

Michigan Mirror

It may have come as a distinct shock to many citizens to have the chief executive of Michigan publicly condemn the office of Governor as "The crummiest job in the U.S."

On the eve entering a hospital for a serious operation, Kim Sigler said just that. His words were blunt & uncompromising. They covered many jobs and much territory. They were words of condemnation, frustration and disappointment. Sigler voiced them before the Detroit Economic Club, a group consisting of "big shots" in industry and business.

Why would a governor after serving 11 months at the state capital openly denounce the office to which most observers believe he will be a candidate for re-election in 1948? And what happened to bring about this almost angry attitude of mind?

As we see it, words of protest are to be expected from a man who is the creation of protest. This colorful ex-grand jury prosecutor, unsuccessful once in a bid to be State Senator, rode to the office of Governor on a popular tidal wave.

It was the voters' protest against an assumed state of graft and corruption, wrong-doing and neglect of justice, inefficiency and laxness... well, stretch your own imagination at that. SOME people may have thought after reading headlines about bribe taking at Lansing... that put Sigler in the governor's chair. A similar reform movement in Detroit put Homer Ferguson in the U. S. Senate.

Sigler was elected on an assumption he would clean-up Lansing. Hence he was committed in advance to reform of state government. Sigler likes action. He would rather fly his airplane, talk before luncheon and dinner groups of people, and espouse ideas for better government than stay at his office, saw wood and follow through on countless details of administration. He is restless and impatient. He exhibits his displeasure by firing people. He removed Oscar Olander as commander of state police; he discharged Wm. Burke as head of the state prison industries.

(For reasons of "gross neglect of duty" or "corrupt conduct in office" a governor has constitutional authority to remove or appoint.) There is one if: "Expect at such times as the legislature may be in session."

Sigler urges a constitutional convention as the best way to reform state government. He puts much emphasis on our "antiquated tax structure," the result of a "horrendous" constitution. How this tax structure should be changed he has not indicated. There is certain to be organized resistance to any constitutional convention if for only one reason: The "uniform state taxation" of the 1908 constitution is a legal barrier to a graduated state income tax.

Sigler would centralize power in the governor's four term. By giving him broad authority over state highways, public schools, law enforcement, motor vehicle licensing, conservation and agriculture... mention a few. What might happen if a "weak" governor were to be elected, one who was subservient to a party boss, is open to interesting speculation.

Pledged to clean-up state government, Sigler now implies that he needs new powers. Because he lacks authority over state offices and departments, Michigan's governor is merely a "glorified clerk" and the job is the "crummiest in the U.S." goes the Sigler logic.

And there we are in mid-December, 1947. The proposed changes merit careful appraisal & thorough debate by putting both sides of a case on a jury weigh the evidence and come to a verdict.

School News

SEVENTH AND EIGHTH

We had a History quiz last Friday and Phil Murphy to be the brightest "Quiz Kid."

We have been making drawings of famous people Mike Carr and J. Nash made good sketches of Edgar Allan Poe, and Don Jeffrey made one of Washington Irving.

The people in the first 3 grades have sold $25 worth of Christmas seals. The 5th and 6th graders are the leaders.

Some of the eighth graders are having a hard time with active and passive voice in their English work.

We have 12 lap boards ready for the Red Cross.

Jane Nash has made a model of an early hand loom. She is weaving a small rug.

We are painting Christmas scenes on our windows.

Some of us are making Christmas greeting cards to send to people who are sick.

SECOND AND THIRD

Loretta Tomask visited our room Thurs. afternoon.

Our room sold a total of 800 Christmas seals. Doris Umstead's team won the contest. Patricia was our best salesgirl. She sold one hundred sixty seals.

Several of our members are absent because they have the flu or whooping cough.

We wish to thank the seniors for presenting their play for the grades. We enjoyed it very much.

We drew names for Christmas presents last Thur. Most of our music period is enjoyed by singing Christmas songs and our spare moments are being devoted to making Christmas decorations. Everyone seems anxious for Christmas to arrive.

Richard Wylie and Patricia Palmer are custodians of music books this week.

We hope Stephen Hochbach's recuperates and that Stephen may soon return to school.

THIRD AND FOURTH

The girls had their first Brownie meeting Friday and started to make a play of the Brownie story.

We are decorating the room for the holidays. It begins to look real Christmasy with Santa Claus, Xmas bells and wreaths.

