Mr. and Mrs. Ona Campbell recently returned from their vacation in northern Michigan. They spent nine days with the Carl Lentz Jr. family at the Lentz's cabin at Wall Lake.

Dinner guests at the Campbells Wednesday were Mrs. Lulu Lamb of Florida and Edith Carr of Pinckney. Sunday the Campbells entertained Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ayers of Plymouth.

The latest choral group from Pinckney, consisting of Misses JoAnn Shugg, Martha Nash and Mary Lee Ashenbrenner, is becoming quite well known. On their recent four-day trip through Michigan the trio made appearances at a Comins Church and at the Church Camp Barakel near Comins. Scenic highlights of the trip were crossing the Mackinac Bridge and ferrying to Mackinac Island. While in Comins the girls also visited with Mary's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Bixel. Coming up soon, the group will be singing at the Gregory Baptist Church, the Peoples Church in Pinckney and the Baptist Church of South Lyon.

Marcia Knight had a real happy birthday Wednesday. The weather was so nice that she and her party guests, Julie Damm, Tim and Teresa Matson, and Steve, Mark and Kathy Laszio all enjoyed an afternoon of swimming and playing at Portage Lake. Marcia's little sister, Kim, had her third birthday last month and we missed it. Hope it was a happy one. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Basydio were hosts to the ninth annual Joe and Glenn Cheney family reunion held July 18th at Hall with 70 members present.

Tom Huhman, who has been serving with the Navy on the USS Nitro, is on a 10-day leave, after which he will be returning to Rhode Island and a new ship, the USS Sheldrake. This vessel carries strictly civilian scientists, who will be studying oceanography on the four-month South American cruise ahead.

Tom's brother, Paul, couldn't be so lucky. He is sitting in the hottest port, right now, three hundred yards off the coast of Viet Nam. He is on the USS Calibdo, which is a landing craft and has been landing 200 Marines (and supplies) regularly for the past two weeks.

Ronald Cram, nephew of Mrs. Molly Grant, was in the area visiting last week, after attending the funeral of another aunt at Bay City. Ron is a 1959 graduate of P.H.S., who now makes his home in San Jose, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. James Whitley and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Read of Pinckney, and Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire of Orchard Lake, were all dinner guests of the Fred Reads at the Canopy in Brighton Saturday evening.

National League

The Giants finally won a game as they beat the Braves, 3-2. It looked like quite a comeback as the previous week the Braves stomped the Giants, 20-3. It was a lovely-fought battle as the sore shows, and the Giants really fought to come out on top. Giants — Ed Bailor and Mel Ludwig.

Braves — Gary Nelson and Rick Osborne.

The Giants team played two games last week, and they almost made it two in a row, but the Dodgers came back in the last inning to win 9-7. The Giants got all the big breaks, but the Dodgers still fought hard and won. The winners used three pitchers, but the Giants single pitcher, Mel Ludwig, did the best job, coming out from behind the plate as his usual job is catching!

Giants — Mel Ludwig and Denny Howe.

Dodgers — Rod Tanner, Jim Pletta, Rick Tanner, and Sam Singer.

American League

The White Sox met the Tigers and tried to hold on to their first place position, but couldn't do it, and the Tigers took over first place by winning 11-5. A six run inning did it for the Tigers which included a grand slam home-run on errors by Keith Bailor.

Tigers — Dennis Douglas, Danny Herbert and David Hollister and Keith Bailor.

White Sox — Bob Amburgey, Mike Young and Steve Lettmer. The Yanks beat the Orioles after quite a stretch without a victory. It was a high scoring game with a score of 13-12.

MARY JANE GRANT (right), Bonnie Vedder, and Susan Roth (brunette) are among the 70-odd Pinckney young people who have enrolled in the first summer recreation program. It is under the direction of Miss Bobbie Fagin (left), a University of Michigan student. It is Bobbie's first experience as a director of this type, but she is finding it "great fun" and feels it fits in very well with her education plans. She wants to be a counselor. These girls in the picture are making rag dolls to adorn their rooms.

VARYING NUMBERS of Pinckney youngsters turn out every Tuesday and Thursday and Friday afternoon for the first summer recreation program under the direction of Miss Bobbie Fagin, a U. of M. student who is enjoying her first experience in this capacity. Miss Fagin directs the same kind of program of games, hikes and crafts in Hamburg on Mondays, Wednesdays and Friday morning. She has about 70 children from 7-14 years of age registered there also, and more join at both playgrounds each day.

The Cherokee Riders, July 16, rode their horses to the Wild Life Conservation Camp of Hamburg. Here they camped overnight and in the morning had a genuine bacon and eggs breakfast. They then started toward Hamburg in their Indian costumes where they led the Gala Days Parade and won first prize in the parade awards. A horse show followed and again several prizes were won. After camp broke up and after a coal dip at Bishop Lake, everyone gathered at leader Herbert Stockman's for a delicious cook-out of pork chops — about fifty — corn on the cob, pop and all the trimmings. What fun! Thanks to all the merchants for donating all the food and many other items that made this possible.

P.E.G.'s (Pinckney Extension Group) welcome in their new premises. Mrs. Bessie Hodgins, former president was Mrs. Lois Kirbler. Secretary is Mrs. Julie Ware.

On July 21, the P.E.G.'s held a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party for Ralph and Lola Hall at the Hall home. Bessie Hodgins made the cake, and ice cream was also served.

Mrs. Charles Michael picked up a group of thirty 8, 9 and 10 year olds Saturday morning at Gull Lake, a Rural Bible Mission Camp. The Reverend Charles Michael also left Saturday with a group of 11-year olds and older. They will enjoy a week's stay.

Honors Surprise

Pinckney Man

A Pinckney man recently received an honorary lay membership in the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, Inc. He is R. (Rocky) F. Ventrella.

Rocky is the legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Lay Employees. He works in Lansing on behalf of railroad employees of the entire state. But this had nothing to do with his "honorary lay membership".

He received this honor for "his outstanding leadership and humanitarian service in the improvement of health care of the people of Michigan." Notice that he was to receive the plaque at an annual meeting and banquet in Pontiac came as "a surprise to me," Rocky said. In fact, the humanitarian service he performed occurred so long ago "in the first Truman administration" that Rocky doesn't even remember what town he benefited.

It all happened because Rocky served (and serves yet) on the draft appeal board of the state. "It used to be," Rocky said, "when an osteopathic physician was drafted, he was not recognized the way medical men are. He went into the army as a private the same as if he had no profession. We had an osteopath appeal to us because he was to be drafted from a community of 5,000 where he was needed as a doctor — more, I felt, than the army needed him as a private."

It was a five-man board of appeals and Rocky was the only one who held out in favor of the physician returning to serve his community's health care rather than becoming a private in the army. Rocky's decision was upheld in Washington and the little town kept its doctor. Because of this "outstanding leadership and humanitarian service" the osteopaths of Michigan have honored these many years later Pinckney's R. F. Ventrella.

FIELD DAY

The second annual Firemen's Field Day will be held Aug. 29. Tickets go on sale this weekend and may be obtained from any fireman. Details of the program, which promises to exceed any in the past are now being formulated by the Firemen's committee.

Lucky Bowlers

Several lucky members of the Pinckney Monday Night Ladies League have received checks as a result of scores they received in the February-to-June State Tournaments in Lansing. The women bowl for LaRosa Lounge and had taken second place in the Ann Arbor city tournament at Chelsea Lanes this spring.

Shirley Kaiser who "bowed the best I have in 13 years" received $70 for her singles entry in which she placed 39th. She received $10 for the all-events and another $10 with Emma Gilbert in the doubles.

Opal LaBelle and Rosie Smith, with a 1178, received $12 back from the doubles division. Susie Harmon's check was for $2.50 in the singles and Dorothy Gerstler received $9 in the singles.

The public is invited to inspect their complete stock of religious articles, flower arrangements and other gifts. Refreshments will be served and door prize drawing will be held at 7:30 p.m. Regular store hours are from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. and by appointment.

Antlerless Deer

Bag to be Higher

Realizing the problems of the Livingston county farmers and orchardists in coping with the growing herds of deer, the Conservation Department has doubled the number of hunting licenses to be issued for antlerless deer and the areas in which antlerless deer may be killed have been increased from 1,500 square miles to more than 4,000 square miles in the lower peninsula.

