WHAT ABOUT BALL GAMES?

A big howl went up from television owners when the Big League on Michigan is a member, banned the televising of football games this year. But can you blame the call-quest? Their entire program depends on the revenue derived from football games and this revenue was way down last year and rightly so, if you blame television.

Most colleges also have stadium indebtedness to pay off. The same thing is true of baseball soft ball. The Pinckney V. F. W. backed two teams here this year, a base ball team in the Tri-County league and a soft ball team and probably will go in the red on each one. It costs from $10 to $15 to put on a game. The balls cost $2 each, the umpire in base ball gets $5 and the clubs have to be replaced. In soft ball the balls cost about $8. The donkey and girls game drew all night in soft ball but the attendance at the others was thin. The fact that Pinckney did not have a championship team this year had little to do with it. In the Tri-County league Chelsea has been in the picture most of the year yet when we went over there a few weeks ago to a game they did not have 25 paid admissions. Minors league all over the country are folding up and others are in the red, being subsidized by big league teams.

In amateur base ball most of the teams were sponsored by the V. F. W., American Legion and C.I.O. Labor Locals who pay the bills. Otherwise there would not be any.

The Pinckney Girls Scouts will hold a bake sale at the Martin Locker, Sat., Sept. 2nd starting at 11:00 a. m.

Current Comment

Premier Pandit Nehru of India aspires to be the great peace-maker in the trouble in Korea and has suggested peace talks between this country and Russia. We give the gentleman credit for good intentions. Unfortunately he is facing facts not theories. Russia's answer is that she will be no party to a peace conference until all American troops are withdrawn from Korea. It would be impossible for this country to grant such a request so all peace talks are off. He reminds us of the experience of the late Henry Ford in World War I when he chartered a ship "Oscar II" and filled it with a lot of screwballs whose motto was "Peace at any price and went to Europe. The slogan of this strange shipload was "Get the Boys Out of the Trenches by Christmas." The mission failed and Ford returned to America a sadly disillusioned man.

The Boy Scouts of Genesee, LaPeer and Shiawassee counties are rejoicing because oil has been struck on their 700 acre camp at Gras Lake near Grayling. It is now producing 12 barrels an hour. The well was drilled on shares and the scouts get one-eighth of the oil. They should be well satisfied. This reminds us of an oil strike some years ago in Arkansas where oil was found in a country church yard or cemetery. The question was whether the church members would allow the graves of their ancestors to be disturbed for the purpose of keeping up riches. A poem was written on the subject in which the spouses of and deacons were given. The church finally voted not to lease for oil.

The attempt to use Puerto Ricans in the sugar beet fields of Mich. has apparently been a flop. Previously Mexicans were used but as they were not citizens they had to be returned to Mexico and difficulty was experienced in rounding them up. This year the sugar beet growers contracted with Mich. Field Corps Inc. to supply them with Puerto Rican workers. Accordingly 2,500 of them were flown here. However they refused to accept the conditions the Mexicans did in previous years and all but 2800 returned to Puerto Rico. They complained to their government and a Puerto Rican commission came here to investigate. The complaints are poor housing conditions. They took the jobs by the acre and their wages were only from 21c to 95c an hour and they were only allowed $5 a week for food. In order to complete the harvest, the growers have agreed to pay them 65c an hour plus $1 per acre finished. Also to import a Puerto Rican cook.

We read that Sally Rand, the famous fan dancer got married last week at the age of 46. Sally rose to fame during the second Chicago World's Fair by doing a dance on the midway there, clad in 2 ostrich plume fans. The officer the police raided her the bazaar the crowds. After the fair closed she moved on to other cities and business continued good. When it fell off a few police raids brought it back to normal again. Sally's technique is as old as the hills. Back in times at the time of the first Chicago World's Fair another dancer known as "Little Egypt" won fame by doing a similar dance. Ask your grandfather about it. He probably saw her if he took in the fair.

The brass hats and congress men in Washington are busy blaming everybody except themselves for the state of unpreparedness which arose when the unpleasantness in Korea arose. The truth is they were all to blame and so were the rest of us to a great extent. When Germany surrendered in 1945 the theme song was "Get the Boys Home." There was hardly any one but had a relative or close friend in the service. Under this pressure in one year's time congress wrecked the greatest fighting machine this country ever assembled. We see that the judge advocate general has ruled that all commissioned officers must be out of service after World War II are subject to be recalled to duty. Their commissions are subject to recall. If agreements are made and peace treaties have yet been signed with Germany, Italy or Japan.

