Don't Forget to Vote June 11th

Next Monday, June 11th, the voters of the Pinckney Community School District will make an important decision — one that will determine, to a large extent, our tax structure for the next 30 years. We strongly urge all qualified voters to go to the polls and vote. We sincerely hope that any decision will be by a large and clear-cut majority, so there will be no room for doubt on the part of the school board as to the voters' wishes.

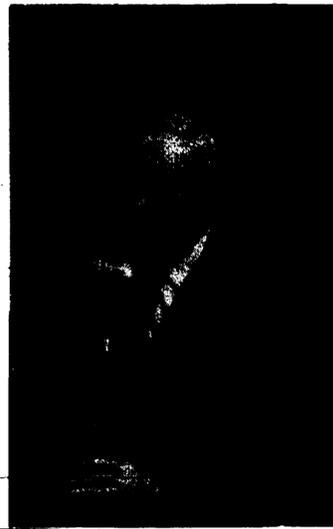

The complete Election Notice is published elsewhere in this edition, with all the proposals and candidates listed. We would like to point out to the voters a small paragraph immediately preceding the Livingston County Treasurer's certification concerning conditions which will exist if the bond issue passes. It reads as follows: "Take further notice that, if approved by the electors of the district, said bonds will be unlimited tax bonds and tax levies therefore shall be without limitation as to rate or amount."

The publishers of this newspaper have consistently opposed the bonding proposition on the following grounds:

1. We feel that the needs of the school district can be taken care of for a lot less money than this issue calls for. We are in favor of building what we need NOW and if in the future we need more buildings, we can build them as they become necessary. This would eliminate the substantial interest costs on buildings which would serve no useful purpose until sometime in the indefinite future.

2. The financial arrangement as proposed in this election would have to be spread over too long a period. It is unfair not only to our present taxpayers but to future generations to put an overwhelming debt on their shoulders. In any venture, there are continually being introduced new methods of doing things which require capital outlays. If we assume more financial obligations than we can comfortably take care of now, how will we be able to take advantage of new techniques in the educational field as they become available?

As we have stated before, we recognize the need for additional rooms to take care of crowded conditions in some of our district's schools. Unfortunately, the voters have no choice but to vote on the "package" submitted by the Board. We urge them to vote "no."

Reverend Merle Meeden of the First Baptist church of Howell delivered the Memorial Day address, "What Mean These Stones?"

Memorial Day Program Huge Success

Dark clouds threatened to spoil Pinckney's Memorial Day Observance last Wednesday afternoon but finally the sun broke through the clouds and beamed upon the hundreds of spectators and paraders at they gathered on the village square for the solemn ceremony honoring the war dead.

The Rev. Merle Meeden of Howell's First Methodist church delivered an address on "What Mean These Stones?"

Adding to the parade and program were the Pinckney High School band, the color guard and the firing squad from South Lyon, the Zal Zoz Grotto drum and bugle corp of Ann Arbor, many friends from neighboring areas and our own civic organizations and fire department.

The Pinckney Girl Scouts of Miss Amanda DeBarr's troop won the trophy awarded by the village council for the best entry in the parade. The float built by the girls was parked at the home of Linda Clough where vandals tore it up in the night. Undaunted, Linda and her fellow scouts rebuilt the float in time for the parade.

3 Candidates in School Board Race

School electors will name one trustee to the Board of Education for a four year term when they go to the polls on Monday.

Three candidates are seeking the post of Jack Young, secretary, who is not running for re-election.

Jay Schmiedeskamp, of Portage Lake, an economist in the University's Institute of Social Research; James Doyle, a Pinckney business man and Hugh Radloff, a Michigan Bell employee, of Hamburg, are the candidates.

Vacation Bible school at the Community Congregational church opens at 9 a. m. Monday morning, June 11, and runs through June 22. Classes will end at 11:30 a. m. Volunteer teachers as well as regular Sunday School teachers will be in charge.

Commencement Exercises Held Friday Evening, More Than 1,000 Guests Attend

An audience of at least one thousand attended the 1962 Commencement exercises of Pinckney High school on Veteran's Memorial Field Friday evening when 58 graduating seniors receive their diplomas.

The Pinckney High school band under the direction of Dennis J. Napier played the processional as the seniors marched across the field to their seats before the speakers' stand.

The Rev. Thomas Murphy gave the invocation. Senior class sponsor John Quigley made the introductions.

