Color Portraits of Area Youngsters

Monday of next week is the big day when all local children are coming to the Town Hall to have their pictures taken in natural color for publication in the CHILDREN OF THE WEEK series, a forthcoming feature of this paper.

Natural color portraits are still comparatively rare, so we feel lucky indeed that we are able to obtain the services of these modern photographers. All parents will have the opportunity to see their children in LIVING COLOR, just like the movies and the ads in the magazines.

KIDDY KRAFT STUDIOS are well known child and school photographers and have pioneered in the mass production of low cost color photography. No parents are under any obligation to buy pictures or to pay for having the pictures taken and published in this paper. However, all will be given the opportunity to buy if they so desire. The prices for color portraits are very low; in fact, many studios charge as much or more for the old-type grey and white pictures.

A picture of each child photographed will be printed in this paper. Copies will be available at the office after publication in the event additional papers are wanted for friends and relatives.

There are absolutely no strings to this offer. Everyone is invited to participate. Remember the date and tell your friends: Monday, February 15, 1 till 8 p.m. at the Town Hall.

In the last half Pinckney faded rapidly and scored but 20 points while Manchester was racking up 36. Russell, Ritter and Hollings-

Joel Burg drew for the door prizes. Gordon Miller won the boys prize. Herman Widmeyer and George Engquist the two mens prizes.

The Masons and guests were introduced by the lodge secretary, Paul W. Curlett.

Rev. Donald Bedley, Episcopalian rector of Detroit gave the address. He holds office in the consistory and is also master of the first veil in the Grand Royal Arch Chapter. He is one of the best Masonic speakers ever heard in Pinckney and his address held the complete attention of the group. His topic was "Masonic Ideals and Living up to Them." It does one good to hear a speaker like him.

Rev. Winger led in singing "God Bless America."

The assembly was adjourned until next year.

Cakes-Then And Now:1860-1960

In a delightful old cookbook published in London 100 years ago, the directions seem very amusing to the modern housewife. Her predecessors were admonished to take care lest the cakes be heavy and fall. She was warned that "It is indispensable that all ingredients be heated before mixing... flour thoroughly dried and warmed, currants, sugar and anything else the same way, butter and eggs beaten in basins which are fitted into pans of warm water..."

"Sugar should be rolled with a rolling pin...Butter washed and weighed...Firkin butter cut in small pieces and washed. For a quick cake, beat whites of ten eggs for one hour..."

Now aren't you glad you live in the year 1960, in the days of cake mixes and quick frostings? For a truly luscious topping on a spice cake, try:

DANISH BLUE CHEESE FROSTING

1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped and mixed with
1/4 cup Danish Blue Cheese
1/2 cup chopped California walnuts

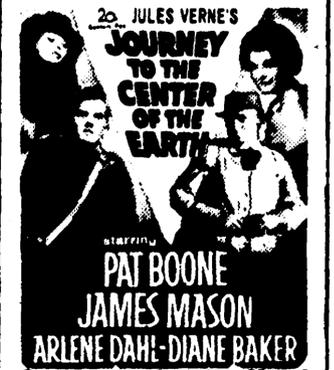

Cool cake slightly, spread with topping, cut in squares and serve at once. Dee-liscious.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Labor domination of his administration is one of the longstanding accusations leveled against Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Events during the last half of his sixth term have focused attention on the question of labor influence on Williams.

The Governor and organized labor have been on opposite sides of major issues.

Some say it is a deliberate thing, contrived to refute his administration is controlled by labor.

Others insist there have been honest differences of opinion.

An early inkling came when Attorney General Paul L. Adams announced his plans for fighting a suit by Michigan AFL-CIO President August Scholle to force reapportionment of the Senate.

Democrat Adams split his staff into two teams to argue both sides of the use-sales tax suit last year. Democratic leaders, who favor reapportionment, had expected Adams to do the same on the Scholle suit. He didn't, but took a stand against Scholle.

Many capitol insiders say Adams' stand on reapportionment was one reason he was by passed when there was a vacancy on the Supreme Court.

Most obvious Williams-labor split this year was over a "compromise" plan for calling a constitutional convention.

Williams endorsed a plan that would have convention delegates from both Senate and House districts.

Scholle said he would go all out to fight this compromise, contending selection by House districts would be the only way population centers could get fair representation at a convention.

Williams said he had to differ "with my good friend Gus" in order to give Michigan a chance at a new constitution. Scholle said the principle involved left no room for compromise.

Future differences are expected over the matter of what tax questions will go on the November ballot.

Williams has indicated a willingness to get the sales tax increase proposition before voters, a proposal he kept off the April 1959 ballot.

