Lavan-Raddatz

BIG FEUD FLARES OVER BUDGETING

Supervisor Demands Figures On Paper

BY BILL GAIL

It will be Lavan versus Raddatz comes Tuesday morning at the County Court House in Howell. They'll be fighting the battle of the budget.

Verbal sparring between the two members of the Board of Supervisors was the prominent part of the annual budget session, held from Monday through Thursday of last week.

A strong protest was intercepted Thursday afternoon after Supervisor Raddatz had pulled the proposed budget sheet from his pocket.

Lavan rose to his feet, fuming, and declared, "I'm not voting on any budget until I have a copy that I can study." Raddatz agreed to supply copies for each of the supervisors and the meeting was adjourned until Tuesday, Oct. 23 at 10:30.

Lavan, a thorn in the side of the supervisors, wants to know why the Social Welfare Board is asking for $100,000 when they have "180,000 in their treasury and three-fourths of the year is past."

He is demanding that Director Cecil Bohm brother-in-law of Raddatz, be returned for further questioning.

Supervisors expect to consider the proposed 1963 budget of $760,299.04 which is roughly $65,000 more than this year's budget of $695,092.82.

A report of last year's drive shows the funds were disbursed as follows: Community Endeavors 20 per cent; Red Cross 20 per cent; Boy Scouts, 10 per cent; Girl Scouts 5 per cent; Boys and Girls Activities 5 per cent; Cancer Fund 10 per cent; Heart Fund 10 per cent; and Muscular Dystrophy 20 per cent.

Volunteer workers are needed for the fund drive. Anyone interested in helping may attend the meeting on October 23 or call the officers.

Grant Salary

Supervisors Hike in '63

Pay raises have been approved for county elected and appointed officials by the County Board of Supervisors and all fees will be placed in the general fund. Supervisors were adamant that none should be retained by any official.

Attempts to set the salary of the clerk and treasurer at the same amount were rejected. The treasurer will receive $6,500 (increased from $3,850 and fees), and the clerk will receive $6,250 (increased from $3,850).

Other raises for elected officials were granted the drain commissioner — $4,500 (increased from $3,500); register of deeds — $5,500 (increased from $5,170); sheriff — $6,000 (increased from $3,850 and fees); Circuit Court judges — $2,000 (increased from $1,500); circuit court commissioners — $1,000 (increased from $800 and fees); and prosecuting attorney — $5,000 (increased from $3,850).

Raises for appointed officials are based on the "Johnson Plan" — a study made and accepted last year for the purpose of granting systematic raises to government employees in Livingston County.

WED 25 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Manley Bennett celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Sunday in Hamburg Township at the home of Mrs. Alice Bennett, 10869 Hamburg Rd. Married Oct. 9, 1937, they have six children and four grandchildren.

Tax Advisor To Start Job In January

Selection of a County Tax Equalization Advisor was made last week by a unanimous decision of the Livingston County Board of Supervisors.

The man who is expected to begin his duties Jan. 1 is Charles P. Corron, 38, of Grand Forks, N. Dak., formerly of Flint.

He is to receive a starting salary of $7,524 with raises over the next five years — based on the county's systematic plan — to $8,900. His original contract will be for a one-year period.

Joseph Ellis and his tax equalization committee interviewed Corron and another applicant from Berkley, Mich.

Both men were considered qualified by the committee but the nod was given Corron.

He is married and the father of four children.

Beauty Salon Invites Area To Open House

Town & Country Beauty Salon's grand opening, Sunday will permit residents of this area to examine "The Capri Room."

Open house hours have been set from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. and refreshments will be served.

The new firm, located in the A & P Shopping Plaza in Brighton started operation Monday.

It is open daily from 8:30 a.m. until 9:00 p.m. and on Saturday from 8:30 until 4:00.

Juanita Sonnenberg, who has another salon in Howell, is the owner-operator, assisted by Jim Whalen, manager-operator.

Branch are "Mr. Burton" and Karen Crawford, both of Ann Arbor.

County Says No To Airport $$$

No funds will be included in next year's budget for a county airport unless Livingston County's Board of Supervisors has a change of heart.

Last week they rejected a resolution to include an amount of $20,000 in the 1963 budget.

After spending $4,500 for an airport study, they decided not to take immediate action as recommended in the report submitted to them by the consulting firm of Williams & Works.

In August the study was approved by a vote of 17 to 3 with one member not voting.

Last week the board voted 14 to 7 not to make an appropriation.

In their report the consultants recommended using the Howell Airport Site but also suggested a site near Lake Chemung and another northwest of Crooked Lake.

Copies of the report may be seen at the Clerk's Office in the Court House, Howell.

300 Greet Governor, Democrats Show Delight

About 300 persons met Governor John B. Swainson last Wednesday evening at the Armory in Howell at a buffet dinner in his honor.

The Governor was visibly surprised and happy with the enthusiastic crowd which almost filled the Armory. He was given a standing ovation upon his arrival and at the conclusion of his 20-minute talk.

Master of Ceremonies of the event, Don Hayworth, candidate for Congress from this the Sixth District, was introduced by Ed Rettigor, Chairman of the Livingston County Democratic Committee.

Hayworth then presented Mrs. Herbert (Ruth) Munzel, who gave a brief explanation of the successful write-in campaign of August, and told of the duties of the county officers up for election.

