No. 48

MICHIGAN MIRROR

The battle between the Michigan Highway Dept. and the Michigan Turnpike Authority apparently ended last week when the authority cut its staff to a skeleton and admitted it could not sell its bonds due to the threats of State Highway Com. Ziegler to build roads to parallel the turnpike roads. The battle has raged for years. Ziegler was put on the turnpike authority but never acted up to 1951 he never had over $28 million a year to spend on roads. Now with increased gas tax and federal aid he will have over $304 million a year. Chairman George Higgins of the turnpike authority says it will be present on a standby basis until Ziegler either builds or does not build roads he has promised. So far Ziegler has done mostly patch work jobs, a few miles here and a few miles there.

Michigan will have a new state park at Laughing Whitefish Falls. The Celotex Co. bought 240,000 acres there for lumbering purposes. They will give the state the falls and 100 acres of land. Gov. Williams conducted the negotiations.

The minnow shortage is beginning to bother fishermen. The dept. has not yet determined the cause. It could be a poor hatch of minnow eggs, bad weather conditions or the big minnow demand. The plan to buy them from other states was discarded as it would mean uncontrolled entrance of carp, suckers and other rough fish into Michigan.

CONSERVATION DEPT.

There are little changes on water fowl hunting. The season is 70 days this year, Oct. 1 to Dec. 9. It is also 70 on Jacksnipe. The season on wood duck is closed. The bag limits and shooting hours are the same.

Due to numerous rains the forest fire record this year is favorable. 433 fires have damaged 2287 acres.

The pheasant hatch this year is 25 percent less this year than last due to the wet season. In many places they nested later.

All license fees for Michigan's 1956 hunting season are upcharged from last year.

Forest fire activities may be shifted from the conservation dept. to the forest dept.

The oldest hunter last year was William Northgrame, 88 of Fennville and the youngest Edmund Phillipson, 9, of AuTrain. The oldest archery hunter, Clyde Gibbs, 76, of Lake Odessa and the youngest Gary Nokardo, 6, of Trout Lake.

Game workers at the Cusina game refuge have live trapped 11 bear. Last year they live trapped 31.

An evening grosbeak banded at Bloomfield, Conn. in January was recovered at Sanford, Mich., last week.

Special deer hunting areas in 22 starvation and crop damage areas were established by the commission at its Aug. 9-10 meeting. Holders of permits will be allowed to take 1 deer of any age in these areas. Some 16,866 permits will be issued to deer hunters. Each permit is good for one area. October 10 is the deadline for applications. In 19 areas the season is December 1 to Nov. 15 to Nov. 30.

In the upper peninsula 7000 permits will be issued for 5 areas.

The dept. bought 460 acres of hunting land, 121 acres of park lands and 8 fishing sites last week, all in northern Michigan.

Three forest fires burned over 5 acres last week.

Current Comment

The Whitmore Lake branch of the Ann Arbor Bank has started a drive to get the social welfare dept. to cancel plans to build the new Boy's Vocational School in Green Oak near Whitmore Lake. In this they are joined by the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors, Ann Arbor, Mich. Both have extensive property investments in the vicinity which they claim are of the home would lower. W. J. Maxey of the social welfare commission wants a chance to explain his boards position in the matter. The Boys Vocational School is apparently a lost dog. No one wants it. Maybe it is possible it would be a good idea to locate it at the north pole. By the way we do not remember any such agitation at Jackson Ionia, Marquette or Northville to get the prisons or the house of correction removed from their areas.