Library News

New books this week include "Fred Allen's Letters," edited by Joe McCarthy — the distilled with — sometimes warmhearted, sometimes biting, of one of the century's great comedians.

"High school boys will like 'Boy Gets Car' by Felsen. The story of Woody, a high school boy who saved his money to buy an old car and lavished all of his love and devotion on it, running out of money for tools and more spare parts for it. Woody learned a great deal about cars — and about human relationships and his goal in life.

Older girls will like "Beany and the Beckoning Road" by Weber — another delightful story of Beany Malone and the things that happened when Beany and her brother Johnny drive a friend home to California.

Younger boys and girls will enjoy "Rufus M" by Eltes — an outstanding story about Rufus of the Moffat family.

Supervisors Talk Poverty Despite $90,000 Fund: Mental Health Study Set

Bar Diverting $50,000 to Road Building Ask Reappraisal; Tax Limit Talk Starts This Fall Committee Is appointed

The Livingston County Board of Supervisors, claiming poverty to the state tax commission, discussed the fate of their $90,000 public improvement fund Wednesday. Finance Chairman Carl Raddatz disclosed the amount in the fund during discussion of a $50,000 grant to the County Road Commission. According to Raddatz the county may have to use some of the money from the fund "To live on" if the county's allocation is changed.

The Supervisors revealed a great deal about themselves and their thinking concerning the operation of the county at their Wednesday meeting.

The chairman of the finance committee, Raddatz, reported to the supervisors on the allocation appeals hearing conducted at the court house Tuesday. Raddatz was also chairman of the allocation board, but he told the supervisors that he could not defend the actions of the board because he was a member of the minority on the board, and the decisions made by the board were not his. (The record of the allocation proceedings shows that all allocation decisions concerning the townships were unanimous.)

Raddatz explained that he did not object to the township appeals, but told the supervisors that he had recommended to the tax commissions that the millage being asked for by the townships be shaved from the school's allocation and not from the county's because, "the schools already have too much money."

Raddatz's opinion was also sought when the supervisors were contemplating a $50,000 grant to the Livingston County Road Commission.

The chairman of the roads and bridges committee, Robert Beers, had reported to the supervisors that there was over $90,000 in the County Improvement Fund. Beers recommended that if the allocation of the county remained unchanged by the tax commission, that $50,000 be turned over to the road commission.

Supervisor Lee Gordon, was not satisfied with this plan. Gordon reported that the White Lake Road which is in his township of Tyrone, was all graded and ready for sealcoating. According to Gordon the road building equipment was still there, and the job should be completed before the equipment was taken away.

It is estimated that $25,000 would finish the White Lake Rd. which has been graded and ditched but is left unfinished "worse now than before they started. A survey indicated that 1,100 cars each day travel on that road" as much as any in the county.

There are 355 miles of primary roads in the county, 114 of which are still gravel, it was revealed. "White Lake Rd. was listed right up to the top" of those needing repairs, Gordon maintained.

Supervisor Clifton W. Heller, questioned Raddatz on the possibility of turning the money over to the road commission pending the action of the tax commission.

Raddatz replied, "It would look very bad to the tax commission for us to take $50,000 that we claim we haven't got to use for an improvement. This would be the very worst time to make the motion."

Two important county issues "almost" got to the floor. Both were brought up by Supervisor Stanley Dinkel who told the supervisors: "I want you to consider the county-wide reappraisal. I think it's a necessity, and I just want you to consider it so we can do something about (Continued on page 3)

Putnam Township Supervisor Stanley Dinkel, asked last Wednesday that the Board of Supervisors take two serious matters under consideration for discussion and action at an early future date. Dinkel said, "I'd like to remind all supervisors that we have to consider reappraisal of Livingston County. I wish all of you would consider this within the next month or two. I think it is a necessity. If the state forces us into it in a couple of years, it will cost more than if we go ahead on our own now. Although money is tight, I'd like to see action, and the sooner the better."

Dinkel also asked the Board to consider raising the 15 mill limitation to 18 — or to some compromise between 15 and 18. "It needs to go to the vote of the people," he said, "I think it's a necessity for our county."

Chairman of the Tax Allocation Board, Carl Raddatz said, "I've been asked as chairman to hold several meetings with the public and get a consensus of the people from schools, county and cities about the tax matter. I've agreed to hold these meetings this fall. We have to find out what the people want first."

In addition to several subjects discussed at length by the Board of Supervisors last Wednesday at Howell, a number of matters were given brief attention.

For one, the Board failed to pass a proposal by Supervisor Herbert Munsell asking that a committee be appointed to study reapportionment so that supervisors would be chosen according to population rather than township.

Munsell said his idea was that the group should study the possibility of changing the reapportionment to the legislators should the group decide upon it. Eleven members of 4-H club from Fowlerville, Howell and Gregory along with a visitor from India attended the afternoon session of the Board.

The Fowlerville Fair committee sent complimentary admission tickets to each supervisor in appreciation of their support. The matter of dying elm trees along the highway was recommended to the proper committee for a decision as to how they should be taken care of.

A communication from the State Social Welfare Department indicated to Supervisors that their decision to integrate the Bureau of Social Aid with the state department had been approved and as soon as possible the transition from dual to integrated system would take place. All employees would then be under civil service. The State will pay 70 per cent and the county 30 per cent of employees salaries after the change over.

A breakdown in communication between the Board of Supervisors and the Sheriff's Department resulted in some controversy Wednesday concerning the hours that the drivers' license bureau should remain open.

In order to accommodate out-of-town workers, according to Mrs. Pat Silvers who approached the Board about the hours, the Bureau remains open on Monday evenings rather than Saturday afternoon. She left Monday from noon until 8 p.m. plus morning and afternoon Tuesday through Friday would accommodate everyone in need of a license.

The Detention Home committee, headed by Lee Gordon, however, recommended that these hours continue, plus Saturday mornings, since "a reservation on the books provides for 44 hours that the bureau shall be open."

One of the most important matters considered July 19 at the Livingston County Board of Supervisors meeting was that of a County Mental Health Program. Although vote was taken to establish one, chairman Allan Campbell did agree to appoint the necessary 12-person committee to get it underway.

The standing Health Committee, consisting of Dr. Olin Wilkinson, Lee Gordon and Donald Stuble, will be the core of a cross-county study committee that Campbell will appoint at random. John Procter also agreed to serve from the Board.

Dr. Kelley of the Michigan Department of Health told the Board that he and his staff will meet with the 12-member committee about mental health needs of the county and work out a "package" that would satisfy the needs. This department will then match funds supplied by the county in the establishment and operation of a local mental health program. The grants from the state cannot cover construction or mortgage payments, but are for inpatient and outpatient services. Such services include psychiatric consultation, diagnosis, care and treatment of the emotionally ill and prescribing or furnishing drugs for them.

No person would be denied services under the program because of race, color, creed or inability to pay when referred by the courts, public schools or health or welfare agencies. Fees would be adopted on the basis of the patient's ability to pay.

In order to qualify for the mental health program under the state law the way such counties as Shawnee, Ingham, Washtenaw, Monroe and Oakland have, a majority of the board would have to vote for the program. The 12-member health committee would have to be activated. And the county would have to contribute their proportionate share of the cost of the program. Dr. Kelley pointed out that this money would not have to come entirely from the Board of Supervisors. It could come from a Community Chest or contributions from one or more organizations in the county, for instance.

James Sullivan, who introduced the speaker, and who has acted on a survey that has taken place since last fall to determine the need for a mental health program here, said "I will dedicate myself to getting help for the Board if they take on this tremendous task." He added, "My plea is that we give this matter, which effects all of us, priority over the many tasks that face the Board of Supervisors today."

He explained, "We have the same percentage of mental disorders in Livingston County as any place else. But we have no provision to handle them. We need to come to grips with the situation now." There is no provision for the emotionally disturbed in this county although an average of some 1,020 school-age children (based on the 10,100 census of Oct. 1964) probably do have emotional problems. "And where there is an emotionally disturbed child," the speaker pointed out, "there is almost certain to be disturbed parents who also need help."

Teachers in some 17 schools in the county answered 350 questionnaires on the subject to help the committee that Sullivan headed to determine the need and the amount of usage a mental health program would get here.