Labor leaders have expressed no desire of having the sales tax question on the ballot. If the sales tax does get on the ballot, they also would like a corporation profits tax on the ballot as an alternative.

Ballot Wording for the November tax referendum shapes up as a major issue of the 1960 Legislature.

Should it be a clear choice between an income tax or sales tax increase?

Between the sales tax increase and a corporate profits levy?

Or all three?

Or a single proposition that would hike the sales tax and prohibit adoption of a personal or corporate income tax?

Intra-party splits complicate the issue.

Senate Republicans have been heading in one direction, House Democrats in another, and House Republicans in still another. Senate Democrats have been on the sidelines through most of the discussion.

Williams will be the single most important factor in the question.

He had enough lawmakers behind him to keep the tax question off the ballot last April. He'll play a major role this time around.

Merger moves will be tried again this year as the Legislature and Governor continue their efforts at streamlining state government.

A half dozen reorganization proposals were adopted last year. A like number may be tried again this year.

The expected brevity of the 1960 session may prevent action on all proposals to be made by a citizens advisory group on reorganization.

Among proposals to be considered is one that would create a department of financial institutions consolidating the corporation and securities commission and the banking and insurance departments.

A state commerce department would take over the duties of the economic development department, the tourist council and commissions promoting farm products.

The labor department, workmen's compensation department and other labor-related functions would be consolidated by another reorganization proposal under discussion.

What happened to Michigan's aroused citizenry?

This is a question planners of the Citizens for Michigan movement were asking at the start of the year's second month.

American Motor's President

George Romney, CFM founder, came close to running for office because he feared citizen apathy might undermine Citizens for Michigan. He still has hopes of recruiting the 100,000-plus citizens he says he needs to make his movement effective, although only about 2,000 had signed up by the end of January.

Citizen support will be sought in the coming months by the Michigan Chamber of Commerce and both political parties.

One group of men—the planners of Michigan Week—have had no trouble recruiting citizen participation.

At last count there were about 6,000 people serving on committees for the May 15-21 observance.

Industry never has as a whole taken kindly to social security. We remember back in 1936 when Franklin Roosevelt advocated it and by his efforts it was adopted. All day long election day the radio blared: "If you want to be numbered and fingerprinted like criminals vote for Roosevelt and social security." The people did not swallow this as Roosevelt carried all states but two. The Industrial Review reprints with glee a resolution adopted at Chicago by the American Farm Bureau opposing a bill which would expand social security benefits to include hospital and medical care. They also resolved that they recommend that the social security program be stabilized, "We oppose all legislation which would increase social security taxes or benefits." We think this is like sweeping the ocean back with a broom as there are few who do not think social security benefits will be increased in the years to come. We think industry asked for social security by their wholesale discharge and refusal to employ workers who were past the age of 65. We worked in Detroit during the depression time after World War I., and thousands past the age of 65 lost their jobs. The reason given was that the insurance on them was too great a burden on industry.

The consumers of the nation want ever increasing retail service. The Chain Store Age reports 10,570 new supermarkets were opened in the nation in 1959. They covered all branches of merchandise, food, apparel, drugs, variety and general merchandise. The investment was $1,631,000,000. During this year they expect to spend $1,860,000,000 for modernization and expansion. The chains were among the first industries to see that ample parking space was necessary to maintain steady trade.

The scientists years ago discovered that coal could be used for many other purposes besides furnishing heat. Many drugs were made from coal, dyes, oils, colors, heating and illumination gas, electricity, etc. They continued their efforts to petroleum and during the late war made synthetic rubber from gasoline. They now make fertilizers and insecticides from oil and visualize the day when oil burners can be used to melt snow, generate electricity without burning it and keep waterways open in the winter. They also see synthetic food made from oil and asphalt to hold moisture in farm fields. The oil companies now spend $300,000,000 a year on research.

Detroit is in the throes of another gambling investigation in which big heads may fall despite efforts to throttle it. Judge Ferguson's investigation some years ago hit high officials in the police department, mayor's office and county building. This time the Greek gambling houses on Monroe Street seems to be the target. A squealer was beaten up in one of them and lost his eye. Another wrote a letter to the police commissioner and has disappeared. It is feared he was taken on a one way ride. It is highly improbable that any large scale gambling operation could flourish for long without knowledge of it by the police. In the letter to the police which was received last August but apparently ignored it was alleged police captains were paid $100 a week for ignoring gambling, sergeants, $50 and patrolmen $25. The police deny this. Gambling has always existed since the formation of the world. The Roman soldiers threw dice at the crucifixion for Christ's clothes. Bingo, keno and raffles were tolerated for many years, horse race betting still is, and the sale of Irish Sweepstakes tickets. The wedding of Grace Kelly, a movie star, to the Prince of Monaco, the largest gambling house owner in the world filled the front pages for weeks and her life story is now running in the Saturday Evening Post. This is a sort of glorification of the gambling industry.