She then introduced the county candidates Norm Davis, Sheriff; John McMillan, Clerk; Nina Hauser, Treasurer; Joe Wildes, Register of Deeds; Herbert Munzel, Drain Commissioner; D. E. Newcombe, Surveyor, as well as William Henry Groomes, candidate for State Representative and James McCure, candidate for State Senator.

Also present at the meeting was Justice Otis M. Smith, candidate for one of the two vacancies on the Supreme Court of Michigan (Non-partisan).

Justice Smith was introduced to the gathering by Governor Swainson, who a short time ago had appointed him to the Bench.

On his way home from another meeting and a full day of campaigning, Neil Staebler, candidate for Congressman, Large spoke to the meeting.

"This is a sight for sore eyes," said Staebler, referring to the fine gathering.

FIRST GRADE
We each made a number book and most of us can write the numbers from one to 10. Now we have started making Halloween decorations. We want to thank Mrs. Tasch and the 5th grade for the good candy which they gave us. The Flag raising and Program was very good. Jimmie Brown had a birthday. David Ellis moved to California. Keith Curtis is sick and we are sorry. We saw a horned toad yesterday. Timmy Scott showed it to us. We have gourds, a salamander toad, coconuts, crickets and leaves on our Science Table.

3rd Grade
Mrs. Darrow
We have finished our first Phonetic Reading Book and will start the second one Monday. In Arithmetic we are now adding and subtracting two place numbers. On Friday we painted some colorful fall leaves and drew some spooky Halloween pictures. We had a spelling test of 25 words for the 6 weeks review. We enjoyed the outdoor Columbus Program on Friday. We wish to thank the High School for bringing the Homecoming Floats to the Elementary School we certainly enjoyed them.

4th Grade
We have a new boy in our room, James Pickett. He came from Whitmore Lake. We hope he likes our school. We have finished our first book in Phonics and are looking forward to the next book. In Science we are studying how plants live. To find out what part of the plants take in water, we are watering one plant through the soil and another through the leaves. On this plant we have the soil covered so no water will go in the soil. On another plant we have placed a sack over the plant to study the effect light has on plants.

In Arithmetic we are using 2-place numbers. All of us can add them and now we are subtracting and checking our own work. John Porter brought a flycatcher's plant and we are finding it very interesting. The flies enter the jar and the claws of the plant snap shut enclosing the fly.

Sixth Grade
Mrs. Tasch's sixth grade had a candy sale Mon. Oct. 8. We earned $14.71. We have decided to take orders for doughnuts at Halloween, and to have a Christmas cookie sale at Christmas. Some of us are working with yarn. We are printing pictures for Halloween and Christmas.

Seventh Grade
We wish to congratulate all of the students who took part in the program on Columbus Day.

Earlier in the week the seventh graders saw a film called "The Paths of Columbus." This week our bulletin board features sketches of animals responding to stimuli. We are reading Washington Irving's story, The Legend of Sleeping Hollow. Each student is making a vocabulary list. We are glad to know that Ricky Tanner is out of the hospital now. We have been studying rules for writing papers in good manuscript form. Each student wrote a composition.

Girls who observed the conduct rules last week are: Becky Henry, Becky Reed, Linda Stefan, Linda Zerkula, Marjorie Queenberry, Penny Reynolds, Susan Baughn, and Sandra Saylor. Boys who showed good control are: Jerry Clair, Brian Sapsford, Sam Singer, Dean Gardner, James Pietila, Mike Root, Rod Wedmayer and Douglas Miller. Let's try to have a longer list next time.

CLASS NEWS
Mrs. Meyer
Cindy Borovsky, Linda Clough, Sharon Bowles and Linda Wegener found a skeleton of a bird at Alpena Michigan on Lake Huron. The bird's leg was a tag. Which said: "I found this wildlife commission." If found send to Washington D. C. Linda Clough sent the tag to that address. We are waiting for the reply. Jim Baught to Joe Plumber: If your father is a Mason how come you're a plumber? In our poster contest Shirley Hollister won first prize and Sharon Bowles won second prize Carolyn Sullivan won third prize. Carolyn Sullivan and her committee consisting of Joe Plumber, Jim Kourt and Linda Wegener painted Halloween pictures on our windows. Our grade put on a skit about Columbus last Friday for the Flag raising program.

Fourth Grade
Mrs. Van Blaloum
We wrote stories and made posters for Fire Prevention week. Here are two of the stories. Forest fires start in many different ways. They start by lightning, burning matches and bonfires. Forest fires destroy property and wild life. Firemen fight forest fires with water and sand. Lynnda Preston
The Forest Fire
On day the Brown family went for a picnic. Tom and Betty went swimming in the river. They ate hot dogs and candy fars. Their mother and father rested for a while. Then their mother said, "Let's go home now." They jumped into the car and went home. They forgot to make sure that their bonfire was out. Soon a fire began to burn in the park. Firemen came to put the fire out. They dug in the ground and raked up leaves. Everything was black. The firemen were sad. One fireman said, "Whoever did this is a forest destroyer." Please do not be a forest destroyer!

Satan Writes To Hell C of C
The Hell Chamber of Commerce receives bundles of interesting mail from everywhere these days in response to its campaign to put the community on the map. Last week president Mel Reinhard had a letter from a man named Eddy Saan, of Opa-Locka, Florida, who wants to receive mail from Hell. The Chamber sent him warm greetings and an invitation to enter the Satan's Holiday board contest. All men who plan to visit Hell during those two days in June are eligible to enter. There will be awards for the finest garter, moustache and sideburns. The entry fee is $1.00 and the winner will receive a $100 saving bond and other gifts. It seems Mr. Satan, with his name, may have a distinct advantage, if he comes up with a hirsute adornment to match.

