PIONEER IN THE LIGHT FIELD

We have received a news clipping concerning Glenn Gardner of Stanton, a native of Pinckney concerning the pioneer work he has done in the field of electric lighting. He was born in the Pinckney area 75 years ago near the little town of Hell. He often watched the dam at Hell which operated a grist mill and vowed to establish an electrical water-power system to light Pinckney according to the article. He attended an electrical school in Chicago and Bliss Electrical School in Washington, D. C. He went to Kentucky with the idea of establishing electrical power there but found no streams suitable. He put in his first lighting system in Pinckney in 1909 but used a gasoline engine instead of water power. He sold this to Floyd Jackson after 2 years and he to Richard Clinton who put in a dam at Hell to operate the light plant but this did not prove practical, owing to low water in the summer.

Mr. Gardner went to Stockbridge from Pinckney and had a light plant there for 10 years and then put one in at Laingsburg where he was for two years. Then he moved on to other places and in all established 28 light plants. He came to Stanton in 1924 and established a plant which has since been his home. He operated the power plant at Ionia prison for 16 years retiring in 1957.

He served in the signal corp. in World War I and in Hawaii in World War II.

He married Florence Sprout of Pinckney. They have 2 sons, Henry employed by the Consumers Power Co. at Lansing and George of Flint. There are 4 daughters.

Mr. Gardner now lives on a 50 acre farm at Stanton and has about 100 sheep.

Pirates End Season With 109-41 Loss To University High

Pinckney ended their season Friday night with the worst defeat in their history when University High School beat them at Ann Arbor 109 to 41 to set a league scoring record. University stole their passes throughout the game. Jim Beamer had 25 points for University and Jim Praken 20. Tom Ritter had 13 for Pinckney. Three Pirates, Russell, Pawlaczyk and Petty went out on fouls, and only one University player. Pinckney made 14 out of 61 shots. The Pinckney Junior Varsity also lost 59 to 32.

High School Girls Maintain Perfect Basketball Record

The Pinckney high school girls showed the boys up again by winning their third straight game from University high school girls of Ann Arbor there Friday afternoon 48 to 16. On the same day the Pinckney boys absorbed a one sided beating from the University boys. As the Pinckney girls have only played three games this gives them a .1000 average. Their other victims are South Lyon and Stockbridge. They did not start until February as their shower rooms were not ready. In the University game Carol Miller racked up 19 points and Mary Kelly 14. Their next game is at Pinckney, March 4 with the Manchester girls. This will be a harder game as Manchester is the only team that beat them last year. The other team members are Celia Hughes, Kathy Meyer, Louise Basydlo, Marda Mayne, Noel and Janice Rose.

★ CURRENT COMMENT ★

By PAUL W. CURLETT

One big problem is the farm subsidy problem, whereby farmers are paid so much an acre for letting land lie idle and not growing crops. This is supposed to keep crop production on a level with consumption, but it has not worked out that way as thousands of storage elevators have had to be built to hold the surplus crops for which there is no market. It is charged that one fourth of the land on which subsidies are paid was not in production before it went into the soil conservation program. Most of the writers on the subject use the theme that the farmer is the only one who ever got a subsidy which is bunk. This country was built on subsidies. The railroads got huge subsidies, so did the steam ship lines, the papers and magazines get one in form of below-cost mail charges and the tariff system was never anything but a huge subsidy. General Motors gets a subsidy in the $200 tariff charged against foreign cars. Labor gets a subsidy in the form of unemployment pay. The only difference in this is that this is raised on a tax on employee and employer while farm subsidies come from the general fund. With thousands of people dying of starvation in Europe and Asia it would seem the surplus crops could be shipped to them. However the merchants would fight any such move to the bitter end as it would disrupt their markets. So there will be starvation in some countries while food goes to waste in others. Such is the human attitude. It is necessary that some starve while others prosper.

The war is on against nudists again. This has cropped up yearly but the anti-nudists have not made much progress. About all they can do is arrest them for undue exposure. In order to get evidence against them they have to cut holes in the walls or curtains around nudist camps, fly over them with airplanes and take pictures. Most of this evidence does not hold up in court. Now Rep. Cooper of White Cloud has introduced a bill requiring all nudist camps to get a license in the counties in which they operate which must be approved by the board of supervisors. Whether such a law would be legal or restrict such camps remains to be seen.

President Eisenhower and the administration is being blamed for the last minute reprieve which saved Carl Chessman from execution in California last week. Governor Edmund Brown of California got a communication from the secretary of states office at Washington, D. C., asking him to defer the execution until after President Eisenhower's South American tour as said execution would have a bad effect there. We fail to understand the bloodthirsty attitude of California legislators. Eight times they have defeated a bill to outlaw capital punishment. Few states have capital punishment any more. Michigan repealed it over 100 years ago. Rep. Reagan, a conservative Republican legislator in California says he is considering impeaching Governor Brown for staying the execution. We doubt he can get anywhere. The governor has that power. The impending execution caused a flood of letters from all over the nation and foreign countries nearly all opposing the execution.