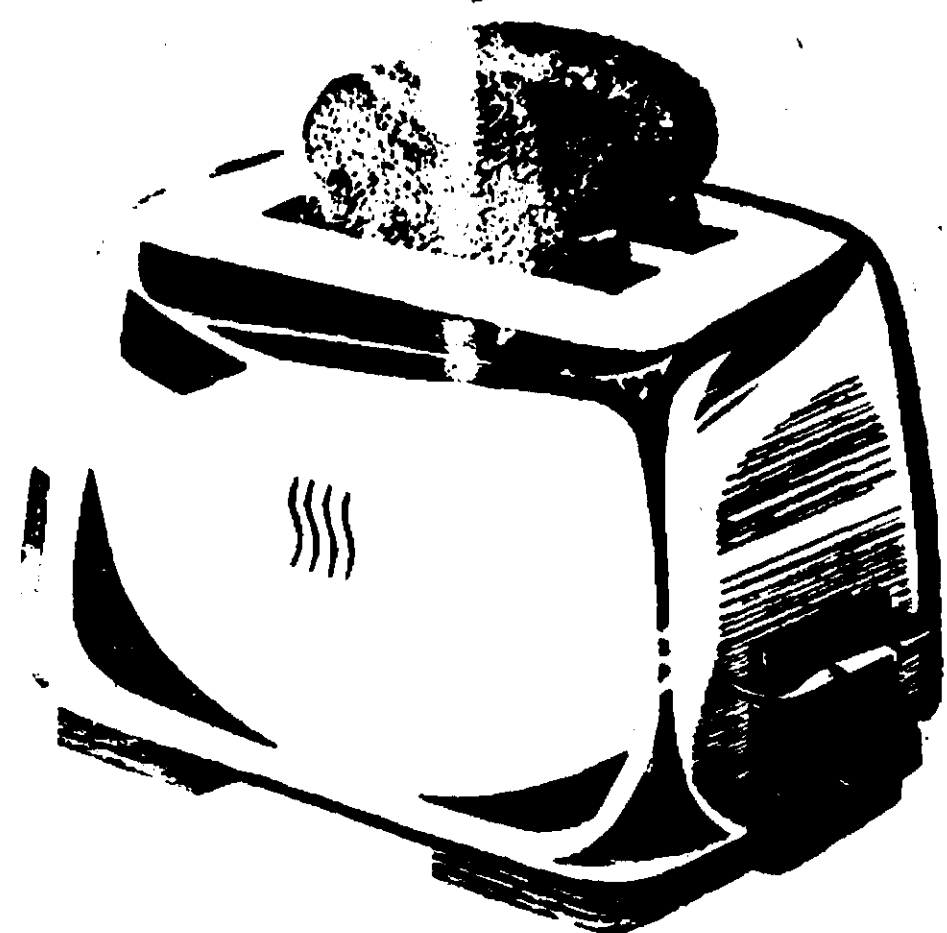

The Turnpike Authority has gone into a recess because it claims the threat of State Highway Ziegler to build free roads to parallel all the toll roads has killed the sale of their bonds. We favored the turnpikes for one reason only They would clog Michigan more roads and they have been a success in other states. They would relieve the congestion here on back ends and cut the accident rate. The state highway dept. and county road commissions as well seem to have fallen into a state of dry rot. They plan all kinds of roads on paper but never build them despite the fact the road money they get has doubled and tripled the past few years. Before 1951 they only had $28 million a year. Now with increased gas tax and federal aid they get $304 million but no notable increase in road building is apparent. They do not have the energy of the late Governor Alex Grosbeck, who got Grand River paved in jig time. When he could not get labor he used convict labor. When he could not get cement he bought a cement plant and operated it with convict labor. What a howl would go up if this were done now. The people of the state want their convicts to sit on their fannies and live on the fat of the land.

The schools open in 2 weeks and according to surveys the school population in Michigan will increase by 10000. This is due to the soaring birth rate which followed World War II. Despite the fact that Michigan new school areas expects to have new pupils from the first to sixth grades Supt. Reader does not expect any decrease in the enrollment in the public schools here over last year. Many of St. Mary's pupils will come from Gregory and the south side of Portage Lake which were in the Stockbridge and Dexter districts.