Area Club Notes

PHILIP LIVINGSTON CHAPTER D.A.R.
PINCKNEY — On October 2, Mrs. Warren Richards was hostess for the Philip Livingston Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution at her home in Fenton. With the Regent, Mrs. John S. Page, presiding the meeting opened with the Prayers for the Day read by Mrs. H. R.

Gillette, in the absence of Chaplain Mrs. E. A. Ross. Following the Salutes to the Flag and the D.A.R. ritual a short business meeting was held and the speaker of the day, Mrs. Charles Chamberlain of Pinckney, presented a talk on "Tree-Your Ancestors". Mrs. Chamberlain, (nee Cacia Curtiss), a former member of the Chapter and con-acted with many of the long time pioneer families of the county, spoke in an informal manner of the various phases of ancestor hunting, a subject dear to the hearts of all Daughters.

Her research has covered a period of 80 years, taken her from library to library across the country; into the graveyards of many a forgotten cemetery in Connecticut and other states; and following up hundreds of leads which have been exchanged with other letters, answered many persons and hours of detailed work establishing the correct lines for her charts.

This huge task has been recently published in book form and is a most valuable addition to American archives. Mrs. Chamberlain illustrated her talk with charts and methods of following ones lines and a number of reproductions of the Coats of Arms credited to the various families.

The report of the state Regional Meeting held in Royal Oak on September 26 attended by the Regent and four members of her Board, was given. On November 6 at the home of Mrs. J. J. Hendren, 730 East Grand River St., Fowlerville, the meeting of Philip Livingston Chapter, will have as guest speaker, Mrs. Robert D. Willoughby, of Plymouth, State Chairman of National Defense. At this meeting the fall collection of gifts for the D.A.R. schools will be received.

LEADER DOG — Michigan Branch of Michigan is shown with "Spot" donated to the Leader Dog School by Rochester, Mich., by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell of Brighton. The animal was taken to Rochester by Al Newworth, secretary of the Brighton Twp. Lions Club, and Glen Garwood.

Mrs. Treasure Rice of Brighton will appear at the meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the McPherson Community Health Center today—in the hospital auditorium at 1:30. Mrs. Rice has been Regional Leader for the Michigan area of Recovery, Inc., for many years. Recovery, Inc. is a self-help organization having as its members nervous and former mental patients, according to a Center spokesman. Rather than just give a speech herself, Mrs. Rice will have with her a group of persons who have themselves had mental difficulties. These people will participate in a panel discussion similar to those held with the various groups within Recovery, Inc., at their own meetings. The audience will then have an opportunity to ask questions about this subject. Because of the nature of the program and the wide-spread interest in mental health today, the public is invited to attend this meeting for which there is no charge.

Republicans Will Honor Chamberlain, Thursday

Republicans will hold a legislative dinner tomorrow night (Oct. 18) in honor of Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain in Howell.

The event will be held at the Aroney starting at 7:00.

Charles Ward, Republican County Chairman, pointed out that due to the long term of congress, Rep. Chamberlain's schedule is very crowded, and this dinner will be an appropriate time for Livingston County Republicans to meet and express their appreciation to him for the excellent job he has done representing us in Washington, as well as for the numerous personal favors he has done for Livingston County people.

George VanPurse, chairman of the State Central Committee, will act as master of ceremonies.

Other state candidates and all of the county candidates will be present. Tickets are available at Republican Headquarters and will be sold at the door.

At a meeting last week, Ward stressed the importance of all Republicans who are voting the straight Republican ticket not to overlook the non-partisan portion of their ballot which lists the candidates for the State Supreme Court. He said: "In the last election over 1,300,000 Michigan voters, voting the straight ticket, lost their vote for Supreme Court Judges when they overlooked the non-partisan part of their ballot."

TRAINING SESSION

A training session will be held in Republican Headquarters on Monday at 8 p.m.

The session will be conducted by a team from the State Central Committee and all Republican workers are urged to attend.

Ward announced that still more workers are needed at the headquarters until election time.

Typists and people willing to address envelopes in longhand would be most helpful. Part of this work can be done at home, and those interested in helping are urged to call Howell, 3166 "Round Robin" coffees will be held on the 25th of October, and the 1st day of November.

The nine county candidates will form teams of three, and each team will be present at each coffee.

A candidates' parade, featuring all of the local candidates, and a band led by Will Terhune will tour the county on Nov. 3.

The parade is scheduled to appear in every city, village, and hamlet in Livingston County. There will be more information on all of these events at a later date.

Ward commended the Green Oak Republican women on their work at the Brighton headquarters.

appointments to talk with Mr. Chamberlain.

In addition to discussing legislative views and personal problems involving the Federal government, the Congressman has available for distribution a variety of government pamphlets and brochures... and he said "any we don't have, we can get!"

During October, Mr. Chamberlain expects to visit Fenton, Flint, Linden, Clio, Davison, Montrose, Flushing, Mason, Leslie, Brighton, Williamston, Lansing, Howell, Fowlerville, and Stockbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Shirley, 3259 Redding Road, Zukee Lake who will mark their silver wedding anniversary on Oct. 23, will be honored at an open house at their home on Sunday of this week.