School problems continue to appear. In Conestoga Valley, Penn. where a $2,100,000 school was recently built the school board has started action against 13 Amish families for refusing to send their children to school beyond the 8th grade. They claim it is against their religion. The Jehovahs Witnesses refuse to take blood transfusions and one girl's life was saved only by a court order requiring a blood transfusion after her family had refused to submit to it. We also read that one fourth of the pupils in New York City elementary schools do not talk English. In Indiana teenage marriages, pregnancies and venereal diseases have increased to such an extent that Gov. Handley has ordered a survey. One 12 year old boy was ordered to support his illegitimate child. Two 11 year-old girls and one 12 year old had illegitimate children.

taxes. If they had been assessed like other property and industries they should have paid $3,316,035. So he had a bill introduced in the legislature to raise their taxes. It passed the house but the die hard senate killed it. The governor was suspicious and hired Pinkerton detectives. They found most of the senators were riding around on free railroad passes. He submitted his tax bill again and to the astonishment of all it passed. In the meantime Pingree was reelected. The supreme court declared the new tax bill unconstitutional. They said the railroad charters forbid a tax increase. So in 1900 Pingree submitted an amendment to the people to revoke the old railroad charters which carried in October 1900 by 383,672, and the railroads were reassessed with fairness to the people.

Mystic Shrine Gets Publicity They Don't Want . . .

All is not well with the masters of the 17,000 Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of Michigan: Clayton Anderson, Imperial Potentate of Lincoln, Neb. last October removed J. Murray Brown of Detroit, chief rabban and in January Herbert Payne, Detroit local potentate, for violation of the Shrine code. Something to do with signing contracts for the Shrine Circus. The Michigan Shrine blamed Eddie Stinson, 79, long time secretary and he was defeated by Chester Cox of Dearborn for reelection. Now Cox was removed last week by Andrews, and Walter Fuller, past potentate and fraternal editor of the Detroit News was threatened with suspension for giving the stories of removal to the papers. The letter to Fuller was written February 3 but not mailed until February 13, after the Shrine Circus. The circus is the biggest money making event in Michigan and the funds go for worthy causes, mostly shrine hospitals.

Masonic organizations do not like interference in their internal affairs. I remember a grand master of blue lodges some years ago removed a number of lodge officers without making much of an investigation. He also issued a lot of edicts. At the next grand lodge session all his edicts were reversed and the lodges reelected the officers he suspended.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Senator Patrick McNamara is chairman of the committee on the Aged. His committee has made 7 recommendations.

1. To provide health service for the benefit of all those covered by social security.
2. Provide that employers involved in government contracts do no discriminate on account of age.
3. To raise benefits from a $33 minimum to $50 and increase other benefits all along the line.
4. To recommend a program of purchasing bonds.
5. The housing for the aged is a disgrace. There is not an adequate program for housing for the aged. We recommend 10,000 units of housing for the next five years.
6. 40 per cent of the beds in nursing homes are not acceptable under the hospital standard. We urge development of national standards and a federal program to enable nursing homes to comply with it.

AN OLD PINCKNEY BAND

Now that the high school band has ordered uniforms we are giving you a story on an old Pinckney band taken probably 60 years ago. It was in the collection of the late Mrs. Mary Teeple. The bands of that day were usually uniformed. We have seen some of the old uniforms but they were not wearing them that day. The picture was taken across the pond in the Haze grove where many picnics were held. Casper Sykes was the band leader. The players left to right are: Frank Bowers, Claude Reason, Carl Sykes, Charles (Chine) Bias, Casper Sykes, Verne Reason, Ted Bowers, Charles Teeple, Clyde (Pete) McIntyre. The boy in the front is not known. For some reason there does not seem to be any drummers in the band. Bias was a negro who worked for Dr. H. F. Sigler. All in the picture are now dead perhaps with the exception of the boy. If anyone recognizes the boy we wish they would inform us. Pinckney like all other town had bands in the old days. There were no movies, radio or TV. The phonograph had just been invented. The first phonograph I ever heard was in 1898 and you had to use ear phones to hear it.

MICHIGAN MIRROR . . .

EVERYBODY'S TIRED of the fight about Michigan's tax climate, but the same old storm threatens to keep blowing. And though many Michigan people are concerned that the state's reputation suffers more than the situation warrants, there seems little that can be done to keep the record accurate, once the battle begins.

LATEST OUTBREAK started when William C. Newberg, executive vice-president of Chrysler Corp., stated that his company no longer could say what plans it would keep in Detroit or even in Michigan. He added, "Chrysler's future here is going to be determined in part the kind of business climate that metropolitan Detroit and the state of Michigan provide."

