Reception at Masonic Hall Honors Mrs. Eva Engquist

The dinner and the reception honoring Mrs. Eva Engquist, the Grand Representative of Nebraska in Michigan, held at the Pinckney Masonic Hall Saturday evening was attended by more than 150 guests and members, many of them past grand officers of the Grand Chapter of Michigan, Order of the Eastern Star. Twenty-three grand representatives were in attendance. There were guests from Canada, two of them past grand matrons of Ontario, and from all parts of Michigan.

The honored guest's chosen colors of purple and white and her flower, the yellow Peace rose were combined to form the beautiful dinner table decor.

Mrs. Engquist was escorted to the East by her granddaughter, Susan Craig, assisted by the girls of Rainbow Assembly, No. 67.

Guest soloist of the evening was Dick Fisher of Detroit, past grand soloist of the Grand Chapter of Michigan O. E. S. His accompanist was Mrs. Sally Wallace, P.G.O., of Detroit.

A special dedication service of the new American flag and standard donated by Mr. and Mrs. George Engquist to the local O.E.S., chapter climaxed the program.

Mrs. Engquist who flew to Omaha, Nebraska, last May to attend the 85th Session of the Grand Chapter of Nebraska, was presented with her honorary membership at that time.

NAVY ENLISTMENT

The two Ann Arbor men who were captured here early Friday morning as suspects in the series of burglaries in the area have pleaded guilty to separate felony charges and were arraigned in Livingston County Circuit Court before Judge Michael Carland on Monday.

Denying all knowledge of any crime when first apprehended, Metty was first to talk. He admitted a Milan break-in earlier in March. They were arraigned on March 25 in Municipal Court before Judge Irwin and bound over to Circuit Court where they appeared on Monday.

Both pleaded guilty to breaking and entering in the night time and are held in the county jail at Howell. Ronald D. Marsh, 28, of 1042 Maple Rd., Ann Arbor, is under $5,000 bond. Keith Metty's bond originally set at $5,000, was reduced to $2,000.

April 10, has been set as the date for sentencing.

The pair were picked up on M-36 near Pettysville Road last Friday morning by Deputies Robert Egeler and David Taggerdine after a search in which State Police from Brighton and Lansing took part. "Jocko" the trained canine recruit of the State Police department was brought here from Lansing to pick up the trail of the men. They both pleaded guilty Monday to the charge of breaking into Jim's Gulf Service here.

BURNING PERMITS ARE REQUIRED

Fire Officer Leon Guzinski of the Conservation Department advises that a burning permit is required to burn grass and brush lands, outside the city limits. A permit is not required for fires set in an incinerator or other container within the curtilage of your home. However, care must be taken to make sure the fire does not spread from the container into the surrounding grass lands.

Any person who starts an open fire in grass or brush lands without a fire permit, or carelessly allows a fire from a container to get out of control is in violation of the State law, and upon conviction may be assessed a fine up to $100.00.

MICHIGAN WEEK SLOGAN BECOMES STIRRING MARCH

Recordings and musical scores of a new march and song about the State of Michigan are being distributed to high schools and radio stations in the state as a part of the 1961 Michigan Week cultural activities.

University of Michigan President Harlan Hatcher, chairman of the Michigan Week cultural activities committee, said the march and song had been composed by two U-M faculty members.

Florian F. Mueller, associate professor of oboe and wind instruments in the U-M School of Music, composed "Michigan Marching Forward" at the request of Michigan's Governor, John B. Swainson. The march is named after the slogan, suggested by the governor, for this year's Michigan Week, scheduled to be observed from May 21 to 27.

The song, "My Michigan," was composed by Orien E. Daley, music consultant for WUOM, the U-M radio station.

Prompted by the current market value of land, the South Lyon school board voted last week to extend its search for property to include sites for future elementary schools. Last month the board launched a search for possible sites for a high school. The request will be for parcels of land 10 to 20 acres located not less than 2 miles from the city limits of South Lyon.

Kathrene Gall, 16, of Saline, has been named the '61 Wash-tenaw County Dairy Princess.

The names of all registered Holstein cattle raised by Keith Bradbury and Graham Benedict, Dexter, will henceforth begin with "Rolling-Rock". Exclusive use of this prefix name has been granted by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. (Keith is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Henry of Pinckney).

Chelsea's 66-member junior high school band won top rating in the District Festival held at Belleville last week. The senior band won a similar rating at Southgate the week before. David Lindsay directs both bands.