Dr. Kelley suggested that immediate help might start with day care, perhaps at McPherson Hospital. A full-time director would be too expensive at first, he explained, but his office would accept a half-time director to "get a program on the road." He felt that a half-time man might be obtained from the University of Michigan for "from $4,000 to $5,000" as a start.

Minister to Take 7 Brighton Youngsters on Week Hiking Trip to White Mountains

Seven Brighton Youths are anticipating a wonderful week in the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

They are members of the Brighton Episcopal Young Churchmen and will be taken to New Hampshire on Aug. 15 by the Rev. Robert Eidson and Mrs. Eidson for what they describe as a hiking tour through the mountains. They expect to return after Aug. 21.

The seven lucky boys and girls are Tom Brandenburg, Anita and Emily LaPine, Bruce Evenson, Greg Park, and Lew and Anita Cox.

The Rev. and Mrs. Eidson recently returned from nearly a month's visit to the Holy Land. They joined an Interchurch Group of 20 persons in London. The group consisted of Swiss residents, British (England, Wales and Scotland) and Rev. and Mrs. Eidson from America.

From London the group left for the Holy Land. While in the Holy Land they saw the first Christian established church and were lucky enough to see and take part in an Armman (Continued on page 3)

it, and the sooner the better." When there appeared to be little response to the reappraisal issue Dinkel brought up the question of raising the 15 mill limitation. Several counties around Livingston have already raised the limitation, some to the maximum of 18 mills. Supervisor Raddatz reported that this was already under consideration, and an information program would be started on it in the early fall. An issue brought up by Green Oak Supervisor Herbert Munzel, was sharply defeated. Munzel's motion was seconded by a fellow Democrat, Francis Sheahan, and would have authorized the chairman of the board to appoint a committee to study the possible ways of reapportioning the county to conform with the one man one vote reapportionment of the state. Only Munzel and Sheahan voted for the motion.

church service. The Armenian Christians (Eastern Orthodox) entered a grotto or cave under the church carrying lighted candles and began their service, all in the Armenian language.

The cave is used because it symbolizes the stable where Jesus was born. Caves were used as remembrances of places Jesus Christ had been. The Church was a very ornate edifice built in the fourth century by Constantine and had three large doors at the entrance.

Other Christians have added to and altered it until now there is only one very small door and one has to bend over to get in. It is said that the door is so small in order that everyone who enters will bow to the Lord. The door was originally made so small for protection. During the thirteenth century the Crusaders came and scratched their initials in the stone columns.

In Jerusalem they visited the Church of the Holy Sepulchre on the spot where the Lord was crucified and buried. The church is controlled by several dominations. It is now being restored after 100 years of deciding. The church was originally built by Constantine but later changed and altered by Christian Crusaders.

From there the Eidsons flew to Lebanon to the Temple Baalbeck then to Jerusalem, Jordan. They visited the old city of Jerusalem for seven days. Jerusalem has high stone walls and gates. The eastern wall serves as a boundary line because of the political tensions between the Arabs and Israelis. The group was warned not to enter the nomans land because anyone entering were likely to be shot.

Next to Mecca Jerusalem is the most holy spot for the Moslems. The group saw the great dome of the Rock Mosque on the site where the Jewish temple once stood. The mosque has a great dome topped with gold, the walls are of mosaic pictures.

Outside of Jerusalem is the Mt. of Olives or the Garden of Gethsemane where the Mosque of Assention is. The mosque is a small and very simple building compared to the other Mosques. It is 15 feet in diameter and 20 feet tall at the top of the dome. It is surrounded by a high stone wall. In the center of the Dome is a rock used to represent the place where our Lord ascended.

The group went to Jericho the oldest city in the world now to be occupied by human beings. Civilizations have built one city on top of the other as the Bible City of Jericho was built on the ancient city of Jericho.

They visited Petra, an ancient city built in a stone canyon. The only entrance into Petra was through a very narrow passage into the rocks. In the hills of rocks, buildings and tombs had been carved.

The Rev. Eidson remarked that the trip has to be experienced to really appreciate what the Holy Land represents. The trip gave them an opportunity to meet and share things with Christians from other countries. The trip makes one realize and appreciate the peace and good will our good Lord gave us. Also you have the opportunity to see the world in one spot and view the actions of the various peoples.

Although the Eidson's trip to the Holy Land is over their traveling is not! When they leave on the 15 of Aug. with the Episcopal Young Churchmen to hike in the White Mountains they will drive to and from New Hampshire in a ten passenger Station Wagon arranged for them through the courtesy of Ford Wilson dealer in Brighton. They intend to camp during the whole trip and visit Niagara Falls and other places of interest along the way.

I promise to take you and the children to the A & W tonight and one night a week for the next 10 weeks. O.K.? That's when they are closing.

Marked Month

Some striking constellations may be found along the course of the Milky Way this month, according to University of Michigan astronomer Dr. Hazel M. Losh.
Beginning in the north with Cassiopeia, the great "W" in the sky, this stream of stars makes its way to Cygnus, the Swan, popularly known as the Northern Cross, she points out: "Here the path divides into two starry roads; the lower or eastern branch through Aquila, the Eagle, to Sagittarius, the Archer, the western branch through Ophiuchus to Scorpion."
"Cygnus is a large, magnificent constellation. The Swan's wings are spread wide, his neck is outstretched and his feet formed by fainter stars are trailing behind as he flies south along the Milky Way. The brightest star is bluish-white Deneb in the tail. The Eagle depicts a great bird flying toward the Swan. They seem about to meet head on."

Crash Victim's Condition Critical

A Lansing man injured in a Livingston county traffic accident early Saturday remains in critical condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.
Morris Tannehill, 38, was injured shortly after midnight on US-23 at Silver Lake Rd in Green Oak Township.

MRS. JOE KOVACH shows her granddaughter, Darlene Kovach, some of her more than 6,000 wishbones. Mrs. Kovach has been collecting wishbones for 85 years.

A closet full of wishes have been collected over the years by a Howell woman. Mrs. Joe Kovach, who has at least nine different collections, has one that is to say the most unusual.
For 35 years Mrs. Kovach has been collecting wishbones, chicken, turkey, duck, pheasant, pigeon, and even a Canadian Doodle Bird. The wishbones have come mostly from the Kovach's table, but some have been donated by friends. Each has been carefully sterilized, and the collection is kept in several big boxes.
How many wishbones can 35 years accumulate? Mrs. Kovach said she has stopped counting, but there are over 6,000 in her collection. She is still collecting them, but says she has no particular reason for doing so... just habit. One wonders how many pounds of poultry the wishbones would represent, and just how big a pile it would be if it were stacked all in one spot!
Besides collecting wishbones Mrs. Kovach collects old records, books, newspapers, cups and saucers, antique dishes, autographs, — coins, bhtons and stamps.

Prove Fluoride Benefits Teeth

Children who have lived in Jackson since birth have nearly two-thirds less tooth decay than Flint children.

The difference, say Michigan Department of Health dentists, is Jackson's fluoridated water.

This further evidence of fluoridated water's effectiveness in reducing tooth decay was reported by State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis. The figures, which show that one and one-half as many Jackson children have no decayed, missing, or filled permanent teeth, are by-products of separate four-year studies of various fluoride agents applied directly on the surface of the teeth, now being conducted in the two cities.

Jackson's water has been fluoridated since 1951. Flint voters approved a fluoridation referendum by a narrow margin earlier this year, but the water has not yet been fluoridated.

We have word that Father Roy Conely, recently ordained has been assigned Vocational Director for the Wester Province of the LaSalette Fathers. He will have his headquarters in St. Louis.

In the next few weeks we hope to bring you articles describing the different groups at St. Patrick's, in hopes that many of you who are not aware of them, may wish to become active members.

The Rosary Altar Society The membership consist of Ladies of the parish 18 years or older. Each is extended the privilege and benefits of attending the monthly Corporate Communion. They are also invited to attend the monthly meetings where the programming of activities is planned.

The Society is divided, by neighborhoods, into 12 guilds. Each guild has a monthly meeting to plan ways of carrying out the many tasks requested of the Society. These smaller less formal groups are able to execute their business quickly, thus leaving time for an enjoyable social evening.

