Churches Announce Holy Week Services

"Fasten'ating'

PINCKNEY — The Pinckney PTA Seat Belt Clinic got off to a flying start on March 9, when they installed 31 seat belts in a 5 hour period.

The next sale will be conducted at the Thomas Read Sons Lumber Yard at 475 N. Webster St., Pinckney, on Saturday, April 13 from the hours of 12 noon to 5:00 p.m. Seat belts are available in a half-dozen colors and installation is free and will be the same as performed in any garage, bolted firmly to brackets under the car floor, where they can't pull loose and allow persons wearing them to slam into dashboards and windshields in accidents.

Mountains of statistics have been collected in the past few years showing how communities' auto injury records improve when a large percentage of residents equip their cars with seat belts. The University of Michigan and many other organizations, sheriff's departments etc., have equipped all their vehicles with seat belts.

The Pinckney PTA project was planned as a public service to the people of the Pinckney area but invitations were extended to motorists from all areas of Michigan to come to Pinckney and participate in this cost savings event. A fee of only $6.25 tax included per seat belt is being charged and with free installation, this event is just too good a one to pass up.

The next sales date will be June 15 and 16 at the Village Square in Pinckney between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. If your planning a motoring holiday this summer, insure yourself a safe return and have these seat belts installed before you start your trip.

Local Resident Does Sculpture

How appropriate for this Lenten Season is this head of the "Sorrowful Mother" is it was sculptured from clay by Mrs. Virginia Dettling!

Mrs. Dettling modestly, claims to be only an amateur at this type of thing, and has done it as a hobby for the past 8 or 10 years.

This particular work of art is not over a foot tall, and was done for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pardon, of Pinckney.

Mrs. Dettling and her husband, Max, live at 9605 Dexter Pinckney Road. They own and operate Dettling's Grocery, at Portage Lake.

They have three children, two daughters, Sue, married, and Vickie age 9, and a son, Gary, a senior at Dexter High.

The picture was taken by Jack Hannett.

"SORROWFUL MOTHER"

VOTERS kept Helen Reynolds as Putnam Township Treasurer in the April 1 election. This photo was taken only minutes after the election results were called out, and though it may not be the best of Mrs. Reynolds, her pleased smile is certainly proof that she anticipates continuing to do a true and honest job this ensuing term as treasurer.

Supervisors Name Spicer, Chairman

HOWELL — Green Oak Township Supervisor Howard Spicer will head the 22-member County Board of Supervisors for the next two years.

The 64-year-old Republican defeated non-partisan Howell Mayor Clifton Heller by a vote of 12 to 8.

Supervisor Francis E. Shehan, 43, of Spicer's neighboring Hamburg Township, was unanimously re-elected vice chairman. He is a Democrat.

This election puts Spicer in the chair for the second time as he was leader of the county 10 years ago.

In accepting the position he said to his fellow supervisors, in reply to their demand for a speech, "I don't know whether to thank you or cuss you."

County Clerk Joseph H. Ellis swore in Brighton City's two supervisors, Marshall Cooper and Martin Lavan. Also present at the meeting as new supervisors were Stanley Dinkel, newly-elected in Putnam Township, and Russell H. Engelhardt replacing the retired Howell City supervisor, Douglas Swann.

Welfare Committee Chairman Harold Armstrong reported on the work of his committee.

Supervisor Carl Raddatz was reappointed to the Finance Committee to which Supervisors Harold Armstrong and Burr Clark were also named.

The Equalization Committee appointed by the chairman is composed of William Hogan, Milton Conine, Francis Shehan Lee Gordon, and Allan B. Campbell.

Gas Co. vs Owners

Million Dollar Suit Goes On

HOWELL—Complete rights to store gas (piped from Texas) under the City of Howell and four townships are likely to cost the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. in the neighborhood of one million dollars when final settlement of a 1½-year-old suit is reached.

Brighton attorney Martin J. Lavan, chairman of a special Probate Court Commission, declared this week that the total cost of adjudication and payment of damages to property owners would reach the figure named.

Hearings are taking place currently on 60 parcels in an attempt to establish the amount the gas company will have to pay to store gas.

Lavan said several owners have settled out of court for unspecified sums. Frank Bush, former county register of deeds, is owner of the larger blocks of property still under dispute.

Panhandle sought to condemn the property in Howell and the township of Genoa, Howell, Marion, and Oceola townships toward the end of October, 1961.

Probate Judge Francis E. Barron disqualified himself because of being one of the property owners involved.

A visiting judge appointed a commission consisting of Lavan, Murray J. Kennedy of Pinckney, and Clyde McLeer of Gregory.

CONDEMNATION

In order for Panhandle to condemn the property the Commission had to determine if it was "necessary" Lavan said.

After voluminous testimony was taken in May of 1962, the body determined that such was the case and the gas company could proceed to condemn by posting a bond of $1,000,000.

Lavan explained the costs to be incurred by stating, "Under the law which permits the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. to condemn land, the company must pay all necessary expenses in connection with the proceedings, including necessary witness fees, fees for attorneys for the landowners, and commissioners' fees.

