Michigan Mirror

Human nature and freedom of the press being what they are, it is inevitable that some of Kim Sigler's newspaper supporters now disagree with parts of his 1948 reform program.

Rep. Elton R. Eaton, editor of the Plymouth Mail, differs with the gov. on the proposal for power to fire dept. heads and to scrap, in effect, control of state depts. through the state administrative board

It so happens that the administrative bd. was created by Gov Alex J Groesbeck, early in the 20's, while Eaton was Groesbeck's executive sec. Eaton says the bd. is just like a corporation bd of directors and that the governor, as "chairman" of the bd. has ample powers to get things done.

The Plymouth editor recalls that Groesbeck"s power to hire and fire used to oust Tom Johnson as state supt. of public inst., and that Fred Green used the cry of 'dictator" to upset Groesbeck at the next Republican primary

Gov. Sigler retorts that he has no power today to remove dept. heads or other state officials. "In order to remove an official I have to prefer charges of malfeasance, misfeasance and non-feasance", he told the press.

Sigler does not believe in bds.and comms. He regards them as inefficient. He would like to reduce the present 100-plus state units to around 20.

Murl Defoe, editor of the Charlotte Republican....Tribune disagrees with the governor over a four-year term. His logic goes along something like this: When the state gets a poor governor, two years is long enough to keep him. When the state gets a good gov., voters can keep him 4 years or longer by the simple method of reelecting him.

It is Mr DeFoe's conviction that the Sigler proposal is more political than practical. The gov. and other elective officials (and perhaps the legislators, if the amendment is revised to include them) would be elected in a non-presidential year, beginning in 1950. Michigan elected Democratic governors in the presidential years of 1932, 1936 and 1940 Republican governors have won in every non-presidential year campaign since 1914

The Lansing legislative situation has been interesting to watch for several reasons. Gov Sigler's reform program was presented to the legislature without much advance consultation with legislative leaders. The four year term for the gov and other elective officials, for example was linked to a similar term for county officials but not to members of the state legislaure

This now appears to have been a tactical error. Legislators were cool from the start. They warmed up to it reluctantly and only when political pressure was applied that the hd of the party should get legislative support in a campaign year and that the amendments, after all, were going to the jury (the people) for final verdict

After asking legislators to do something for the gov. and nothing for themselves, Sigler further ruffled their pride by appearing before committees and warning members he would summon legislators back for another special session unless they submitted his program to the people. Otherwise he would appeal to the people, circulate petitions and get the amendments on the November ballots

An Associated Press writer reported that the Gov. announced, well in advance, a slate of seven delegates at large for the state republican convention in Detroit after he had assured the press that the gathering was to be "unbossed". Furthermore, the convention endorsement of proposed reforms was characterized by the A. P as being "very lukewarm" Sigler's methods were said to be "amateurish."

On the plus sign of the Sigler ledger may be placed in bold letters his traits of high courage and intellectual integrity. He still is the idealist, the reformer, the knight battling for "better government." He delights in challenging the status quo

The governor's troubles come largely from his zeal and impatience to get things done. By seeking more power for himself in order to achieve these reforms he has antagonized a number of influential people in the party, including those in the legislature

Now that the legislative record is on the books popular debate on the issues will get under way. The verdict will come in November

Current Comment

Gov. Sigler seems to have weakened on his determination of "no new taxes for this legislative seesion and is said to have agreed to an increase in the weight taxes of passenger cars and trucks. It was recently predicted by Guy Jenkins Lansing commentator that the highway lobby would bring pressure on the governor to increase the road funds under a threat unless he did so his program would be killed. This seems to have come to pass. Rep. Alpheus Decker has presented a bill to increase highway funds. Under his bill the tax on passenger cars would be increased 1o cents per hundred weight and the weight tax on trucks and buses one third. This new tax would raise between ten and twelve million dollars for the sadly neglected roads and highways. It would be distributed seven eighths to the counties of orgin and one eighth to the state at large.