The things most asked of its members are as follows:
1-to help care for and maintain the altars of the church;
2-attend rosaries said for the deceased members of the parish;
3-when desired prepare a breakfast after a funeral for the family and friends of the deceased;
4-perform acts of Charity in the parish, in the community, and around the world; and
5-At the request of the pastor the ladies will in various ways earn money for the needs of the parish.

Finally and most importantly the Society tries to spread love and understanding so that in the end we will be closer to God.

Auto Race Feature Of State Fair

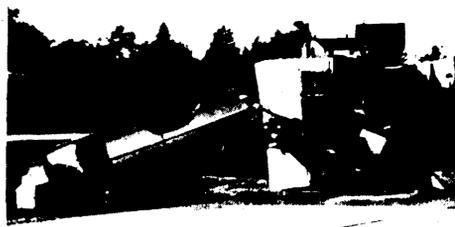

Auto racing's two major classics in Michigan — the annual 250-mile new car race, biggest single attraction of the State Fair for many years, and the second annual 150-mile stock car championship — again will be the top fare for Michigan State Fair patrons this year.

The 250 mile new car race will be presented on Sunday, Sept. 5, by Nick R. Jenin, a newcomer to Fairgrounds Speedway promotion this year.

Adding even more thrills, Jenin will stage the 150-mile late model super stock car race on Labor Day, Sept. 6.

Both events will be sanctioned by Automobile Racing Club of America and will feature some of the greatest names in auto racing.

A group of 18 ladies availed themselves of the opportunity to learn to swim or to improve. Their names will not be divulged at this time or ever!

TRAGEDY ON THE HIGHWAY ended a vacation trip for an elderly Florida couple. Albert J. Burns, 70, and his wife, Elsie were driving north on US-23, when a truck passed them, and a gust of wind caused the trailer to weave, spin around, and tip over.

Warn to Number All Motorboats

Michigan's vast armada of motorboat owners were reminded that their boats have to be numbered in the correct fashion or face possible action.

Secretary of State James M. Hare reminded owners that each is responsible for registering his boat and seeing to it that it is properly numbered.

"The numbering system pertains to motorboats in all Michigan waters, whether they are federally patrolled or not," Hare explained. Michigan, like many other states, has the Coast Guard numbering system for boats.

"All numbers must be at least three inches high. They must be bold, numbered from left to right and painted or attached on each side of the hull of the boat to make them distinctly visible and legible. They should be of contrasting color to the hull and as high above the water line as possible.

"If the more than 500,000 motorboat owners would only comply with registration and numbering laws and regulations, it would make the job of enforcement much easier."

Opium Dens Flourish in Viet Nam

How the opium trade still flourishes in Viet Nam is told by a Livingston County GI now serving in the army there:

Two heavily burdened travelers exchange suspicious stares after one overtakes the other in an unwelcome encounter on a footpath in the jungled highlands of east-central Laos.

In the time that the travelers struggle along the same rugged footpath, neither bothers to mumble a greeting. Neither asks the other's destination, nor what he is laboring to carry.

Because the answer to the first question is better left unknown, and each knows what is in the other's pack—opium.

One hastens to the safety of a government-held town in South Viet Nam. The other plunges deeper into the Communist-dominated jungle.

For like most people caught in the crossfire of the second Indo-China war, the Opium smuggler has had to choose sides and come to terms with either the Communist rebels, or the officials of government.

Twenty years ago, the smugglers' precious cargo likely would have been legally sold to purchasing agents of the French colonial government for transport to the opium dens of Saigon, Tourane (now Da Nang), Hanoi or Haiphong.

Ten years ago, the lively, though by-then-illicit, traffic in opium was building fortunes for many a Vietnamese, Chinese, Thai or Corsican-born Frenchman.

But today, an unseemly partnership of law and war had reduced the multi-million-dollar flow of Opium.

So short is the supply, that prices have risen 100 per cent in the last year alone.

But while the newly independent states tried hard to stamp out local addiction, they were largely unable to cope with the illegal traffic of international smugglers.

It was not until the war in neighboring South Viet Nam began to heat up that the international traffic ran into trouble—this time at a different sort of vulnerable point, transportation.

From the jungle airstrips the pilots made long, slow flights across international boundaries to the paddyfield plains crisscrossed by mazes of canals near Saigon and south toward the Mekong Delta.

The 50-pound bundles could be pushed out the doors of the planes as they skimmed over rendezvous points at tree-top level—and then the pilots could swing back toward Laos or proceed on to make legal landings at Saigon airport.

Some of the more daring smugglers even landed on the small airstrips of rubber coffee and tea plantations where they could casually unload their cargo unobserved by authorities.

Once into South Viet Nam, the opium was turned over to gangs of processors—most of them trained in the trade and equipped with apparatus for it acquired during the colonial days when it was legal.

Suddenly American radar began scanning South Vietnamese skies and turning up mysterious blips that weren't supposed to be there.

After the Americans began to participate more heavily in the war—and sent units of their Air Force to the country—it became possible to investigate some of those radar blips.

Thus air traffic has been reduced very sharply. But not all opium traffic goes via Indo-China, and nowadays there are safer routes than through the skies, even though they take longer.

As early as the late 1950's, there were suspicions that the Communists had more of an interest in opium than simply its eradication.

But large opium-producing areas came into their control with the "temporary" partition of Indochina, and American revenue agents began charging that "Communist opium" was finding its way westward through China.

The villages lie in the flatlands of the Nam Tha river and are inhabited largely by Laos tribespeople who are, if for nothing else, famous for growing and smoking and drug.

Every spring the surrounding hills are purple with blossoms, and the annual yield in the area is estimated at more than 100 tons of unrefined opium—worth millions on the black market.

The day that Muong Sieng fell to the Communists an AC-47 transport was shot down as its pilot tried to clear the town's runway. He had 284 pounds of early opium stowed in the hold.

By early 1964 a new pattern in smuggling was detected. With air traffic halted, South Vietnamese officials began to discover the resumption of overland smuggling.

Long before the maze of jungle paths in southern Laos became famous as the "Ho Chi Minh Trail" infiltration route, it was the traditional route of smugglers.

One aged smuggler recalls taking opium from Laos into North Viet Nam, where he bartered for ponies, which he in turn traded to Laotian tribesmen for even more opium.

Vietnamese officials discussing the traffic simply shrug their shoulders at mention of doing anything about it.

And in every city of South Viet Nam, the drug is easily available.

Michigan Spas

Draw Thousands

Long before the horseless carriage gave birth to the travel and resort business of today, Michigan was host to thousands of persons at famed health resorts.

The state's mineral springs, or spas, were a popular attraction in the last half of the 19th century, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Mt. Clemens was known nationally as the Bath City of America, and at least a dozen other Michigan communities—including Lansing, Bay Port, Detroit, Bay City, Benton Harbor, Reed City, Flint, Port Huron, Pontiac and Ypsilanti—catered to mineral spring bathers.

Michigan mineral water was widely used for treatment of neuralgia, forms of blood, skin and nervous diseases, and even drug addiction.

Though popularity of the mineral bath has subsided considerably in light of 20th century medical technology, three Mt. Clemens spas still attract numerous bathers and the local chamber of commerce is attempting to restore the mineral bath to prominence.

Benton Harbor also has several spas, but industry has tapped most of the other active mineral wells for the water's chemical content.

According to records, the therapeutic quality of Michigan mineral water was discovered in 1853 by a drummer whose wrists were crippled with rheumatism.

On a visit to St. Louis, Mich., the musician observed that water from a community well relieved the stiffness in his wrists. News of the cure spread quickly and thousands of persons with similar ailments flocked to the town.

Perhaps the best known for curative powers were the Mt. Clemens spas. The city's first mineral spring, tapped in 1885, was the byproduct of an exploration for oil.

More than 3,400 miles of Michigan highways were scheduled to be bordered this summer with broad-painted stripes that glisten brightly in headlights at night, according to the Michigan State Highway Department.

4-H BREAD
Young 4-H cooks are taking a new look at an old art: bread making. The tantalizing aroma of freshly baked bread has never lost its appeal, they find, and homemade bread is still a special kind of treat.

At least that is what the Livingston County 4-H Club members believe who participate in the National 4-H Bread program.