The party is planned by their two daughters, Mrs. Walter (Judy) Bechler and Lois, for 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Shirley is the former Frances Vandervall of Lakeland a graduate of Pinckney high school.

The couple was married on October 23, 1937, in Elkhart, Indiana. Except for six years of residence in Jackson, they have lived in this community all their married life.

They are the grandparents of 13-month old Lori Bechler. Mr. Shirley is the owner of L-Coil Research, Brighton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Viculus and family and Mr. and Mrs. T. Bishop of Detroit were Sunday visitors at the John Tait home.

County Appoints Diagnostician For Special Education Program

Now working as diagnostician in Livingston County's special education program is Mrs. Stella R. Bernstein whose appointment was announced recently by the County Board of Education.

County Superintendent Walter G. Hampton said her salary had been set at $4,800 on a 10-month basis of employment.

He described Mrs. Bernstein's job as one of "testing students to see if they will qualify in the area of mentally handicapped."

Mrs. Bernstein, a recent widow, was awarded her B.S. degree by Columbia University and was granted her M.A. in psychology from the same university.

She has been engaged in private practice in clinical psychology and psychotherapy also counseling.

For the past year and a half she has been employed as chief school psychologist for the West Milford township public school system, West Milford, New Jersey.

She presently makes her home in Ann Arbor with her son, Dr. Richard Bernstein, a University of Michigan professor.

Another son, Kenneth, a news reporter for N.B.C. is currently on a special assignment in Miami, Fla.

The psychological services of a school diagnostician provide a means by which children may be selected for eligibility in the educational program for the and behavior characteristics of mentally handicapped children so that they can identify and understand children of this kind and work more effectively with them.

The Fowlerville elementary school is the only one in the county at the present time conducting a classroom for mentally handicapped children.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gould, consultant for the mentally handicapped, will continue to work with a limited number of children in other schools in the county until facilities and personnel are made available to have a mentally handicapped room in each school district in the county.

Passage of special education bill last June of '75 of a mill will allow the use of tax money for the purpose of building and equipping classrooms and helping to support local school district programs for the handicapped children during the early months of 1963.

Efforts are continuing to locate the specially trained personnel required to carry on in the other areas of special education such as speech, homebound and the crippled or otherwise physically handicapped.

The county Board of Education has appointed a county-wide committee of special education which will work with the county board relative to the administration of the special education program in Livingston county.

Tall, shapely, red-haired Mrs. Stella R. Bernstein will be seen on NBC color television programs this season.

Romney Volunteers Plan Election Night Party, Nov. 6 hopes to receive enough contributions to place large ads in the newspapers and also to purchase radio spots.

The Brighton Kiwanis Club is planning a non-partisan "Get Out The Vote" pancake supper for Nov. 2. Romney Volunteers voted to commend the Brighton Kiwanis Club for this project. A committee was formed to encourage other service clubs to carry on similar activities.

The group which is open for membership to Democrats, Independents and Republicans, will meet at the organization's headquarters in the Grand Theater Building, Brighton, each Thursday until the election.

Crash Kills Divorcee, 19

An attractive young Howell divorcee was found dead early Monday morning in her overturned car one mile west of Lake Chemung.

Mrs. Ann Marie Jeffrey, 19, was apparently killed instantly when her car went out of control on Latson Road near Sweet Road and rolled over.

Her driver's license bore the name of Newkirk, but her mother, Mrs. Lyle E. Jeffrey of 515 Fair St., Howell, said she had assumed her maiden name. She was born Aug. 8, 1943 in Cohoetah Township and had lived in the county all her life.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating the accident which happened about 3 a.m.

The victim is survived by a son, Gerald, 1 1/2, her father and mother, a sister, Mrs. Mary Lehr of Detroit, and five brothers.

Two of the brothers are John, Lansing, and P. Thomas, of Brighton.

Another brother, George, is stationed in Laos, and two half-brothers, Edwin Bigelow, is in Tacoma, Wash., and Robert Bigelow, is stationed in Korea.

Arrangements are being made to try to get them home for the funeral which will be held Thursday at the MacDonald Funeral Home at 2:00.

Interment will be in the Greenwood Cemetery in Fowlerville.

Mrs. Jeffrey was employed in Brighton at the Advance Stamping Co., 815 2nd St., where she had worked since January.

She attended Briggs School and completed 10th grade at the Howell High School three years ago.

Feeding a beef steer makes an excellent 4-H project. 4-H members take pride in feeding and fitting a beef calf and watching it grow from a little fellow into a beautiful fat prime steer.

Members also receive valuable training in business through credit arrangements and record keeping. They also enjoy the pride of ownership and competition at fairs and shows.

Plans are now being made for the 8th Fat Stock Show and Sale at next year's Fowlerville Fair.

Additional emphasis will be placed on daily rate of gain this year, and a trophy will be offered to the member who has the top gaining steer. The rate of gain is very important as feeding efficiency is highly correlated with rate of gain. Generally speaking as the daily rate of gain of a steer increases so does the feed efficiency.

To take part in the 1963 Fat Stock Show and show at the Fowlerville Fair, 4-H Club members must have their steers on feed by December 1. Steers must be of the beef breeds. Every member must have his steer calf weighed before December 1st. Weight slips must be in the 4-H office at Howell by the December 1st deadline.