The boys and girls started basketball last week. Joe Jeffreys has charge of boys and M. Margaret Clark and Marlene Schneider of the girls.

The girls are learning to hem towels and darn stockings. They are planning an exhibit.

BASKETBALL

All three high school teams will meet when they meet three teams Friday into action this week Friday from Brighton. All teams have a number of veterans back and should give a good account of themselves.

The first team has been lined up with Meyer, center Bob Amburgey and Joe Burns, forwards, Bob Darrow, Jerry Heath and Russ Clark, guards.

The girls team, coached by Mr. Hobery and Mrs. Swarthout is said to have excellent prospects for a good season. Mary Gentile who was high point scorer last year is again centering and should receive lots of assistance from Barbara Brown M. Margaret Clark, Carolene Zeigler, Virginia Shirley, Norma Stecker, R. Nash, Susan Campbell, Joan Griffith, Shirley Reason, Betty Pace, Barbara Haines and Marlene Schneider June Bohlen etc. The girls teams for a number of years have been weak on basket shooting.

THE SENIOR PLAY

The senior Play "Her Name was Aunt Nellie" was put on here last Friday and Saturday and was a success. David Ledwith in the title role outgabbled Clark Gable and should receive an offer from Hollywood. His supporting cast was strong and all in all it was very well staged and put on. In this play all the players could be heard distinctly. In this play David was forced to don feminine attire and disport himself as easily in this as a fashion model. Audrey Amburgey gave a perfect imitation of a stuck-up society woman and the other were equally good.

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY IN OSAKA, JAPAN:

The Specialist School of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division, commanded by Maj. Gen. Chas. L. Mullins, Jr. has produced a league winning Touch Football Team. Specialist School became National League Touch Football Champions of the 25th Division by solidly defeating the 65th Combat Engineer Team in a hard fought battle.

Pfc. Charles G. Clark of Pinckney, Michigan, playing the position of Center, now on duty at the Specialist School was one of the deciding factors in the victory. The athletic program was one of the Specialist School at Shinodiyama Barracks Japan has developed some of the major athletes of the 25th Infantry Division, and has been very successful in defeating their opponents in most fields of activity.

Conservation Notes

A million and a half fishing licenses were shipped out to 82,000 dealers this week. The initial order was for 1,100,000 $1.50 licenses, 240,000 $2 non-resident licenses, 235,000 $3 non-resident licenses. These will be needed Jan. 1, 1948. 600,000 $1 trout stamps were also ordered.

1108 game law violators were arrested in Oct and 1208 in the deer season.

Deer and small game hunters are again requested to send in their game kill cards.

The planting of grown pheasants this year was not a success. Of 98 released at the Rose Lake band from 27 were found in a red fox den. 18 more in a red tail hawk nest and 4 eaten by other predators.

The others just disappeared and all. Pen reared pheasants seem unable to cope with predators.

24 deer were taken in the first antlerless deer hunting day in Allegan county.

Current Comment

With the Day of Nativity drawing near and the time of "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men" apparent in the most unexpected spot in the entire world is the Holy Land, the Land of Christ. There uncontrolled murder in the streets is common, rape and pillages of homes are daily occurrence and the British soldiers there are too few to establish order. It is the 2000 year old battle between Christianity and Mohammedanism and like oil and water they will not mix. The British have announced their intention of withdrawing their troops from there by Aug. 1, 1948. The United Nations have declared for the partition of Palestine and if they fail to provide troops to restore order open warfare between Jews and Arabs is certain for the Arabs will not accept partition. They claim Palestine by right of possession for nearly 1000 years. Opinions are divided as to just how a Jewish-Arab war would result. Thousands of Jews have been pouring into Palestine for many years and they could probably raise as much man power as the Arabs. The Jews have transformed the desert lands into rich agriculture farms and with the modernization has come. The Arabs are still primitive people living in the same way they did 1000 years ago. Their wealth is mostly in flocks of cattle and sheep. However, they have a big source of wealth and oil has been found in many parts of Arabia. They have no centralized government but are made up of many tribes ruled over by different sheiks who have absolute power. Only their religion holds them together. Their army is absolute, consisting mostly of cavalry, mounted on horses or camels. They have no armored tanks or planes to speak of. The Jews with their unlimited sources of money would be able to secure plenty of both. The sympathy of the world is with the Jews and undoubtedly the soldiers of fortune of the world would flock to the Jewish army.