In the selection of Gov. Green of Illinois as keynoter at the Rep. nat. convention the G. O. P. seems to have veered way to the right. Gov. Green is an old time isolationist & is regarded as a stooge of Col. Bob McCormack of the Chicago Tribune., the leading isolationist of the world. He is regarded as most favorable to Senator Taft. He is a receptive candidate for vice pres.and it expected to get the Illinois vote as a favorite son candidate until they can see which way the wind blows

Los Angeles police are holding Mrs. Marie Chaplin for investigating to see if she is not violating a state law forbidding trafficking in persons. It is alleged that she is making a handsome profit from the sale of babies from prices all the way from $400 to $1500 dollars. These babies are obtained from unwed mothers who gave them up for free hospitalization. The market in Calif. is now booming in babies since it as become fashonable among the movie stars to adopt numbers of them for publicity purposes

After long debate the British house of Commons has voted to abolish the death penalty for a 5 year period. This is destroying an old British custom. Back in the old days the death penalty was inflicted in England for many crimes besides murder. Pick pockets, thieves and many other minor criminals were sent to the gallows and it is recalled that when King Henry the VIII tired of a wife he usually had her beheaded in the Tower of London. After these many years the British have evidently come to the conclusion that the death penalty does not prevent crime. The British are pretty thoroughly steeped in tradition and cling tenaciously to their ancient customs yet they have abolished the death penalty. This will be a sad blow to the death penalty advocates of this country

The death of Orlando LaValley of Caro, marked the demise of the last member of the G. A. R. in Mich. At one time his order had 90,048 on its membership rolls and its state convention were the largest in the state. It was founded to further the interests of veterans of that war. LaValley was only 16 when he enlisted and served through the war The organization was all powerful and elected pres. senators, governors, judges etc. May 30, Memorial Day was their day and they observed it with religious fervor. We attended many of these memorial day obsegvances in Dexter where the post named for Col. Jeffords, killed at the battle of Gettysberg, reigned supreme. The program consisted of a prominent speaker, songs drills and recitations by school children. They then marched to cemetery led by the band, then children dressed in white carrying flowers and followed by the G. A. R. boys in blue uniforms with brass buttons. Some times there were 200 of them. More exercises took place at the cemetery where all soldiers graves were decorated and a military salute fired by the firing squad of the G. A. R.over Col. Jeffords grave ended the day. The American Legion and V. F.W. have endeavored to carry on the tradition of the day but have never been able to evoke the enthusiasm for it the G.A.R. did

Sam's Hens Wear Spectacles!

Yes, it's a fact! Sam's brood of two dozen hens are wearing spectacles—which he bought from a mail-order house in Capitol City.

Sam says it works (and big poultry raisers say so, too). The hens see each other through soft colored glasses, and instead of fighting and picking at each other, they go around placidly, gain weight, and lay more eggs.

Makes me almost wish we could have rose-colored glasses for human beings, too. So that instead of quarreling and criticizing, like we do so much of the time, we'd live and let live in contentment.

From where I sit, the human race wastes a powerful lot of time in wrangling over minor issues ... whether a man should drink beer or cider ... whether a woman should wear slacks or skirts ... instead of seeing each other through "spectacles" of tolerance that enable us to live-and-let-live like Sam's breed of chickens.

X MARKS THE SPOT!

Yes—X marks the spot where more than 2,000 people died and over 70,000 were injured last year when automobile drivers challenged the iron horses of the rails—and lost.

When you approach a railroad crossing you are entering the railroad's right-of-way. To save you from harm, gates are lowered or automatic signalling devices, bells and blinking lights warn of approaching trains. The engineer blows a warning blast, rings his bell. That's the most the railroad can do. The rest is up to you.

The Stop—Look—and Listen sign means what it says. Stop—look both ways—and always listen. If a train is just clearing the crossing, wait—don't hurry across, there may be a hidden train coming from the opposite direction. And when you do cross, keep going. Don't shift gears on the tracks, you may stall.

Take the few extra seconds needed to assure a safe crossing. Don't let X mark the spot where you failed to be careful.