Each member is permitted to show and sell a maximum of two steers in this sale.

Members must also take part in the activities of a local 4-H club. For more information on the beef feeding contests a 4-H Club livestock leader in your community or the 4-H agent in the office of the Livingston County Cooperative Extension Service, Courthouse Annex, Howell.

The 1962 Detroit Junior Livestock Show will be held December 3-6 at the Michigan State Fairgrounds. Members taking part in this event must notify the 4-H office of their intentions by November 1st.

Members exhibiting steers must have owned them since last March 1st. Lambs and swine must have been on feed since Sept. 15.

Health Department Reviews Its History

Health program in Michigan, covering 125 years of growth and progress, was reviewed in a special issue of the Pinckney Dispatch published by the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

The history began today with a review of the state's health program in 1837, when the first mental hospital was founded in the state.

Throughout the 125 years since Michigan attained statehood, the introduction of state programs in this field may have seemed slow at any particular time, but in retrospect significant progress can be noted in spite of various struggles and problems.

Commenting upon the historical account, Mr. Wagg said:

"The department is pleased that it has been possible to prepare and publish this brief but very informative history of the growth and development of Michigan's mental health program."

PERIOD OF CHANGE

"When a nation enters a period of change, it is necessary to re-examine its policies and programs," said Wagg. "The review of the history of the health program in Michigan is a part of this process."

The concept of isolation, confinement and custody has been replaced in a very realistic way with an approach based upon prompt, on-the-spot treatment of incipient mental disease through a complex of locally based psychiatric services. Michigan can take pride in its development of an outstanding mental health program in keeping with this new approach.

The history will be further distributed on a request basis to those who have special interest in historical material on Michigan's mental health programs.

Since organization of the Department of Mental Health in 1945, the history records a quickened rate of progress "with expansion of facilities and growth of programs development rapidly in the last twelve years."

SMALLER HOSPITALS

"The Department of Mental Health is not programming any more large mental hospitals, but is pointing toward smaller multi-purpose facilities close to centers of population."

"Although substantial progress has been made in changing the state mental hospitals from custodial institutions to therapeutically oriented hospitals, much remains to be done."

"The state mental hospital and its future, smaller, community-based centers must be adequately staffed and equipped as the primary basis for the service program, the training of personnel in the various mental health disciplines, and a base for research."

"These shall continue to be developed a complex of community-based mental health services designed to provide outpatient diagnostic and treatment services, consultative services to schools, courts, and health and welfare agencies; and rehabilitative services for patients suffering from mental or emotional disorders, mental retardation or other psychiatric conditions."

During the first half of 1962 Americans drove 370,000,000 miles, a 16,000,000,000 increase over the 354,000,000,000 miles driven the first six months of 1961.

HARVEST CORN NOW AVOID STALK ROT LOSS

Farmers are warned to harvest their corn as soon as it's ready or risk losing part of their crop.

The reason: stalk rot. E. C. Roseman, Michigan State University farm crops researcher, blames the rapid spread of the disease on Michigan's dry summer, early frosts and leaf blights. He explains that this caused early drying of plants which made them very susceptible to rapid spread of the stalk rot fungi.

Recent inspections of corn fields reveal a heavy infestation of stalk rot in many parts of Michigan. Many stalks will be broken by the wind. And broken stalks will result in heavy losses, because mechanical harvesters cannot pick up all of the corn which may be down.

If October is wet and/or windy, farmers could have a lot of corn go down because of the disease. Most early planted corn (before May 15) is dry enough now to combine or ready for picker-sheller harvest to prevent these losses.

CORN PICKERS TAKE HEAVY TOLL

Seven hands, 25 fingers, one arm, one leg, a crushed hand and one death. That's part of the toll paid by Michigan farmers during last year's corn picking season. And a similar toll can result this year unless corn picker operators change habits.

One operator lost his hand last fall when his picker accidentally jumped into gear. While attempting to free the hand, his leg and foot also became caught in the picker. The farmer then amputated his own leg below the knee with a pocket knife to free himself.

Another man lost the fingers of his left hand when his foot slipped off the clutch pedal as he reached into the picker to clear the clogged rolls.

Most corn picking accidents can be blamed on one cause—the failure to shut off the power-take-off, according to Richard Pfister, agricultural safety engineer at Michigan State University. Hurry, fatigue and a lack of "safety-mindedness" are the types of things that encourage farmers to take chances.

Approaching the corn picker to unclog it while it's in gear is much like playing Russian Roulette. You just can't do it carefully.

While the hand is quicker than the eye, it is still slower than the corn picker. The snapping rolls of a corn picker take corn at a rate of 15 feet per second. If you are in the habit of unclogging a picker when it's in gear, the chances of getting caught in the act are pretty good.

Pfister recommends that farmers keep pickers properly repaired and adjusted, travel at slow speeds and keep all children and other riders away from the machines. Make sure that the biggest field of the corn harvest season is not your arm.

Farm and Field Rental Agreements

There are about 8,000 farm tenants in Michigan. In addition, about 26,000 part-owner farmers rent some of the land they operate. Because of changing farm practices and economic conditions on Michigan farms, adjustments are frequently called for in the traditional farm rental arrangement to make it more equitable between the landlord and the tenant.

Several staff members of the Mental Health Department contributed to authorship of the history, and Charles F. Wagg, director, Ralph Walton, clinic administrator of the mental hospital division, compiled the information and made the final draft.

