Michigan Mirror

Industry is not moving to Michigan Main Street rural communities under 10,000 population for sentimental reasons.

When a branch of a city manufacturing concern or a new locally-financed industry decides to locate in a country town, the reasons are invariably based on sound economics. A stable labor supply, preferably tied to the community by worker-owned homes, is a key factor. Transportation is another. Availability of water, electricity and plant facilities are other essentials.

Such are the conclusions of C. M. Dwight Wood, chief of the area development division, state dept. of economic development and also Don Weeks, chief of the industrial development division of this agency.

This state dept., created during Gov. Kim Sigler's administration, has been working with local communities for industrial surveys. A total of 175 cities in the Lower Peninsula are so cooperating. Thirty-seven industrial area surveys have been completed in the Upper Peninsula where 11 new industries have been already attracted.

The principle of "self-help" is emphasized by the state dept. which serves only as a clearing house for efforts of Mich. communities to get new industries. An illustrated brochure was prepared recently by Yale (Mich.) Chamber of Commerce. The caption evoked much discussion: "Move Here and Escape Atomic Bomb" featured the invitation.

A "Michigan Mirror" survey has produced a variety of interesting evidence showing how many Mich. small towns have prospered through local leadership in attraction of new industries. Here is another installment of examples, and a third column appears to be needed for our complete report.

Brighton Aire-Flo Fumace Co., Employing 50 to 75 persons at peak of production.

Big Rapids Wolverine Shoe & Tanning Corp. underwritten by local persons.

Caro Tuscola Mfg Co and Bendall Tool & Die Company.

Social Happenings

READ-McGUIRE

Muriel Read, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Read, became the bride of John McGuire, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McGuire of Detroit, on Saturday. The vows were exchanged at high noon at St. Mary's rectory, the double ring service being read by Rev. Marqan Harris of Detroit in the presence of seventy-five invited guests.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a modish floor-length dress of Alice-blue crepe with which she wore a white organdie hat with large bow at the back and long lace gloves. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli and roses.

Mrs. Rosemary Wisney was her only attendant. Her gown, identical to Muriel's in material and design, was of golden hue and her accessories were blue. Her bouquet was in yellow motif. Louis McGuire of Detroit assisted his brother as best man and the ushers were Larry Gaughan and Dick Hogan of Detroit.

Mrs. Earl Baughn presented a group of piano numbers while the guests were assembling and accompanied her daughter, Mrs. John Carver, who sang "Because" and "Oh Promise Me" preceding the nuptial rites.

Following ceremony a reception was held at the Read home, and a full-course dinner was served, long tables being arranged on the spacious lawn. Mrs. Redman Carey of Detroit received the guests and was in charge of the guestbook, Mrs. Sieve Brown presided at the coffee table and Mrs. George Dimmer served the punch. Mrs. H. J. Mackenzie of Detroit and Mrs. Hazel Cleland of Homer, served the cake.

The bride is a graduate of Pinckney High School and in June received her diploma in physical education from Miami State College. She was affiliated with Delta Psi Kappa, National Women's honor society, and was a member of Green Springs, women's swimming organization.

She participated in two aquaplanes during her college years. The groom also attended Michigan State College following his return from three years of military service, a captive in the Battle of the Bulge, he spent five months in a German prison. He is employed as a technical writer in the newly organized quality Analysis Dept. of the Ford Motor Company.

Following a ten-day's trip in northern Mich. Mr. and Mrs. McGuire will reside in Detroit.

THE CARNIVAL

The carnival which was held last week under the sponsorship of the Civic Improvement Society and put on by the Avery Amusement Co. was not as big as expected as some of the concessions failed to arrive probably being sidetracked by the numerous fairs being held this month. One ride concession smashed up between here and Pontiac where the co. showed before coming here and did not arrive.

An increased number of local enterprises helped make up for it. In addition to the soft drink and sandwich stand the Civic Imp. Society operated two games. The V. F. W. had a bingo game, the O. E. S. an ice cream and cake concession, the Masonic Bldg. Ass'n. a waffle and hot coffee concession, the Charbonneau's a vegetable and cider booth and Hollis Swarthout, Lavey, Hard were and the Pinckney Fab. Co. a tent with electrical appliances.

D. Salyer of Stockbridge won the croquet pole climbing contest. The bicycles were won Sun. night by David Kahn, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krohn and Don Hudkins, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hudkins. An orchestra composed of Harold Swarthout, Mrs. Mildred Parks, Barbara Haines, and Don Hudkins played Sun. evening.

Current Comments

There is apparently a drive against give away programs but whether it gets anywhere or not is problematical. The great American public has always had a weakness for "this something for nothing stuff" and pressure from them may be sufficient to block any abolishing move. The zenith in give away programs probably took place in New York last week where a $15,000 dream home was given away and won by a young couple who thought they were in 7th heaven until they learned the details. First the home had been on a parking lot near a New York skyscraper so more chances could be sold. The rental was $50 a day. 2nd the winners had to pay a gift tax. 3rd it would cost $3000 to move it and they owned no vacant lot. Finally they sold the home for 1,500 which was just what these dog tails had cost them.

Margaret Mitchell, author of "Gone with the Wind", died last week as the result of being hit by a drunken auto driver. She wrote but one book yet this was the nation's best seller and the motion picture made from it won the nation's award of the year. We have read the book and seen the picture and believe that the secret of its success is that her characters were drawn true to life. True, she used a great setting, the civil war, but there have been many such books, none of which enjoyed her success. The only other author who rivaled her is the truthness of character drawing was Charles Dickens of England. It was often said that you could take any Dickens character and find its counterpart in life of today.

With loyalty oaths becoming the present day tag, the question crops up just what is loyalty? Too many people confuse it with opposition to our government. The fact is that opposition is essential to our form of government which is a democracy and is no sense is disloyalty. This makes the definition in a free society such as ours very difficult. The old definition was an overt act against the government, some thing discernible, specific and measurable. Now this could probably mean but one thing, starting a revolution of violence to overthrow our present form of government. However this does not fit the present case. The colleges and schools are the principal institutions under fire now and it is charged that they are in stalling Communism into the minds of their pupils like water wearing away a stone.

Price supports for food are coming under fire. It is charged that there is a surplus and abundance of most all food but that the government price supports are keeping prices up. This is probably true. Yet this price support business is as old as our nation only for years it was industry that reaped the benefit of it. It was not until Franklin Roosevelt took office that a farm price support program was adopted. In the old days the tariff was nothing more than a price support for industry to kill off foreign competition and let them charge high prices. Under it industry waxed fat and grew powerful. During all these years the farmer received little in the way of aid. In times of scarcity he had little to sell in times of plenty he did not receive enough money to pay expenses. Now President Truman was reelected last year chiefly by the votes of the big western farm states because he promised to continue the price support program. He is keeping his promise.

The senate and house of wash are split on the adjournment issue. The house wants to adjourn for 26 days but last week the senate voted 56 to 25 not to let them do so. The fact is that there is much unfinished business and the senate is apparently unwilling to go home until it is cleaned up.
