Village To Have Liquor

Vote Favors

PINCKNEY — Approval of the sale of liquor by the glass was given in the Village of Pinckney where voters cast 144 in favor of the measure and 120 against.

Of the 285 persons registered, 264 votes were tallied.

The referendum was fostered by tavern owner Vince La Rosa who circulated petitions to have the measure put on the ballot.

La Rosa said in last week's Dispatch: "I pledge to continue to operate the La Rosa Bowl and Tavern in the best manner and with the highest standards possible."

He added: "I promise to keep the interest of the community always in mind."

The La Rosa family has operated the business for 16 years.

Brighton OK's Road Bonding

BRIGHTON — City voters authorized the city to borrow $110,000 by a vote of 407 to 222 — almost two to one.

Only taxpayers were eligible to vote.

In the general election 889 voters cast ballots out of a total of 1077 registered voters.

County Press Strike Ends, Paper Sold

HOWELL — Striking printers tore up their picket signs, Friday at the Livingston County Press with word that the paper had been sold to Associated Newspapers, Inc.

Their action ended a 35-day strike which began Oct. 1 when owner Roy Caverly dismissed 20 employees, announcing he was cutting back on the work done in the plant.

Union members insisted they were being "locked out." Five other papers published by Associated Newspapers were being printed in Howell prior to the cut-back action.

The papers are The Bellville Enterprise-Roman, The Garden City Guardian-Review, the Inkster Ledger-Star, The Wayne Eagle and The Dearborn Heights Ledger.

Members of the firm are Ray Chitt, Wes Willett and Lewis Robinson.

Cliff announced that his group had made a preliminary agreement with striking pressmen.

The 119-year-old paper which circulates to about 6,000 subscribers was previously non-union.

Republicans Retain All County Offices

While Republican candidates George Romney and Charles Chamberlain were winning major political jobs, their Livingston county candidates were giving them a strong assist as they nailed down all county jobs.

Romney swept past Gov. Swainson with ease but Chamberlain had a more difficult job suppressing Don Hayworth, his opponent for the Sixth District Congressional seat.

Unofficial results showed Chamberlain with a total of 112,705 against 93,788 for Hayworth.

Paul C. Younger of Lansing retained his seat by defeating Democrat James F. McClure.

Democrat Neil Staebler ran away from Alvin M. Bentley to become Congressman — at Large.

The entire Democratic administrative board was re-elected.

Thomas G. Sharpe will be the State Representative for the Shiawassee — Livingston District. His rival was William Henry Grooms.

Sharpe's vote was 19,233 to Grooms' 11,689.

Voters approved the amendment to the State Constitution providing for a general revision of the statutes.

Winners in the Circuit Court Race, non-partisan, were the incumbent, Otis M. Smith, and Michael D. O'Hara.

15,000,000 in U.S. Make Homes on Farms

America has about 15 million people living on the nation's 3.8 million farms. These farm families make up about 8 percent of the total population.

But, economists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture point out farmers have a host of "business partners" in moving farm products from field and feedlot to the consumer. There are an estimated 16 million such partners engaged in businesses all the way trucking to managing the local supermarket.

These allied businesses which play an important part in assuring both abundant and high quality food and farm products are also an important segment of the economy. Add these businesses and their families to the number of farm people and the total "agricultural" population approaches 40 percent of U. S. residents.

Economists report that farmers and their families spend $42 billion dollars a year. This includes about $27 billion to run their businesses and the other $15 billion for the family items we all buy ranging from groceries to vacation trips.

The "40 acres and a mule" picture of farming is far removed in today's space age. USDA economists say that the average commercial farm has an investment of nearly $42,000.

Saving Soil

By LAMAR F. WOOD
HOWELL — F. K. Neely in the Northwest District and Frank J. Savage in the Southwest District are in the process of developing soil and water conservation plans on their farms.

Order blanks are now available for ordering trees from state nurseries for planting next spring.

Seedlings available are white pine seedlings and transplants, jack pine seedlings, red pine seedlings and transplants, Austrian pine seedlings, white spruce transplants and Norway spruce transplants.

Ages of transplants are three and four years, and of seedlings two and three years.

Average heights run from 5 to 12 inches for seedlings and from 6 to 12 inches for transplants.

Transplants cost more but are more handy.

The Southern Michigan State Forest Nursery near Brighton is now furnishing most of the planting stock for southern Michigan.

