Michigan Mirror

The Michigan legislature is hitting at full speed but the legislators are crying for still more speed as the Feb. 21 deadline for the introduction of bills nears. Both house and senate committees are jammed full of bills and the committees have been working nights to get them in shape.

Republicans want a $750,000 election budget which is 25 percent more than a 1950 but costs have gone up, including postage, newspaper space, radio and television.

In Detroit Feb. 8, a $50 a plate dinner will be held to raise funds for Gov. Williams is scheduled. Mayor Joseph Flaugh of Benton Harbor a Republican is chairman. Senator Charles Diggs has introduced a bill to let 18 year olds vote. He would submit the matter to the voters in November.

Michigan field crops last year were the second highest on record. Combined production of corn, wheat, oats, barley and rye totalled 3,600,000 bushels, 11 percent more than in 1950.

Rep. Lawrence Lindemere of Stockbridge has introduced a bill giving any person, husband, wife, son or daughter, employer or township official power to forbid a liquor establishment from selling liquor to a person.

Violations for violating the same law have jumped from 56 in 1950 to 123 in 1951.

Lansing man, James Pruett has lost his job because he said it was against his religion to join a union.

Rep. Wm. Blackney of the 6th district who is 75 refuses to say whether he will retire from congress or not.

Supt. of Instruction Lee Thurston wants $15,000 to set up a state wide TV network.

Life expectancy has jumped from 49 to 68 years in the last 50 years and is expected to keep on rising. In 1900 5 out of every 100 persons was 65 years old. Now it is 7 of 100.

THE SHOEMAKER

In the old days most villages had shoe factories who made shoes for the people on order. They also made leather boots. These came almost to the knee. They had copper toe plates. On week days they wore their pants inside the boots. On Sunday outside. John and Alfred Monks wore them as long as they lived.

Warren Hoff, father of the Hoff Sisters had a shoe factory here. It was on the second floor of the Richards building that stood on the site of Mr. J. P. S. garage. A number of people were employed by him. In the winter the Gueiss also made boots and shoes as well as harness. The last shoemaker I knew was Albert Lathrop of Dexter. He was making shoes as late as 1916. My father had several pair made by him. They were mostly hand made although the tops were stitched together by a machine. The machine age put most of the factories out of business as they could make shoes cheaper. Then prisons made shoes and in some cases hired out convict labor to shoe factories.

The cobbler shop lasted long after the shoe shop went out of business. 50 years ago Pinckney had 3 cobbler shops. They were run by Perry Blunt, Thomas Clinton and Patsy Walsh. All were veterans and drew pensions. Joe Syke and Hugh Clark had harness shops here but did little shoe work. For years Pinckney has had no establishments of either kind. Perry Blunt was also an auctioneer and could kick higher than his head. Thomas Clinton was a sort of lawyer and sometimes represented people in law suits here. Patsy Walsh was the champion boxer of his regiment and was never beaten in a fight here even when he became crippled by rheumatism. He owned the place now owned by Mrs. Francis Hornshaw and his wife, the former Mary Northard, was a practical nurse and took nursing jobs.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Pinckney Dispatch Jan. 24, 1951
Enclosed is a short notice for publication if you care to do so concerning a campaign to suppress gambling in Livingston county.

Wilfred H. Erwin, Pros. Atty.
A meeting of all principal law enforcement officers of Livingston county is scheduled for Feb. 1, 1952 at the office of Wilfred H. Erwin, prosecuting attorney, to formulate a plan to rid the county of all forms of gambling. It is hoped that concerted action over the entire county by the officers will serve to stop all organizations from engaging in or sponsoring the various forms of gambling.

The prosecutor informs the papers that for some time law enforcement officials have overlooked the occasional use of gift enterprises such as bingo games and raffles by charitable organizations but these games are illegal under our gambling laws.

Equally illegal according to the prosecutor are theatre bank nites, automobile raffles, slot machines, pin ball machines in which free games are given as a prize and such affairs as the Silver Harvest Festival conducted in Howell in 1951 and the Turtle Derby sponsored by the Howell Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Current Comment