Ted Williams, one of the nations great ball players was recently fined $5000 for spitting at a spectator who booed him. Booring star players is a favorite sport with certain fans who lack sportsmanship and brains. all the coaches and recruiting some stances. We remember when Ty Cobb of Hughey Jennings 3 times pennant winners at Detroit was in his prime he climbed into the stands at Philadelphia and beat up a fan who booed him. He was fined and suspended. The next day the entire Detroit team went on a strike and refused to play the scheduled game. Jennings managed to put a team in the field by playing himself until the coaches and recruiting agents Philadelphia semi pros. They were beaten about 20 to 0. The fine was paid. We do not remember how it was raised.

Obscenity is Poison

By Hon. Charles S. Desmond, New York Court of Appeals

IN 1954 a New York State committee displayed a collection of so-called "comic books." These wildly lurid picture stories opened our eyes to a serious public evil. How could we keep the lurid pictures and filthy literature from reaching our newsstands?

The only effective way to keep obscenity from reaching the public is by some kind of restraint. Yet printers and distributors of fifth best restraint under the "freedom of the press" guarantee in our Constitution. The U. S. Supreme Court has never given a flat "yes" or "no" to the question of whether we can stop obscene matter from reaching the newsstands.

LEGAL THINKERS take opposing views. One group says that our Founding Fathers wanted all prior restraint to be unconstitutional. But it seems to me that if our Founding Fathers gave the government the power to protect its citizens from poison food harmful to the body, certainly it can protect its citizens from poisonous literature harmful to the mind.

The other group, and I include myself among them, argues that prior restraint of obscene literature is not offensive to the historic American tradition of freedom of publication. Our Founding Fathers were fearful only of the existence of a governmental power which might choke off political criticism and the freedom to express opinion.

THE SUPREME COURT in the Zorach case said, "We are a religious people whose institutions presuppose a Supreme Being." Our legislators have always had respect for God's moral law. Our government has from its first days excluded from the mails matter injurious to public morals. U. S. Customs laws as well authorize the banning of obscene books.

After all, isn't it a prime and proper function of government to protect its citizens against pollution and harm from physical objects, against poisons and dangerous and offensive substances? I have never understood how similar protection against filthy books could be unconstitutional.