Co-salutatorians, Bruce Henry and Richard Line delivered their addresses before Bruce, senior class president, presented the Senior gavel to Gerald Pike, president of the Class of '63.

Rachel Nash, graduating with highest honors, gave her valedictory.

John Walton, president of the Board of Education introduced the commencement speaker, James (Bingo) Brown, Dean of Men, E. M. U. who held his audience with words of wit and inspiration.

The presentation of awards and diplomas was the high light of the evening. Before Supt. Wesley Reader and Assistant Supt. Mrs. Germaine Stackable presented the diplomas the prizes were awarded as follows:

The Ross Read Memorial Prize for English; first prize $50, Rachel Nash; second prize $25, Denise Mowers; the Hollingsworth Science Awards; first prize, Denise Mowers, $75; second, $50, William Waterbury, third, $25, Dick Line.

New this year, is the Math Award, a prize of $50 given by Mr. and Mrs. Clare Miller in memory of W. C. Miller and Mrs. Mary Teeple. Bruce Henry was the recipient.

The Reverend William Hainsworth asked the benediction, closing another memorable graduation.

Proposition for Handicapped Education on Ballot June 11

Monday, June 11 is school election day for each of the constituent school districts of Livingston county.

Among the various ballots handed you on that day will be a proposition for special education of handicapped children.

Special education is a type designed especially for the deaf, hard of hearing, blind, partially seeing, speech defective, homebound, mentally handicapped, crippled or otherwise physically handicapped, or children having behavior problems.

Over 800 children having one or more of the above handicaps are now attending regular classrooms in the schools of Livingston county without an educational program geared to meet their individual needs. Thirty-two counties in the state have voted to come under the provisions as set forth in the special education act. This important election will give you the opportunity to help bring this type of education to the handicapped children of this county.

The county board has passed a resolution to have the issue placed on the school election ballot. Livingston County school voters will be asked to approve (not to exceed) 3/4 of a mill annually for the special education program. This levy would be based on state equalized valuation.

The cost to property owners would be $.75 for each $1,000 of state equalized valuation. The typical residential owner in Livingston County would pay about $5.00 per year. This amount would only be levied if the annual budget, as reviewed by the county allocation board, would warrant the expenditure.

While the County Board of Education is directed by legislative act to initiate the program, local boards of education would hire the necessary teachers and supervise that portion of the program operating in their school. The County Board of Education would employ only those necessary consultants and teachers who would work in all of the schools in the county.

QUALIFICATION FOR VOTERS:

U. S. citizen; at least 21 years of age. Michigan resident for preceding 6 months. School district resident the previous 30 days. Registration required in registration districts.

OTHER QUESTIONS FOR VOTERS:

Do I have to be a property taxpayer to vote on Special Education? NO

Must I be a parent of a school age child? NO

May I use an absentee voter's ballot? Only if you live in a registration district and meet absentee voter qualifications. You can contact your local school for information.

WHEN AND WHERE WILL I VOTE?

June 11 at your annual school election. Place and time will be posted in every school district. Contact your local school superintendent for further information.

Library News

New books this week include: Lederer, "A Nation of Sheep" of which Pearl Buck says, "At last someone has said what needs to be said about our foreign policy, our relationships with other peoples and how effectively and ineffectively we are spending our foreign aid funds. If only we can get this book read by Americans, high and low and everywhere, before policies are set, men are appointed, and the groove established."

Taylor Caldwell, "A Prologue to Love", is a detailed study of a woman with a compulsion to acquire money and the personal factors that drive her to become a second Hetty Green. Enjoyably written, and showing the author's knowledge of world of wealth and big business.

Frank B. Gilbreth, Jr., "He's My Boy", a wistful, tender, and sometimes uproarious book about the adventures of the co-author of "Cheaper by the Dozen" with his four year old son, Teddy. A copy of the Curriculum Committee Recommendations for Pinckney Community Schools has been placed in our library.

We wish to thank the Richard Paganos, the Francis Shehan children and Mrs. Leonard Davis for books.

During May, 988 books were borrowed from our library compared to 680 last year. This is our best record for May which is usually a rather slow month.

Today's Students Read Better, Says U-M Professor

Johnny today reads better — all reports to the contrary — than his dad or grandad did in their school days.
So says Irving H. Anderson, University of Michigan professor of education in the current issue of "The School of Education Bulletin."
"We know this because the standards on achievement tests have had to be revised upward to keep pace with the progress which has occurred over the years," says Anderson.