The Jew has always been a paradox. He is a citizen of every nation on earth but he is not a part of them and they have never been able to assimilate him. His race has been the most persecuted one on the face of the earth but apparently he has thrived and prospered on this and has been able to assimilate a good share of the world's wealth. He is one of the world's oldest races and has existed way back before Assyria, Babylon, Phoenicia and Rome. All these nations have long since disappeared, having been assimilated by other nations but the Jews has not and after 2000 years he seems about to realize his great desire. The Establishment of the Jewish Homeland.

The legislature of Michigan by action of the state supreme court last week in declaring the one district state school law unconstitutional stands convicted of shortchanging the schools, municipalities and townships of the state out of six million dollars. The supreme court invalidated the one state school district by a 6 to 2 vote. This single school district plan was never anything but a scheme to defeat the purpose of the sales tax diversion amendment. Its legality was always in doubt and the proper thing to have done was to have waited until the court passed on it before handing out to state institutions six million dollars which did not belong to them. These institutions were the boys vocational school, school for deaf, school for blind and employess retirement comm. If any other organization had pulled this stunt it would have been labeled misappropriation of state funds. The legislature however is immune, and there is no way to make them pay back the six million. One thing the supreme court decision has done is to kill the plan to have the people vote on repeal of the tax diversion amendment in 1948. This comes from the governors office and Senator VanAntwerp, a power in the legislature is also quoted. A survey has shown that repeal has a slim chance of carrying. The state supervisors ass'n also went on record against repeal. The schools municipalities and township all get more money under the sale tax law.

The state supreme court also turns down the appeal of the Cranston drug stores against the special cigarette tax. The drug stores claimed this was a tax on a tax on cigarettes paid a sales tax. They must turned down this plan.

The Misses Mary Wylie and Bernadette were in Ann Arbor Monday night.

Arthur Campbell and family were called to Dearborn Sunday by the death of Charles Parmelee.

Glowing Warmth

WHERE YOU WANT IT—WHEN YOU WANT IT

Chilly corners can be warm as toast these cold fall mornings. A modern electric heater gives you instant warmth from your nearest outlet. Easy to carry, easy to operate. There is no cleaner more convenient type of heat. These new, low-priced heaters are ideal for warming baby's bath area, your dressing room, bathroom, or grandmother's favorite corner.

And It Costs Only A Few Pennies An Hour . . .

but unlimited use can cause high electric bills. For example, a thousand watt heater at residence rates costs only 17¢ a week when used one hour daily for seven days. This same unit, however, when used 8 hours a day costs $1.10 a week and will add $10.20 to your two months' bill. Consult a reputable electric dealer who can recommend a heater of sufficient wattage to fit your particular needs. He can also tell you just how much it will cost to operate.

'Life or Death'—Egypt's Plea In U.N. Appeal Over Sudan

Heykal Pasha Says Solution Can Not Long Be Delayed

Lake Success, N. Y. FOR Egypt, the existence of an alien power in the upper reaches of the Nile River becomes a matter of life or death. This is the gist of the petition filed by the Egyptian government before the United Nations, seeking to and Sidky Pasha for Egypt had initiated a pact in which Britain agreed to recognize the Sudan as an integral part of the Egyptian domain, under the common crown of Egypt. But when Sidky Pasha proclaimed this to Egypt, Bevin announced that England did not really mean it that way. "Now, as the Security Council met, England has conducted a campaign of misrepresentation here and abroad, placing upon Egypt the onus of being opposed to Sudanese self-government, while they, the British, have that as their single professed aim in the entire proceeding. Nothing can be so far from the truth, in point of fact. Egyptian interest in the Sudanese aspirations for an independent life as a nation is probably more sincere than that of any people in or out of Africa. We are tied together with them by years of mutual association and a common life for centuries along the Nile valley; we have the same religion and, to a large extent, the same language. We stand for their ultimate freedom, and if they want their independence, we do not oppose their claim, but under the conditions and within the framework of the United Nations.

Commenting on the importance of the Nile, one is reminded that the total length of the river is 4,132 miles of which 1,051 are situated south of the Sudan, 2,141 in the Sudan and 934 between Haifa and the Mediterranean.

