No. 28

The Michigan Mirror

Officials who have been boosting their cities will get a special chance in programs to dovetail in with Michigan week in May. Chambers of Commerce will hold a special meeting in Lansing in April.

The Bear Creek Mining Co. wants to explore state lands in the upper peninsula for minerals they wanted to mine iron in the Porcupine state park last year but were turned down. Earl Bagwell, Republican candidate for governor endorsed their proposal. Stanley Yankus, the chicken farmer who sold his farm and equipment for $25,000 and is going to Australia because he was fined for exceeding wheat planting restrictions is fading from the front page. The legislature refused to pass a law commending him.

All farmers do not favor the restrictions but they contend that breaking the law is illegal.

The legislature may adjourn in mid-May but will probably leave many problems unsolved including the case crisis and a long range tax basis. They agree that something must be done to meet the needs of the growing population but disagree what it should be. Some Republicans say they are not convinced a crisis exists and will have to be shown. They say the state government is going through the same recession as a year ago and the drop in tax collections reflects the decline in business.

Senator Phil Hart has started something in Washington, instead of pulling all his relatives on the payroll he is making his office automatic. He even has a stamp licking machine.

School Board Meeting

Pinckney, Mich., April 2, 1959

RESIGNS AFTER 21 YEARS
After being employed by the Detroit Die Set here for the past 21 years, 15 as supt, Oscar Beck has resigned. He will be succeeded by William Musitalia of Gregory.

The Detroit Die Set plant was built here some 25 years ago by Clair Reason of Detroit. Gerald Reason was the first supt. He was succeeded by Eric Krahn. The latter died and Mr. Beck took his place. The factory has changed hands several times. Leonard Fisher of Detroit has owned it for some years now.

Oscar Beck informs us he does not expect to retire. He is building a super-service station at Main and Pearl Sts., Pinckney which he has leased to the Marathon Oil Company which he will manage. It will have service doors for 3 cars, be built of cement blocks with an all glass front and be open for business August 1. The Mrs. Nellie Fry house on the site will be removed by May 1. Until the new station is completed Mr. Beck will operate the present Marathon station across the street. Mr. Beck's wife is the former Lucille Kennedy. He has 2 sons, William and Robert and a daughter, Karen.

Donnie Meabon who is in the air force in California called on us today. He brought his grandmother, Mrs. Alma Meabon here for the summer.

MORT NEFF SHOW

MORT NEFF HERE APRIL 20

Mort Neff, most famous wild life commentator in Michigan who appears every Thursday night on TV on the Leonard Refinery's "Michigan Outdoors" program will be at the Pinckney high school gym on Monday night, April 20 at 8 p. m. This is sponsored by the Pinckney Parent Club. His program will consist of wild life pictures which he explains as he goes along. There also may be some wild life exhibits such as he shows on TV. There is probably no person in Michigan who has a greater knowledge of Michigan birds, animals, fish, and outdoor sports such as skiing, canoeing etc. than he who has devoted his lifetime to it. His TV program is one of the outstanding ones in Michigan. A few years ago Jerry Reason and his pet fox appeared on his program. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the parent association. The proceeds will be devoted to school projects.

Current Comment

Although they won but 3 offices and lost 11 last week the Republicans staged a victory celebration. This reminds us of the Jack Dempsey-Georges Carpentier championship fight in New York some years ago. Carpentier was knocked out. Still George Bernard Shaw said Carpentier won a moral victory. However Dempsey got the winners share of the purse. The celebration was because this in the first time since 1955 the Republicans have won a state office. They had a chance to regain control of the legislature by winning in the silk stocking Grossmonte district which has been Republican in the past but lost. The big campaign was waged against the 2 Detroit supreme court justices, George Edward and John Voelker. Edwards was classed as a socialist and puppet of Walter Reuther. Voelker as a nudist and a picture of him taken in a Turkish bath was used. The Detroit Free Press says the Republicans had a chance to do a lot better than they did as the spring election is usually a Republican field day, due to many moral issues. In Detroit 139,000 voters voted on the school issues but not on state or county candidates. As the Democrats are well organized in Wayne county these are reckoned as Republican or independent voters. Only about a two thirds vote was cast. Here 516 voted compared to 622 last fall.

Michigan's unemployed lists declined 37,000 in March but this is not burdened with any great enthusiasm as it is due to seasonal jobs such as construction, resort area work and the opening of Great Lakes shipping. The auto factories and other big industries called few workers back. They are not expected to as new and improved machinery enable them to get out more production with less men. There are still 1,363,000 unemployed.

At the election 7 bonding proposals were approved and 8 defeated. The major ones for schools, sewers, the airport. Most of the defeated ones were for swimming pools, recreational parks etc. It seems that if the people can be convinced of the need of a proposal they will vote for it. They consider it a luxury they can't live without.

Industry expects to have a $25 million cement industry in operation by next October. Their output will be 25 million bags of cement a year and they will employ 200 people. They claim to have 100 years supply of limestone and clay, the two principal ingredients of cement on their site on US-23 between Detroit and Toledo. The states big cement plant is at Alpena where the limestone deposits are apparently unlimited. Years ago a big cement plant operated at Four Mile Lake, between here and Chelsea. Quite a number of local people worked there, the limestone was taken from and around the lake. Finally it ran out and had to be shipped in, making operations costly. In 1920 Alex Grossbeck, then governor started a huge paving program. He had trouble getting cement so bought the 4 mile Lake plant and operated it with convict labor. By this he was able to force the price of cement down. This earned him the enmity of the cement companies. They backed Fred Green for governor and beat Grossbeck. Green closed down the cement plant. Many still doubt the wisdom of this move. According to the Dispatch files of years ago there was a cement promotional project at Lakeland 50 years ago where limestone deposits were found. Options were taken on a great many acres of and plans were drawn for a cement plant but like many another project of that period it never materialized.

The suit against the stockholders of the closed Finckney Bank and the American Sureties Co. has been settled. The county sued and got a judgment of $6252.25 against the stockholders and $1000 against the surety company. At the April meeting of the board of supervisors they settled with the stockholders for $900 and the surety company for $450.

When Main St. was paved here 5 years ago the cost was assessed against the property owner. It was cut up into five payments. Some paid it all 3 years ago a law was passed to take the cost of paving roads under the covert act out of the weight and gas tax. So the people here did not have to pay the last two years tax. Now those who paid in full filed a claim with the board of supervisors for a refund, totalling over $1000.

Col. Met Chalker has returned from Lockhart, Florida. He got 30 boxes of oranges from his orange grove.

Dorothy Guidot who has been at the Finckney Sanitarium 3 months with a broken hip has returned home.

Boone Amburgey has rented the Emil Byer house.

The base ball season opened here Saturday when Ed Meyers team beat Jake Haines team 30 to 35. Batteries for winners Bill Dillon, Bill Darrow & Ed Meyer; losers, Jake Haines and Merlin Lavey, Roy Clinton and Alex Niga hit home runs.

John Dunbar died April 13 at the age of 90. He married Jane Birney at Aberdeen, Scotland in early life and came to America in 1873. He farmed until a few years ago. There were 2 daughters, Belle & Maggie and a son, William. Maggie died in infancy.