Chelsea has a new industry; a firm specializing in the manufacture of swimming pools of ceramic tile embedded in fiberglass expects to begin production this week in the old Gudeman Plant (former Bowser plant). The name of the company will be announced this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Kennedy welcomed their first grandson last week. He is Michael Adam Bochinski, born on March 23 at Detroit Osteopathic hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Adam Bochinski (Denise Kennedy) of Warren.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

There's much in the news lately about legislation to bolster Michigan's position in the struggle to create jobs through industrial development. There are only two ways to bring this about: hold and expand existing payrolls; bring in new factories in competition with other areas. Work and play important roles in this effort.

Most professionals in the plant location field would probably agree that the search for new locations matches community against community rather than state against state. This means that, in addition to the valuable financing plans a state might offer, the community itself is mightily important.

When a business is to be located, the executives usually contact (or are contacted by) the State Economic Development Department, many community leaders and utility representatives. Often then consult "plant locating" consultants. The resulting deliberations are often hectic and much less logical than one would think to be the case when all these interested people are working.

A $35 million installation in Montague illustrates the point, Hooker Electro-Chemical was trying hard to fine a suitable location on the shores of Lake Michigan. Everybody seemed to be in the act, but nothing was decided. A local plumber wrote Hooker a letter stating emphatically that he knew there were many subterranean salt deposits nearby and wondered why the plant didn't locate there. Company officials checked, found the letter correct and the factory was built.

A mistake discovered by a member of the Economic Development Department is credited with saving another industry for Michigan. A consulting service recommended an Indiana location over one in Kalamazoo, the deciding factor being a wage and tax differential. The economic development staff man felt sure the consultant's figures were wrong.

To prove it he worked several days at the MSU library collecting and sifting information. Then he found the mistake! Some hurried phone calls set up appointments in Chicago where the figures could be disproven. As a result the plant now operates in Kalamazoo.

In another instance one of the utilities men carted a prospect all over Southwest Michigan and showed him some of the finest towns in the area. Trouble, was, every place he stopped it rained or snowed. Finally, after a few days of dismal outlook, the utilities man surrendered his guest into the hands of a competitor from another utility. That day dawned bright and fair as Nature put her foot forward. The competitor signed, sealed and delivered the prospect and his plant to the first town where they stopped. You're never going to convince that first professional that there isn't any luck to this business.

Child Protection Warnings Issued by State Police

Because warmer weather always brings an increase in child molestation cases, Sgt. Adolph Ploehn, of the Brighton State Police Post, has issued a timely reminder to parents to warn their children now against talking, walking, or going anywhere with strangers.

"The best rule for children is to avoid strangers completely," Sergeant Ploehn emphasized. "Caution them often to beware of strangers while outdoors at play, or on the way to or from school. Tell them to report any strangers who make offers or promises of candy or gifts for going for a walk or a ride with them."

Child molestation cases investigated by the State Police last year totaled 581, an increase of 15, or 2.6 per cent, compared to 1959.

The offenses reach a peak in the summer. The high month for 1960 was August with 84 while July was second with 80 and June third with 67. The peak month in 1959 also was August with 76, June was next with 73 and July third with 61.

The cases usually increase beginning in April and taper off in September and October. Of last year's 581 cases, 431 occurred in the April-October period. The danger is prevalent to some degree the year around and in 1960 no month had less than 23 cases.

To help eradicate the menace, parents should notify police immediately of all incidents, no matter how minor they may seem, reported by their children. The failure or reluctance of parents to do so makes it difficult for police to cope with the problem and gives the child molester the chance to strike again. No publicity is given to the names of the children or the parents except in the case of murder.

Parents should impress upon children that policemen are their friends who want to help and protect them. Youngsters must be encouraged to report to police or their parents any strangers seen loitering suspiciously around playgrounds, neighborhoods, or schools, and at public rest rooms.

These are important rules suggested for children to follow:

1. Don't stop to talk, or go for a walk or a ride with any stranger. If he offers you money, gifts or candy, don't accept them. If he offers you a job to earn money, tell your parents first so they can investigate.

2. Always try to be with one or more playmates during play hours at school or near home or on vacation. Don't play or walk alone in alleys, deserted buildings, or other secluded places.

3. Know the persons you are with. Don't let strangers try to join you during play hours and report any suspicious persons to your parents, teachers or police.

4. Don't loiter in public rest rooms. There are danger spots.

5. Never go alone to the movies. Go with a pal or a friend. If a stranger bothers you there, report this at once to the theater manager.

6. Do not play or walk too close to the road. Keep a safe distance away so that strangers in passing cars cannot easily reach out and grab you.

7. These rules are for your protection so always obey them. Don't let your friends or any stranger get you to disobey them. If you have any question or problem about them, tell your parents.

Here are ways children can help in attempts or cases of child molestation:

1. Write down or memorize the stranger's description, his approximate height, weight, age, color of skin, eyes and hair. Remember things like a mustache, eyeglasses, kind of clothes, tattoos, jewelry, physical defects or anything else unusual.