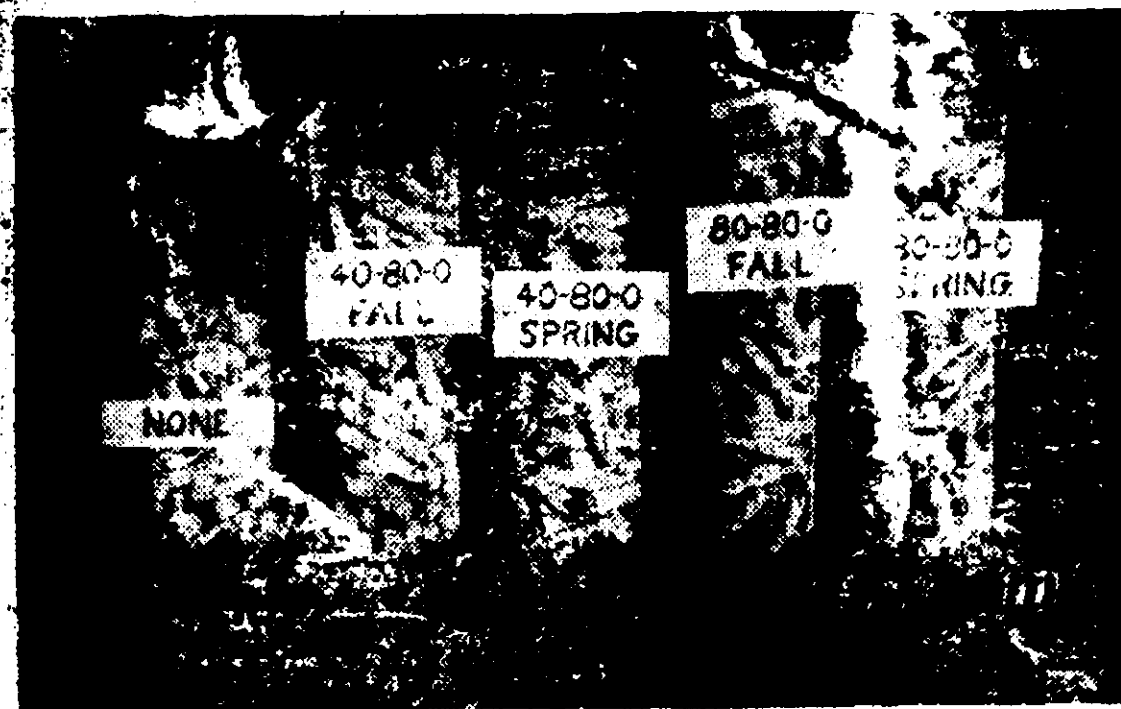

IN 1847 Justice Swaine of the U. S. Supreme Court said, "The foundation of a republic is the virtue of its citizens." Today obscenity is a serious public evil undermining the virtue of young and old alike. When obscenity requires effective control, and such control is consistent with our American heritage, I see no reason why democratic government should not use democratic processes to eliminate obscenity.

Farmers Make Money, Save Time By Adding Plant Food in Fall

Fall plow-down of nitrogen and phosphate fertilizer gave larger yield increase than did spring disk-in on O'Brien county, Iowa, farm. Yields (left to right) were 69, 96, 87, 99 and 99 bushels, respectively.

FARMERS can make money, save work and save time by adding fertilizer in the fall, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing recent statements by agronomists at Land Grant Colleges.

In addition to these advantages, the committee lists these other benefits from putting on in the fall all the phosphate and potash and most of the nitrogen you would ordinarily broadcast and plow down in the spring:

- 1—You can spread out your work load by fertilizing in the fall. This takes the heat off in the spring and helps speed planting operations when every minute counts.
- 2—The ground is usually firmer in the fall. Machinery pulls easier and does less damage to soil structure. Larger machines can be used that will save time and labor.

3—Broadcasting and plowing down puts the fertilizer in moist soil which increases its efficiency in a dry year.

4—Top-dressing meadows with phosphate and potash in the late summer or fall helps hold the legume in legume-grass mixtures.

5—Even if you have a slight loss of nitrogen over the winter, it can cost less than an extra trip over the field in the spring. And it is better to risk the loss of a little nitrogen than to risk not getting fertilizer on your fields at all.

6—In the fall, you find it easier to get the exact fertilizer ratio and grade you want.

Winter Wheat Profits Boosted With Fall-Added Fertilizer

College tests indicate fall fertilization can boost winter wheat yields as much as 14 bushels per acre.

FARMERS who fertilize their winter wheat crop this fall at planting time can make higher profits despite average allotments.

That was the statement of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing studies by college agronomists.

Fertilized wheat has a better chance of surviving the cold winter weather, the committee points out.

In Illinois tests, winter wheat yields were boosted 14 bushels per acre when nitrogen fertilizer was added at planting time in the fall. The same treatment top-dressed in the spring gave only an 11-bushel increase.

This meant an extra profit of $31 per acre from the fall-applied nitrogen, compared with $16 from the plant nutrients added in the spring, the committee reports.

In Missouri tests, winter wheat yielded 32 bushels per acre when a fall application of starter fertilizer plus nitrogen was added. Yields were 28 bushels from the starter fertilizer alone and 25 bushels per acre when nitrogen alone was added.

The ground is firmer and soil conditions are usually more favorable for applying fertilizer in the fall, the committee points out. You won't have the hazards of wet, sticky fields next spring to delay top-dressing, either.

Agronomists point out that where soil and moisture conditions indicate that some of the fall nitrogen may be lost, you can profitably use a starter fertilizer with just enough nitrogen to assure a good early growth and uptake of phosphate. This can be followed up in the spring with a full nitrogen top-dressing.

Good Soil Care Could Up Corn Yields 56 Bushels

Corn yields could be boosted 56 bushels per acre, alfalfa hay by about 1.3 tons, oats 27 bushels, and potatoes by 200 bushels, if farmers followed college recommendations for fertilizer applications plus good management practices.