THE ISLAND QUEEN, pleasure boat at Kensington Park, makes 45 minute trips around beautiful Kent Lake from noon to 6 p.m. daily through Labor Day, with week-end trips in the spring and fall. Over 214,000 persons have traveled on the popular stern-wheeler since it began operations in 1956. The 60 foot vessel, a replica of an old Mississippi Riverboat, has two decks and carries 60 passengers per trip. Charges are 25 cents for children under 12 and 50 cents for adults.

PLEASANT VALLEY NEWS

By Vergilene Housner
AC 9-7633

An error in the Argus last week resulted with the Pleasant Valley News containing news of Mrs. Velma Burford. Toward the bottom of the column was the regular P. V. News.

Words can never express the complete sympathy we have for our wonderful friend and neighbor, Mrs. Eliza Seger, over the loss of her husband Harold. Grandpa Harold as our two children have always called him, will be greatly missed. Not only by ourselves but everyone that knew him. He was a real wonderful neighbor and always ready to assist with a helping hand. Many times he would drive me to town when roads were icy, or get some thing I needed at the store. He would always look after us when Russ was away on a trip or out of town, and would often plow the snow from my driveway and a path to my mail box. I could never begin to relate the wonderful things he has done for us and I sincerely hope he knew how much I really appreciated the many things he did for me. We're so sorry he had to leave us, but so thankful he didn't have to suffer before going. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Faussett drove to McKinley Saturday night where they spent the night and forenoon with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Russ Housner who were vacationing at her brother Eddie's house trailer. Enroute home, the Faussetts stopped at Glenzie where they called on Mr. and Mrs. Millard Burns of Detroit. Mrs. Burns, (the former Florence Bliven of Fowlerville and a class mate of Mrs. Faussett) and husband have a summer home there near Glenzie and plan to make this their home come fall when he retires from General Motors. This was the first time the two women had seen each other in over forty years and needless to say they enjoyed their afternoon together. They also called on Mrs. Burns brother-in-law Verne Hurry of Argentine who also has a summer cottage near Glenzie. His wife the former Mildred Bliven and sister of Mrs. Burns, just recently passed away.

Lake called to tell me she had received a letter from her son Dick who is stationed at Edwards Air Force Base in California. July 24 he went to San Bernadeno where he visited Mrs. Albertine Van Ness, a former resident of Winans Lake. She told him that her son Norman had left for Germany June 21st with the United States Army and she hadn't heard from him yet at that time. He reports that she is fine and he had a lovely visit with her. Norman, Dick and our son Dick were Fraternal brothers in DeMolay here while in high school, as well as being real close friends.

Russell Morgan, who had been a patient at McPherson Community Health Center in Howell for over a week was transferred to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor last Saturday where he was to have undergone surgery on Monday morning of this week. We send our get well wishes to Russ and hope he will soon be well enough to join his wife June and children here at home.

Roads vs. Schools

An issue of tremendous importance to Livingston County will be settled by the Michigan State Tax Commission in the next few weeks.

Four townships Brighton, Ham-burg, Hartland and Green Oak, ap-pealed their county allocation to the State Tax Commission.

The Allocation Board's reason-ing, based on the legal opinion of Prosecuting Attorney Charles Gatesman was that since the county operated under the County Road Commission Act, there were in ef-fect no township roads, and that all roads in the county were the re-sponsibility of the County Road Commission.

Therefore road repair and main-tenance items in the township bud-gets were not legal. Gatesman's ruling stipulated that only unex-pended balances at the end of a township's fiscal year could legally be turned over to the Road Com-mission.

That these townships recognize the need for road improvement, and are willing to do something about it is commendable.

It is agreed that the roads in Liv-ingston county are probably the poorest in the state, and the impa-riety of the townships for road im-provements is understandable, how-ever a closer examination of their method of financing the roads reveals the logic of the Allocation Board's reasoning.

For example if all 16 townships took the same path as these four, and placed in their budgets large amounts to finance their own pri-vate little road programs, the coun-ty would end up with a hodge-podge disconnected road system, planned without the judgment and experience of qualified engineers.

The money for these roads would have to come from someplace. There are only 15 mills to divide. The county, the township and schools would still need as much for operation, however in all probabili-ty the money would be shaved from the budgets for the schools, as the chairman of the Allocation Board, Carl Raddatz, suggested. According to Raddatz "the schools already have too much money."

Livingston county is in need of road improvements, however the needs of the county would not be served best by a conglomeration of 16 conflicting programs, adminis-tered by untrained township offi-cials. The county needs a compre-hensive program, that is planned for the county as a whole, adminis-tered by qualified specialists, and financed in such a manner that no other unit of government, and es-pecially our schools, are sacrificed.

Hats Off

Congratulations to the Hartland School District on their selection of Robert Miller as superintendent. The county schools have long need-ed a man with his strength of con-viction, who would have the cour-age to stand up for the schools when their interests were in jeop-ardy.

Miller showed his stuff at the al-location hearing last week, when it fell on his shoulders, a newcomer to the county, and only three weeks the superintendent of the Hartland schools, to defend the school's al-location before the Michigan State Tax Commissioners at the appeals hearing.

When the chairman of the Al-location Board, Carl Raddatz, recom-mended that additional millage for the townships should be sliced from the schools' allocation, be-cause "it was easier for the schools to raise money," it was Miller who stood up, admitted that he was a newcomer, but nevertheless plowed into the issue. He said that it was not fair to always place the burden of raising extra money on the schools, and he pointed out that if the county or a township had a pro-gram that was justified, that it would be approved by the voters.

Another thing that the Hartland school system should be commend-ed for is that a member of the school board was there to back their man up. Norma Kuehn, the secretary of the Hartland school board, and the vice president of the Livingston County Republican Party, came with Miller, and backed him every step of the way.

Hats off to Hartland, and to their new superintendent, Robert Miller, a man with the courage to take a stand, and to Norma Kuehn, the only school board member in the county with enough interest in her school to attend this appeals hear-ing, which might still cost the schools several thousand dollars.

The 18-Year-old 'Man'

When the smoke of battle had cleared in Korea the majority of the American dead were boys in their late teens and early twenties. The same thing was true in World War I and World War II and also will be true in Viet Nam. In the Civil War the dead were mostly boys between 13 and 20.

These boys were sent to their death by men old enough to be their fathers — men often too old themselves to fight although many of our heroic dead were aging men — but they were few.

These boys are old enough to die for us but not old enough to vote nor are they old enough to sip a glass of beer. In no sense are we advocating that boys should drink but—

The author of this article is very old. He attended high school in Washington, D.C. around 1900 and during the days of free lunch in every bar. Many of his high school associates brought their lunches, there being no school lunches in those days and few restaurants.

Many of the boys went home for the lunch hour but great numbers of us would go to the rather seedy corner saloon and buy one or two 5 cent beers and gorge on the free lunch which was often potato cakes (potatoes were then 50 cents a bushel and beer cost $2.50 for a barrel of 50 gallons) or maybe fried liver which the butcher of that day gave free to his customers. Never a question arose as to our ages al-though we all were far under 21. However had any boy ordered whiskey it is doubtful that the bar-tender would have served it.

My point now is that the boy of 18 should have the right to vote and the right to buy beer—nothing stronger. I know of no "drunks" among my schoolmates who ever developed from those saloon lunches.

Broad Shoulders

The editor of this newspaper is solely responsible for the editorials that appear. There is no coercion from the owner nor dictation of policy by him. My shoulders are broad but often our outlook on life is different.

Differences of opinion make the world the wonderful place it is to live in. Should all of us think alike we would all want the same wife and the same house and be reg-imented in the same uniforms.

So let's disagree with a sense of humor and laugh our way through life. We mustn't fight duels because one man likes his steak rare and another likes it well-done.

But send me your letters and re-mem-ber our opinions are not for sale nor are they dictated by any person as long as my name ap-pears on the masthead of this newspaper.