The modern use of the "whole word" method may have a lot to do with this improvement, he states.

"This method — sometimes called the 'look-and-say method' — means showing the child a word and telling him what it is. Words are given one at a time and selected so they can be easily arranged into phrases, sentences and small stories. The child begins reading without the delay he meets when he tries to connect letter names and sounds.

"There's also a lot to be said for the phonics method by which the child recognizes the word from its sound," says Anderson. "In fact, the word method may lead to difficulties unless the teacher also uses phonics. Every teacher should give her pupils the reading help they need in this important area. No program is complete without it."

You can learn more by letting the other fellow tell you all he knows than you can learn by telling him all you know.

Letters to the Editor—

Dear Editor:

Two public meetings have been called — one purpose of the meeting was to introduce the candidates for the school board to the public. Well, the public appeared (a few anyway) and only one candidate. The candidate, Jay Schmiedeskamp had the courage to express his views concerning the bond issue and also his ideas concerning the educational needs of the community. The public has the opportunity to support him if they agree with him. They have the opportunity to deny support if they disagree and they also have the opportunity to denounce him as an "economist" in the local newspaper.

But where, oh where have the other two candidates gone? Are they alive or dead? As a result of reading "the letters to the editor" column in the newspaper, I gleaned some information. One candidate is qualified to run because he was born, bred and educated in Pinckney and runs his own business. About the other candidate, I learned that he lives in Hamburg. Now I have two facts about this candidate — his name and his residence.

The very ones in the community who are voting against the bond issue because the school board has not presented a definite building plan, are supporting candidates who have not presented their plans.

It is not only our civic duty to vote in the election for the school trustee, but it is also our duty to vote intelligently — and we cannot do this unless all the candidates present their views.

So will the candidates please speak up and speak out.

Sincerely,
Beatrice O. Davis

well as my views. Some reply seems indicated.

Mr. Rentz: Saying you don't want to consult an economist about a question of economics, simply because of the mess in Washington, is like saying you shouldn't take legal problems to an attorney, because you don't like decisions of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Reason: You don't need a chart to tell you that if you have a new 30 year bond issue every ten year, you will not get the last one paid off until 30 years after it is issued. But this is beside the point. No one suggests a new million dollar bond issue every 10 years. What is proposed is that we pay for a new high school over 30 years. This is not an unreasonable or unusual length of time. The school would still be serving 500 students into the 21st century. Note that the old part of the present high school was built 80 years ago and over all that time has continued to serve the number of students for which it was designed.

Our problem must be examined in the light of present resources, our existing buildings. The elementary schools are ideally suited for grades K-5 now and could be easily expanded to handle an even larger number in those grades in the future. The real question is whether the present high school is better suited for use as a high school (9-12) or as an intermediate school (three grades 6-8). If we now build a new intermediate school, we commit ourselves to keeping the high school where it is, in a building ill-equipped to meet the specialized needs of a high school, ill-suited for the considerable expansion which we can clearly foresee, and on a site which would severely limit that expansion. A new high school would not necessarily result in a curriculum that is high quality, low quality, or sand box. It would insure that facilities are adequate for a high quality curriculum.

The projected cost of less than a million dollars is less than the average cost for public 500 student high schools in towns similar to Pinckney. There will be no swimming pools, heated or otherwise.

There can be no question that the school board has poorly presented the facts and issues to the voters. Please note, however, that this is an argument against the school board, not against the new school. It would be tragic if a clash of personalities prevents Pinckney from developing an adequate school system. It would be equally tragic if it is prevented by men who fear a small rise in our already low taxes, more than they desire adequate facilities for giving the children of Pinckney they need to compete in an ever more competitive world.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Educational television in Michigan could take a giant step forward if $1 million in funds is found to further the goal of establishing a statewide network.

A federal law recently signed by President Kennedy included a $32 million appropriation designated for distribution to states on a matching basis to promote educational television.

Michigan has been among the top states in the use of educational television, said Paul Lutzeier, director of information and educational services for the Department of State.

Lutzeier has been chairman of a "Working Committee for Educational Television" for the past three years. He previously was on the administrative staff at Wayne State University, where he was familiar with the educational television work done there.

About July 1 a number of plans will be submitted to Washington which could result in creation of several new educational television stations. Approved plans can be put into effect without appropriation of additional funds by the state legislature.

