SPECIAL ELECTION

At the special school election held here Monday night to increase the property tax one mill for a three year period, 1945-48, 38 votes were cast. There were 26 yes votes and 12 noes, giving it the required two thirds majority.

Some confusion seems to have existed in regard to this election and a number of people thought it would raise taxes. This is not so. Taxes will not be any higher now than they were for the past six years. Three years is the length of time this added tax can be voted. It was first adopted in 1939 for a 3 year period, continued again in 1942 for another three years and last Monday night's election continued it again another 3 years. This tax is needed due to the increased cost of school operation such as higher wages, etc.

Michigan Mirror State News COMMENT

State News Gathered from Over the State of Michigan

Inclination of the Michigan state legislature to accept Gov. Kelly's recommendation that additional state aid for local governments be financed in part, by a substantial hike in the state liquor profits may be regarded as a complimentary recognition of the basic merits of Michigan liquor monopoly system.

The legislature's action is not taken in any mood of sentiment.

Eighteen months ago a wave of criticism began to rise against the state set-up. The same wave was planning of a lack of supplies under the rationing system. Dyes were being lacking of adequate enforcement. Frank McKay, former Republican national committeeman, began a personal crusade to abolish the monopoly.

Public criticism was growing. One year ago, a lobbyist (no name), Gen. L. ... was hired as a business lobbyist. He was followed by F. Edmondson, former city manager of Pontiac, was replaced by J. P. Aaron, the governor's personal secretary, as chairman of the commission. These moves were frank admission that Michigan's monopoly plan was on trial. Critics were predicting dire things would happen by time the legislature met at Lansing.

What happened to cause a reverse of public opinion?

Nothing else than the power information gathered by Clarence W. Lock, state deputy revenue commissioner, and Charles A. Farwell, chief of the liquor commission enforcement division, in a fact-finding survey of six nearby states.

The reverse is permanent. Temporary remains to be seen. Michigan travelers who visit New York and Chicago in wartime years invariably return home with accounts of the abundance of liquor in those cities. But for the most part they say little, if anything about how many consumers were paying for liquor in those cities.

It was the Lock-Farwell report that emphasized such facts as these: Michigan bottle prices average 10 cents less than New York prices. Michigan is a monopoly state whereby government functions as both wholesaler and retailer; Illinois and New York are other states whereby private dealers pocket the profit.

"Even with the wartime 10 percent increase in liquor prices, as proposed by the state legislature, Michigan bottle prices will average less than those in other states," reports Charles W. Lock.

COMMENT

All county newspapers and others coming to our desk last week carried reports and pictures of the late President Roosevelt except the Brighton Argus which failed to mention it at all. By a strange coincidence this paper has just been selected by the NLR as the best weekly paper in Michigan of those with a circulation of less than 1500. The South Lyon Herald says the late president was a sick man when nominated the fourth time and never should have run. Very true. But the fact remains that he was a sick man for the past 20 years, has never seen a well day and was in continual pain ever since he was stricken with infantile paralysis. By sheer courage and about heartedness he rose above his physical handicap and placed more constructive legislation on record than any president on record and raised the working class to a level never before attained by them and earned the undying gratitude of a vast majority of the people of the nation which was amply proved in the last four presidential elections. As to his health it was a very small factor in these elections. In 1932 his political opponents said he would not live the term out if elected. They repeated the same charge in 1936 and again in 1940. So there is small wonder that the people ignored this charge when it was again flaunted in 1944. At that he outlived the majority of the men who were prominent in public life in 1932.

The late president and Henry Ford both used the same idea to achieve great success, one politically, the other industrially. In the early days of automobile history, a lot of cars were built for the millionaire or rich trade. Production was small and for years the average man could not afford to own one. Henry Ford saw a vast market for a low priced car that the average man could afford and determined to cater to this class exclusively. He carried this idea out to become one of the world's richest men. Roosevelt also made his appeal to the masses, for the working man casts a thousand votes to the rich man's one.

A few years ago the Michigan legislature passed a law making a medical examination necessary before a couple could get married. This was to make sure both parties were free from venereal disease. Now the house of the legislature has passed a bill making it necessary for both parties to a marriage to pass a mental test before they can be married. The reason given is that children of marriages of people of low mentality invariably become state charges. A number of other states already have such a law on their books.

The discontinuance of the production at the Willow Run bomber plant next August will be watched with interest to see how the plant made by the state and federal government to do a lot of airplane workers work in actual practice. The huge plant was supposed to employ 100,000 men when it was built, but about 48,000 was the maximum ever employed. Now there are only about 21,000 and the force is being reduced right along. With the war in many about over there is a sufficient supply of B-24 bombers on hand and heavier bombers are wanted for the war in Japan able to cover long distances. The plant has come at the start getting out production but eventually this plant is supposed to be getting out the manufacture of many parts to small factories already equipped for the job. About 50,000 men and women are employed in the small factories now making parts for Willow Run. It is stated that Henry Ford desires to buy the factory to make farm machinery.

SOLDIER LETTER

Hawaiian Islands, April 14, 1945

Dear Paul-It has occurred to me that the folks back home might be interested in the reaction that our soldiers here in the Pacific expressed when they heard of the death of our president.

Just after dinner I was in my quarters listening to the radio when one of the announcers of a Honolulu radio station came in and with much fumbling of words told the people that our beloved leader was dead.