STORAGE SITE

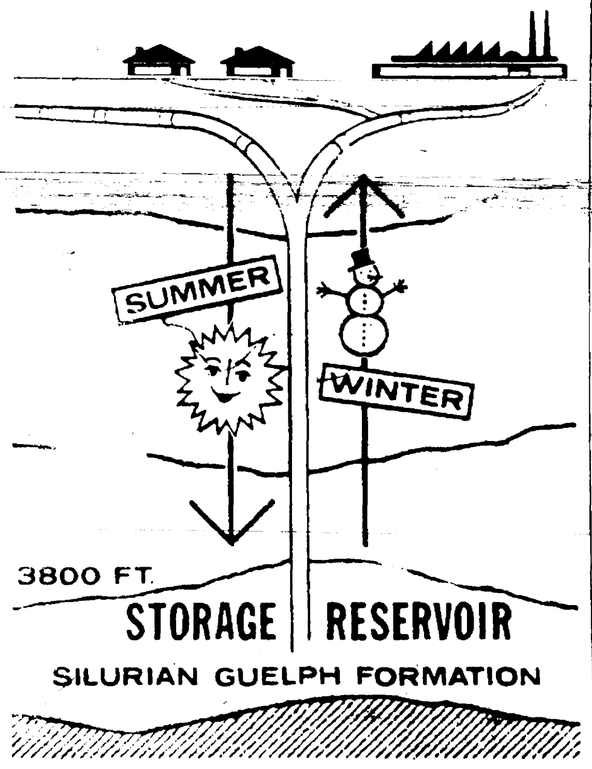
The storage site is 3800 feet below the surface of the ground, egg shaped, covering 9,000 acres in an area roughly three by seven miles.

Gas is stored in what geologists call "Silurian Guelph" —a bed of porous rocks from which natural gas was once produced.

This storage area at Howell ranges from nothing to 12 feet in height, according to estimates, and is shaped like an inverted frying pan.

The Howell Field is one of 15 underground areas in Michigan to have been transformed into a natural gas warehouse.

Lavan said it originally contained 33 billion cubic feet of gas.



SUMMER STORAGE AT WORK — Artist's drawing shows how natural gas is stored in underground reservoir during summer months and is withdrawn during winter to meet market demands. Latest natural gas storage facility in Michigan is the Howell Field, developed in he recent $100 million expansion program of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company.

Dealer Loses Motorcycle Valued At $1025

Roy Nicholson, Ann Arbor motorcycle dealer, was robbed of a $1025 motorcycle Sunday while attending a motorcycle "Scrambles" at the Iron Mustang Club Grounds on Challis road, Brighton. He told state police he saw it being driven away but was too far away to apprehend the thief.

Walter Jollitz reported the theft of 20 antique pieces of furniture, taken last week from his farm at 1010 Truhn road. He advised the Livingston County Sheriff's Department that these antiques had been handed down through the Jollitz family and some of them were over 100 years old.

Alan Gibson Will Instruct Driver Training

PINCKNEY — The annual Driver's Training Educational Program will soon be underway, according to Alan Gibson, instructor for this program.

Adults, as well as high school students are most welcome to enroll. It is a state requirement that a person have 30 hours classroom training, and 6 hour behind-the-wheel training to legally obtain a drivers license.

A person 15 years of age is eligible to enroll in a driver's training class, and then be granted a permit to drive a vehicle until reaching the age of 16, of which, is the usual age a person can obtain a license. However, this permit enables the person to drive only when accompanied by a parent.

John Burg will assist Gibson throughout the program. Classes will begin the first part of June and continue to mid-August.

The driver-students will be picked up at their home, or within convenient walking distance of their home, and be returned, likewise, after each class.

Class enrollment five years ago amounted to 82 students, last year it was up to 103 students, and this year Gibson anticipates up to 120 person enrollment. Announcement will be made next week as to how, when and where to enroll for these classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robeson of Rives Junction were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Robeson.

Henry Ford liked to talk to news reporters, but occasionally would duck their questions by a quick exit through a window. Once in Washington, D.C., he escaped reporters through a cellar door at the White House.

Henry Ford adapted his mass-production theory to boat-building. The first World War I Eagle boat launched in Dearborn on July 11, 1918, was the first ship to be assembled by these new methods.

FARM BILLS OCCUPY MINDS OF LEGISLATORS

By Thomas G. Sharpe
State Representative

You will remember that in an earlier report I remarked that the Legislature this year received the greatest concentration of agricultural legislation in history.

The first major deadline . . . that for passing bills in the House in which they originated. . . has passed and I can now more accurately picture the status of measures which will directly affect farmers, the agricultural economy of our state and the marking and consumption of agricultural products or byproducts.

Forty-seven farm, or farm-related measures, were introduced in the House of Representatives. Sixteen of these bills have survived the committee process and the test on the floor of the House.

There were a total of 21 agricultural bills introduced in the Senate. Seven of these were passed and sent to the House of Representatives. Bills which passed the House will now be considered in Senate Committees and on the floor in that Chamber. Senate bills will undergo the same process in the House.

The following is a brief resume of the measures which are still pending in the Legislature which would reflect directly, or indirectly, on our agricultural economy:

HB 35: This bill would permit the use of artificial sweeteners in soft drinks and would require that the bottler's name not vary between the bottle, label and cap. It prevents use of a soft drink bottle for other than its original product.

HB 75: Has been signed by the Governor which provides supplemental and emergency appropriations to the Department of Agriculture; $183,200 for the eradication of Japanese beetles in Southeastern Michigan counties and $80,000 for use in the arrest of a serious infiltration of cereal leaf beetles in the grain crops of Southwestern Michigan.

HB 149: Is a " consumer's protection" measure designed to protect the customer from the sale of adulterated or misbranded foods in the retail store.