Uncle Sam Says

This Memorial Day remember those you loved by remembering those you love—make your child's future bright with the promise of financial independence by enrolling him during the U. S. Savings Bonds Independence Drive. Then automatically, your bank or your place of employment will see to it that his pile of Savings Bonds grow and grow. Each $3 you invest for him today will in ten years return him $4. By this simple method he will be financially able to pay for an education, to start in business, or perhaps to build his own home. You owe it to your family to enroll, NOW, for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or if self-employed, for the Bonds-A-Month Plan at your bank.

There's nothing like a back-log of U. S. Savings Bonds to enable one to stand up and look the world in the eye. And you'll be clutching a handful of them before you know it if you enroll now for the regular purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds. With these bonds you'll lose the uncomfortable feeling that you're not getting ahead. What's good for you is good for your country, so start accumulating those Savings Bonds now. In ten years you get back $4 for every $3 you invest today. Sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or, if self-employed, for the Bonds-A-Month Plan at your bank.

Teamwork of All Plant Nutrients Needed to Make High Crop Yields

PLANT nutrients have to "play ball" together to make high crop yields possible, the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee points out. Each element has its work to do. Each reinforces the other. None can do the whole crop-feeding job by itself.

"All nutrients must be in balanced supply to give you top yields," the Committee says. "You can't increase crop production by adding only one plant food element when others are short. If your soil has plenty of phosphate and potash, but is short of nitrogen, you won't get good yields unless you supply that nitrogen. And the same is true of phosphate and potash, respectively."

"University of Illinois agronomists demonstrated that it takes the combined teamwork of lime, nitrogen, phosphate and potash to get maximum corn yields. They made their tests on nutrient-deficient soils at the Brownstown field.

"A plot that had no fertilizer yielded only 14.7 bushels of corn per acre. When nitrogen alone was added, the yield was 14.3 bushels. Adding phosphate brought the yield up to 24.8 bushels because the soil got some nitrogen from clovers in the rotation. When potash alone was added, the corn yield was 11.9 bushels per acre. Liming brought the yield up to 31 bushels. When lime, nitrogen, phosphate and potash all were added in balanced supply, the yield rose to 46 bushels per acre."

NEVER carry a metal ladder in this manner. In upright position there is always the possibility of making contact with overhead electric wire. Such an accident recently resulted in the electrocution of a Michigan Thumb area fruit picker.

ALWAYS lower metal ladder to ground in horizontal position (note right hand sketch) when moving from tree to tree in orchard or in farmyard use. This eliminates any danger of contact with electric wires, is an easier moving method.

Film Strips Brings United Nations to Classrooms

Film strips are now being used by teachers and speakers as one of the most practical ways of telling the story of the United Nations to their audiences. The U.N. Department of Public Information has released 17 different subjects explaining the aims, structure and work of the World Organization. More than 90,000 copies of these are now in use in 62 countries in the five official languages of the U.N.—Chinese, English, French, Russian and Spanish. Here a class of ten-year-old children listen and look as a teacher shows one of the U.N. film strips mentioned above.

Phosphate Added to Manure Balances Plant Food Content

CHICAGO — Adding superphosphate to barnyard manure before it is spread in the field is a profitable practice for Corn Belt farmers, declared the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in a statement made public here.

"Many farmers report that a load of phosphated manure is more effective than two loads of untreated manure as a top-dressing for new legume-grass seedings or old established hay fields or pastures," says the statement.

"Superphosphate gives the manure a better plant food balance. Prof. C. J. Chapman, extension agronomist of the University of Wisconsin, points out that manure is relatively low in phosphorus. An average ton of manure with bedding, he says, contains 10 pounds of nitrogen, 5 pounds of phosphate and 10 pounds of potash. By adding 25 pounds of superphosphate to each ton you can increase the manure's phosphate content to 10 pounds per ton.

"Prof. Chapman says superphosphate helps the manure hold nitrogen that might otherwise be lost."

Methods of adding phosphate to the manure may vary according to farm conditions, but the program should be carried on throughout the year, the statement says.

"One method is to place the superphosphate in the spreader as the manure goes onto the field," the statement points out. Prof. Chapman recommends adding 25 to 30 pounds on each load.

"Another way is to place superphosphate in the gutters of the stable or open run barns, at the rate of one pound per cow per day. Prof. Chapman says superphosphate, thus applied, will absorb considerable amounts of liquid manure. It will also hold any free ammonia that might otherwise be lost by evaporation when fermented manure is hauled and spread on the land. Prof. Chapman cautions that superphosphate spread on driveways may irritate the feet of cows."

Sod Crops Profitable

Sod crops are one of the best profit builders on a farm, the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee points out. More grass and legumes means you can carry more cattle or hogs per acre. A good legume-grass sod builds soil structure and mellowes the land for crops following. To get good top growth and root development, lime the soil according to tests and add plenty of phosphate and potash.