"The solution of the Anglo-Egyptian dispute over the Sudan cannot be long delayed," declared M. Heykal Pasha, president of the Egyptian Senate and parliamentary leader of his country, who is in the United States as head of Egypt's delegation to the United Nations Assembly.

"In the first place," continued Heykal Pasha, "Great Britain has declared twice since May 6, 1946, that she would withdraw all British troops from Egypt. Britain recognizes that in the present situation of world affairs, the Suez canal defenses no longer need the presence of British troops on Egyptian territory. She must, then, get out sooner or later anyway. As long as she insists on keeping her troops in our country, they cannot help but be a constant source of irritation to our national feeling, and a threat to peaceful relations in the Middle East.

We stand for their ultimate freedom, and if they want their independence, we do not oppose their claim, but under the conditions and within the framework of the United Nations.

"The independence that the Sudanese may claim for their country, must, in our view, be free from a treaty-yoke with an alien power; we want a freedom for them such as the United Nations charter guarantees—free to come and go, to act in their own behalf without being compelled, as the British want, to seek their leave.

"In short, it is my belief that the British should not claim and assume to themselves, by their treaty demands, the functions and duties which plainly belong to the United Nations under the comprehensive and explicit guarantees of the charter.

"Britain itself, let alone the world, must not neglect the strategic and important place of the Middle East in world understanding. The framework of the United Nations was wisely drawn, to give protection to nations and peoples in their quest for independence, and it will become any nation, however powerful, to assume those functions to itself alone."

Polio Vaccine.

Medical scientists cast new light on polio recently when it was disclosed an experiment has proved that a certain strain of infantile paralysis, known as the Lansing strain, can be made harmless and also turned into a vaccine to combat the dread disease.

This new vaccine is only a partial answer to the polio problem because there are many other strains of polio virus. Before a successful vaccine can be developed, one must be found that will be effective on all types of polio.

It is interesting to note that the Lansing strain used in the recent successful experiment received the name "Lansing" because it was obtained several years ago from a Lansing, Mich., boy.

Stanford University scientists, experimenting on rats, developed the successful vaccine. They found that only one of the vaccinated rats developed polio and that it recovered. However, 80 per cent of the unvaccinated rats, developed polio after they had received the same deadly dose of polio virus administered to the vaccinated rats.

Now that the infantile season is here again, you will be interested to know that in some cases the disease can be diagnosed within 24 hours after its onset, according to a Minnesota doctor.

He said that polio treatment should begin immediately in order to relieve discomfort of patients and to minimize crippling effects.

Although medical scientists are working day and night to develop a vaccine for all types of polio, present weapons in the fight against the disease are observance of polio precautions and prompt treatment by your doctor of medicine if symptoms develop.

"adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation"

FROM THE OFFICIAL REPORT of the Interstate Commerce Commission on awarding a temporary freight rate increase of 10%, we quote:

"The law requires... consideration, among other factors, to the need of revenue sufficient to enable the carriers under honest, economic, and efficient management to provide adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation..."

A moment's thought should convince any fair-minded person that keeping the American railroads healthy is to everybody's advantage.

Every family, every businessman, even the Nation itself is in danger when this vital artery of American life is weakened.

And that threat is real, and it is now. For with increases in the cost of railroad operation piling up one atop another, how can the railroads' multimillion dollar program for desperately needed new equipment be continued? How can improvements in roadbeds, yards, stations, rolling stock, which took a merciless beating in the war years of peak traffic, be carried through?

They can't... UNLESS -

Unless the railroads are granted freight rates adequate to meet the wage and materials cost increases, and at the same time keep hundreds of American industries busy with new machinery and equipment orders.

Government requires that the railroads maintain a high standard of efficiency because You demand it, Industry depends on it, and the Nation must have it.

We are asking a permanent freight rate increase of the absolute minimum to meet our need—which is in every sense your need.

Our request should be granted.

Luxembourg, one of the smallest countries in the world's family of nations, has an area of 999 square miles and more than 300,000 people. The Grand Duchy, which touches on Germany, Belgium and France, suffered under German occupation in the Second World War. Practically every bit of her land is cultivated by small landowners. Despite her small size, Luxembourg supplies the world from an enormous output of iron and steel. As a trading nation, Luxembourg is allied economically with Belgium and the Netherlands in the first important post-war customs union, called Benelux. Foreign Minister Joseph Bech is Chairman of Luxembourg's Delegation to the United Nations General Assembly. Her flag has red, white and blue horizontal stripes.