The Lyon Civic Theatre in South Lyon will perform a play on Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday, written and directed by a former Brighton High School principal, Robert Wall, entitled "Money-Who Needs It?"

Wall said the story was loosely based on his many years in various school systems. It involves the hilarious events in the life of a school principal when it comes to light that he has written a sexy seller.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. and the play is being performed at the South Lyon Elementary School.

Tickets may be purchased at the door on the night of the performance or for further information readers may call Fat Bidgood at Howell, 1445W1.

Proposed Constitution

Eyes Emergence of Governmental Compacts

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another article in a series about the proposed new Michigan Constitution. Additional articles will appear in subsequent weeks.

A new section in the General Government Article of the proposed new Michigan Constitution recognizes the emerging problems involved in cooperation between this state or its political subdivisions with one or more of the other states, the Federal government, the Dominion of Canada or any of their political subdivisions.

This new section would permit the state or any of its political subdivisions to enter into working agreements with other units of government for the performance, financing or execution of their governmental functions.

It was pointed out in the recent Constitutional Convention that compacts and working agreements between various governmental units have become an increasingly important part of the American political system within the past 25 years.

Compacts between the states, require the consent of Congress under the Federal Constitution, have existed since 1789, but in recent years they have become far more important than formerly. They deal with such matters as flood control, navigation, water conservation, protection of wildlife and game, harbor development and regulation and a variety of other subjects.

Interstate compacts may be viewed as at least a partial answer to the inability of states to deal with certain questions which extend beyond their own borders and which would otherwise have to be delegated to the Federal government.

Compacts between one or more states and the Federal government are also growing in significance. Again, they are a successful device for reserving, in part at least, the authority and sovereignty of the states in matters which have national sweep and significance.

The whole area of grants-in-aid falls generally in this category. So does State-Federal cooperation in the field of atomic energy and in waterway development in the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence seaway.

In this last instance, cooperation with the government of Canada has been necessary to the successful execution of state and Federal functions.

The framers of the proposed new Michigan Constitution foresee the probable necessity for even closer cooperation among this state, the Federal government and Canada in matters relating to defense, commerce and navigation.

Hence, this section of the new document specifically recognizes such agreements when the state authorities so decide.

The convention was aware that such agreements, under the Federal Constitution, are subject to the consent of Congress, a point covered by the new section in the phrase "subject to provisions of general law."

The proposed section permits any officer or employee of the state or any of its political subdivisions to serve as a member of joint governmental bodies, but the legislature is empowered to impose such restrictions and limitations as it deems appropriate on the service of the officer or employee.

Telephone Lines

By RUSS ENGELHARDT, Manager

A SHORTAGE OF PHONE NUMBERS? That's what would happen in the future if the present 2-letter, 3-letter, 5-numeral system of telephone numbers were continued. Because of growth in population and the increasing demand for telephones, there just wouldn't be enough usable letter-numeral combinations to go around in the years ahead. So Michigan Bell, along with other telephone companies throughout the nation, is gradually adopting the new "All-Number Calling" system of 7-numeral phone numbers. This will insure enough telephone numbers for our ever-growing population, as well as a uniform numbering system.

STORMY WEATHER'S ON THE WAY. And more than ever on those bitter cold days ahead, shopping by phone is the convenient thing to do. What could be faster, easier, and just plain cozier than ordering whatever you need by a few flicks of the telephone dial? So if the weather's the give-you-the-sniffles variety, or you just can't get away from the house, let your telephone be your running around for you. The Shop-by-Phone habit saves you time, saves you steps, saves you.

WE'RE PROUD TO SALUTE the men and women in the newspaper industry this week. National Newspaper Week, October 14-20, serves to remind us of their dedicated work in the endless job of keeping us a nation of well-informed citizens. And Michigan Bell is also proud of its own role in helping the newspapers in our state get the news to you quickly... for modern telephone equipment and facilities are an essential part of the newspapers' job of gathering and publishing the news.

DETROIT WILL BE HOST to the National Automobile Show this year for only the second time in the 46-year history of the multi-million dollar display.

Two years ago the annual extravaganza was spotted from New York to the Show City to mark the opening of Cobo Hall. This year, Oct. 20-28 it will return to the same 200,000 square foot of display area in downtown Detroit.

Fashion shows, stage performances, a national television program originating daily from Cobo Hall, travel movies, and an old car parade highlight the 44th annual display of the modes of travel in the U. S. A.

Sponsors of the Show, the Automobile Manufacturers Association, host the 1962 display will be the most spectacular in the long history of the event. Each auto company has been allocated more space, to allow a more complete display of the new car lines than ever before.

In addition to the daily morning telecast from the arena, an hour-long color broadcast will bring millions of families to the scene on the evening of Oct. 21.

A special concert by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra on Oct. 18 and the appearance of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on Oct. 22 also are expected to attract record-breaking crowds to this year's display.

THE BEGINNING OF a state-authorized student loan program is under way, according to Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett. Some $575,000 will soon be available to Michigan students who are attending college.

The program is under the jurisdiction of the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority created by the 1960 Legislature. No state funds were appropriated for the operation of the Authority, however.

The Authority solicited private funds to start the program this fall and received agreement with a group of Michigan banks for a guaranteed program. Under the agreement every $1 contributed is guaranteed.

ated a $10 loan for a student.

Partners and the program got up provided that the loan be repaid by the student.