People of Livingston County should be proud of this fine nursery and should pay a visit to it. The nursery is located on Bishop Lake Road, just east of the Chilton Road and on the way to the Brighton Recreation Area if going there from Howell.

Chili Beans, Sun Valley Style

Chili Beans, Sun Valley Style, is a sturdy dish to be enjoyed at winter's old parties and summer-time cook-outs, and may be served in a variety of ways. Made of plump perfect Idaho-grown pinto or red beans and tender juicy lean beef, slowly simmered, tastefully seasoned with choice chili spices, a hint of ground cumin, bayleaf, garlic, onion, plus the favor of Home-Here is a famous recipe for year-round eating pleasure. Family and guests alike.

Chili Beans, Sun Valley Style
(about 10 servings, 1 1/2 cups each)

Part 1
4 cups Idaho Pinto Beans
12 cups (3 quarts) water
4 teaspoons salt
1 large peeled onion, whole
1 large bayleaf
1 fat clove garlic, thin-sliced
2 tablespoons salad oil

To prepare Pinto or Red beans, combine in large heavy sauce pot or Dutch oven the washed beans and the measured amount of water, cold or hot. Bring water to boiling point and boil rapidly for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Cover tightly. Let stand for 1 hour. Beans are now ready to cook. Note: Beans may be soaked overnight, if desired. Add ingredients to beans and cooking water. Bring to boiling point rapidly, reduce heat to simmer. Cover tightly. Simmer about 2 hours or until not quite tender. Let out and discard onion and bayleaf.

Part 2
1 1/2 to 2 pounds lean ground beef
2 tablespoons fat or finely-chopped meat
1 cup water, beef stock, or tomato juice
3 to 4 tablespoons good chili powder seasoning
1 1/2 teaspoons ground cumin salt as needed

Brown meat quickly in the fat, breaking into small pieces. Add to beans. Add liquid to frying pan and heat to boiling point. Bring up the browning bits and drippings. Add to beans. Measure into small dish 3 tablespoons of chili powder and the cumin. Mix to smooth paste using some of liquid from the bean pot. Add to bean mixture. Bring to boiling point, reduce heat to simmer. Cook tightly. Slow-cook for 1 to 1 1/2 hours, tasting in the meantime to find if more salt or chili powder is needed. Tasting and chili powder blends vary so much.

This makes 1 1/2 generous quarts which means 10 servings allowing about 1 1/2 cups per serving. Any leftover may be packed and frozen. In fact, why not do another batch of the beans and plant to freeze one. They are so good for many occasions, help to pad the meat course, and all ages enjoy them.

Proving Ground Starts Operation Of Noise And Vibration Facility

A VIEW of the shaker room in the new Noise and Vibration Laboratory at General Motors Proving Ground. The facility is used for vibration tests on automotive suspensions, bodies and other structures. Hanging from the front end of the convertible in the photo is an electro-magnetic shaker.

Ideal Laboratory Employs 63 Men

A specially designed Noise and Vibration Laboratory, unique in the automotive industry, is now in operation at the General Motors Proving Ground, located between Brighton and Milford.

The laboratory is equipped for scientific study of any type of noise, vibration or stress problem in design and development of GM automotive and non-automotive products.

Situated near the GM Proving Ground Administration building the new structure contains 70,000 square feet of laboratory, shop and office space. Half of its staff of 63 hold degrees in either engineering or physics and one-third of the supporting personnel are technical school graduates.

"This facility is the only one of its kind in the United States. In fact, we don't know of any other organization in the world like it," said Charles A. Chayne, GM vice president in charge of Engineering Staff.

"Operating as part of the GM Proving Grounds, the Noise and Vibration Laboratory embodies the latest thinking of our specialized field. The men who work here contributed to the building's unusual planning and design, combining their efforts with other experts in the science of sounds.

David Apps Guides Unit

David C. Apps, who in 1934 received his electrical engineering degree from the University of Michigan and became a Proving Ground test driver, heads the new facility. He was promoted to acoustical technician in 1936 and was named to his present position in 1945. He is well known throughout the industry for his work on vehicle noise control problems. Apps, a former Brighton resident, is still an active member of the First Methodist Church here. He and his wife reside in the Proving Ground area.

Only in rare instances does the Noise and Vibration Laboratory promote test work of its own. Primarily, it concentrates on noise, vibration and stress analysis in the general field of dynamics at a GM division's request or under divisional sponsorship. Frequently, it offers consulting services.