2. If the stranger has a car, try to get the license numbers and letters, coloring, year and state. Put it down on paper or use chalk, a stone or a stick to mark it on a sidewalk, a wall or in sand or dirt.

3. Remember your suspicions can help protect you and your friends from harm. Any stranger reported by you and investigated by the police will not be offended if he has a legitimate reason for his activity.

STATE POLICE REPORT ON BAD CHECKS

Bogus check passing in Michigan is a million dollar a month operation which so far this year gives little indication of falling away from the high levels of activity reached in 1959 and 1960, according to Det. Sgt. F. E. Kelly of the fraudulent check section at East Lansing State Police headquarters.

In the first two and a half months this year, 356 bogus checks were submitted to the section for examination, just three less than in the same period in 1960. Only about one per cent of the bad checks passed in Michigan are submitted to the State Police, the remainder are handled locally.

Last year 1,657 checks, averaging $77.26 and having a total value of $128,010.74, were processed by the State Police. The peak year in volume since the section was established in 1948 was in 1959 with 1,698 averaging $74.36 and totalling $126,263.33.

Known passers or previous forgery or fraud specimens are identified in about 60 per cent of the cases studied by the State Police.

High months for check fraud are usually January, July and August while April is generally the lowest. An analysis of the record indicates that when the economy flourishes, so does bad check activity. According to Kelly, the apparent explanation is that business people are less cautious then or feel that the higher volume of business can more easily sustain any fraud loss.

Who suffers in this fraudulent activity? Kelly observes that the merchant or firm cashing a bad check must make good the loss originally but eventually it's the public that pays through increased business operating costs.

Kelly's advice is this:

Treat every check with the same caution you would use in making an unsecured loan to a stranger.

To prevent opportunity for theft which can lead to forgery and fraud, check supplies and bank statements should be securely locked up when not in use.

D.A.R. STATE CONFERENCE

On Friday, March 17, I left with 23 other D.A.R. girls from Lansing, on a charter bus, for the state conference. We later arrived at the Whitcomb Hotel in Saint Joseph, Michigan. Out of 337 D.A.R. representatives of the State of Michigan, about 200 attended.

The program for the good citizens began, and Miss Marsha Lynn Black of Charlotte, Michigan, was announced the state winner. Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Leon Burgoyne with songs from "Rose Marie." Dr. Margaret B. Macmillan, Professor of History, Western Michigan University, closed the program with a very stimulating address.

We were then treated to a luncheon where Miss Black read her winning essay. We were also entertained with a lecture by television star, Fran Allison. The State Regent, Mrs. Roy Barnes brought the event to an end.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my classmates for giving me this honor. Because of it, I have gained new knowledge, friends and pride.

Nancy Wegener

Large numbers of fish can be killed by dumping chemicals or washing equipment in a stream. Wildlife, while not susceptible as fish, can also be killed.

At one time, there was conflict between the agriculturists who said the spraying had to be done and some the conservationists, who were concerned about wildlife.

Cooperation has increased markedly, in recent years, however, and while more chemicals are being used, there are fewer incidents that cause conflict.

Bill Would Set Traffic Cases In The Local Courts

A bill to provide that all traffic cases be tried in a Justice Court in the township in which the offense occurred passed the House Tuesday.

An amendment to make it mandatory if the person arrested requested it was stricken on a roll-call vote. Backers of the bill said that it defeated the purpose of the bill, which makes it mandatory to hold the trial in a local court, if there is a Justice of the Peace maintaining a criminal docket court.

The sponsors hope to end the practice of sending those who are given traffic tickets long distances to a court of the officer's choice.

and LaRosa's Tavern lost more than one thousand dollars to burglars on March 20. The safe from Doyle's office was dragged into the drive way at that time and the burglars had fled. The safe containing the money in the LaRosa business place was broken open.

It was the "beginning of the end" of their career early Friday morning when the sheriffs department received a call from the Blue Water Store at Lakeland that their burglar alarm had sounded frightening away would-be-burglars. The proprietor spotted a car driving away and gave a description. An hour later a car answering that description was found parked in the village square here. Deputy Robert Eger investigated and stood by waiting for the owners to return to the car. It is believed they were at that moment inside the local service station attempting to remove the lock from the safe door. They fled leaving a large tool in the lock.

Sheriff Lawrence Gerhinger arrived and found more than $600 in cash in the glove compartment of the car. This was believed to be the money taken from the Brighton Bowl and Bar shortly before the report was received from the Lakeland store.

To date the pair have admitted many burglaries in both Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

Sheriff deputies stated Monday that Marsh has admitted pulling more than 25 burglaries since his release from prison 4 or 5 months ago. He is a parole and a detainer to hold him has been issued to the Sheriff's department. Neither was able to post bond.