The largest contribution to a cause recently when the University of Michigan donated $50,000 with the Authority, to secure $500,000 in loans for students at the Ann Arbor institution.

THERE IS RISK in buying land you have never seen, according to reports reaching the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office in Lansing.

A prize exchange was a mail order sent to many Michigan residents offered land for sale in Hawaii.

The advertisements indicated the land was on a beautiful estate on "palm-fringed beaches of white sand or glistening black, together with brilliant orchids and crystal clear water."

A closer look at the offer, according to Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, disclosed a somewhat different picture. The investigation showed the nearest golf course was

In addition to the violation from the claims, Kelley said the company which made the offers was not qualified to do business in Michigan.

THE WORST OF THE traffic accidents in Michigan is yet to come with the approach of winter, but one area of vital statistics begins to drop off in the latter part of the year.

This year, the water accident record improved in the two areas, but showed an increase in the most important area. Some 210 persons drowned in the various types of water accidents this year, for an increase of nine victims from last year.

The 423 accidents recorded, however, represented a decrease of 62 and a drop of 28 was noted in the number of persons injured.

The Michigan State Highway Department spent an average of $350 per mile during 1961 to clean up litter on Michigan's 9,200 miles of state highway.

State to Remove Aged From Mental Hospitals

The program to move 1,000 over-65 years of age patients from Michigan's mental hospitals during the fiscal year is now in full swing with nearly half this number (461) already approved for transfer by the Department of Mental Health.

The first official report issued by Charles F. Wagg, director of the department, shows that 72 of the patients referred to the Department of Social Welfare have been placed in community homes, 25 have been withdrawn from the eligible list or have died, and 364 are awaiting placement.

The report covers July and August but represents only two or three weeks of home-finder activity, the report stated.

Mental hospitals determine eligibility of patients for placement and social aid bureaus are responsible for home finding. The home finders are caseworkers with county bureaus who have been especially trained by state mental health and social welfare personnel.

Highest number of referrals have been made by Pontiac State Hospital (182) and Kalamazoo State Hospital (122). Other state hospitals participating in the program and number referred are: Ypsilanti and Northville, each 37; Traverse City 32; Caro 21; Howell 15; Newberry 14; and Lapeer 1.

"It is anticipated that the placement figure will begin to swing upward as the home finders become acclimated to their tasks and skilled in obtaining homes for these patients," Wagg said.

Leading in Northville district where homes were found for 21 patients before September 1. Kalamazoo and Ypsilanti were close behind with 19 and 18 respectively.

Placement agencies were less successful in other areas: Pontiac patients were placed in seven homes; Newberry and Howell patients in three each; Traverse City placed two and Caro one.

The county referral program of moving at least 1,000 senile patients was made possible through a recent interpretation of federal old-age assistance eligibility. Funds from federal, state and local government agencies are administered through the state Social Welfare Department.

"This is a phenomenal rate of activity," commented Wagg, "since before such referrals can be made, the patient's case has to be completely analyzed from the medical, psychiatric, psychological and social service points of view to determine whether such placements are actually feasible."

Herbert Bodwin, chief of patient affairs for the Mental Health Department, said:

"We have been proceeding on the program underwrite, since the placement of home finders on the job did not occur until the early part of September. The present figure on placements is an indication of what was accomplished under most limited arrangements."

HARVEST CORN NOW AVOID STALK ROT LOSS
Farmers are warned to harvest their corn as soon as it's ready or risk losing part of their crop.
The reason: stalk rot.
E. C. Rosman, Michigan State University farm crops researcher, blames the rapid spread of the disease on Michigan's dry summer, early frosts and leaf blights. He explains that this caused early drying of plants which made them very susceptible to rapid spread of the stalk rot fungi.
Recent inspections of corn fields reveal a heavy infestation of stalk rot in many parts of Michigan. Many stalks will be broken by the wind. And broken stalks will result in heavy losses, because mechanical harvesters cannot pick up all of the corn which may be down.
If October is wet and/or windy, farmers could have a lot of corn go down because of the disease. Most early planted corn (before May 15) is dry enough now to combine or ready for picker-sheller harvest to prevent these losses.
Rosman says such harvest along with drying of the shelled corn can start when grain is down to 30-32 per cent moisture. Ear corn can be cribbed safely when moisture is down 25 per cent. Narrow cribs, 3 to 4 feet wide, should be used to store any ear corn above 25 per cent moisture.
If your corn is ready, don't delay harvest. The losses can increase rapidly with each week's delay.
The farm crops researcher claims that higher plant population, higher fertilizer application (particularly nitrogen) and more corn-after-corn in rotations have all contributed to stalk breakage caused by stalk rotting fungi. He recommends planting stiff-stalked hybrids to reduce future losses. Early planting also helps because harvesting can start sooner in the fall before bad weather begins.