General Charles DeGaulle seems to have the Algerian situation in hand for the present by means of better military equipment and trained troops. But like a festering sore it will erupt again. It is the old story of nationalism which is sweeping the world and succeeded in India, China, Ghana and other places. France had a protectorate over Algeria. The slogan there is "Algeria for Algerians" and they want to throw the French out. They did not succeed this time but there will be more attempts and they may succeed when they are better organized.

Way back in the nineties George Cleary started a small business college in Ypsilanti. Its expansion was slow over the years and it probably never had over 200 pupils in his day. Mr. Cleary is long since dead and his son, Roger, is now president of the college. He was secretary of state and a contender for the nomination for governor later. He conceived the idea of building a modern college to cost $420,000 and bought acreage on Washtenaw Avenue, west of Ypsilanti. There was no money to start with but through the aid of the Cleary College Alumni about $383,000 has been raised. He received a gift of $100,000 from Cass Hough of the Daisy Air Rifle, $15,000 from the Hoover Ball Bearing, an undisclosed sum from the Detroit Edison Company; $125,000 from Ypsilanti businessmen; $9,000 from Cleary alumni and $50,000 from Detroit industrialists. The new college will serve 1,000 students. It will be three stories high, include office building and the Hough $47,000 library, two dormitories, gymnasium, dining hall and auditorium.

MICHIGAN LUMBERING INDUSTRY

Lumbering was Michigan's biggest industries in the old days right after the civil war. Many of the big Michigan fortunes were made in lumbering, such as the Algers, Newberrys, McMillan and others. The method was to cut the logs in the winter and float them down the rivers in the spring when the ice melted. The men called lumberjacks lived in the woods all winter and got to town seldom. Saginaw was a great sawmill town. The city is said to have been built on sawdust. I am told that in the old days of board sidewalks the sidewalks in Saginaw were full of holes from the spikes on the shoes of the lumberjacks.

Many men from here used to go from this area to work in the north woods each winter. Oxen were used to haul the logs to the river. At the time of the centennial here in 1935 we had 2 ox teams in the parade. In commenting on them I wonder if there were any ox drivers here.

More Pictures From The Editor's Scrapbook on the History of Pinckney

Gene Campbell and S. H. Carr, now deceased informed me that each of them had driven oxen in the north woods. No harness were used on oxen. Their heads were put through a wooden yoke and the driver guided and controlled them by a long goad or whip from 6 to 8 ft. long. Lumbering then was uncontrolled. The slash or tree limbs were left on the ground. When they dried they often caught fire and whole townships and villages were burned. I remember when the smoke from these fires drifted way down here. There were numerous drives to collect clothing and funds for the fire sufferers.

There was also lumbering done in the woods here each winter. A sawmill would be set up, a shanty built and the men would live in the woods all winter. Wm. Kennedy Sr. lumbered in this section. The two pictures above are loaned by his granddaughter, Mrs. Oscar Beck. They are probably taken in the George Fuller woods near North Lake. One a woods scene the other is taken in the shanty where the lumber crew lived. The men are Harold Swarthout, William Kennedy Jr. next unknown, Charles Kennedy, next 2 unknown, John Bell, William Kennedy Sr., last one unknown. Clyde Darrow cooked for them there one winter.

SOFT DRINK USAGE

If you're average, you drank 189 bottles of soft drinks last year.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for the flowers and their expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement.

What Is Income

Income to the farmer can result from sales, trades or exchange of many different kinds of products or property.

The income tax law provides that all income must be reported, unless specifically excluded by the law.

Do you know the latest about taxable income? Whether it should or should not be included on your tax return?

Your best bet is the Farmers Tax Guide which can be yours at no expense to you.

Your county agricultural agent or the Internal Revenue Service office has one for you.

The highest caloric value of any standard foodstuff is that of margarine at 720 calories per 100 grams four more than butter.

Michigan State Highway Department studies indicate that a minimum of one life per year will be saved for each 10 miles of expressway opened to traffic.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

KINDERGARTEN NEWS

Mrs. Parks—

We are learning to tell time. We have been practicing our rhythm band. We have some good conductors and some very good players.

We are painting a new mural and we all made toy sleds of construction paper.

