Robt. Swarthout New Enterprise Coming Here

Former Local Boy Loses His Life on the First Day of the D-Day Invasion.

Mrs. Hattie Swarthout of this place received word Thursday her grand son, Bobby Swarthout is reported missing after a mission over Europe. He was a navigator on a bomber and saw action in North Africa before going to England. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Swarthout of Detroit. Bobby Swarthout was born in Pinckney, being a son of Harold and Emma Craft Swarthout. He moved to Detroit with his parents about 15 years ago. After graduating from high school he attended Wayne University where he played on the base ball team. At the time he enlisted in the air corp. he was a reporter on the Detroit Times. He was married while in the service and has a month old son whom he never saw. Besides his wife and son, he is survived by his parents. He was an only child.

A letter received by the family from his buddy stated he was killed on the 6th of June and the body was taken back to England for burial and buried June 10. He was a navigator on a bomber and had a number of successful missions to his credit, having seen service in North Africa and the continent previous to the D-Day invasion.

GIVES BRIDAL SHOWER

The McLucas were presented with a coffee table and $28 in money. Other presentations were an end table to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Poulson, newlinens and a mantel decorative piece to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Euler who have moved to Howell.

THE 5th WAR LOAN DRIVE

The 5th War Loan Drive ends July 5th. Pinckney an Putnam township were first in the county to attain their quota. We have now raised our sights and are out to double this quota. It can be done. Many citizens who bought early in the drive are buying an extra bond or two.

The local postoffice reports sales are being made daily and if co-operation on the part of the bond buyers continues, it looks like a cinch to meet our new goal.

The local committee of Blue Star Mothers are very grateful for the splendid support which they have received from the people here. The chairman is most grateful for the generous and loyal support he has been given by this Blue Star Brigade.

And we should be thankful that we on the home front can support our brave fighting men on the battle front by simply loaning money to the government at a fair rate of interest.

Certainly this is a trivial sacrifice on our part compared to that of our soldiers who are willing to give their lives and are right now dying on the invasion fronts to keep our country free.

If we can go over big on the loan, the morale of our combat troops will get a big boost when they learn what we are doing for them back home in this loan drive. Lets all get into this fight and buy all possible between now and July 5th. Back the attack, buy more than before.

In Which Life in a Soldier Training Camp is Experienced by a Bunch of Civilians

The indispensable man in this war isn't the General. So siree!
And it isn't the Admiral either, important as he may be.

Our nomination for the honor, and such it should be goes to the man who armed with a rifle, cold steel bayonet and a pistol meets the enemy face to face in actual combat. It is kill or be killed-not a pleasant alternative of choice. You either vanquish the other or you become a victim yourself of his rifle or bayonet or perhaps an enemy shell or grenade on which your name has been written.

Eye witness experience as an observer at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, where some 10,000 men are being trained today for infantry duty overseas prompted the above observation. We offer it in all sincerity and with full appreciation for the sacrificial service preformed by men in other branches of Military service.

The impression is reinforced by personal experiences of the writer during World War I, both in this country and in France. Yes, we have met the doughboys before although our own branch of the service was the horse-drawn artillery assigned to an infantry division.

As we reported last week seeing is believing. Sure you are patriotic, you are doing what you can to help win this war. But until you can see for yourself just what this war means in terms of personal sacrifice by the young man in the infantry, you are utterly unable to grasp its real significance.

What are you going to do tomorrow? Well brace yourself for this experience all in a days work for the American doughboy.

First call is 5:40 a. m. Breakfast follows shortly afterwards. Then you spend a few hours practicing bayonet drill in which you run cold steel into a stuffed dummy or party the thrusts of an associate as he practices on you, a make-believe foe. It means plenty of hard physical exertion.

You undergo judo training that is designed to help you out-fight a tricky Jap. Wielding a long machete knife is just one part of it. It's tough and hard. Kill or be killed. Japs don't take prisoners and neither do we.

Or perhaps you practice hurling hand grenades at distances of 30 to 128 feet into enemy foxholes.