There was immediate reaction from city officials, both Detroit and Hamtramck, and from state officials as well. Nearly everyone agrees that the state's tax structure needs an overhaul, and everyone was anxious that Chrysler not leave its present location.

Fingers were pointed at the city tax programs, but city officials were quick to argue that in reality they are very fair to industry. Legislators showed marked interest in Chrysler's comments and most agreed that something ought to be done to keep the company, as well as industry as a whole, satisfied.

If anything productive comes of the renewed furor, it will be a welcome event in the lives of industry, legislators and John Q. Public.

MICHIGAN NATURAL RESOURCES help overcome some of the bad publicity about economic climate. For example, a nearly unlimited supply of limestone, readily available land and water transportation, a stable labor force and community acceptance were listed among factors responsible for a $25,000,000 industry just located here.

The newcomer is the Dundee Cement Co., whose modern cement plant is preparing for start-up operations on a site several miles north of Dundee, a small southeastern Michigan town, population 1975, on route 23 about 15 miles from Monroe. The firm checked several areas carefully before making a decision about location. During this period, the Michigan Economic Development Department prepared four separate reports to encourage them.

The new Michigan industry will market its cement throughout the Great Lakes area.

Roblee B. Martin, Dundee's vice president and general manager, is confident the Big D insignia will become a familiar trademark throughout Michigan and neighboring states.

"Our survey shows a large potential market in the Great Lakes area," Martin reports. "An expanding population, increased construction and stepped-up road building programs will require more and more cement — and Dundee will be prepared to supply it."

Dundee Cement has made it a policy to employ local people wherever possible. Except for a few top officials, almost every member of Dundee's staff comes from the nearby area.

Most Dundee employees had never been in a cement plant before they were hired. The company selected promising men, sent them to Canada for extensive training and brought them back to Dundee to run the new plant.

Dundee's two kilns, in which limestone and other materials are combined to produce cement, are the largest on the Western Hemisphere.

Smoke and dust will be practically eliminated by electrostatic precipitators and dust-collector equipment. The installation is so efficient that only a small trail of white vapor is visible from the top of the 350-foot stack which is a new landmark on the contrary-side.

In addition to the producing facility at Dundee, a loading station has been established at Monroe, to handle shipment of cement by barge and lake carrier. A similar distribution station has been built at 95th Street and the Calumet River in Chicago.

A NEW TRAFFIC SAFETY DEVICE called crash cushion was patented by a Flint company which plans to have it on the market in six months. Police and safety officials have seen it demonstrated.

It consists of a tightly packed bag in the car dashboard triggered so that it expands automatically in one fifth of a second upon impact. Inflation is said to be so rapid that a passenger is cushioned against the gas bag instead of crashing into dashboard or windshield.

THE WORD HURON

The word Huron crops up often in Michigan. A Great Lake, a county, a river and a village bears that name. The name is derived from a tribe of Indians who inhabited this region. It was given them by early French pioneers and means head of a wild boar. This tribe shaved their head leaving only a ridge on top which resembled a boars head. Jacques Cartier found them along the St. Lawrence in 1534. They were defeated here by the Iroquois and driven to Georgia Bay where Champlain found them in 1603. They fought with the French against the English and in the Revolutionary war with the English against the Americans. After the war they were moved across the Mississippi and their lands now are in Kansas. They were sometimes called Wyandottes.

CLEANING THE ORNATE SILVERWARE

Ornate silverware can be cleaned by dipping a small brush into silver cleaner and rubbing it into the crevices of the design. Home economists at Michigan State University suggest that you don't try to remove all of the oxidation, however. Some darkening adds depth to the design and brings out the lovely pattern of the silverware.

Soil Tests, Lime And Fertilizer Up Farm Income

LIMING acid soils on the basis of soil tests can return $5 to $10 in increased crop returns over a 10-year period for every dollar invested, according to Edward D. Longnecker, Michigan State University soil scientist.

"Lime helps to balance the soil-nutrient diet for crops, by correcting soil acidity," says Longnecker, in a statement summarized here by the Midwest division of the National Plant Food Institute. "Lower acidity makes soil phosphorus and molybdenum more available to crops."

"Lime supplies calcium and magnesium. It aids in encouraging the development of nitrogen-fixing bacteria in legume roots. Lime helps many soil bacteria that make plant nutrients available and keep the soil in good physical condition."

Longnecker recommends soil testing every three or four years to tell when it's time to lime each field. The need for such tests is indicated by the fact that "at least one-third of Michigan's hungry crop land has never received a speck of lime," he says.

Important as lime is, it is not a substitute for fertilizer, where needed or for good seed, timely planting and improved cultural practices, Midwestern agronomists point out. Lime should be teamed up with fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash as indicated by soil tests, to give the best long-range, crop-boosting results, these specialists say.