Our teacher read us the story of Abraham Lincoln from the Childrens Activities magazine.

Cynthia Black celebrated her 6th birthday February 6.

SECOND GRADE

Mrs. Johnson—

We have a "Post Office" for our valentines. Each child has his own box. We sort the mail.

We have been buying groceries at "Our Store". We find it pretty hard to make change.

We enjoyed the sunshine this week. It gave us a chance to play outside.

We are learning cursive writing.

SECOND GRADE

Mrs. Anderson—

We are each having a valentine box. We are decorating them.

We studied three more birds. We have a new Feb. Calendar.

We are studying tens and ones. We are now writing sentences.

We made valentines for our teacher.

We are going to watch for birds coming back from the south.

FOURTH GRADE

Mrs. Campbell—

We are listing the different kinds of land, water and air transportation. Next week we will work on reports about ways of travel.

Scott Carver brought a balsam boat model made by a native of the Amazon River Basin.

We planned our Valentine Party and have chosen our committees for games, refreshments, and clean-up. We are decorating our room and a big box for our valentines.

FOURTH and FIFTH

Mrs. Heaton—

Three fifth graders finished their arithmetic workbooks this week. They are: Bill Rentz, Susan Smith and Ronald Doyle.

Five fourth graders finished their arithmetic workbooks this week. They are: James Pietila, Charles Chambers, Pam North, Allen Porter and Dean Gardner.

Ray Lilonek brought some wheat seed to school. We are going to plant it and watch it grow.

Bill Rentz's cotton plant is growing.

Some of the children are getting very interested in unit work.

Some topics of interest are Abe Lincoln, George Washington, Robert E. Lee, Thomas Edison,

Alaska, Eskimos, Jets, Horses and Flags. In work of this type they learn to do research work, to find what they need, to read independently, to organize and to write. After the units are finished they will share them.

Wednesday we had a class meeting about our Valentine's party. We decided on having pop and ice cream for refreshments. We also decided to have everybody make their own box and we will have someone judge for the best one.

Today our decoration committee started working. They are: Peggy Schmidt, Shirley Hilman, Stan Kourt, Larry Bowls, Paul Gray and Douglas Alife.

Mrs. Tasch's Room

We have been having spelling bees using proper nouns. We've been going through the process of elimination. So far Rochelle Randall, Susan Craig, and Linda Wylie have been eliminated. You see the winner of one spelling bee is allowed to give the next spelling bee.

The Reverend Krieffall will be visiting our room to give us a talk about Germany.

FIFTH GRADE—

Mrs. Miller

Our spelling champions who could not be spelled down are: Kenny Fisher, Melba Daniels, Linda Clough, Nancy Bond, Tory Jones, Carol Gyde, Nicky Marsh, Rudy Josephson, Joe Plummer, Patsy Pendergrass, Frank Zezulka, John Tasch and Karen Kaiser. Congratulations.

People on the honor roll are A's and A—: Frank Zezulka, Andy Hughes, Patsy Pendergrass, Linda Wegener, and Nancy Bond. B+ and B—: Jim Baughn, Toby Shettleroe, Sharon Bowles, Karen Kaiser, Shirley Hollister, Jim Kourt, Carol Gyde, Melba Daniels, Nancy North, John Tasch, Nicky Marsh, Tom Mitchell, Doug Winger and Kenny Fischer. Eight of us have to work extra hard to pass this grade.

We are very happy with the reinforcement of rules. It makes a better school atmosphere to follow them. We guess we all forgot a little but we're trying to remember and obey them.

Mrs. Miller is taking a brush-up course in first aid and is going to teach some of it to us.

Doug Winger has been very ill

KILLS FEDERAL SCHOOL AID BILL

Vice President Nixon killed the $1.1-billion federal school aid bill last week. The vote in the senate was a tie with southern senators and conservative Republicans voting against it. Nixon refused to vote to break the tie. Then a motion to reconsider was made. The vote was also 44 to 44. Then Nixon voted no killing the school aid bill. Another bill will be introduced.

CIVIL RIGHTS BILL

It is reported that some of the Republicans on the committee who have been freezing the civil rights bill and refusing to report it out for vote are weakening under pressure and may sign the petition which will get it on the floor for a vote. They are slated to make Lincoln day speeches in their home district and it would be sort of absurd for them to make speeches praising Lincoln for freeing the slaves while they themselves refused to give the negroes opportunity to vote. Cong. Chamberlain of this district is one Republican who refuses to do so. He says he never signs such petitions as he thinks committees should be given ample time to consider all bills. He denies he is in any coalition with southern congressmen to kill the civil rights bill as charged.
