No. 32

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Hot weather politics in Michigan is creating more stir than usual for summer. Republicans are uncertain what political direction they took with House Speaker George VanPurse. They thought it would be a good idea to send him on a speaking tour to tell of the accomplishments of the Republican legislature. The key word is money.

Gov. Williams contends the people want to pay for more service to handle the increased population load. The Republicans want less spending and lower taxes but still promise to take care of the increased population load. VanPurse said he did not want anything when he started out but is generally looked upon as a candidate for governor. Party stalwarts gave him a $10,000 expense account.

On the other hand Rep. George Wahr Sallade of Ann Arbor leader of Young Republicans Turks says he might run for governor. He is making a tour of the county fairs sampling sentiment. Unlike VanPurse he says he has no fund but is paying his own expenses.

If Williams is a candidate for governor next year it isn't believed that VanPurse will run but that he will wait until 1960. If Williams does not run VanPurse will. His trouble is that he is not liberal enough for the liberals or conservative enough for the conservatives. If Williams does not run Lt. Gov. Phil Hart is expected to.

Farmers whose crops were damaged by July storms can get relief thru their county committees. 70 percent of the bean crop was wiped out and 50 percent of the hay, corn, barley and corn damaged.

CONSERVATION NOTES

The Conservation Dept. recommends any deer season this year. It is estimated 18,540 deer will be killed. Last year 80,940 deer were killed in the regular season and 12,729 in the any deer season.

No major changes in the waterfowl season are anticipated.

The commission has recommended buying 60 acres to add to the Allegan state forest and 96 acres to add to the Flat River game area in Mont. calm county.

Attendance at the Michigan state parks will break all records this year. By July 28 57,000 had registered. The number last year at this time was 48,000.

Owners of earth moving equipment have been warned about filling in land along the Great Lakes. The state of Michigan owns all submerged lands.

$823,410 worth of state timber was sold up to June 30.

43 fires burned over 43 acres last week.

HICKS SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

All the schools in Putnam township are now in the Pinckney Community school consolidation as the Hicks district on M-36 East Monday night voted to consolidate by a big majority. At a previous election they voted it down but this time a much bigger vote was cast.

The vote was as follows:
To Consolidate Yes, No. 24.
To Increase Property Tax: Yes 41, No. 25.

To assume School Debt: Yes 36, No. 24.

This about wipes out the district schools. The fractional ones, Chubb's Corners and Younglove are going in the Howell consolidation.

Slavery, Civil Rights

It was not until after 200 years of slavery that efforts to abolish it began. England abolished it in 1833, with the exception of India. The movement reached his country in 1820. Its center was New England where a Boston editor, Wm. Garrison of paper called the Liberator headed the move. He was once dragged through the streets of Boston with a rope around his neck by gentlemen of wealth. Not because they were pro-slavery but because he was attacking the institution of private property. The churches were first against it but later backed down, fearing it would disrupt their national organizations. In 1821 the Colonization Society bought land in Africa, settled a few freed slaves there and called it Liberia. This was the solution of the idealists. "Send all the slaves back to Africa." There were a number of reasons why this never materialized. One was they could not have subsisted there. Another was the south had to have the negro labor and still a third was that the negroes having tasted civilization did not want to go back.

In 1840 an Anti-Slavery convention was held in London. The first abolitionists were incendiary such as John Brown who favored open rebellion to wipe out slavery. Gradually another attitude developed which gave birth to the underground which was no railroad at all. It was a number of stations or farm houses with short driving distances between where slaves who had crossed the Ohio River from the south were smuggled into Canada. Judge Dexters house at Dexter was one of these stations. A good many thousand negroes were taken to Canada by this method.

In the meantime cotton had become the main crop of the south. In 1850 $270,000,000 worth was exported so the south was determined to keep slavery, at all costs.

The battle was coming to a head as the new country beyond the Mississippi began to be opened up. The southern cotton states saw they would be outvoted as most of these new states were anti slavery. Henry Clay's compromise of 1820 divided them into free and slave states but this did not long endure. In 1850 Senator Douglas put through a bill to let the people of the new states decide and Kansas became a battle ground as armed proslavery men and abolitionists poured into the state. There is a story that the abolitionists tied a bear at a crossing of the Mississippi and turned back all settlers who called it a bar. The pro-slavery men not to be outdone tied a cow at their crossing and allowed none to pass who called it a caow.