HB 236: The Senate is studying this measure to prohibit the use of chemical sprays (2,4-D; 2,4-5-T; and MCP) causing damage to grape vineyards or crops of grapes within affected areas.

HB 275: This is a measure including portions of the carcass in the definition of dead animals as it applies to the laws regulating rendering plants.

HB 286: These companion bills authorize the sale of milk, cream and Grade A milk with a 2% butterfat content. They apply to flavored skimmed milk and whipped cream, frozen or unfrozen.

HB 288: This bill has passed the House and sent to the Senate which would set restrictions on the manufacture, packaging and labeling of non-alcoholic, non - carbonated, fruit- type beverages. This is designed to make clear the distinction between "juices" and "drinks" and to set standards for the percentage of fruit juice content of the various beverages.

HB 426: Is concerned with fixing standards for weights and measures, and regulate packaging and advertising of foodstuffs at the retail-wholesale level.

HB 444: Would set certain regulations for the standards, grading, marketing, advertising and selling of eggs.

HB 616: Requires the Agriculture Department to publish a list of varieties and hybrids of seeds available for certification.

HB 639: This measure would repeal the present Agricultural Marketing Act (Public Act 257 of the Acts of 1945) which creates the Marketing Council.

HB 698: Affects commercial fertilizers. It requires the individual product's name on the package and that the processor furnish the Agriculture Department with a certified copy of content analysis upon request. Vendors must kep records of shipments and the product must be accessable to inspection.

HB 699: Regulates agricultural liming materials. It requires the name of the product to be shown on the container, a sample to accompany analysis when requested by the Agriculture Department, requires venors to keep records of such materials, and grants agricultural agents access to premises where materials are kept.

HB 723: This measure authorizes the creation of a Bean Commission and provides for the assessment and collection of fees and for advertising.

HB 838: Is the major appropriation passed in the House of Representatives which provides a total of $10,454,171 for the operations of the conservation, recreation and agricultural programs of the state during the next fiscal year.

SB 1028: Establishes standards for the production, handling, sanitation and marketing of milk and milk products.

SB 1148: Provides for paying assessment and receiving refunds by non-participating potato growers would be removed under the provisions of this bill.

SB 1268: Provides that in certain cases, the address of the plant where certain types of comminuted meats are manufactured would not be required to be placed on the containers.

SB 1303: Includes "foreign" farm produce under the provisions of farm produce storage agreements and regulations.

SB 1305: This measure would remove floriculture products from the farm produce act which provides for merchant's commissions.

SB 1317: This bill provides for the regulation of labeling, advertising, sale and transportation of seeds and outlines the responsibilities of the Department of Agriculture.

SB 1349: Authorizes the owner of a cattle herd moving into the state to bring in unvaccinated cattle.

These are the major agricultural, or farm-related, measures which have survived the first two-thirds of the 1963 Spring Session. I shall be able to report to you next month on the final disposition of these proposals.

In the meantime, I shall welcome your comments and opinions on these bills or other measures in which you may have an interest.

M.C.F. Plans Schedule For Cancers Films

HOWELL — John Merten, county crusade chairman for the current Cancer fund-raising drive, is seeking volunteers to help in the effort. He has asked that interested persons contact him within the next week at Howell 2668.

Merten called attention to a speech by Dr. Roscoe Stuber who says:

"During this coming month many facts about cancer will be shared with you by the American Cancer Society over all media of information during the educational and fund raising Crusade. Cancer strikes one in every four men, women and children in our country and next to heart disease is the leading cause of death." A decade ago only one of every four cancer patients was saved. Now it is one in three — but it could be one in two or less. This can come only when you know the danger signals of cancer and heed them. Many lives may be saved by earlier diagnosis and treatment.

"When a physician sees cancer out of control and spreading or metastasizing to other organs, he becomes discouraged for although some avenues of treatment are still present, the chance of cure is negligible. Early diagnosis is still the key, for cancer is the most curable of all the chronic diseases if discovered when still localized."

Fire Officer Warns Of Dry Woods

HOWELL—Fire Officer Leon Guzinski of the Michigan Department of Conseravtion advises that the woods and grass lands are very dry.

"Fires can be easily started, and are difficult to control. Local fire departments have been kept busy with a rash of grass and brush fires. Most of these fires are started by careless debris burning. These fires are unnecessary and are costing you the taxpayer money," he said.

These steps should be followed in all cases whenever any grass or brush is to be burnt and the ground is not snow covered.

1. Obtain a fire permit.
2. Do not burn when the wind is blowing.
3. Have water and tools available to control the fire.
4. Have sufficient help available.
5. Never leave a fire unattended.
6. Make sure a fire is completely out before leaving.

A state fire permit is required to burn grass and brush land when the ground is not covered. Fire permits can be obtained by calling your local fire chief or the Conservation department AC 9-6566. After business hours permits can be obtained by calling Howell 750, Howell 1417 or Brighton AC 9-6877.

Residents of Brighton Township should call the Brighton Town Hall Tuesday through Saturday AC 9-6175. Residents of Green Oak Township should call the Township clerk AC 9-6232.

These permits can be obtained without charge. Violation of this law can bring a fine and jail sentence, Guzinski said.

Pinckney People You Know

BY DOLLY BAUGHN

In celebration of Mrs. Beulah Miller's birthday, her children, the Cliff Millers, the Norm Millers, and the Clare Millers furnished a complete dinner, and took it to Mrs. Miller's home. Mrs. Miller was so pleased, and surprised "beyond words"!

