MICHIGAN MIRROR CHRONOLOGY

Police and state officials are pounding on themes of highway safety. For the third year in the last 10 more than 2000 have been killed in Michigan traffic and law officers admit they are puzzled. Despite the curbs on reckless driving, such as speed zones, educational campaigns, extra patrols, use of the National Guard and the new safety devices on autos the traffic death toll continues to rise. Now police cars are to be equipped with cameras. The December toll was 88 less than last year but the toll of 208 in November was way out of proportion.

Supt. Childs of the State Police blames the drivers. He says if they would obey all the traffic laws the number of accidents would be small. Unfortunately they will not.

Both the University of Michigan and Michigan State are studying the accident problem. Dr. Muehlberg of the crime prevention bureau says 40 % of the accidents involve persons who drink. Also there was a 16 percent increase in the ownership of cars last year. Michigan now has 3,900,000 cars on the highways. The legislature in Gov. Williams special session made a start by setting up speed limits, adding 200 new state policemen and appropriating $25 per pupil for driver's education in the public schools. More proposals will be presented to the present legislature, one of which is medical tests for drunk drivers.

Educational needs will also be stressed. The 52 member commission will disseminate information received at the recent White House Educational Conference. Michigan has also appropriated $150,000 for an educational study.

The George Meabons are at their cabin at Lovels this week.

Mrs. Edith VanNorman has returned from a visit with friends and relatives in Champaign and Peoria, Ill.

JUNE IN JANUARY

Time was when fresh fruits made their appearance in Michigan only in the summer—when they were in season. But—thanks to the fast flexible transportation trucks provide—our eating habits have changed a lot the past quarter of a century—and much for the better, of course. Now no matter where you live in Michigan food stores are filled with a beautiful array of choice things to eat in every department. Nowadays delicacies know no season. Merchants today don't have to order in large quantities that stay on their shelves until they lose their crispy freshness. Truck transport has turned miles into minutes, and your standard of living is better because of this.