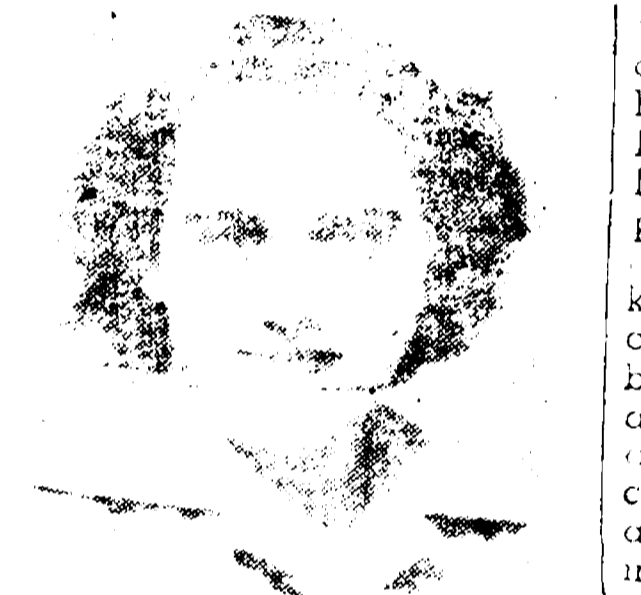

We see that the National Council of Churches has come out again with an envoy to the Vatican. Whether this country sends an envoy to the Vatican or not is no one's business but the dept. of state. They are the only ones with sufficient information to judge the need of one there. We doubt they would be for it if there was no advantage derived by it. As to UMT we can see a little difference between that and the draft. Another thing that should be borne in mind is that we are going to have a lot more war before we have less. This country was founded on war. The Revolutionary War prevented it from splitting in two, the Spanish war drove Spain from this hemisphere, the Mexican war gave us Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and California and World Wars I and II destroyed Germany as a world power and stopped her world conquest ideas. War may be abhorrent but it has been a necessity for this country. There are numerous small wars going on now in India, Indo China, Jerusalem, Egypt, Iran, China and Korea. The Council of church is doubtless well intentioned but like Henry Ford's Peace Ship, the Oscar the II, they won't get any where. They are facing facts not theories.

The probabilities are that air traffic will never be 100 percent safe. When anything goes wrong you have a long way to fall and casualties are invariably heavy. At Elizabeth, N. J. near Newark airport, crashes in the last month have killed 84 or more persons. The last plane that crashed was a Douglas C-47, a military transport, which crashed in a field, killing the inmates. This has caused citizens to ask that the airport be removed to a less congested area where there is not so much danger to those on the ground. Of course flying is yet in its infancy and more safety devices will be invented but the danger part will never be entirely eliminated as it is a long, long way to the ground.

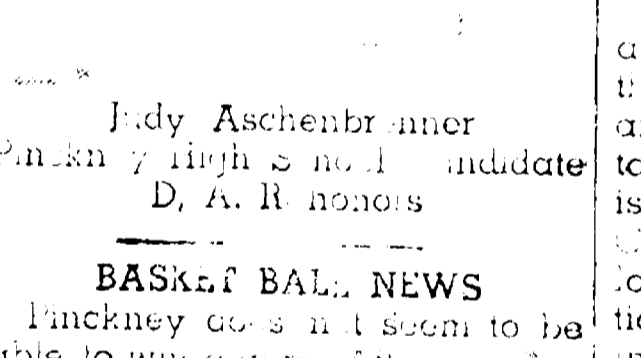

Cities and villages are always ambitious to do things. However this doing things means money and few have any source of taxation except property which is so sparsely distributed that it is usually they are always looking for new sources of taxation. Signaw recently enacted an one tax only to have the courts declare it unconstitutional. Mayor Brown of Ann Arbor has gone out for an amusement tax and has told the people on the radio so that it will be on the ball in April along with propositions to buy the fairgrounds and build a new fire hall. Of course this amusement tax would get most of its revenue from the University of Michigan who draw 100,000 crowds at their football games. The university which has made Ann Arbor what it is has long been a sore spot with some Ann Arbor people. Being a state institution it pays no taxes. Recently a lawyer there, Alfred Lucking, stated suit to make the university pay for police and fire protection.

Is inflation receding a little? Last week the price of potatoes receded from 10 15 cents a bushel and the big oil companies cut the price of gas a cent gallon. Another cent cut followed the next day. These are the first gas cuts since 1946. But don't get too excited about it. Most of the big auto companies are petitioning to increase prices. We do not look for any great reduction of prices with the present war scare and climbing wages. We read that the price of beer is to be raised from 15c to 18c a case and the price of reserved seats at Briggs stadium, Detroit are to be upped 25c. When we were a boy the price of admission to the outfield bleachers at Bennett Park, the predecessor of Briggs Stadium, was only 25c.

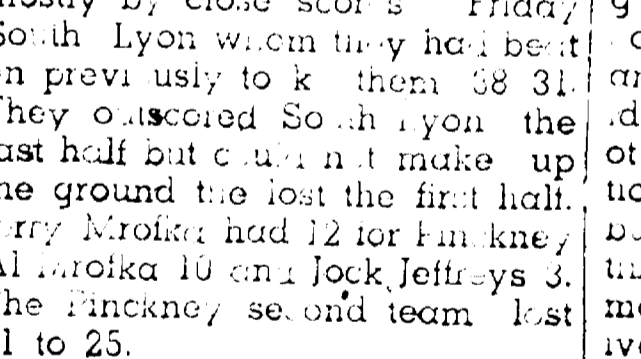

The Dr. Walter Mercer family of East Lansing and Mrs. Elch Reason of Howell called at the Wm. Mercer home Sunday. Mr. Mercer is sick in bed.
Billy Shehan and 2 friends from Ann Arbor called at the William Shehan home Sunday.