Another birthday party took place, also on Sunday, Mrs. Catherine Heath being honored. The Robert Vedders were host to the Charles Heath family, the Jerry Heath family, the Mike Heath family, the Noel Cook family, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Heath of Royal Oak, the Larry Hurtibise family of Portage Lake, and Mrs. George Naylor for this "gala" occasion. There were 25 grandchildren present ranging from age 1 to 18 years, to wish grandma a "happy birthday, and many more to come."

Cpl. and Mrs. Bob Cole are home from Ft. Knox, Kentucky. Cpl. Cole has been granted a 10-day leave, and they plan to spend it with his parents, the Stanford Coles of Grass Lake, and Mrs. Cole's parents, the Loy Bonds of Pinckney.

To complete a list of infants born in the last week of March, we have Mr. and Mrs. Michael Reames (Cathy Reason), a daughter; Mr. and Mrs. David Taylor, (Barbara Spraque), a son; Mr. and Mrs. James Neal, a son, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Farrow, a daughter.

The birthday party for Bob Egler that his wife, Alice surprised him with, was most successful. We understand Bob was speechless!

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Baughn and daughter, Kim, have moved into their new home on the Dexter-Pinckney Road, recently completed for them by Joe Jeffreys. Friends and relatives moved them Saturday, ("many hands making light work")! Everything was taken care of by 2:30! (a.m. that is!)

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rosiecki, and family, spent the past week-end in Detroit at the home of Mr. Rosiecki's parents. The occasion being to celebrate grandma Rosiecki's birthday. (Mr. Rosiecki owns "The Village Beauty Shoppe" in Pinckney.)

We are happy to know that Mrs. Mary Amburgey is able to be home from the hospital. Mrs. Amburgey suffers from asthma.

Mr. and Mrs. William Begley spent the week of spring vacation in Chicago visiting friends and relatives. Their son, Dave, goes to New Jersey to take part in the budging of the national roller skating champion next week. Dave was national champion himself for four consecutive years prior to last year.

It's nice to know we have Pinckney People of this nature among us. The Begleys are new residents to the Portage Lake area, as of last fall.

We are sorry to hear Markie Lazlo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lazlo is ill with chicken-pox. (Jeannie is especially sorry, Markie.)

Mrs. Robert Read made a rather unusual discovery last week when she removed the oil cloth from an old table stored in the garage, and found newspapers underneath it dated exactly 55 years ago to the very day. The paper was dated April 3, 1908, and it was April 3, 1963, that Mrs. Read discovered them.

Barbara Baughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Baughn will celebrate her birthday Monday, April 15.

Richard McCloskey will go to Wyoming this summer, making it the second consecutive year for him to do so. Mr. McCloskey has received a National Foundation Scholarship Award to study mathematics at the University of Wyoming. He teaches math at Pinckney High.

Alice Patton is visiting her aunt and uncle, the Friday Haines, while she is vacationing from her studies at Howell High.

Mrs. Leona-Marie Bonner and son, Roger, have returned from a week's visit with Paratrooper T. Ryan Bonner, also a son of Mrs. Bonner, at Ft. Campbell, Kentucky. While there they visited Mrs. Irene Little of Ashland, whom Mrs. Bonner and sons have not seen since World War II, when they were neighbors at the Army Air Force Base at Lincoln, Nebraska.

By the hospital news sent us from the McPherson Community Health Center, Howell, we note that Mrs. Edith Waite; Scharme Baxter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baxter; Ronald, Stevie, and Shirley Hollister, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hollister were all patients there, but have now been discharged.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brash, Jr., have gone to Tazewell, Virginia, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Brash's brother, Charles Tinsley, who very suddenly suffered a fatal heart attack.

Their children, ages 13, 11, 10, and 8 are staying with their grandparents, the Bill Brash, Srs.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baughn were dinner guests of the Winston H. Baughns. A roast beef dinner was enjoyed by all, with the exception of Mr. Winston Baughn who spent the day in bed, with a back ailment. The occasion for this gathering was to honor Don Baughn, son of the Winston Baughns, home until April 9, when he leaves this country to spend a year in Morocco.

PINCKNEY — The Pirates continued their winning Monday when their baseball squad won its 26th straight game, downing Brighton 6 to 5.

Brighton errors were held responsible for part of the team's success as all Pirate runs were unearned.

A tied-up game was resolved in the extra inning when Jim Barber picked up the winning run.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

It was a pleasure to sit in on the School Board meeting last Thursday night and observe the fine cooperation and team spirit with which the board members tackled the problems of this district.

The Bureau of School Services of the University of Michigan has prepared for the Pinckney School District a comprehensive, commendable plan and program for improved facilities and services.

The Pinckney School Board was unanimous to the man in approving the spirit and principle of these recommendations. Many details remain to be worked out, but the spirit of cooperation displayed by these dedicated public spirited citizens can solve all problems and overcome all obstacles if the citizens of this District will support their School Board.

This is going to be a hard, grueling summer for these Board Members. These men are to be highly commended for the wonderful opportunity they are making available to this community, and they deserve the support and cooperation of every citizen of the District.

O. Bond Collier
Pinckney 2, Mich.

Dear Sir:

How to say something so clear cut that there could be no argument and no double reading into the lines? What is being said here is being said for many people who do not express themself.