The Douglas compromise did not last long. Two things killed it. Harriet Beecher Stowes "Uncle Tom's Cabin" depicting the evils of slavery of which 300,000 copies were sold the first year and it was featured as a stage and tent show for 75 years. Another contributing cause was the decision of Chief Justice Taney in the Dred Scott case whereby an owner could take his slaves into free states and retain title to them. The abolitionists began to realize nothing short of war would end slavery.

Two more incidents marked the end of slavery. John Browns raid in to Virginia with 50 men to free the slaves. He was captured and hung but he became a martyr. His speech on the gallows is a classic and still used by declamatory classes. The song John Browns Body was sung by the Union soldiers marching into battle. Old John was a fanatic straight out of the old testament. The final cause was the election of Abraham Lincoln an avowed abolitionist president. His platform was 100 percent anti slavery and the south revolted and the civil war on.

To Be Continued.

Municipal Judge Frances Barron of Howell has been recommended for appointment to the state study committee for justices of the peace. Justice William Burke of Battle Creek was the other one recommended.

The Norman VanBlaricum spent the week end at the Miller-Baughn cabin at Lovells and went to the Mackinac Bridge.

Mrs. Sada Moran spent last week in Flint with her sister, Mrs. Fannie Bradley who is just back from Europe.

At present Senator Knowland and Senator Kennedy are the two leading contenders for the Republican and Democrat presidential nomination in 1960. Of course that is a long ways off and much can happen before then but at the present time they are in the lead. Senator Knowland led the fight for civil rights and although he lost being outsmarted by Senator Johnson of Texas and his honey-chile and magnolia talk, he gained a big following. Senator Kennedy, grateful for the Dixiecrat support which almost won him the vice presidential nomination last year could not make up his mind and switched from one side to another. He pleased the south at the outset by voting to send the civil rights bill to the judiciary committee where it would have been smothered as the committee is southern dominated. Then he switched over and voted with the Yankees and voted to take it from the calendar and make it an order of business. Then he hopped back across the Mason and Dixon line and voted with the confederates on the jury trial amendment. There is some hazard in tying up with the Dixiecrats as they no longer have the power they did up to 1936 when the two thirds majority nomination rule was repealed. Then he comes from a small state which does not have a large electoral vote. John Quincy Adams was the last president elected from Massachusetts and that was 100 years ago. He and his father, John Adams, were the only two presidents chosen from Massachusetts.

Current Comment

A committee of 4 Michigan Congressmen have been investigating the unemployment situation in Michigan and find the main cause for it is that Michigan has been getting few defense government contracts. The congressmen are Griffin, Broomfield, McIntosh and Chamberlain from this district. Michigan is getting her share of army contracts but hardly any navy or air force. Their survey shows that of the 48 states Michigan and Rhode Island are the only states who had fewer defense jobs in 1956 than in 1950. Michigan had 1800 less. During the Korean War Michigan was getting 6.3 percent of the defense dollar. This has now dropped to 2 percent. Ohio is now 5.5 percent. At present only 52 Michigan firms hold navy contracts compared to 104 in Ohio. Of the $425 million in navy procurement contracts placed in May, 82 percent went to 10 states, Michigan got less than Midway Island and only slightly more than Guam and Hawaii Islands. To offset this, exhibits will be held in different labor surplus areas in Michigan for the thousands of articles the navy buys and manufacturers will be invited to bid on them.

The Ford Motor Co. had an article in the press last week stressing the value of safety belts as auto accident death prevention safeguards. It claimed that universal use of safety belts would cut the auto death accident rate one third. The Ford Co. has safety belts which they sell to new car buyers as extras but the buyers do not like them and the sales have fallen way off this year. Less than one third of the cars they sell are equipped with safety belts. The use of these belts is not compulsory now but if the accident rate keeps on climbing there is a chance they may be.