Equipped to treat minor injuries, the clinic is now especially busy giving "shots" to U.N. personnel against diseases they are likely to meet on travels.

'Crocodile Tears', Says Envoy Of British 'Worry' on Sudan

Washington, D. C.

What was ostensibly set up as a "joint" administration of the Egyptians and the British for the rule of the Sudan provinces in the Nile Valley has turned out to be something far different. This is the belief of the Egyptian ambassador to the United States, Mahmoud Hassan Pasha.

"Instead of being a 'joint' administration, it has proved to be an administration 'out of joint,'" he declared in a recent radio address over Station WOOK.

He pointed out that the Sudan administration was to be under the fifty-fifty control of Egypt and Britain. All civil and military powers were to be vested in the Governor General, and he was to be appointed by the Khedive of Egypt on the nomination of the British government. To date, every Governor General has been a Britisher.

In the beginning, Egyptians played some part in the administration, and some Egyptian forces were stationed in the Sudan. Yet it soon became clear that the British were attempting to oust all Egyptian influence. Gradually for a time, yet progressively, the Egyptians were squeezed out. They were purged because they were Egyptians.

Since 1924, Egyptian participation in the Sudan administration has been even less than nominal. It has been all but non-existent.

Thus fared the "joint" administration! Thus have the Egyptians been forced to view from the side-lines the entrenchment of an alien government in a part of their national territory!

"Egypt's claim to the maintenance of the time-honored unity of the Nile Valley has been depicted by the British as an obstacle by the Egyptian government."

tions to impose her rule upon an unwilling people who crave their own independence," said Ambassador Hassan. "Such allegations are false," he continued. "In fact, what Britain wants by advocating so-called freedom for the Sudan from Egypt is nothing else than domination of the Sudan by herself alone."

"No crocodile in the deepest waters of the Nile ever shed such tears as Britain now pretends to shed for the Sudan."

"As a consequence of British domination, the social and cultural advancement of the population of the Sudan has been greatly retarded," a spokesman points out. "No attempt has been made to train the Sudanese for more than menial tasks, and when Sudanese come to Egypt to be educated—as many of them do—they can hope for no posts in the government service on their return to the Sudan. The economic interests of the Sudanese have been similarly disregarded, to supply cheap cotton for Lancashire."

"Of course the British hold out the bait of independence to the Sudan—that is, ultimate independence. How ultimate is for the British to decide! And as elsewhere in their far-flung Empire, the people are never 'ready' for independence."

"Yet the British do not fail to keep an anchor to windward. Foreseeing that they may be unable to stave off the reunion of the Northern Sudan with Egypt, they seek to mark out the Southern Sudan as a territory apart. It would fit in so well with British territories beyond!"

"Hence every effort is being made to divide the Sudan. Minorities are favored and encouraged. Segregation, as a part of the British strategy, supplies the final answer for the British to the Egyptian demand."

ARE YOU A SAVER

A Nationwide survey by the Federal Reserve Bd. reveals that there are three classifications in savings accounts
 25 out of 100 fall into the group that always seem to be a little behind on their bills. The savings accounts in this group are active and steadily dwindle
 8 out of 100 are in a status where their accounts remain stationary. No increase or decrease
 65 out of 100 have accounts which grow continuously
 These statistics indicate that the majority of savers are getting ahead. They treat a savings account like a bill to be paid. An amount in keeping with income is deposited each week or month

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
 "Terrible, Terrible!"

Ben Spiller is back! After twenty years in Capital City, Ben has retired and come to enjoy life in the family home on Maple Street.
 First thing Ben does is write us complaining how Our Town has changed. "Why, there's no need in the main to stick up to your noses!" he says. "No pistol smoking in the town square! No moonshine liquor or Saturday night howlers! Nothing to do but settle for a temperate glass of beer in a law-abiding tavern!"
 "Terrible, terrible, terrible," Ben says, "how a town can get run down in twenty years!" And then Ben takes his tongue out of his cheek and tells us how proud he is of the orderly, law-abiding atmosphere he finds here.
 And from where I sit, you can point to that growing profusion for a moderate, wholesome glass of beer as one reason why in Our Town are so temperate, and neighborly and well-behaved.