This whole community plays a game that never should be played. In a city where no one knows each other and sheep follow the leader, these happenings could be understood. Here where everyone does know each other, it is time for everyone to stop and think for himself.

Every issue in this community, whether a schoolboard election, a school bond issue, or a community project such as a Township Hall and Fire Hall becomes a political joke.

It doesn't matter what is at stake, whether a child's education, or fire protection, even civil defense or police protection. Everything becomes something for some people to use for a power political manipulation of votes.

A community and what it is, is no different than an individual. What it thinks it is capable of doing, what values it sets for itself, that is what it will achieve.

It's time here for people to start doing something together. It wouldn't really much matter what it would be, almost anything.

It's time for every individual here to become community minded and to try to do something to be proud of.

Mary Jane Tasch
Pinckney

Dear Sir:

The proposed enlargement and improvement of the school facilities of the Pinckney School District offers to every citizen in the District an unparallaled opportunity to render a service in this time of need.

The new facilities will constitute an important contribution to the health and well being of every student, and will be a source of satisfaction and pride to everyone in the District.

But more than this is involved. Our public school system is the cradle of democracy, and unless we make it work efficiently and effectively, we may drift into defeat by default! Making our school system work is a challenge which can and must be faced successfully!

The new facilities could aid in the development of an individual who could make a great contribution to improved health, education, peace and democracy.

The absence of the facilities could contribute to the building of a hardened demagogue who could help to disturb peace, health, education, democracy.

That old high school building is not only a disgrace — it is a hazard! The only reason it hasn't done more harm and contributed to more delinquency than it has is because of the ability of one Wesley Reader and his staff to transmute negative values into positive virtues.

But we can't forever and a day impose upon these fine dedicated people by asking them to continue to exhaust themselves physically mentally and spiritually in combating the demoralization and degradation of that hazardous fire-trap. If we will give them some decent tools and facilities with which to work they will produce some outstanding citizens who will make outstanding contributions to our society and to the world in which we live.

Plans are under way for a series of round table discussions between architects, faculty, school board, and citizens. Get in at once on these meetings and get as many as possible of your associates to get an early start. The more you know about this proposal, the more you will be able to help enlighten others on the matter.

Do your part to help remove this hazard to Pinckney youth, this menace to society! Do your part to give our dedicated instructors the tools, facilities and atmosphere they need to turn our children into the kind of men and women they should be.

You have to live with yourself the rest of your life. Helping put this program across is the least you can do to stay on good terms with yourself, and one of the better things you can do to help perpetuate and improve peace, democracy and goodwill in an uneasy world!

Remember; The public school system is the cradle of democracy! Let's build a cradle here worthy of our heritage, and worthy of the fine men and women that our children, with this help, can and will become!

O. Bond Collier
Pinckney

P. S.:

In colonial days a man named Pinckney served as a member of the founding Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia. He would probably rattle his bones in disgust if he could see the High School which today bears the once proud name of Pinckney!

High Scoring In Roller Hockey

The first game Sunday afternoon was between the Stompers and Pirates. The Stompers rolled over the Pirates by the score of 9 to 5. This game put the Stompers in first place.

The Stompers goals were made by Roger Shekell scoring 4 goals, Spud Webster scoring 2, and the last 3 goals were made by their star wing Ron Price Sr. They each picked up 1 assist.

The Pirates goals were paced by their star player Larry Shekell who made all 5 goals. Don Gibbs picked up 1 assist.

The second game was a real fast hard-checking game between the Crusaders and the Stealers. Stealers won this game by the score of 5 to 4.

The Stealers goals were made by their star player Carl Stuhrberg who scored 4 goals. Randy DeHate scored the other goal.

The Crusaders goals were paced by Jim Puroson who scored 2 goals. Tex Black and Jim Volts each scored 1 goal each.

HATED AND PERSECUTED, the alien carp nonetheless will soon be king to a fast-growing segment of Michigan's outdoorsmen. These, the Michigan Bow Hunters Association points out, are the archers who — with special bowfishing gear — will be stalking carp from now to August 15 on hundreds of the state's streams, inland lakes and in Great Lakes marshes. The bowfisherman here hoists a 25-pound carp from a rough fish infested river. The Michigan record for carp is 48 pounds 12 ounces, and an archer shot that one in Lake Erie. Bows are rigged with special reels, heavy line, glass arrows and "harpoon" points.

Howell Blasts Bulldogs

Howell jumped off to an early lead, Brighton battled back to tie the game in the top of the 6th. but Howell exploded for 6 runs in their ½ of the 6 on 2 home-runs to win the game.

Big gun for Howell was Dave Hancoch with 2HRS and 3-4 and 7 runs batted in. For Brightn Ron Sell had 2 doubles and Ralph Veth had 2-3, Don Rockwell played a fine defensive game for Brighton.

Brighton has alot of young inexperienced players who will have to hustle a great deal to over-come this lack it is to have a successful season.

Golfers Prepare for Howell

Special to this newspaper

BRIGHTON— Temperatures in the 80's, bright sunshine drying ground have all been a boon to golfers. BHS squad members have been out every day taking advantage of these conditions.

Today and tomorrow are rough days for members of the squad who will be playing 18 holes for low positions which will place four of them in competition with Howell on the fifteenth of this month.

There is a sizeable group contending for these positions. John Park, Chris Klages, and Ed Case represent the Seniors

Two of them, Chris Klages and John Park, are down in Florida now getting in a few practice games before the real thing.