Most of its projects are automotive. Working, as it does, with all GM's vehicular divisions, the laboratory's experience is especially varied and abundant. Moreover, the staff solved problems involving household appliances and equipment, railroad coaches and locomotives, marine installations, aircraft, and off-the-road equipment.

Staff Enjoys Free Approach Apps explained that his staff has complete freedom and responsibility as to how problems are approached and solved. For years, of course, the experimental approach prevailed, but computer and other electronic developments have made possible precise analytical (or mathematical) approaches to the complexities of noise, vibration and stress analysis.

The facility is equipped with: anechoic (echoless) "dead" or "soft" room. This cell has all surfaces, including floor, treated with noise absorbing sound wedges. Engineers setting up tests in the room are supported by portable grill sections which can be removed. For certain types of critical tests, where sound reflections must be reduced to a minimum, engineers in effect remove this floor grating, section by section, as they leave the cell.

Reverberation room. The antithesis of the anechoic room, this is called the "hard" room with its plaster walls. To minimize standing sound waves, the room is constructed so that no two walls are parallel. Both "hard" and "soft" rooms rest on concrete bases four feet thick with cork and fiberglass insulation under the sand filled cement block walls and floor slabs, respectively. Actually, the two rooms are buildings within a building. Three car test rooms, two with chassis dynamometers, each with five surfaces. Their walls and ceiling are treated with sound wedges three feet deep. The rooms and the dynamometers are large enough to accommodate all sizes of vehicles. The two chassis dynamometers have elevator platforms that move up and down hydraulically, enabling an engineer to work on a vehicle from any level or handle any specialized instrumentation with ease. Engine dynamometers with bed plates mounted in four feet of concrete which, in turn, "floats" on two inches of foam rubber. In addition, the laboratory has a small machine shop, complete rubber moulding facilities for developing such items as engine or body mounts, an instrument room for both instrument development and calibration.

Engineers Use 'Jury Room'

Also, there is the shaker room, so-called because of the electro-magnetic shaker with which engineers can concentrate on a specific part of the vibratory spectrum in isolating or locating a particular noise or vibration source.

Another technical feature is a "jury room" where engineers compare sound recordings. Sounds are picked up from inside operating vehicles through binaural microphones, recorded on stereo tape recorders and played back through headphones.

Two sound channels are fed into the headphones, one to each ear. In this way "presence" or realism of sound is created for the listener. Such a technique prevails because, despite modern, sophisticated and sensitive instrumentation now used by engineers, nature's binaural system of human hearing still is necessary in evaluating customer preference.

Furthermore, no graduated set of "numbers" can be used to classify sound meaningfully; tape recordings "remember accurately, people can't."

Isolation Is An Element Insofar as possible, noise and vibrations studies must be conducted in utter isolation. In the new GM facility all noises and vibrations radiating from pumps, fans, compressors, air conditioners, heating systems, etc., are suppressed by carefully designed isolation mountings or bases. Even the pipes, conduits, power lines, etc., emanating from them have specially designed soft rubber connectors to minimize vibration transmission.

flowers were repeated in the altar bouquets.

Richard Binford was the best man, with Brian Watson, the bride's brother, and Roger Tobias, cousin of the bridegroom, serving as ushers.

Lace embroidered in seed pearls, formed a scallop around the portrait neck of the bride's long-sleeved gown of white satin. A coronet held her bouffant veil of illusion. She carried a crescent arrangement of yellow phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis, accented with ivy and dracena foliage.

Miss Lynne Hein of Ithaca, New York, a cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Maureen Major of Pontiac, Michigan, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Linda Russell of Detroit.

Another cousin of the bride, Margaret Major of Pontiac, was flower girl.

Richard Watson, the bride's brother, served as ring bearer. The couple will reside at 616 West Fefta street, Peru, Indiana.

The bride is employed as receptionist at the Dental Clinic on the base. The bridegroom is stationed at Bunker Hill Air Force Base with the 68th Air Refueling Squadron.

AND YOU CAN GET THE "SPECIAL"

segment of the American population whose health is concerned.

"We're studying the middle-aged population in the very young and the very old," announced Dr. John

A. Cowan, director of the State Health Department's

Division of Epidemiology and Adult Health.

White Cowan calls "health concentration" measures should be stressed among the 20 to 40 year age group. These measures primarily consist of periodic health examinations.

Many chronic diseases which appear in their later years could be prevented by early detection and treatment in the younger years when the individual is apparently healthy and not concerned about the possibility of chronic disease.