Little did I realize the devotion that I held for that great man. It seems incredible that I could feel so strongly about a man I had never seen or known. When I looked at the paper that night I laid my head in my arms and cried. Then I walked through the battalion headquarters and told my commanding officer and the enlisted men. I shall never forget the frozen expression of shock that was registered there. Nothing was uttered but muffled exclamations of surprise as each one went silently back to their work. Later I walked through the company areas where the men were gathered in little groups discussing the great tragedy.

One of the strangest results of the news was the seemingly universal attitude by all the soldiers, no matter what his political opinions were, that President Roosevelt was one of the greatest of the great. There was genuine grief everywhere and I saw tears in many eyes.

The American soldier is grateful that in this terrible war he has been able to give his undivided attention to fighting the war, because he has always been confident of good leadership at home. We all thank God for giving him to us and now pray that God will let his soul rest in peace.

LOST-SECRET OF WORLD'S STRANGEST BUILDING

It's ancient stones could speak, what stories could a round tower in Rhode Island tell! The American issue of the Detroit Sunday Times, tells of this strangest building in America, which holds according to archeologists, the secret of the Viking adventurers who came here long before Columbus. Get Sunday's Detroit Times!

JUDGE SAYS...

"I'll never forget it. But this will interest you, Judge. I heard just yesterday that the revenue men raided a big still right near there. Guess that's where all that high-priced moonshine we heard about has been coming from."

"Sounds sort of reminiscent, doesn't it, Judge?"
"Exactly and it's not hard to figure out. As soon as the distillers stopped making whiskey and devoted their entire facilities to the production of industrial alcohol for the Government... the racketeers snatched it again."
"I hate to think of how that might have spread, Judge, if the Government hadn't found it possible, without interfering with our war effort in any way, to permit a short resumption of legal whiskey production recently."

... Timely items of interest and value... helpful suggestions about cooking, lighting and appliance use.

INVISIBLE SABOTAGE... Production of highly sensitive instruments for war can be halted by air-borne particles 100 times smaller than the naked eye can see. Some products are ruined by only a slight contamination of the atmosphere. Air that is fit to breathe may not be clean enough for certain manufacturing processes. These tiny particles cannot be removed by ordinary mechanical filters. But cleaning the air by electronic precipitation traps particles as small as one 250,000th of an inch... and even removes tobacco smoke and oil mist. The process is now limited to use in vital war installations, but will be available after the war to hospitals, radio stations, offices, stores, restaurants, and in homes as well.

SPRING TASTE-TEMPTER... A delicious dessert from our Home Service Department:

1/4 cup sugar and 1/4 cup honey

Combine rhubarb, sugar and water. Bring to a boil and pour into greased 7-x-10-inch utility dish or into individual casseroles. Place biscuits on rhubarb and bake for 20 minutes in a preheated 400° F. oven.

Biscuit Topping

2 cups sifted all-purpose enriched flour

4 tsp. baking powder

1/2 tsp. salt

2 tbsps. sugar

1/2 cup shortening

1 egg

1/2 cup milk

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Cut in shortening. Add milk to beaten egg, and add to flour mixture to make a soft dough. Turn out on floured board and roll. Cut in desired shape and place over rhubarb sauce. Serves eight.

For the Sake of the Men from your Church

MANY seats in your congregation are left empty today by those who are fighting for freedom—to worship God, each in his own way. Our hearts go with them. And we gladly do our best to supply them with everything they need to assure their speedy victory—and their safe return.

One thing our Armed Forces depend on is paper... to camouflage them from the enemy, to make vital parts of their helmets, bombs and planes... to protect life-giving blood plasma for them, and to carry their field rations.

Their call for waste paper is easy to answer. Collect waste paper, bundle it up, and turn it in. Many church groups have worked out their own collection systems. Perhaps you can do the same. Ask your pastor and Sunday School superintendent to help by making announcements this coming Sunday at all services.

Let those empty seats remind you to do your share!

man Agon. "Basically, Michigan's system is sound. Our problem is one of control, rather than revenue. The public must insist on law enforcement by local governments which receive 85 just for that specific purpose. We have nothing to hide under the rug, and we welcome the public's cooperation.

Aaron indicated that the state commission has a responsibility in imposing stiffer penalties on law offenders whose licenses are subject to revocation.

It is Lock's belief that the legislature should not over emphasize the importance of revenue. Rather, the legislature should keep in mind that the first necessity is to make it possible for the liquor traffic to be adequately and completely policed so that abuses may not develop with the resultant social evils. Profits should be secondary to this aim.

It is likely that law enforcement will be strengthened in Michigan simultaneously with the continuation of the monopoly system, which enjoys more public acceptance.

The reversal of thinking illustrates the power of information. We have discovered we were better off than we thought we were.

"Under present conditions with the existing shortage, which is real, and will continue, it would be very dangerous for a state to change from a monopoly to an open system.

ONE GOOD REASON TO INCREASE YOUR SAVINGS
Most post-war plans provide for continued high wages. This course must mean higher costs for the things we will want to buy. We hear about automobiles costing 20 to 30 percent more than in 1941, when we are able to buy them and other things in proportion.
It would seem to be good reason that we should save an extra amount now so that we can have the things we want when they become available. Buy more war bonds and put more in your savings account to meet the added costs.