Both boys have been assets to the golf team for three seasons.

Ed Case, a new man to the golf team, is not new to the golf course. He has been playing for three years, but not in school competition. Ed looks very promising.

Park Naturalists Talk to 66,100

William F. Hopkins, chief naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, today announced that over 66,100 persons in southeastern Michigan heard nature talks conducted by Authority naturalists from November 1, 1962 through March 29, 1963.

Over 65,500 persons hearing the lectures were school-age youngsters in the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

Naturalists William Hopkins and Richard Mortemore visited 139 schools, gave 405 lectures and talked to over 65,500 boys, girls and teachers at schools in the five-county area during the six - month period from last November through March this year.

Comparative figures for similar periods are: Over 42,000 persons in 1961-62; over 39,000 in 1960-61 and over 17,000 during 1959-60.

The number of lectures given during the 1961-62 season were 280. This year's increase to 405 lectures was made possible since naturalists often visited two schools a day and because of the increased requests for naturalist service from the City of Detroit Schools and other schools in Wayne County.

The Nature Center at Kensington Metropolitan Park attracted over 4,900 visitors this March compared to over 3,500 persons in March of 1962.

While many school groups visit the Nature Center daily, the building is open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sundays and from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

For additional information persons may phone WOodward 1-5865, the headquarters of the Huron - Clinton Metropolitan Authority in Detroit.

Pinckney Community School Survey - '63

Enrollments are also a major determining factor in the selection of an appropriate administrative structure for a school system. Smaller systems often find the 6 - 6 plan an expedient solution despite the disadvantages of mixing junior and senior high school students. This appears to be the case in Pinckney at the present time inasmuch as total enrollments in grades 7 — 12 do not exceed 600 pupils.

In the short run a variety of organizational patterns will undoubtedly be used in order to make the best of existing buildings and to adapt to patterns of growth as they develop. The ultimate organizational pattern once determined will affect greatly the kind and general location of all future structures. It should be remembered that the administrative structure should be chosen to facilitate the educational programs in a given set of circumstances. There is no best plan that will fit all places and all circumstances.

2. School Sites

Each school district should develop a long-range plan for the acquisition of school sites which will be needed when and if the school district is fully built up with business and industrial establishments and residential dwellings. It is educationally and financially sound for school leaders to acquire the full minimum acreage for the three divisions of the school system as they anticipate future needs.

a. Elementary School K - 6) - 12 acres for each school enrolling 550 to 700 pupils.
b. Junior High School (7 - 8 or 7 - 9) - 25 acres or more for each school enrolling up to 1000 students.
c. Senior High School (9 - 12 or 10 - 12) - 40 - 50 acres for a senior high school enrolling 1200 or more students.

The acquisition of future school sites should have a high priority because land is available now; it may not be later. Land will never be more reasonable than it is now. Many boards of education have avoided crises by taking options on sites and then paying for them over periods of years.

School authorities should attempt to secure the cooperation of other governmental units to agree upon the coordinated purchase of park and school sites as has been done in Grand Rapids, Ann Arbor, and other cities with benefits to all.

Provision should be made in each bond issue for the adequate development of each school site. Needs should be anticipated for playgrounds, playground equipment, parking, sports and recreation, seeding and plantings. Some schools are also making provision for outdoor laboratory use of the site by the science departments of the schools.

3. School Buildings

a. Elementary School K - 6)

School authorities recommend that the elementary school provide the following minimum facilities: approximately 20 classrooms including two kindergartens; an office and waiting room; a health room; a multipurpose room; a library; provision for special education instruction; adequate storage for maintenance and school supplies; a school kitchen (a serving kitchen may be adequate if centralized food preparation is in effect). Classrooms should provide a minimum of 900 sq. ft. of space for instructional purposes. Kindergarten rooms are somewhat larger. Provision should be made for the storage of clothing in lockers or in some other appropriate manner. The enrollment of a complete elementary school will ordinarily include 550 to 700 students depending upon whether the teacher-pupil ratio approximates 25 or 30 to 1.

b. Junior High School

Junior high schools operate most efficiently when they enroll from 750 to 900 students. Provisions should be made for the subject offerings identified above. In addition to the administrative and clerical services which must be provided for, school leaders can anticipate the end for guidance offices. One can anticipate also a somewhat greater need for parking for teachers, parents and visitors.

c. Senior High School

In order to make full use of the many expensive central facilities of a comprehensive high school, student enrollments should approximate 900 at a minimum. Most school leaders do not feel that improved quality results appreciably when enrollments rise above the 1500 student level. At this point there is usually the need to duplicate facilities and efficiency declines somewhat.

School leaders and parents are also inclined to be somewhat concerned that the individual student may become lost in a very large educational enterprise. Hence, there is a preference as a rule for a senior high school enrolling 1200 - 1500 students.

5. The Maintenance of School Buildings and School Grounds

All schools should make adequate provision for lighting, heating, and ventilation. Unless this is done, the educational efficiency of students and teachers alike will be severely impaired. A high quality of interior and exterior finishes is strongly recommended. The true costs of the building should be measured in terms of the initial costs plus the maintenance expenses over the period of its lifetime. When these factors are both considered, school leaders will see that operating costs at times can be dramatically reduced through the reduction of the number of maintenance personal and the costs of paint, waxes, and cleaning supplies. If schools are adequate in size and if modest additional capital expenditures are made, the annual cost of school maintenance often can be reduced substantially with a consequent improvement in the funds available for the educational enterprise.