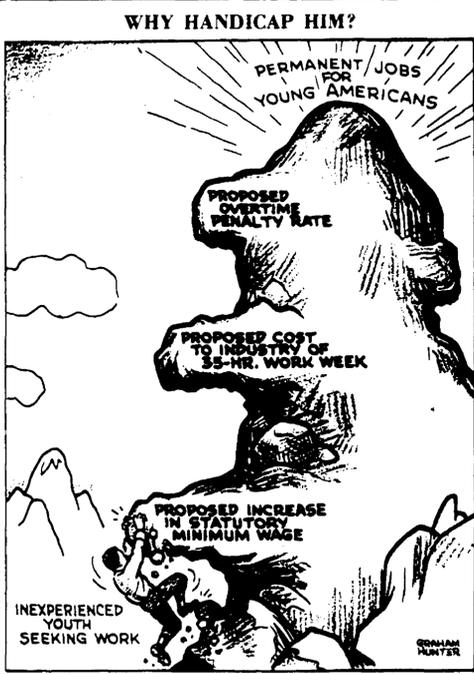

This article is motivated by Mr. Phil MacBride's letter stating that the author of an editorial about the Birch Society hid in anonymity behind the name of The Argus.

Winds of Change

Some strange things — strange by past Soviet standards, that is — are taking place in Russia.

For some time, news has been coming from there telling of Soviet experiments with once-despised capitalist techniques in an effort to spur production. They include such innovations as incentive bonuses to workers and managers, and a re-laxation of government fiat and immutable rules. This has appar-ently been strikingly successful in a number of fields and is expected to be extended to other areas of the Soviet economy.

Now, writes AP correspondent George Svyrtzen, a Russian wom-an historian has produced a book entitled "The U.S.A. and the Wash-ington System" in which she re-jects one of the basic Marxist dog-mas — that "Wall Street monop-olists" control this country.

TO CREATE JOBS

The need for concerted action to create long-term job opportunities for American youths is vital to national well-being.

However, positive measures to create more jobs for the unskilled, particularly those just entering the work force, could be jeopardized by the wage and hour proposals being considered by Congress.

For instance, increasing the penalty rate for over-time work would not result in any spread of job opportunities, but instead would inflate prices and increase competitive difficulties of domestic firms in international markets.

The proposals for an increase in the statutory minimum wage; a shorter work-week and extension of the Fair Labor Standards Act would not only impede economic growth but would erect higher barriers to the creation of employment opportunities for young and unskilled workers.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The other day while picking up some "do it yourself" items at one of our local hardware stores, I noticed two strange, ill dressed tattooed young men enter the store and casually walk over to the rolls of link chain, whereupon they proceeded to select a style which would fit their needs. They inquired as to the price and remarking that it seemed a bit high, measured the desired length by wrapping the chain once around their waists. It was obvious to myself and the proprietor of the store what these juvenile delinquents had in mind, but he casually asked "What are you guys go-ing to use that stuff for?" Whereupon they answered "For a belt. It's unusual don't you think?" He seemed satisfied.

It certainly is unusual! I thought link chain belts went out with armor, swords and mail suits, but apparently they are back in style. There "Oughta Be a Law." Isn't it enough that juveniles can buy 2"x4"s, tire irons, make belly clubs and other devious weapons in shop class? When it is obvious that they are buying 28" or 30" of link chain to bash in their fel-low classmates' heads with, shouldn't the seller be as gail-ty of contributing to the delin-quency of minors as our local stores are who might sell them beer and liquor or glue to smiff? I think so! When a store owner puts the few bucks he just made on a sale of this type into his pocket he should lie awake nights wondering when that "belt" he just sold will become a lethal weapon and be used to kill someone. The less this type of thing is available to a delin-quent the less chance there is of someone being seriously injur-ed.

If this can be controlled by city ordinance, by all means let's get it enacted. If not, let every proprietor in the City of Brighton keep in mind when he sells an article which obviously can be used as a weapon to in-flict harm, it could some day be used on himself or his children.

Sincerely, Herbert D. Houghton, Jr.

News of St. Paul's Episcopal Church

The E.C.W. of St. Paul's held their monthly meeting Thursday evening. It was decided to have a weekly meeting of a discus-sion group starting on Sept. 9th. The first book to be read and discussed is "God's Frozen Peo-ple" by Mark Gibbs and T. Ralph Morton. Meetings will be held Thursday mornings from 9:30 to 11. Anyone interested may call either the Rector, Mr. Eidson AC 7-7141 or Mrs. Col-ton (Dorothy) Park 227-2241.

This year in place of a bazaar they have decided on an attic shop to be held on Nov. 4th and 5th. Start looking for articles that you wish to donate and they can be left at the parish hall or call to have them pick-ed up.

Another parcel of books has been mailed to the mission in Gahana conducted by Mr. Sam Amivich who visited Michigan some time ago, coming to Brighton at that time.

As a rule all visitors are welcome at St. Paul's, however last weekend was an exception. One of the ladies on the altar guild went into the sacristy and heard a strange noise. She went hurriedly and next day wanting to be sure, she returned to be greeted again by the strange hissing sound. She went to the office and informed the rector, Rev. Eidson, who accompanied her back to be greeted also in like manner. The sound was like escaping gas. Or it came to mind — a rattlesnake. Then one of the men came and helped in the hunt. They emptied draw-ers, poked behind closet, etc. At last they found the sound was coming from the furnace register, and again with rake in hand, the grill was removed. At last it was discovered that Mrs. Coon wished to start her young brood out right and had con-sidered that an ideal home. However after so much confu-sion and noise she decided to move and left without saying good-bye!

A rummage sale will be held August 28 in the parish hall.

President Johnson's press no-tices have turned a bit sour of late, with several influential columnists and cartoonists tak-ing out after the Chief Execu-tive in unaccommodating fashion. A rare speech by Jack Valenti, a White House aide who sees as much of the President as any man, served as the take-off point for some of the criti-cism. His praise of his boss was a bit too strong for some writ-ers to stomach. Most of the criticism of the President has stressed his per-sonality rather than his pro-grams, possibly on the theory that Johnson's overwhelming election victory showed the pro-grams to be popular. Asked about the critical ar-ticles at his latest press confer-ence, LBJ attributed his cur-rent disfavor with some writers to "July." Presumably, hot weather makes columnists hot furth hot words. Probably by coincidence, the President acquired a new Press Secretary right at the time his image was becoming tarnished. George Reedy took an extended medical leave to attend to his toes. It will be a surprise if he ever returns to his old job. Drafted to run the press of- fice despite his tender years and scant journalistic back-ground was the Reverend Bill D. Moyers, surely the first ord-ained minister to hold such a post. Now 31, Moyers has been associated with Johnson for most of his manhood. A Texan and J. school grad, Moyers was No. 2 man in the Peace Corps until LBJ became President. He had previously served in Senator Johnson's of- fice and in a news capacity on a Johnson broadcasting station. Moyers' White House assign-ment heretofore has been the legislative program. He will continue to oversee that area while serving as Press Sec-etary, doubling up like most LBJ staffers. He is well regarded by correspondents. At least two other members of the President's inner circle, Horace Busby and Douglas Cat-ter, boast better journalistic backgrounds than Moyers. Nel-ther wanted the job.

The 89th Congress, repeatedly and extravagantly praised by President Johnson for doing his bidding, has been so busy enact-ing new social programs that it is far behind in its regular work. Uncle Sam's fiscal year starts on July 1. By that date, all de-partmental and agency approp-riations are supposed to have been made. That's what the law says, but it is violated regular-ly.

This year's performance was even worse than usual. Only two out of 15 money bills had made their way through Congress by the deadline and the legislators appear in no great hurry to pass the others. A stopgap resolution has been passed allowing departments and agencies to continue to spend at the same rate as dur-ing the last fiscal year. This is normal but a Congress wor-thy of being called "greatest" might have been expected to do better.

President Johnson has yet to suffer a major defeat at the hands of the 89th Congress. He has had some minor setbacks but on the big issues the White House gets its way. For exam-ple, rent subsidies, not just for the poor but for middle income families as well. Public housing programs cost-ing many billions have not worked, so this year the Ad-ministration came up with a gen-uinely new idea. It would help pay the rent for those unable to afford as good housing as gov-ernment planners thought every-body should enjoy.

House Republicans made loud cries of "socialism" and South-ern Democrats lined up against the program. The President him-self took a direct part in the battle, making dozens of phone calls to swing votes. Some Democrats opposed to rent subsidies were persuaded not to vote. The balloting was postponed until the Administra-tion could muster its maximum strength. Noses were counted and recounted. The vote was 208-202 for sub-sidies, a close call for LBJ.