Progress reports will be held at MSU's Kiva June 13. The public as well as interested groups is welcome to attend.

Michigan's "Big Three" colleges and universities, Michigan State, Michigan and Wayne State, have been involved in educational tv projects for several years.

At the present time several others of the state-supported institutions are involved in it, as are several individual school districts around the state, Lutzeier said.

"If educators throughout the state are alert and submit sound proposals for setting up educational television facilities, Michigan stands a good chance of getting a million dollars of the federal appropriations," he said.

Industrial centers in the state should emulate Boston and Cambridge, Mass., if Michigan is to hold its youth here in the future, according to a Detroit research consultant.

Aaron J. Blumberg contends that reliance on the auto industry to provide jobs which will encourage Michigan's young people to remain in their home state is now outdated, just as dependence on farms, mines and lumber camps, became outmoded some years ago.

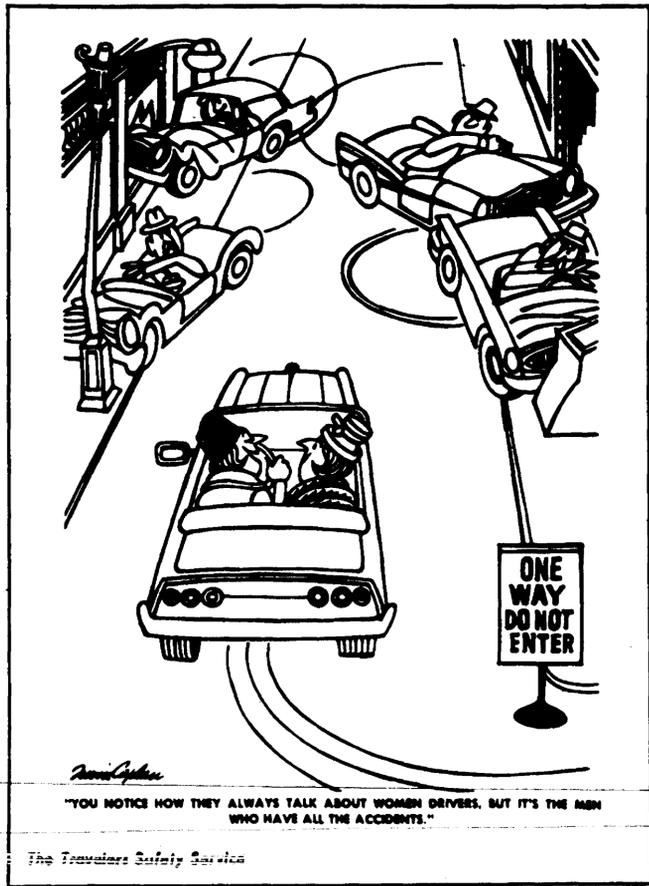

"Future employment expansion in Michigan will depend on brain-power rather than muscle-power," he said. "Perhaps the Detroit and other metropolitan areas hold our last and best hope for keeping the flower of Michigan youth in our own state."

Competition for the "most sophisticated" of the nation's industries, those which employ high proportions of college-trained people and have the power to stimulate higher levels of employment and incomes, requires attractions, Blumberg said.

Among the attractions are things which only a large city or metropolitan area can provide: cultural activities, big league ball clubs, outstanding chapters of professional societies, and extensive educational facilities.

"The new image which the Detroit - Ann Arbor - Lansing areas must emulate is that of Boston and Cambridge," Blumberg said. "Boston was once a thriving manufacturing center. Now it is reaching ever new heights of employment and income as a producer, user and exporter of brain-power."

"Our Legs Don't Get Cold Anymore!"

"With electric heat, there are no drafts or cold spots—even the floors are nice and warm," says Mrs. William Albert of Nankin Township, Michigan. "We saved $300 on installation when we converted from the old system. Electric heat saved us space, too—now we have an extra closet where our chimney used to be. There's nothing to worry about or take care of. My draperies stay a whole lot cleaner. For all the electric appliances we have—range, water heater, clothes dryer, air conditioner—we think our $85 per month electric bill is a real bargain. Believe me, once you have electric heat, you won't want anything else."