6. Class Size and Staff Utilization

Most elementary and secondary schools attempt to maintain the teacher-pupil ratio of 25 - 30 to 1. Such differences as exist in the average class size from one system to another can usually be attributed to differences in financial capacity or willingness to maintain a low teacher-pupil ratio. When funds are limited, for whatever reason, it is all the more important to operate school units which make it possible to balance class size at a maximum efficiency level. This is very difficult to do unless enrollments in the elementary and secondary schools approximate the numbers recommended above.

7. Instructional Equipment

Elementary and secondary schools can not function effectively without adequate supplies of instructional equipment. Equipment needs should be provided for in a substantial fashion in the initial bond issue. If this is not done, the deficiencies must be made up out of the operating budget. This is often impossible to accomplish or can be effected only through an upward manipulation of the teacher-pupil ratio.

The cost of a school building should be computed not only in terms of its construction costs but in terms of its total cost when fully and adequately equipped and located on a fully developed school site.

8. Administrative Services

Adequate provision should be made for administrative and clerical services in the elementary and secondary schools. Each elementary school should have a full-time principal and a full-time clerk. Secondary schools ordinarly assign the equivalent of a full-time principal or assistant principal for each 400 to 500 students, with clerical services adjusted accordingly. The North Central Association stipulates that one guidance person be employed for each 300 students enrolled in the school. Appropriate provision also should be made in the elementary and secondary schools for such educational needs as library services, audio-visual services, remedial reading service, health service, and food preparation and distribution.

APPENDIX C

Curriculum Needs of the School System

Grades K - 6: The Elementary School Program:

1. In addition to opportunities provided by the classroom teacher, all pupils enrolled in grades K - 6 should have at least two 30-minute weekly periods of instruction by specialists in art, vocal music, instrumental music, and physical education and health. Library service should also be made available with a full-time librarian to serve the needs of the district as it now exists.
2. Administrators stressed the urgent need for special education programs in specially equipped classrooms, with specially trained teachers. At least two such rooms would appear to constitute minimum requirements.
3. Leadership for curriculum development on a system-wide basis appeared to be needed in order to develop common goals, relatively uniform offerings, and to provide opportunities for in-service growth of teachers.

Grades 7 - 8: The Junior High School Program:

Grades 7 - 8 are now housed and administered as part of the elementary school and have no exposure to a departmentalized junior high program. Good junior high school curricular offerings include the following subjects taught by qualified specialists in a stimulating classroom or laboratory setting: English, math, science, social studies, physical education and health, vocal and instrumental music, art, homemaking, and industrial arts. Laboratory offerings are usually taught on alternate days or semesters while academic offerings meet daily. Few electives are offered as all students presumably profit from the opportunity to explore in a variety of instructional areas.

Grades 9 - 12: The Senior High School Program:

Every effort is made by the administrators and staff of the senior high school to offer a comprehensive program of studies designed for the collegebound student as well as for many students whose formal education will end with high school graduation. Two major factors hinder their efforts. These are: a poor high school building and a small student body.

Small high school enrollments make it difficult to maintain class size at an efficient level which averages between 25 and 30 students per section. Enrollments in advanced courses in mathematics, science, foreign languages, shorthand, shop, drafting, and art, are often less than 20 per section.

Building limitations in locker and shower rooms, shop library, business education, art, and foreign languages, guidance, and the general office limit the scope of the program and hamers the instructors' effectiveness.

It can be stated that substantial improvements to the existing program cannot be expected until new facilities are provided by the community. Until they materialize, certain growth projected graphically in Appendix A will soon completely overrun all existing facilities and necessitate half-day sessions.

APPENDIX D

Analysis of Existing Buildings in the Pinckney School System

Hamburg Elementary School:

This building is basically an adequate facility and one which is expected to continue in service for an extended period of time. Classroom size, room furnishings, provisions for heat and light, all seem to be adequate. The library, though somewhat small, has a fairly good collection and is well organized. The site is sufficient in size to support structural additions up to a 20-room unit. The facility is strategically located in an area where growth is expected to continue.

The Hamburg School, however, is without an activities food service center. The addition of a multi-purpose room and relocation of an enlarged kitchen will be required ultimately. The future addition should include extra storage and lavatory space, a health room, and an expansion of the library facility. A special education room should be added to this school unless a central location for this service is planned for another elementary building.

Winans Lake Elementary School:

This school is a limited facility located on a site which will not support a structional addition and, subsequently, an increase in pupil membership. In view of the age of the facility, and in the light of the number of services which would be required to bring the building up to an acceptable stancard, it does not seem practical to continue its use even on a short-term basis. In the interest of economy, the best use of professional time and skill, and pupil opportunities the building should be abandoned. Pupils should be transported to another elementary facility which can offer the services and experiences pupils need for a complete education.

Pinckney Elementary School:

The physical structure seems to be adequate providing a pleasing exterior appearance and a functional interior design. With the exception of a library the unit is a complete educational facility. A health room, teacher's lounge, kitchen, and mulit-purpose room have been adequately provided for. Site size, however, is somewhat limited. With the number of classrooms now available, the facility should not be increased by more than a two-or three-room addition. In the absence of a library, one classroom should be converted for this purpose as soon as possible. The building should also be studied by an architect to determine if improvements are needed in heating, ventilation, and lighting.