President Johnson's press no-tices have turned a bit sour of late, with several influential columnists and cartoonists tak-ing out after the Chief Execu-tive in unaccommodating fashion. The "medicare" bill has now been cleared for final action by the House and Senate, and sig-nature by the President. This law demonstrates boldly the tre-mendous effect federal legisla-tion can have on citizens of the local areas. Seldom has the fed-eral government taken action which will have a greater im-pact on citizens in Livingston County.

An estimated 4500 people in this county, over the age of 65, will be directly affected by the new program. These citizens are now faced with the neces-sity of critically examining their health insurance plans and needs. As your U. S. Representative, I cannot stress too strongly in this situation the fact that the Medicare program will not go into effect until July 1, 1966. Therefore, those who, after con-sideration, wish to alter their present insurance plans should not make changes effective until that time. Anyone who drops health insurance before July 1, 1966 will be left without cov-erage until the program begins.

The Medicare program itself will consist of two parts. The first is hospitalization insurance, corresponding in benefits rough-ly to the present Blue Cross program. This hospitalization in-surance will automatically cov-er everyone over 65. It will pro-vide that those over 65 have their room and board (and var-ious other benefits) paid, while in a hospital for up to 90 days. The patient, however, will be required to pay the first $40 of the bill, and $10 a day for every day after the sixtieth. This hos-pitalization service, moreover, will not cover doctor's fees.

The second part of Medicare is a voluntary supplementary in-surance program which Liv-ingston county residents over 65 may join at a cost of $3 per month. This insurance, corres-ponding roughly in benefits to the present Blue Shield pro-gram, will cover doctor's fees such as surgery and consulta-tion. It would also cover home a:d office calls by the doctor, as well as other benefits such as payment for X-rays and am-bulance service. Under this plan, the patient will pay the first $50 and then 20% of the remaining cost.

Many Livingston county resi-dents will want to know how protection under the new Medi-care programs compares with that under Blue Cross - Blue Shield, the policy now held by 55% of Livingston county resi-dents. Let us look at Blue Cross first. For those over 65 who are enrolled in a group plan, (the great majority) benefits in-clude complete comprehensive coverage of room and board for 120 days. Unlike the Medicare program, the patient does not have to pay any portion of his bill. However, the rate for this Blue Cross policy is $6.75 per month. Medicare will provide its coverage free. Blue Shield differs from the supplementary medicare insur-ance in two ways. First, Blue Shield benefits do not include payment of doctors' fees for home and office visits, an item which could well represent a significant proportion of an in-dividual's medical expense. On the other hand, Blue Shield pays the full cost of those doctors' fees it does cover, while the supple-mentary Medicare plan does not. Blue Shield rates vary accord-ing to income. In Michigan, those earning less than $2500 pay $2.74 per month, those ear-ning $2500-$3000 pay $3.21 per month, while those earning over $5000 pay $3.67 per month. At the present time few people pur-chase Blue Shield without also purchasing Blue Cross.

According to Blue Cross-Blue Shield officials, their organiza-tion has always lost money on their over-65 coverage. They have had to subsidize these losses by increasing the rates paid by those under 65. There-fore, it is quite possible that Blue Cross-Blue Shield rates will be revised as a result of Medicare.

In terms of coverage of over-65 policyholders, it is also likely that private insurance compa-nies will revise their benefits. The best guess is that companies such as Blue Cross-Blue Shield will not attempt to compete di-rectly with Medicare, but will instead offer supplementary plans which will fill in the gaps not now covered by the newly-enacted legislation.

Insurance companies will un-doubtedly soon be in touch with their policyholders to inform them of any changes in policies. If any uncertainty exists con-cerning changes in the provi-sions of these policies, I sug-gest the best recourse is to con-sult an insurance agent. Persons who have reached the age of sixty-five will be able to enroll in the supplementary pro-gram, at $3.00 per month, dur-ing an enrollment period run-ning from Sept. 1, 1965 to March 1, 1966. Following this, an in-dividual reaching sixty-five after January 1, 1966, will have a sev-en-month period beginning three months before his sixty-fifth birthday, during which he may enroll. INDUSTRIAL TRADES GO TO COLLEGE

BY GUY KIZEL
Figures available from the Federal Government and the states, indicate that of our total working population only 7.3 per cent are professional people, and 8.7 per cent proprietors and managers. A vital concern, therefore, should be what, if anything, are we doing about the other 85 per cent. In other words, here are the land grant colleges, etc. as well as privately endowed institutions, providing a variety of schools for the 7.3 per cent going into the professions but on the other side of the ledger the remaining 85 per cent, perhaps some of whom leaned toward the trades, had only the privately owned trade schools, wherever and whatever they might be, to fall back on.

Our privately endowed colleges and universities to offer a trade or industrial curricula because of the formal standards imposed on the teaching staffs in order for a degree to be granted. At Ferris, their teachers are certified by the State Vocational Education Department, and yet frequently they do not have a college degree, much less a Master's, which is required in the state and privately endowed colleges. The fact remains, however, that they are carefully screened and highly qualified to teach the subjects they are hired for, and often products of specialized industrial training courses sponsored by corporations and industry-wide training programs.

In the high school in our community we have quite an adequate shop course that is run in conjunction with a farm agricultural course. Many of the boys taking the Ag course are doing so not because they expect to go to the farm, but because this is the type of work they like to do. They want to work with their hands, they like mechanics, yet they have neither the inclination nor perhaps the finances to go to one of the colleges or universities and enroll in a four-year professional course. If such young men could be told about Ferris Institute and what it has to offer, a far higher percent of the graduating class of every high school would be finding the proper outlook for their individual abilities and enthusiasm. Secondly, putting this trade and industrial education in a collegiate setting as is done at Ferris, does much to elevate this type of education to the true level it deserves in comparison with other advanced education. Remember, there are only approximately 8 per cent of our working population in the professional services. So it obviously follows that it is of equal importance that we have highly qualified, intelligent, well trained people in our various trade and technical enterprises.

The United States is a nation of gigantic industrial enterprise long based on advanced scientific and technological research. Our manufacturing processes are the marvels of the world for their vastness and intricacy. The products of our world, our entire economy and our way of life has been profoundly altered by the brain children of our advanced technology. Every day life is utterly dependent upon the gadgets, devices, machinery and equipment fashioned by our collective genius. Not only do we manufacture them, we maintain them. Currently, our national defense and world leadership is even more completely rested on this magical world of modern technology. Even as this is written, we are being emulated and challenged in this, our unique field of supremacy to date.

Is it not time that we had a realistic revolution in our own educational systems to keep pace with our technological progress, lest we lose our leadership by bogging down in a mass of machines that scientifically trained minds invented and built, but left no one trained to keep them running.

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

Although this legislature was very slow in getting started, the accelerated pace of activity during the final few weeks of the session resulted in the passage of a record-breaking 400 bills. Fortunately, many of the frivolous proposals found the going too rough and did not survive the onslaught of public indignation. I believe it can now be regarded as a productive session — both in the number of bills passed and the quality of SOME of the legislation enacted.

However, there were some very disappointing omissions — particularly in the areas of fiscal reform and traffic safety. We may also find that some of this sugar-coated legislation will, in the long run, turn out to be bitter pills to swallow.

The Democratic majority was generous to a fault in approving new programs and expanding present state services while refusing to face the all too obvious fact that higher taxes are the only answer to higher expenditures.

The legislature is now in recess until mid-September, and the Democrats have promised to tackle the state's financial problems when they return in the fall. So — until this session is officially over later in the year, we shall withhold final judgment with regard to the enactment of an equitable and adequate tax program with which to meet Michigan's spiraling expenditures.

During the summer recess I shall devote this column to highlighting the major legislation enacted to date, categorizing actions taken according to their subject matter.

It should be noted, however, that at the time of this writing not all of these measures have been acted upon by the Governor.

Among the measures passed were bills to:

- Bring agricultural employers under the Workmen's Compensation Act.
- Provide for statewide licensing and inspection of slaughterhouses.
- Establish a state bean commission.
- Develop a comprehensive state agricultural marketing program.
- Remove floricultural products from statutes governing commission merchants handling agricultural products.
- Bring under the regulation of the Department of Agriculture the production, handling, processing and transportation of Grade-A milk.
- Provide for state licensing and regulation of farm labor contractors.
- A bill to prohibit the selling of milk for a loss at any stage of its production or distribution triggered such a landslide of public protest that — after long hours of heated debate — it fell by the wayside.