Cheapest Soil Building Plan Boosts Yields, Cuts Costs

Deep clover intercrop pokes down deep to improve drainage, build deeper top soil and improve structure to increase crop producing ability.

THE CHEAPEST soil building program is the one that gives maximum yields at the lowest cost per bushel.

Developing such a program means setting your sights on top production capacity of your soil and then providing what it takes to reach that level, the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee says.

growing conditions, the committee points out.

"You have to know your soil before you can figure out ways to improve it," says the committee, in citing a recent statement by M. B. Russell, University of Illinois agronomist.

"Soil tests and full history of previous fertilizer treatments and cropping practices can give you valuable guidance. You need to know, too, whether your particular soil has any special problems relating to droughtiness, erosion or drainage."

Russell lists these factors as essential in any sound soil building program: 1—Sufficient plant nutrients to produce high crop yields; 2—Good till with that encourages the development of crop roots and provides good soil, water, air and temperature conditions; 3—Protection against soil loss and erosion damage.

All these practices must team up and be related to each other. The fertilizer you use, he says, must be related to the kind of land you have and the rotation you follow. Your rotation, in turn, must be related to the kind of livestock you have and the amount of labor and machinery you have.

National Conventions

The Democrat and Republican big national conventions are over and the commentators are noting the differences. One is that the Democrat delegates were mostly men and women from the city, labor unions and minority groups. The Republicans were mostly industrialists and members of farm groups. The Republican convention was controlled. The Democrat was not. The Democrats threw the nomination for vice president wide open providing the high light of the 2 conventions. The Republicans would allow no one to be nominated but Nixon and steam rolled all opposition. President Eisenhower wanted the vice president nomination left open and was prepared to submit a list of eight names according to Drew Pearson but was talked out of it. They told him it would split the party and they were not so sure Nixon would win in a wide open contest. He never did endorse Nixon. The president's list was said to include Nixon, Gov. McKeldin, Maryland, Senator Mar. J. G. Smith, Maine, Gov. Thornton, Gov. Herter and Gov. Meaningly. According to reporters there was considerable anti-Nixon sentiment among the delegates but most of them were bound by the unit rule. One way the Nixon forces got this was to increase the number of southern Republican delegates 117. These are from states who cast no Republican votes in November. This increase brought their number up to 1323 this year which is 31 percent of the total number of delegates. These southern states usually send 2 bunches of delegates. 4 years ago the credential committee seated the Taft delegates from the south which led to the Eisenhower "Thou Shalt Not Steal" signs. The only fly in the ointment this convention was the attempt of Terry Carpenter, a Nebraska oil millionaire to nominate a mysterious Joe Smith for vice president. As the clerk called the roll by state and reached Nebraska the lady chairman announced 12 votes for Nixon and 1 for Joe Smith. This threw the steam roller out of gear. The dozing reporters awoke with a start and surrounded Carpenter and disrupting things so that Chairman Martin ordered him ejected but he came back. Carpenter has an interesting history. He was elected to congress on the Democrat ticket. Failed to get reelected and then ran for several offices unsuccessfully. He then switched to the Republicans and was elected a delegate to the convention. The platform, like all other ones was meaningless. They are always drawn up to please everybody. The presidents usually ignore them and formulate their own policies. The Republicans have never reelected a vice president. The Democrats reelected 2, Tom Marshall in 1916 and John Garner in 1936. If President Eisenhower is reelected he will be the oldest president in the history of the nation when he leaves office.

Plant Food Still "Best Buy" for Corn Belt Farmers

FERTILIZER still continues to be one of the best buys on the farmer's shopping list, the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee reports.

Prices of plant food have increased only 17 per cent in the past 30 years, whereas the cost of all crop production items has gone up 100 per cent, says the committee, in summarizing University of Wisconsin statistics.

The figures show that many farmers have found it profitable to use heavier applications of fertilizer during the past 10 years.

In 13 Midwestern states, farmers are using more than three times as much fertilizer as they used back in 1942, the committee says. Plant food used by the U. S. as a whole has only doubled during the same period.