Pinckney High School:

An inspection and evaluation of this facility indicates that it should not continue in use for secondary instruction. Aside from the homemaking room, the shop, and the science room, no other area of the building is adequately adapated to secondary needs. Limitations in both the number of stations and the existence of specialized centers place great restrictions on the extent of curricular offerings. The nature and condition of the present facility can contribute nothing to an expanded plant for secondary education. Site restrcitions further reduce this possibility.

The 1888 building should be razed immediately. The remaining two-story unit should continue in use for general storage and as a location for administrative offices. This building should subsequently be replaced by one designed to harmonize with the 1955 - 1959 addition. The shop and homemaking areas should be converted to general classroom spaces. The entire building should be thoroughly cleaned, painted, and cleared of debris. Exit lights should be provided where needed and deficiencies in the boiler room* should be corrected. The site should be improved for elementary-community activities .The facility should continue in use as a K - 6 unit.

*Replace the boiler room door with an improved self-closing unit. Extend the exterior opening for added fresh air supply.

Here Come the Termites

Is your house ready for spring occupancy - by termites? It may be if you see those so-called "flying ants" buzzing about during the first warm days of spring. Chances are there's king size termite colony nearby.

In the spring young termites get the urge to leave their underground nests and swarm out in seach of new breeding grounds. Countless winged insects appear suddenly out of nowhere.

Their flight won't last long, though, because termites are weak fliers.

As soon as the tiny black insects light, they will pry off their wings and pair up near a good source of food. It may be an old stump, or the joists and beams in the understructure of your home.

Many swarmers perish before fulfilling their destiny of spreading ther termite kingdom. Some are eaten by birds and predators, others die from lack of food. Those which survive begin immediately the task of regeneration.

Within two years the new colony will be large enough to send out its own swarmers. By then several hundred thousand termites may be tirelessly working in the understructure of your house.

DON'T PANIC

If you see swarms of winged insects near your home this spring, don't panic. Call a reputable termite control firm and request an inspection. If termites have already begun [illegible] the inspector will probably recommend immediate treatment.

This will cost about half as much as later remedial work, if the infestation is allowed to go unchecked.

Termites swarmers differ from flying ants in a number of ways. The most obvious difference is the size of the wings. Termite wings are of equal length and extend far beyond the body. Ants have unequal wings which are not quite so long.

WAISTLINE DIFFERS

A second difference is the waistline. The ant's waistline is pinched, while termites are straight and tubby. Just remember that the ant wears the "corset."

Swarmer termites are a sure sign that a colony is nearby, but they present no immediate threat to your home. It's the countless worker termites that remain hidden inside timbers and woodwork that cause trouble. That's why inpections are a good idea when you see swarmers.

One expert, J. A. Watkins of the Bruce-Terminix termite control service, advises home owners to have their homes inspected for termites at least once a year - even if they don't see swarmers.

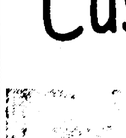
WHERE ARE THEY?

"Few home owners actually see the winged insects," said Watkins. "But this doesn't mean termites aren't around. Dnless swarming takes place inside the house, they won't likely see it."

Watkins said it takes about three hours for a termite colony to "launch" all its swarmers. Whether or not you see them may depend on the construction of your house and the location of the nest. Some termites swarm inside, others emerge from under foundation walls and disappear outdoors.

"If you have your home inspected at least once a year you won't have to worry about serious termite damage," Watkins said.

Many termites control firms offer free inspections. Others charge a nominal fee.



"A smart husband is one who thinks twice before saying nothing."

Tops For Teens

Crazy Cake!

When a teenager likes something, it is likely to be termed "crazy"—or even "real cool." This real cool refrigerator cake comes to the party, is so delicious it is called Crazy Cake.

Because the cake is made with reliable unflavored gelatine, it requires no cooking. The unflavored gelatine is dissolved in boiling water, chilled slightly, and then combined with the other ingredients. Then Crazy Cake simply chills until done, and comes to the party with a tangy Lemon Sauce.

Crazy Cake

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ½ cup cold water
- ¾ cup boiling water
- ¾ cup sugar
- ½ cup fine graham cracker crumbs (about 8 crackers)
- 3 egg whites
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Sprinkle gelatine on cold water in 3-quart mixing bowl to soften. Add boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Stir in sugar; chill slightly (15 minutes in refrigerator). Grease 9-inch square pan; sprinkle ½ of the graham cracker crumbs over bottom and sides of pan. Add egg whites, salt and vanilla to gelatine mixture. Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer about 10 minutes or until mixture is light and fluffy. Turn into pan; sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Refrigerate until firm. Make Lemon Sauce* while dessert is chilling. To serve, cut cake into 3-inch squares and top with Lemon Sauce. Yield: 9 servings.

*Lemon Sauce

- 3 egg yolks
- ½ cup sugar
- ⅛ cup melted butter or margarine
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- ½ cup heavy cream

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Stir in sugar, melted butter, lemon juice and grated rind. Whip cream; fold into lemon mixture.

FORGET WHAT YOU CAN AFFORD . . .

Consider What You Can Carry!

Sometimes it isn't wise to buy a certain house — even though you can afford the down payment. You have to determine what it will cost to keep up the payments . . . month after month, year after year.

Properties that are COMFORTABLE TO CARRY are no more of a hardship than paying rent. (And much more satisfactory.) So, come on in and let us help to "figure your future" . . . and put you in a place that's budget-right without a fight!