Farmers Have Less to Worry Them This Time

Washington, D. C.—Farm prices stand at 264 per cent of the 1909-1914 average—281 per cent higher than the prices of 1918—and would go even higher but not as sharply as in 1947 because the Government is required by law to maintain support prices of at least 90 per cent of parity for two full calendar years following the year in which the war ends, The Department of Agriculture has announced.

The announcement indicates the farmer will not be a victim of a drop in prices similar to that which followed the last war in 1921 when prices hit the low of 115 per cent of the May, 1920, level which was 225 per cent of the 1909-1914 level. This the farmer will have more money than after the last war.

War Finance Committee officials said that in addition to the maintenance of the price level for two years, that non-farm incomes already have, and are accumulating, vast by savings through the payroll savings Plan of the War Finance Division of the Treasury. This, they point is proof the non-farm front will be much better able to support itself than after the last war during the normal lull of reconversion. Buyers of farm products will have the money to buy, it was said, and farmers should avail themselves of the opportunity to acquire War Bonds during the Victory Loan so as to be free from worry with which to meet the non-farm [illegible] during the lighting [illegible].

The Payroll Savings Plan has sold $18,-[illegible] Treasury officials to wage earners, including [illegible] farmers who will [illegible] the limits of their [illegible] the extension period and have the cash with which to support their issues.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson adds that "prosperity of the farm depends primarily on purchasing power in the city."

Uncle Sam Says

Regardless of whether you approve the new look in fashion, every one of my nieces and nephews certainly is in the style with the new look in security. How can you acquire this kind of look? There are two great automatic plans, both sure and convenient: 1. If you work for wages or salary—join the Pay-Roll Savings Plan for buying United States Savings Bonds regularly. This is the only installment bond-buying plan. 2. If you're in business, or a profession, or living on an income—sign up at your bank for the Bond-A-Month Plan.

Uncle Sam Says

How would you like to write a check for $2,493.24 to yourself dated New Year's Day 1958? You can do exactly that by signing your name any time in January to an authorization form at your bank which will permit them to take $18.75 a month from the funds you have on deposit and buy one U.S. Savings Bond for you every month for the next 10 years. The Payroll Savings Plan, which is the payroll payment plan to buy Savings Bonds where you work—is [illegible] payroll [illegible]

These are busy times for the clinic at United Nations Headquarters as hundreds of U.N. delegates and staff members prepare to scatter to all parts of the world, some to return home from the General Assembly's Second Session, others to accompany U.N. missions to such diverse places as Palestine, Greece and Korea. Equipped to treat minor injuries, the clinic is now especially busy giving "shots" to U.N. personnel against diseases they are likely to meet on travels.

Hospitalized Heroes Win Hollywood Stars' Help

As usual, stars of the entertainment world are in the forefront of those answering the challenge to service sounded by the Hospitalized Veterans Foundation, which seeks to bring happiness to servicemen lingering in hospitals.

"Every American should respond swiftly to this movement," cried Rudy Vallee, the popular Connecticut Yankee. "They should be proud to have an opportunity to contribute to the comfort, happiness and well-being of hospitalized heroes.

"They need entertainment equipment. They need something to keep them in contact with the outside world. It's our duty to provide what they need."

"Righto," said Art Linkletter, who makes most of the fun on the "People Are Funny Program." "It seems to me that this most worthwhile activity is long overdue and I will be glad to help out in any way I can."

Nor was Walter Pidgeon, distinguished acting artist of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios, reluctant. Said he:

"This seems to be a most humane and worthwhile undertaking and I am very much flattered to feel that I can be of some help."

Statesmanship is not lagging in the Foundation activities. Wrote United States Senator Kenneth S. Wherry, Nebraska:

"It is my sincere hope that this program will bring to our disabled and hospitalized veterans not only a measure of enjoyment, but a further conviction that they have not been forgotten by the country and the public for whom they made such great sacrifices."

Joseph M. Stack visited many hospitals throughout the country last year as commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He reports:

"The desirability of some arrangement to bring to bedfast veterans more contact with the outside world has been clearly indicated. Benefits of pillow type radio sets will prove incalculable. I'm happy to join this humanitarian project."