What about your home? Do you have a hard-to-heat room? Are you adding on a room? Are you buying a new home? Is the heating system in your present home more trouble than it's worth? One of the types of electric heating units shown below may be the answer to your heating problems. One easy way to find out is to ask your electrical contractor. Another is to call your Edison office. We'll be glad to send you a copy of our free booklet "Electric Home Heating" and will answer any questions you may have about the modern, worry-free way to heat your home—electrically.

FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEAT • DETROIT EDISON

The campaign is on! Michigan's long legislative session will soon be ending and the political heat will increase after that, but the pressure has already started.

Sure signs of the campaign beginnings are the changes of tone in speeches.

At the beginning of this year, Gov. John B. Swainson said he was "ready for the fight" with the Legislature. When his tax proposals came under fire in actual debate, however, his speeches tended to lean away from any strong words which would induce anger among lawmakers.

With his fiscal reform program dead now, Swainson has returned to the familiar charges of "fiscal irresponsibility," "careless disregard of the people's needs," and other similarly strong statements.

During the Constitutional Convention, delegate George Romney said he was too busy with the business at hand to participate in "politics."

Now Romney, Swainson's likely GOP opponent is a little more subtle in his use of words, but he is getting in nearly daily blasts at the Democratic administrations in both Lansing and Washington.

Like all other politicians, each is sure he has the answers if only the state would listen.

One peculiarity to be watched closely in this fall's campaign will be the two top candidates' views on fiscal reform. Each has voiced the need for reform and, surprisingly, both have proposed in different words basically the same means for achieving reform.

Republican members of the present Legislature aren't entirely convinced the method proposed centered around a state income tax is the desirable answer.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Rose, held open house Saturday night honoring their daughter, Jan, who was graduated from P. H. S. Friday evening.

A Saturday night party was held also, at the Janowski home honoring daughter, Judy, another graduate.

Sunday was the party date for honoring graduates at the DeWolf home for son, Jim; at the W. Williams home for son Bob and at the Giarr home for daughter, Claudia.

St. Mary's grade school held graduation exercises last Monday evening for its eighth graders and honored them at a reception together with Sister Mary Fides who bid farewell to this parish with the closing of school. Sister Fides was principal of St. Mary's school for the past six years. Many of her former students returned to greet her at the reception as did most everyone of St. Mary's parish.

WILL YOU CAST A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE FOR OUR CHILDREN'S FUTURE?

IF, like many of us, you have asked yourself the question, "what can I do to assure the continued survival of our democratic free way of life in face of the rapid advances of world communism?", READ ON.

During the past fifteen months your elected Board of Education discussed, debated and studied in detail the many problems concerning the rapid growth of our consolidated school district. Meeting in many regular and special sessions that lasted until well after midnight, a flexible long range program was finally adopted by a majority vote of the members of the Board of Education.

This program has been approved in principle by the State Department of Public Instruction, the School Attorney, the School Administration and members of the Faculty and the Citizens Advisory Committee composed of more than one hundred public spirited citizens. Factual details concerning the issue have been mailed to all property owning families in the district who are registered voters eligible to vote at the June 11th election. These taxpayers will be asked to approve a multiple improvement program for our Community School System.

PROPOSITIONS ONE and TWO contain the rather complicated legal language necessary to impose the EXISTING debt of the FORMER Pinckney School District and the FORMER Hamburg School District No. 1, EQUALLY upon all property throughout the present combined District. Children from throughout the District are now using facilities erected by the former Pinckney District in 1955 and by the former Hamburg No. 1 District in 1957 before the consolidation took place. There now exists a very inequitable tax levy between the former districts and this forthcoming election is the first legal opportunity the voters have had to erase this inequality.

PROPOSITION NO. 3 gives the voters the opportunity to approve a major building expansion program carefully planned to provide the space requirements needed by our ever growing student population and incorporating many of the recommendations of the joint Faculty-Citizens Curriculum Study Committee. The Board has retained the well known school architectural firm of Charles W. Lane Associates, Inc. to plan the new facilities. The Board, the Citizens Advisory Committee and the Administration and Faculty are now meeting regularly with experts from the architects office to assure the best possible facilities for our children consistent with the ability of the district to finance the desired improvements.

The Expansion Program, as explained in detail at many meetings throughout the District consists basically of the following parts:

1. Acquiring a site for and erecting and furnishing a new High School, planned for continued orderly expansion as the future needs of the District may require. Study of several sites suggested by the Citizens Committee is now being made by the Architects. Accessibility for bus routes, future availability of sewers, water and other utilities, cost of site improvement and approval by the State are among the determining factors being explored before the site selection can be finalized. The new High School is being designed to house an expanded curriculum over a period of years as recommended by the Citizens Curriculum Advisory Committee. A copy of their 100 page report is on file at the Library.