Your duties will depend of course upon the task the army selects for you. You may be attached to an automatic rifle team of a 60 to 81 millimeter squad. You may be assigned to a light or heavy machine gun squad or even an anti tank gun team or the 105 millimeter howitzer cannon which is used by the infantrymen sturdily enough in combat fighting.

Firing of many infantry weapons must be done in ranges where there is plenty of room for practice shooting.

That involves a nice long hike here and back.

And that pack on your back brother you haven't seen anything! You must carry a rifle bayonet, pistol, gas mask, field glass, raincoat, first aid kit, trenching tool to dig your own fox hole, a shelter half with poles and pins.

WHITMORE LAKE BUILDING A NEW SCHOOL

First floor foundations of the new $37,000 Whitmore Lake School have been completed and construction is proceeding rapidly to make sure that the new building will be ready for use in the fall.

The five-room cinder block building designed to accommodate 200 pupils is located a quarter of a mile south of US-23. It was designed by Frederick Madison, Royal Oak architect who has designed many schools and public buildings throughout the state.

Matthew Lalewicz, Hamtramck contractor is in charge of general construction while the plumbing and heating contracts have been let to Geo. Adams, Ann Arbor.

The new school replaces one destroyed by fire last fall. Pupils met in emergency classroom in the old hotel last winter.

CURRENT COMMENT

The soldier rehabilitation bill providing benefits for discharged sold providing benefits for discharged sold ers has passed both houses of congress and is now a law. The cost is $3,000,000,000. It provides unemployment payments up to $300, federal loans an educational programs, social security benefits etc. In addition many states have passed similar bills and it will go into operation at once.

Michigan alone already has 10,000 discharged war veterans. The object of the bill is to prevent bonus marches, street apple selling programs etc that prevailed after World War 1 in the Harding and Coolidge administrations culminating in the shooting down of the bonus marchers in Washington during the Hoover administration.

It is expected there will be much unemployment when industry changes back from wartime to peace production and this bill is intended to carry the country over that period estimated by many to last about one year. However we doubt that this program will be sufficient. Politicians will find the soldier vote a fertile field to work and will strive for it by sponsoring legislation giving increased benefits to war veterans. We predict that the soldier benefit bills introduced in the next 40 years will number up into the thousands.

This week the national party conventions will start and although each will consume about a week, each could complete its labors in one day if they got down to business. At least 50,000 people will attend each convention and although there is not much doubt as to whom the presidential nominees will be the usual attempt is being made to cloak them with an air of mystery as the powers that be want to make these three ring circus conventions as appealing as possible. However there is little difference in the two big parties now. Before the civil war the cleavage was over states rights and national rights with the Democrats espousing states rights. The civil war settled that question but immediately the tariff issue arose and proved a dividing point between the two parties for 50 years. This is now a dead issue. Apparently no new one has arisen and the present difference between the two parties is that both agree to do the same things but each claims to be able to do it better than the other. In fact two party names have become nothing but labels.

We note that the WPB has given the distilleries authority to make whiskey for 30 days. During the war the distilleries have been engaged in making commercial alcohol used in firing the big guns. A sufficient supply of that is now on hand so a 30 days recess was called. There will probably never be any unanimity of opinion on the liquor question. One group thinks the only way to deal with it is to outlaw it entirely. This was tried out after World War 1 and failed to work and was repealed and legalized control adopted. This system also has plenty of bugs in it but at the present time is preferred as it has eliminated the bootlegger and other evils which flourished in the prohibition days. It is of the liquor problem will never be worked out.

Some commotion is being caused in Detroit by the refusal of the board of education to let Gerald K. Smith schools to hold their meetings in. The and his America Firsters use the cry is that it is a abridgement of free speech. We would like to see a far reaching definition of what "free speech" really consists of. There must be some limits to it and safeguards for the general public. The grounds for refusing Smith was that he was asking pledges of from $2 to $100 at these meetings for his organization. We never could see anything in the rantings of such persons as Smith but an economic waste of time.

rough and rocky mountain path shows living costs during two World Wars, including such items as food, clothing, rent, household furnishings, etc.