This increase in fertilizer use has been due to three main factors: 1—The low cost of plant food, compared to prices of agricultural products; 2—Research and educational programs; 3—Recognition of the soil's steadily increasing need for nutrients.

Spring Fertilizing Ups Forage Yields, Saves on Feed Bills

Longer grazing season means greater savings on feed bills.

FERTILIZING your pastures this spring can give your dairy and beef cattle a longer grazing season, increase forage yields, cut feeding costs and boost net returns per acre and per cow, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

Fertilized pastures get going earlier and stay productive longer, the committee points out. They give higher yields of better quality, low-cost forage that is high in protein content.

The longer the grazing season, the greater will be your savings on feed bills, says the committee. Agronomists advise waiting until the pasture stand is four to six inches high and the ground is firm before turning out cattle.

As spring advances and there is more forage than the cattle can eat, this surplus can be harvested and stored as silage or hay as a "feed bank" when needed.

Rotational grazing will help maintain stands longer, he says, and produce more total feed than continuous grazing. If the forage is harvested by haying, he advises cutting alfalfa not more than three times a year.

How much fertilizer should be added?

Kentucky agronomists advise putting on 300 pounds per acre of a phosphate-potash fertilizer on improved permanent pasture and then if necessary, adding 30 to 60 pounds of nitrogen. They recommend about the same amount of fertilizer on rotational pasture or haylands.

Iowa agronomists stress that good management is essential if legumes are to be maintained in a pasture stand. E. R. Duncan, Iowa state College extension agronomist points out that good management protects the investment you have made in good seed, liming, fertilizer and the work involved in getting a stand established.

Rotational grazing will help maintain stands longer, he says, and produce more total feed than continuous grazing. If the forage is harvested by haying, he advises cutting alfalfa not more than three times a year.

Well-Fed Corn Takes Drought in Stride

Fertilized corn survived last summer's extreme drought and outyielded unfertilized corn by at least 30 to 40 bushels per acre, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in summarizing results of 1955 Wisconsin tests.

In fertilizer tests conducted by Prof. C. J. Chapman, University of Wisconsin, versity of Wisconsin extension soils specialists, says the committee, corn that received extra nitrogen got off to a more vigorous start and developed stronger root systems. The crop was able to "take it" when a record heat wave and drought hit during August and early September. The corn for the most part held its dark green color and vigor right through the period, says Chapman.

August 18, 1907

114 N. Howell St., Howell, Mich.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James Meyer (Elga Hammer) at St. Joe hospital, Ann Arbor August 18, a daughter.

Mrs. Sadie Moran has rented her apartment to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schuman of Dexter. He works for the Detroit Edison Company.

Sister Mary Fides O.D. and Sister George Elizabeth O.D. who will teach in St. Mary's new school have arrived and are living in the Ernest Packer house, remodelled and across the church from the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lee and 2 daughters were in northern Michigan last week.

Albert Mroka who graduated at Mich. State, has a job with the North American Airways at Los Angeles, Calif.

Received a card from Tommy Wyle who is on vacation. Having a fine time. Glad you are not here.

Juga Inn was robbed Monday night. Wine and Cigarettes were taken.

Nellie Gardner and Fannie Monks with Mesdames Arla Caulk and Eunice Hoff called on the Howard Angels in Augusta Saturday.

Visitors of Mrs. Edith Carr last week were Pvt. Mike Carr of Chicago.

Joyce Haas of Saginaw, Leo Letts family of Walled Lake and Bob Carr and wife of Grand Rapids.

Some dastardly scoundrel lower than a snake tipped over Harry Frost's Chick Sales house the other night. Harry guarded it zealously even during last Halloween then to have some villain tip it over now out of season riles him considerably. He says he has not been so made since many years ago when he was chambermaid in Jimmie Wilcox's livery stable and someone stole his tin fork.

Sunday visitors of the Allen and Albert Dinkels were Mrs. Louis San dray and Mrs. Henry Klinkott of Brighton and W. E. Close and wife of Linden.