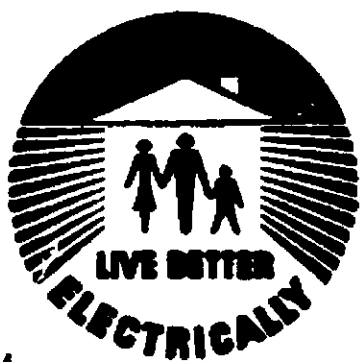

A British nobleman, Lord Altrincham whom we never heard of before or probably won't again got all the front pages last week by criticizing Queen Elizabeth of England. He said the Queen's speeches were a pain in the neck and their content those of a priggish school girl. Her entourage tweedy and should be replaced by a classless commonwealth court. Now you can criticize the president here all you like. The president here has been called most everything under the sun and callers get away with it. But in England criticizing the royal family is simply not done and indignation there was rife so much so that that a crowd formed outside his court big enough to block traffic and Phillip Burbridge, 66, a retired army officer slapped the face of the 33 year old peer. For this he was arrested but the judge only fined him $2.10. So Mr. Burbridge also got his picture on the front pages. Apparently the only one who had no comment on the matter was the queen.

The president got angry last week when a reported asked him if he appointed a Mr. Gluck, who operates a ladies apparel shop or a string of them ambassador to Ceylon because he gave $30,000 to the campaign fund last year. Well, why not. It has been a standard practice for years. Ambassadors as a rule are mostly figure heads and the real work is done by the men who head their offices who have been in this sort of thing for years. We remember the fun the press had when Herbert Hoover appointed George Harvey, a publisher, ambassador to Great Britain. They ran pictures of him wearing the traditional knee britches which did not become his tall ungainly figure. Back in the old days ambassadors as a rule were famous men such as Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and Charles Pinckney, but that no longer holds true. Now the President has just appointed James Eldred, head of the Proctor & Gamble Soap Co., as head of the defense dept. He knows the soap business from A to Z, having been with them 32 years and worked his way up from a salesman to the president of the firm. This apparently makes him ideal for the defense post.

Drew Pearson gives the inside story of how the civil rights jury trial amendment was passed. In the end it was labor and the unions who put it over. Senator Johnson got the support of the postal workers by promising to report their wage increase bill out of committee. Then he got John L. Lewis by agreeing to do the same thing with the miners retirement bill. Next he got support from the railway brotherhood who also have a pension bill bottled up in committee. True, he did not get all of them but he got enough to win.

"LET'S CALL HOME and tell them how far we've come today." When you're on a long trip it's fun to phone the folks at home. And nowadays it's so convenient with outdoor telephone booths along the way. Be sure to take along a Telephone Credit Card, too. Then when you make a Long Distance call you won't have to worry about having the right change in your pocket. Call our Business Office to arrange for one of these handy Credit Cards. Like convenient outdoor booths, it will make your trip more carefree.

DO YOU USUALLY ASK PEOPLE to "speak a little louder, please" during phone conversations? Perhaps you haven't heard of the new volume control telephone. It's like other phones, but it has a small knob that lets you control the volume of the voice you're listening to. Volume control phones are invaluable for those with a hearing loss, and they're just the thing for use in places where there are distracting noises. If you need some help to hear "loud and clear" on the phone, ask for a volume control set when you order an extension.

A TELEPHONE MAN said years ago, "Nobody goes into telephone work unless he really likes people." Surely anyone who's talked with telephone people realizes the truth of that statement. That applies off the job as well as on it. You can tell by the number of telephone people who work with such groups as the Boy Scouts, fund-raising campaigns, and many Service Clubs. This liking for people helps explain why it's people who make your telephone service so good.

1 The "720" Gasoline, LP-Gas, and Diesel Models broke the horsepower record to become the most powerful row-crop tractors ever tested.

3 The "520" LP-Gas Model set a new economy record, developing more horsepower hours per gallon of fuel on the drawbar than any other LP-Gas tractor ever tested.

4 The "620" Row-Crop Gasoline Model set a new economy record, developing more horsepower hours per gallon of fuel on the drawbar than any other gasoline tractor ever tested. Same engine available in "620" Standard.

5 The "620" Row-Crop LP-Gas Model developed more horsepower hours per gallon of fuel on the drawbar than any other LP-Gas tractor ever tested except the new "520." Same engine available in "620" Standard.

6 The "720" Row-Crop Diesel Model set a new all-time tractor fuel-economy record, the fourth John Deere Diesel to hold this record in unbroken success, since 1949. Same engine available in "720" Standard.