ALFALFA LAND
If you haven't limed recently, it may be that your alfalfa land is lime hungry. We still have many fields that never have been limed. Why not apply aglime and renovate those old scrub-ridden, weed-infested pastures?
Fall is the best time to apply agricultural limestone. Aglime put on in the fall has a longer period in which to react with soil acids. The facilities for producing agricultural limestone are more favorable during the fall months and early winter than in late winter and early spring.
You can get the limestone out on the farm when the land is settled and firm. Fields can get pretty soft in the spring. To get the most out of your aglime, put in on fall-plowed fields and disk it into the soil.
Do you have some old fields of alfalfa that are yellow and thinning out? Does the alfalfa run in streaks across the field like waves, strips a rod wide with pretty good alfalfa and thin yellow alfalfa in between? This yellow is due in many cases to soil acidity. These fields need aglime this fall or next spring.
Limestone helps keep the phosphate in a more available form and it makes the soil phosphate available to the growing crop.
Fields limed six to ten years ago and kept at a pH of 7 and certainly not less than 6.5 invariably show a higher level of available phosphate than acid soils which have never been limed.
When these plants of limestone in the soil, the calcium in the lime hooks onto the phosphates and the growing crops can use this form of phosphates. So why not do something about your lime-hungry alfalfa land right now while conditions are most favorable?

CORN PICKERS TAKE HEAVY TOLL
Seven hands, 25 fingers, one arm, one leg, a crushed hand and one death. That's part of the toll paid by Michigan farmers during last year's corn picking season. And a similar toll can result this year unless corn picker operators change habits.
One operator lost his hand last fall when his picker accidentally jumped into gear. While attempting to free the hand, his leg and foot also became caught in the picker. The farmer then amputated his own leg below the knee with a pocket knife to free himself.

Another man lost the fingers of his left hand when his foot slipped off the clutch pedal as he reached into the picker to clear the clogged rolls.
Most corn picking accidents can be blamed on one cause—the failure to shut off the power-take-off, according to Richard Pfister, agricultural safety engineer at Michigan State University. Hurry, fatigue and a lack of "safety-mindedness" are the types of things that encourage farmers to take chances.
Approaching the corn picker to unclog it while it's in gear is much like playing "Russian Roulette." You just can't do it carefully.
While the hand is quicker than the eye, it is still slower than the cow-patcher. The mapping rolls of a combine or take corn at a rate of 13 feet per second. If you are in the habit of unclogging a picker when it's in gear, the chances of getting caught in the act are pretty good.
Pfister recommends that farmers keep pickers properly repaired and adjusted, travel at slow speeds and keep all children and other riders away from the machines. Make sure that the biggest field of the corn harvest season is not your arm.

Health Department Reviews Its History

Mental health programs in Michigan, covering 125 years of transition and progress, are reviewed in the first official historical account published by Michigan Department of Mental Health. Distribution of the 40-page history began today with copies going to state officials, libraries, legislators, heads of state agencies and to citizen groups active in the mental health field.

The history traces attitudes toward mentally afflicted "since the dawn of history" when flogging and mechanical restraints were in vogue to present-day "dynamic treatment programs for the mentally ill, emotionally disturbed, and mentally retarded."

Several staff members of the Mental Health Department contributed to authorship of the history, said Charles F. Wagg, director. Ralph Walton, clinic administrator of the mental hygiene division, compiled the information and made the final draft.

"Throughout the 125 years since Michigan attained statehood," the introduction states, "progress in this field may have seemed slow at any particular time, but in retrospect significant steps can be noted in spite of various struggles and problems."

Commenting upon the historical account, Mr. Wagg said: "The department is pleased that it has been possible to prepare and publish this brief but very informational history of the growth and development of Michigan's mental health program."

PERIOD OF CHANGE

"When a future history is written," said Wagg, "we are sure the decades of the 1950s and 1960s will be marked as that period when the greatest change took place in the approach to the mental health problem."

"The concept of isolation, confinement and custody has been replaced in a very realistic way with an approach based upon prompt, on-the-spot treatment of incipient mental disease through a complex of locally based psychiatric services. Michigan can take pride in its development of an outstanding mental health program in keeping with this new approach."

The history will be further distributed on a request basis to those who have special interest in historical material on Michigan's mental health programs.

Since organization of the Department of Mental Health in 1948, the history records a quickened rate of progress "with expansion of facilities and growth of programs development rapidly in the last twelve years."

PIONEER STATE

Michigan has been one of the pioneer states in development of community psychiatric services. There has emerged a framework of joint state and local sponsorship of community mental health programs coordinated by the Mental Health Department.

Since 1950, 16 community mental health agencies have been opened in cities throughout the state. This brings the current total to 17 child guidance clinics; seven adult psychiatric clinics; two all-purpose mental health clinics three consultation centers; increased state hospital outpatient services; and an expanding number of psychiatric units in private and general hospitals.

During these same years six hospitals have been added:

Northville State Hospital for mentally ill; LeRoyette Clinic, research and training center; Hawthorn Center for emotionally disturbed children; Plymouth State Home and Training School for mentally deficient; Howell State Hospital and Ft. Center State Home for mentally retarded.

In the history's chapter on "A Glimpse of the Future" the direction of care and treatment programs in the years ahead is outlined:

SMALLER HOSPITALS

"The Department of Mental Health is not progressing any more large mental hospitals, but is pointing toward smaller multi-purpose facilities close to centers of population."

"Although substantial progress has been made in changing the state mental hospitals from custodial institutions to therapeutically oriented hospitals, much remains to be done:

"The state mental hospital and its future, smaller, community-based counterparts must be adequately staffed and maintained as the primary base for the service function, the training of personnel in the various mental health disciplines, and a base for research:

"There shall continue to be developed a complex of community-based mental health services designed to provide outpatient diagnostic and treatment services; consultative services to schools, courts, and health and welfare agencies; and rehabilitative services for patients suffering from mental or emotional disorders, mental retardation or other psychiatric conditions."