Hold fast, disabled veterans everywhere—help is on the way!

Annuals Bring Abundant Bloom

Most home gardeners like to grow annual flowers. Coming quickly into bloom from seed sown each year, they are the easiest of all flowers to grow and bring a wide range of vivacious color for a long period.

Poppy and bachelor button are two of the earliest. The low-growing edging, sweet alyssum and candytuft, are also fairly quick to flower from seed. The lovely balsam, fragrant pinks, the graceful scabiosa, the hedge-forming four o' clocks, the colorful nasturtiums and petunias are next in line. Later come the tall cosmos, the beloved zinnias and the marigolds. Most annuals are so easy to grow that even children can raise them successfully. Special favorites for children's gardens and those of some grownups are feathered celosia, the oddly interesting cockscomb, and the gay woolflower.

One secret of growing near-perfect annuals is to use good seed and sow it thinly. In outdoor planting do not sow deeply but cover the seeds firmly so that they will make immediate contact with warm moist soil for speedy germination. When the seedlings appear, thin the plants so that the remaining ones will have plenty of space to spread and mature.

Most annual flowers are not particular about the kind of soil they grow in but they do like plenty of sunshine and air. Most annuals do not thrive in shady places.

In order to get the most bloom from annual flowers all through the season, they need a certain amount of attention. Petunia plants sometimes grow lanky and crowd their neighbors. Cut sprays of blossoms freely and arrange them for indoor enjoyment. The plants will recover quickly and bloom better than ever. Snip off the fading blossoms of zinnia, marigold, cosmos, and other annuals. If left to go to seed, they rob the plants of strength to develop new flowers. Keep the edging annuals, such as sweet alyssum and candytuft, from looking frowzy by clipping off the tops with shears after they have bloomed. They will respond by flowering again and looking pretty for a long season.

It's no trick to hit high C when your bath is warm . . . when you know there's an automatic electric water heater in the house to bring you all the hot water you need whenever you turn the tap!

For good health and good spirits, physicians say, try a daily hot bath. For dependable, low-cost hot water —thousands of your neighbors say —electricity rings the bell.

It's safe, for there are no flames, no fumes, and no soot.

It's clean and quiet and trouble-free.

It's economical, too, because the current comes to you at a special low water heating rate.

And it's reliable—once installed, you can forget all about it. For laundry, baths and dishes, and a dozen other uses, try water heated electrically—the modern, carefree way.

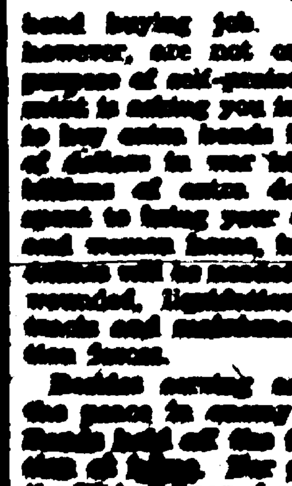
Uncle Sam Says

Benjamin Franklin said that it was not what a person earned but what he saved out of his earnings that counted. Millions of Americans who are buying Savings Bonds regularly know Ben Franklin was right. An allotment of $3.75 a week for Bonds for 10 years would provide you with $2,163.45. In your own interest, you should be as wise as millions of your countrymen today who are practicing what Ben Franklin preached—thrift gets results.

U. S. Treasury Department

To the People of this Community

It would be pleasant to report that the Victory Loan is simply a valedictory to a great home front war program, a sort of final salute to the millions of volunteers who have worked hard and unselfishly to sell you defense and war bonds, a platform from which to pat ourselves on the back for a magnificent bond buying job. Victory bonds, however, are not on sale for the purpose of self-praise. The government is asking you in this last drive to buy extra bonds because billions of dollars in war bills are unpaid, billions of extra dollars must be spent to bring your uniformed men and women home, billions of extra dollars will be needed for care of the wounded, liquidation of war contracts and maintenance of occupation forces.



Besides serving as guardians of the peace in enemy lands, Victory Bonds hold off the threat of inflation at home. For your own good, the Victory Loan should be your best [illegible] of all the war loans.