BREAKFAST AROUND THE WORLD

No matter how you spell it, pronounce it or eat it, breakfast is a world-wide nutritional necessity and perhaps the most important meal of the day.

Breakfast is called by many names in many countries, and the foods served are as varied as the names. In quite a few countries the breakfast is similar to that served in the United States. Bread, plain or toasted, a beverage, meat or eggs or both, cereal, and fruit juice are standard in many countries.

In Mexico, Spain, Argentina and other Latin and South American countries, breakfast is termed desayuno, the first meal of the day. Urban Mexican breakfasts often are much like our own. In rural Mexico, frijoles con chicharrón (beans with Mexican sausage) grace the table. In Spain and Argentina the continental breakfast is the first meal. It usually includes coffee or chocolate and rolls. A more substantial breakfast is eaten later.

The Chinese start the day with a cup of tea. The following mid-morning breakfast, chao tsan, may include cakes, soup, rice, vegetable bowls with chopped meat, fish or poultry and preserved or fresh eggs. Japan's breakfast, chochiyoku, is fundamentally the same.

Ireland's breafeasta is a substantial meal which includes cereal, eggs, bacon and large amounts of bread with butter and jam. The British are good trenchermen at the breakfast table. Menus may include cooked cereal, toast or muffins and jam, a beverage, and a main course which could be kippered herring, sausage with potatoes, broiled kidneys or steak and kidney pie.

France's petit déjeuner and Italy's piccola colazione are continental breakfasts. However the Italians may add cheese and fruit to the menu. Breakfast in the Netherlands, ontbijt, is not to be taken lightly. Toast and rolls, hot cereal, a beverage, smoked beef, eggs and at least two kinds of cheese are included.

Even a world traveler would be hard pressed to recognize breakfast by many of its names. In Czechoslovakia it's snídani; in Yugoslavia, dovček, and in Poland, śniadanie. In Iceland, breakfast is morgun-natur; Greece, progeomma; Turkey, kahvalti. The morning meal in Germany is frühstück; in Norway it's frokast and in Sweden, frukost. In the Phillipine Island, breakfast is pang-una-gahan, and in Portugal it's called simply café.

Whatever its name, breakfast is the most universal of meals. The menus are varied but in most cases the food served is of the type and amount to provide a breakfast adequate to relieve the hunger which follows a night's fast and to provide the body's nutritional requirements essential to physical and mental well being.

SUPPER PARTY MEAT PIES . . . tender . . . hot . . . appetizing

It's fun to serve these pies. They're such a gay surprise for guests . . . look like fruit pies but are really meat pies.

There the pies stand, waiting to be cut into big, smoking hot wedges. The chopped meat filling, brown and crumbly, is pungent with onions and herbs. And tangy canned apple sauce is mixed through for a dash of the unusual. The apple sauce also helps keep the meat deliciously moist.

One whiff of that savory filling, one look, and guests fall to with frank gusto. Especially the men! You know with what enjoyment they greet simple, hearty, uncomplicated dishes.

Bake two, bake four . . . people will pass back for more, that's sure. Once baked, they are easily kept hot in the oven (turned to very low), to be brought out as needed. And, if by chance, there is pie left, next day reheat it . . . it's still good eating.

2 large onions, thinly sliced
1/4 cup butter
2 lbs. ground chuck
2 eggs
1 cup dry bread crumbs
2 cups canned apple sauce
2 teaspoons poultry seasoning
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup ketchup
1 4-oz. jar pimiento, diced
Rich pastry

Saute onions in butter until soft. Slightly heat ground beef in another skillet, mashing lightly with fork, to separate beef into small pieces. Drain off excess fat. Beat eggs; add bread crumbs, apple sauce, poultry seasoning, thyme, salt, ketchup and pimento. Add onions and meat; mix well. Line 2 9" pie plates with pastry; place 1/2 hamburger mixture into each pie plate. Cover tops with pastry; seal edges together. Trim off excess pastry; make fancy edge. Make slits in tops to allow steam to escape. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, 35-40 minutes, or until delicate brown. Serve hot.

Chlorine in tap water is the reason some indoor plants die. If it is inconvenient to water them with rain water, you can remove the chlorine by boiling tap water. Be sure to cool before using.

Puny house plants may revive if you soak several empty eggshells in water for a day and use this mixture on the plants.

TOMATO DISH

Peel eight small tomatoes and arrange in casserole. Sprinkle with seasoned salt, a tablespoon instant minced onion and a little dried dill. Cover and bake in moderate oven until tender. Dot generously with butter and serve with a sprinkling of chopped parsley. Instant minced onion is always ready to use and there's no strong bite to this fine moisture-free product.

New use for old tool: A pastry blender slices bananas quickly and evenly.