Cowan says.

A recent national health survey showed about 25 per cent of the population in the 20 to 45 age group has one or more chronic disease conditions, Cowan noted.

"If we would only apply the knowledge that we have today in preventive and curative medicine, much of the chronic illness and disability present in today's aging population could be dispensed," he said.

Electronics in Tourism

THE USES OF ELEC-

TRONICS in state government are becoming more and more varied almost daily.

Data processing units by several departments are making record-keeping and other systems simpler and more effective.

Now, officials relate, an electronic reporting system will be used extensively next year to keep members of the tourist industry informed on the de-ments being placed on the industry.

This new electronic reporting system was used briefly this past summer at State Highway

Department Tourist Information Centers, reports department information officer, John

Murray. "Information gathering by the system will be of real value to the industry," he said.

Murray said use of the system would be expanded early next year, particularly during the summer season.

"This system provides a rapid profile of the Michigan tourist.

It tells where he comes from,

what he wants to do, where he stays and how long, and what kind of service he is looking for," said Murray.

Michigan is the first state to use such a reporting system and several other states have expressed an interest in the experiment.

"The tourist profile will be

Bulldogs Jump Into Win Column

Trounce Clarenceville 40 to 12

By CHRIS KLAGE, SR.
If a season must come to an end, there is no better way to wave farewell to the bumps and bruises than with a victory.

Coech Vince Zappone's Bulldogs gained their first winning season since 1958 (finishing with a 5-3 mark) and ended the 1962 football wars with a resounding 40 to 12 victory over the luckless Clarenceville Trojans.

COACH VINCE ZAPPONE

Brighton started right off in the first quarter, when they started a long drive, and Buzz Davison traveled 31 and 34 yards on two plays setting up Bob Amenson's scoring run, making it 7 to 0 for the Bulldogs early in the game.

when they recovered a Trojan fumble. Amenson now drove for 27 yards, and Bob Larabee went the final 15 for Brighton's second score, making it 14 to 0.

Clarenceville wasn't quite ready to roll over and play dead yet as Dan Freels spotted Gary Gerhart, and passed for a 21-yard scoring play.

Taking the kickoff Brighton moved the ball steadily on the ground with Larabee going for 30 and Davison adding 20 more yards. For the first time the Bulldogs were completely stalled as they were forced to give up the ball on the Trojan 10. But the Trojans were unable to score again, as the half ended with Brighton leading 13 to 6.

Midway in the third quarter, Clarenceville, was put in the situation of being deep in their own territory and having 2nd and 35. Freels dropped back in his end zone to pass and was hit very hard by Rick Larabee, and fumbled into the arms of Gary Armstrong for another Bulldog tally.

With the score 20 to 6 Brighton decided not to dilly-dally around with a long drive and set loose Phil Stine who rounded end behind fine blocking, and raced off 70 yards for another Bulldog score, ending the third quarter leading 27 to 6.

Beginning the fourth, Clarenceville mounted its best drive of the night and scored their final touchdown with Monroe Ashley scoring from the seven-

With their lead out to 27 to 12, Brighton rolled again, as Bob Amenson roared for 30 yds. and Dennis Hartman passed to Mac Pearnall to bring the ball to the eight-yard line. From here Amenson ran in for the score, making it 33 to 12 for the Bulldogs.

Amenson playing fine ball for the Bulldogs in this his last game, saved his most spectacular moment for the last, when late in the fourth quarter, he intercepted a final Clarenceville pass and ran 85 yards for Brighton's final score.

And so we bid farewell to a season of football, in which we have seen many a thrilling and sad moment, seeing heart-breaking losses and wonderful victories.

Race Tightens in Pee Wee League

ST. MARYS TAKES OVER LEAD

Pinckney Merchants pulled the upset of the season when they downed the highly touted St. Marys quintet in a thriller 13 to 12.

Plainly showing the results of some excellent coaching by Jim Bradley the Merchants took a quick 7 to 0 lead and held on for the victory with big Jeff Davis pouring in 8 points and Doyle doing some nice work under the baskets.

Mike Sepulveda and Jim Clayton as usual did the heavy work for the Saints.

Hamburg took the measure of Playland in another tight one 18 to 16, with a tight zone defense that the Playboys could never penetrate.

Pinckney and Fumerson played a steady game for the Hainesmen while Playland continued in their slump and had no sustained offense whatsoever. Douglas turned in an outstanding defensive game for the losers.

