

"Gee, Pop, in six years I could get into the Army, couldn't I, Pop?"

"Gee, Pop, I want to be a soldier like brother and fight in this war. Gee, isn't that bond nifty? Look, it was issued in Honolulu. It's mine."

But Pop was looking at Mom and Mom was looking at Pop. There were tears in Mom's eyes. She shook her head sharply. Pop reached out and patted her hand gently.

"Well, can't let our soldier boy beat us to buying War Bonds, can we, old lady?" was all he said.

She shook her head again. "I guess if he can give up his job and go off to war I can do some fighting back at home," she said in a queer voice. Small Joe looked up at her in surprise. She saw him looking at her and spoke sharply.

"Well, Joe, we're about ready to eat. Say grace."

Small Joe folded his hands and bent his head as he had been taught.

"Oh Lord, we thank thee for this food and all thy bountiful gifts. . . . Amen," Pop said.

"Amen," Mom said. "Now eat your good sausage." (Story from an actual report in the files of the Treasury Department.)

Amen: Say yes. Take your change in War Stamps. The least you can do for the most you can buy in War Bonds.

Our Freedom Is Priceless

By JOSEPH E. DAVIES Former Ambassador to Russia and Belgium.

(Written for the Treasury Department in connection with the "War Stamps" campaign to complete the nation's $10,000,000,000 partially sliced War Stamp album.)

What I myself saw in my four years in Europe gave me a new realization of the priceless rights which we here enjoy.

No secret police can in the night whisk us away, never again to be seen by those we love.

None of us can be deprived by any party, state or tyrant of those precious civil liberties which our laws and our courts guarantee.

None of us can be persecuted for practicing the faith which we found at our mother's knee.

None of us can be persecuted, tortured or killed because of the fact that an accident of fate might have made us of the same race as the Nazarene.

No American can be placed by any party or government in a regimented vise which takes from him or her either freedom of economic opportunity or political religious liberty.

What would the millions of unfortunate men, women and children in Europe give to be able to live and enjoy such a way of life? Well, in this war, those are the things in our lives which are in jeopardy. Our boys are dying to preserve them for us.

Then we can do no less than to "say yes" and fill those war stamp albums. It is our duty and privilege to help the secretary of the treasury, Mr. Morgenthau, in his magnificent effort to do the tremendous job of getting the money to keep our boys supplied with the weapons with which to fight our fight.

Surely that is little enough for us to do on the home front. U. S. Treasury Department

Pinckney played a double header here Sunday between showers with the Ann Arbor Eagles and split even. They won the first game 15 to 6 but lost the final contest 5 to 4. Cole pitching for Ann Arbor was no puzzle for Pinckney in the opening contest and although Bob Singer, pitching for Pinckney issued 10 walks he was an easy winner.

In the second contest Sunday the Eagles held Pinckney to a 5 to 0 defeat. Singer pitched a good game for Pinckney but his support was lacking. Shehan got a single for Pinckney, Joe Lavey, a home run and westley Reader a triple.

THE RACE QUESTION AGAIN The race question and not wages to Messdames Lobdell and Coppens was the reason for the Parkard Motor Co. strike in Detroit last week according to the custom to segregate negro workers in Detroit factories. However due to the labor shortage negroes were placed on the assembly line and other places where previously only white men were employed and workers refused to agree to it. This may not be according to the law that all men were created free and equal but this prejudice has existed from time immemorable and probably always will. As yet the negro has not attained social equality with the white man, Hence the strike protest.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"I can't think of anything else you'll need for your Victory garden, Judge... you've got pretty nearly everything."

"I think so, too, John. Ever get your asparagus patch going?"

"I gave that up last year, Judge. Tried it six years in a row with no luck. Just haven't got the right soil, I guess?"

"Well, I think you're wise, John... no use keeping on trying things you know won't work. Just like prohibition. State-wide prohibition has been tried in this country seventy-two times in the last ninety years. It has been adopted forty-seven times in the past thirty-three years and discarded everywhere except in three states. Same thing was tried in eight provinces in Canada and in Norway, Sweden, Finland and Russia but it was an admitted failure and universally abandoned.

"The reason is prohibition does not prohibit. All you get is bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor, plus no end of crime and corruption."

THE MICHIGAN MIRROR

What is his program? Most of our construction work this year will be on access roads," said Mr. Ziegler. "These include essential access roads to important war industries. Only such access roads will be approved by the WPB.

Some of these roads are highways that have to be torn up and rebuilt after the war. Our engineering department operating with Gov. Kelly's state planning commission, is now making surveys and plans for a post war program. Right of way will be purchased where needed and every thing made ready for immediate use when peace is declared and men can be put to work again.

There is also the post war problem of coordinating air and highway facilities for efficient transportation. I do not believe that the airplane is going to supplant the automobile but air transport is bound to grow and our program must be fitted to both air and highway needs. Our post war building program will be to spread needed construction work throughout the state to help create employment for Michigan boys back home from the war.

"As for highway tourist parks they are in the luxury class at present and will probably continue to be for a while. We used to get federal aid for highway beautification but this allocation is out."

Ziegler was non committal on the need of a new state bond issue for post war highways. He pointed out that the last bond issue will be retired from the bond sinking fund.

Prior to Ziegler's election 32 county road commissions had contracts with the state highway dept. for maintenance of state roads. Two more counties Kent and Ontonogon, have complied with the dept's requirements and have contracted for trunk line maintenance in their borders.

"One reason why I favor county contracts is the benefit of economy to the taxpayers. Two organizations doing the same type of maintenance with duplication of equipment is as absurd as having two superintendents to care for the state capitol.

"Second, if the county is held to a high standard of maintenance, it affects all road work done by the county dept. County roads are benefited.

The new commissioner known as "Charlie", is the father of four girls, Betty Lou, Rosemary, Phyllis and Barbara ann. He enjoys trout fishing, and is a member of Masonic, Elk, and Moose orders. His birth place is Noble county, Indiana. Mrs. Ziegler is a native of Benton Harbor.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO GO TO NEW GUINA

When we hear stories of what the boys overseas are going through, the long hours and hard work all members of our army and navy are putting in, the dollars we invest in war bonds seems a small contribution. We cannot all go with the fighting forces but we can help protect our men by buying bonds and ammunition to use.

Remember they are fighting for the things we have been brought to think are our inheritance and our rights. We have the best country in the world. Let's put our dollars to work to support it.

We can beat the Axis by buying bonds and paying taxes.