2. Conversion of the existing high school building for use of all 6th, 7th and 8th grades now occupying space in the Pinckney and Hamburg Elementary School. This will release several classrooms badly needed for use of the lower elementary grades.

3. Erection of a multi-purpose room at the Hamburg School so that the children in the eastern portion of the district will have facilities equal to the Pinckney Elementary School.

4. Correction of heating and ventilating and toilet room problems and expansion of the Pinckney Elementary Playground.

The cost of the program was determined from a detailed study of the cost of similar programs in surrounding districts and the ability of our district to support such a program. The thirty year bonding program has been recommended by the State Department of Public Instruction and the School Attorneys as the most equitable method of dividing the cost of the facilities among the greatest number to benefit therefrom.

This program as recommended to the voters represents a PLANNED reasonable improvement of facilities and curriculum that studies show are now needed if our children are to have the opportunity to meet the challenges of a rapidly changing world. The program is far from Utopian in scope. Architect's figures show that immediate inclusion of all the Citizen-Faculty recommendations would require an expenditure three times the amount contemplated. However, many of the most urgent improvements can be made upon approval of Proposition No. 3 and careful planning will allow inclusion of other recommendations in future expansion as conditions warrant.

The Board studied several alternate plans including expansion of the existing High School building and the erection of a new Junior High Building. These plans have been rejected by the Board as only further compounding the present overcrowding at the High School within a few years. The remaining site at the High School is totally inadequate to accommodate a major addition, sewage disposal fields and parking. The existing kitchen is now preparing hot lunches for children at four buildings under a severe space handicap. The present gymnasium and locker and shower facilities are so inadequate that it is not now possible to conduct a physical education program as recommended by the State and our own Citizens Committees. Many of the specialized departments are now so overcrowded that it is becoming increasingly difficult to place students in courses of their choice. Serious hazards that now exist can be readily corrected by conversion of this building for use as an Intermediate School. These hazards, such as overcrowded corridors, minimum exits and stairs cannot be improved to the extent required by the State Fire Marshall if an addition to accommodate 200 more high school students were made to the building.

For the first time in the twelve years since consolidation of the school districts now comprising the 80 square mile Pinckney Community School area, the voters have the opportunity to provide a cultural atmosphere that will attract desirable residents, business and industries to the community. The future character of the entire area rests heavily upon the outcome of the election next Monday, June 11th.

The Board of Education thanks all the many citizens, members of the Faculty and Administration, the Parent Organizations and others who have assisted in planning for the future success and happiness of our children. Will you too, CAST a VOTE of CONFIDENCE FOR OUR CHILDREN'S FUTURE?

To Pave or Not to Pave?

If ever there is a time when a county road commission wished it had a crystal ball, it comes when a new gravel base has been placed over a deep muck area and a decision about paving must be made. Such is now the occasion on this section of Pinckney Road, south of Howell.

The muck under the gravel may be squished out from under it and pop up on the side of the road as with this mound of dirt in the above picture. The gravel will settle as the muck is forced out but it is a simple matter to add more gravel, put down the new surfacing and obtain a nice, smooth highway. But much areas (called unstable base in engineer's lingo) are peculiar things. The weight of the gravel may force out the muck right away, or the muck might not move for a year, or five years. Sometimes it never moves at all and just sits quietly carrying the weight of the gravel and all the traffic.

If you pave the road and muck finally squishes out, you have to dig out the rough section of pavement and patch it. If you wait the gravel gets scattered and blows away as dust, the public doesn't get the smooth, dustless highway it wants and the muck might never settle leaving you with a gravel road that's right in the middle of one of the most important Primary roads in the county. Or you can take a calculated risk and pave the road. The cost of repairing a settled section of the road will be far less than the original cost of digging out the much area and the public gets the advantage of a smooth driving surface today.

CONTROLLED FROM THE DASHBOARD. The motor is controlled by a small high-pressure hand pump with the Manual Control Unit (as illustrated above) or by an electrical switch with the Electric Control Unit, mounted on the dashboard!

Upon hitting any submerged object, the motor will safely tilt free from the Lift.

The Lift yoke stays in "set" position at all times, allowing the motor to come back to its previous operating position.