The downhill road is the average price of household electricity.

The price of electricity has gone down. Because of many rate reductions and greater use, its cost to you has dropped steadily. The trend is still downward. Electricity is cheap. Today in the face of rising living costs, electricity is one of the smallest items in your family budget. It costs half as much as in the last war.

CONSERVATION NOTES

Pheasants are said to be causing some damage to growing corn. A good way to scare them away is to suspend pieces of tin a few inches above the ground from a wire or strong string.

The first two American eagles were recently banded and released at the Allegan game reserve.

Spring shipments of pine seedlings were 25 per cent under those of last year.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"I can't think of anything else you'll need for your Victory garden, Judge... you've got pretty nearly everything."
"I think so, too, John. Ever get your asparagus patch going?"
"I gave that up last year, Judge. Tried it six years in a row with no luck. Just haven't got the right soil, I guess?"
"Well, I think you're wise, John... no use keeping on trying things you know won't work. Just like prohibition. State-wide prohibition has been tried in this country seventy-two times in the last ninety years.
It has been adopted forty-seven times in the past thirty-three years and discarded everywhere except in three states. Same thing was tried in eight provinces in Canada and in Norway, Sweden, Finland and Russia but it was an admitted failure and universally abandoned.
"The reason is prohibition does not prohibit. All you get is bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor, plus no end of crime and corruption."

WHO IS MAKING THE GREATEST SACRIFICE?

The woman who gives up buying a new fur coat and buys several $100 War Bonds with the money, or ...

... the kid who gave his life for this country? Think that one over before you say, "I can't afford more War Bonds."

Every American will be asked to invest at least $100 in extra War Bonds. At least $100. Better $200, $300, $500. You can afford it.

blanket, canteen and up next, can, knife, first aid kit, flashlight and three grenades, and a gas mask, anti-tank grenade, ammunition bag and six rounds of mortar plus our clothes and shoes.

Yes all this matter. And it weighs only 92 pounds! For an afternoon diversion, you may undergo the following: It's required of every man in the infantry—private or officer—before he is permitted to enter actual combat danger.

It is called infiltration training and mister it is mean! You must crawl over a simulated no-mans land pocked with shells holes filled with mud and crisscrossed by barbed wire.

Live machine gun bullets whistle over you're head. In fact observers can view each bullet's path as it is marked by trails of red fire. This tracer shows you exactly where the bullet travels.

You crawl on your belly head down inching your way toward the enemy trench. Inside a watch tower overlooking this no-mans land is an officer. He has a map on which is located land mines. He presses a button and off goes a dynamite blast, shooting mud and dirt and smoke high into the air, with the sound and force of an artillery shell.

The day's field work is done you march back to camp. Your feet are tired. You are weary and over it's no strawberry festival. climax you will have an evening known as a divisional review. In the case of

And then perhaps for an evening's the Camp McCoy party various infantryman units started to assemble at 4:30 p. m. to march to the reviewing field although the review itself was not to begin until 7 o'clock—two and a half hours later.

At 5:30 p. m. while the guests were enjoying a chicken dinner a thunderstorm roared out of the west. The sky was purple black. It rained in sheets. At 6:30 p. m. it was time for us to leave in jeeps and trucks for the parade grounds and it was still pouring cats and dogs.

This divisional review was a classic. Major General William R. Schmidt, the old man of the 76th division and his aids including Brig. General H. C. Evans stood in a libidinous torrential rain. The band marched and played bravely and doughboys in battalions of about 500 men in each, dashed by the divisional staff and the visitors reviewing stand. Everyone was wet as drowned rats. You don't call off a war when it rains and you don't postpone an additional review if the weather is bad.

Witnessing the 76th division in action at Camp McCoy we gasped a new why modern war is a young man's war. We retreads couldn't take it. The average civilian would fizzle badly.

If these impressions make you more determined to do your bit to buy another bond and to give a hand to the doughboy then the writer's mission was a success. Sure, we think these American boys are wonderful. But there not boys; they are real men.