With four teams now in the running for the league lead anything can happen and the Hamburg team takes on St. Marys Saturday at 11:30 a.m., what should be another thriller as L. D. Haines has his team in high gear and may upset St. Marys.

Play in the Pee Wee Basketball league resumed Tuesday night with St. Marys whipping playland 30 to 6 to take over the league lead for the first time. Jim Clayton hit the hoop for 19 counters and stood out for the winners. Playland listlessly with only Douglas showing any semblance of form.

In the nightcap the Pinckney Merchants won their second and handed the Pilgrims their 5th loss by a 22 to 12 score. Jeff Davis looks more promising with each performance and came up with 11 points to lead his team.

For the losers Toby Shetleroe and Don Hollister each scored four points.

Hell Chamber Plans Hockey For Youngsters

Interest can be stimulated, The Hell Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a Little League Ice Hockey League at Hell starting in January, 1963.

Plans call a four team league composed of 6th, 7th and 8th grade students with teams from Hamburg, St. Marys and 2 teams from the Pinckney Elementary system.

If the interest is sufficient it could be enlarged to a 6 or 8 team League from Livingston and Washtenaw County areas.

Anyone interested in this venture, whether a sponsor, player, coach or manager or team representative is asked to either Phone Mel Reinhard at Uptown 8-6607 or write the Hell Chamber of Commerce at Hell, Michigan.

If the League is organized, games will be played Sunday afternoon between 1 and 4 P.M.

Pirate Makes Desperate Grab

It's Chow Time for Apes, Fish

A shopper these days runs into the darnedest things. Imagine going into a store to buy dog food and seeing on the shelf "monkey chow" and "trout chow."

It was there all right but the storekeeper explained that because monkeys are being sold nearly everywhere from the 10 cent store to the pet shop, there has sprung up quite a business in special monkey food. But trout chow—

This is being bought by the thrifty farmer who has his own trout pond to supply his personal table with fresh fish or for revenue by allowing fishing at so much per trout.

In Livingston County alone there are quite a number of these private fishing spots, the storekeeper said, and produced a list as long as his arm. Most of them are do-it-yourself projects.

The modern do-it yourself idea even takes in the building of dams, lakes and ponds. These artificial water spots cover more than one-half million acres in Michigan, according to a Michigan State University resource development researcher. More than 5,000 artificial lakes and ponds add to the state's natural tourist and vacation attractions.

THE CHEETAH
The cheetah is the only member of the cat family that does not have retractable claws. All the rest of the cat family can extend them or draw them back at will. According to Compton's Encyclopedia, cats have 18 claws, five on each forefoot and four on each hind foot.

PENNY GAZETTE TO BE PUBLISHED

The Penny Gazette published by the 6th grade of the West Elementary School last year proved to be so popular that it will appear again this year.

However, it is planned to have all classes in grades 4, 5, and 6 profit from the experience of compiling the paper. Each class will undertake the publication of one issue.

In this manner more children will gain experience in interviewing, in writing news articles, and in submitting original writing.

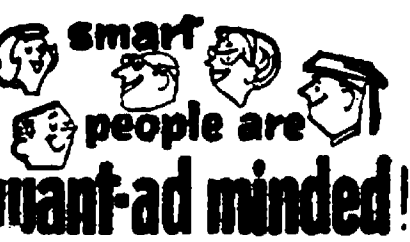

The first issue, prepared by Mrs. Irish's 6th grade, has appeared.

SEVENTH GRADERS BEING TESTED

The seventh graders have taken the California Mental Maturity test recently. The results will be used as a guide to determine whether the students are working to their capacity.

"Parents can learn the results," explains Mr. Scranton. "However, students will not be told. These tests are only an indication of what a student is capable of doing in school."

"If all students worked to their mental capacity, there would not be any problem in school."

INSTRUMENTAL ABILITY TESTS GIVEN

On October 15 and 16 the students in the fifth and sixth grades participated in an all school instrumental ability test. This was given to help find students who have musical ability. Areas covered included pitch, time, harmony, intensity and rhythm. Those students who scored above a set grade received a certificate of musical ability.

Each homeroom teacher was consulted relative to the academic standing of the ones who received certificates. Those with good academic records were then invited to participate in the grade school instrumental program.

"This year the enthusiasm for the program seems to be at an all time high. Also, we have found that apart from the musical education acquired, band membership builds character, teaches cooperation and discipline, and inspires the ambitious to excel," said the Director, Carl Klopshinske.