Romney Signs

2 of Dunn Bills

State Senator Gerald R. Dunn of Genesee and Livingston Counties, announced that Gov. Romney has signed into law Senate Bill No. 812, the new unemployment compensation rates, and Senate Bill No. 69, the new "get tough" anti-water pollution bill.

Both of these new laws will rank Michigan far in front of the other states in the field of unemployment compensation and control of water pollution.

"Why are Chryslers so popular these days?"

"PRICE ONE!"

You'll find that seven models (including this one) are priced just a few dollars a month more than the most popular smaller cars, comparably equipped. These aren't stripped down Chryslers either. You get everything you want on a big car: power steering, power brakes, automatic transmission, radio, heater. Plus a big 383 cu. in. V-8 that runs on regular gas. One more point. Every Chrysler we sell is a full-size car on a 124-inch wheelbase. A lot more car for your money. Move up to the most popular Chrysler in history. It's easy.

Do You Remember?

By Oscar Muller
 Taking a glance at the Brighton Firemen's sponsored carnival at the Municipal Parking Lot it brought back some memories which a lot of our Brightonians will remember.

Here, on this corner, not so very long ago, there was a mill with a big water wheel that received its power from the water of our Mill Pond, and I can still visualize, and shall always remember, the picturesque large mill building, with the big trees surrounding it, and the dam, with the wonderful waterfall, and tree settings. It was a shady peaceful spot in the heart of Brighton. I wish it could have been preserved. It was then and would be today the rendezvous for all of us and our children, including the tourists also. But all this had to disappear because progress had to be satisfied, to make way for a new parking lot, constructed of concrete.

A big street tube lets the water of the Mill Pond, unused, worthless, empty underneath, and come out on the other side of North Street, going a wasteful way to Brighton Lake.

Looking across, gone is Adolph Martin's big house, the Mellus Hospital, the life saver of so many Brighton and surrounding area people, and the lifesaver of many accident victims.

I often wonder, why did all of these things have to happen? My view on this is that too many outsiders don't care about our wonderful town's history nor future. They have taken the courts over, and the city, to gain personal fortunes.

Little, if any, opposition arose from the real citizens of Brighton, and perhaps if it had been so, it might have decreased the amount of apathy, out of the present attitudes, that had prevailed at that time.

What good will it do to protest? Leading citizens, such as our good Mayor Guy Pitkins, who brought water and sewerage to our city, lost favor with our Brighton citizens, because it raised the taxes, cut out the home owned pumps and septic tanks. Guy Pitkins, who at that time owned the largest garage in Livingston county (now The Argus building) lost his business, and practically everything due to the Brighton citizens boycotting him, though of course he was not the only one this happened to.

Looking north, the Cook Bldg. with its shady trees and wonderful setting had to go also. In its place, the Brighton Bank parking lot was laid (some more concrete). Brighton's Main St. and its Mill Pond (once the gathering place, the heart and the main stop, the center of musical entertainment with the bandstand) is not what it used to be, but it could be again, and should be.

It could be the attraction of all, including shoppers, tourists, happy people, all the merchants of Brighton (even on Grand River) would benefit by it.

Let's be honest with ourselves. I have never had much enthusiasm for those little monsters (parking meters all over town) which may not justify what little revenue City Hall gets from them, but nevertheless, they should be and must be eliminated! The erecting of two-hour parking signs, which can be controlled by our police, but better yet, creating my dream of a Mall, where our children and we are safe to enjoy a cool drink, and shopping, banking, with some beautiful shade trees, and flowers from the light posts, and American flags, with sand boxes, benches, and music, would again make Brighton the mecca between Detroit and Lansing.

Watching the former mayor, Al Cole of Brighton, as he rang the New Fire Bell that rests on a portable iron wagon, I suddenly had a dream picture or vision in my mind. How nice it would be, I thought if the city or a wealthy resident of the town would purchase the land across from North Street where the large concrete tube empties the water into the Brighton Creek.

Surrounded by tremendous trees, this wasteland would make a big shady Brighton City park, the creek could be enlarged, and a small pond could be installed, plus a small baseball diamond, and a playground for the children, with tables and benches. In short it would make a drawing card of attraction for people in the heart of our city.

Talking to Al Cole about this matter, who owns the store next to Frank Seger, Mr. Borst and Dr. Rice, known in most of this territory, agreed enthusiastically, and was more than willing to sell his property which includes an island in the widening creek. He related that under his administration this very thought had entered in, but the idea was abandoned due to the unfavorable tax problem at that time. He said: "but today, it could be accomplished very easily."

concerning the property along the line up to the Brighton Lake Rd. (certainly is going to be a big park) but what was wanted was a fence, so that the remaining property would continue to be private."

Here is where I appeal to our present Mayor, Marshall Cooper, our present council, and our efficient City Manager Peter Marshall to make, and to take a lead in purchasing this land at once.

"Where there is a will, there is a way," and I say this to all our citizens, and look into this worthy plan, and help with donations (they are tax deductible, remember?) even your leading individuals and merchants can give a helping hand to the property owners along this proposed park and recreation area.

GIVE YOUR HEART A PUSH. HELP PROMOTE THIS PROJECT by selling your share reasonably, to bring this dream out into a reality. It can be the attraction of Brighton and surrounding communities, and a must for the tourists (money - spending), and can be the envy of larger cities, and they will be coming to Brighton. Brighton can be a happy, prosperous town, make no mistake about that. This is the answer, regardless if a few of our first citizens don't relish this idea, for obvious reasons.

I dislike stirring up something, but public opinion is a very strong factor in obtaining this goal. Let it be known and heard about through petitions, and let your city council know how you feel, and hear what is on your mind. You elected them, and you should be considered.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

BY THOMAS E. O'HARA
 Chairman, Board of Trustees
 National Association of Investment Clubs

Q. I am 45 years old and have $50 a month I feel I can invest toward my retirement. My income is $7,500 a year. By the time I am 65, my home will be paid for and I will have my social security and investment income on which to live. What investment program can you recommend for me?

A. At 45, with apparently no major commitments and the ability to save $50 a month, you are in an excellent position to build up a substantial investment account by retirement time. Assuming that you have accumulated a good bank account and have an insurance program that is adequate for your family needs, I would suggest that you embark on a regular program of investing in growth-type securities.

With this amount of money you might select three growth companies from among those listed on the New York Stock Exchange, and establish a monthly investment plan, authorizing your broker to purchase as many shares, or as many fractions of a share, as your $50 will buy of the stock of one of these companies each month in rotation.

A second approach would be to put your $50 each month into the shares of a good-grade growth-oriented mutual fund.

A third possibility would be to get together with some of your friends and start an investment club, each of you chipping in $10 or $20 a month. For the present, plan to deposit the balance of your $50 a month in a savings account. The club will help you gain the knowledge and experience needed to sharpen your investment skills. At the end of two or three years, you should have gained enough confidence and have developed the necessary background to successfully embark upon your own program of investing in stocks.

Q. My brother has money in a mutual fund and is quite happy with the results. Yet I have heard that mutual funds are not the very best way to invest. Your opinion please?

A. Mutual funds, like every type of investment, have their advantages and disadvantages. In general, I would say mutual funds have a good record and offer an excellent investment medium for a great many people.

The selection of the best investment program for a given man or woman depends a great deal upon the personality involved. If you are the kind of a person who wants to invest, but you at the same time prefer to go for long periods without the necessity of reviewing your investments and possibly making changes, then a well managed mutual fund is a good solution.

If, on the other hand, you are interested in following the progress of your investments and keeping informed on them, the direct purchase of good-grade corporate stocks may produce a better return on your investment. Bear in mind that mutual fund companies are performing a service for you which must be paid for even though the charge may be hidden.

Have you a question about your investments? Mr. O'Hara will be glad to answer them. Write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Box 1056, Detroit, Michigan 48231, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

There is a great deal of work between planting the seeds and harvesting the crops. Controlling weeds and insects, keeping records, creating exhibits and giving demonstrations are a few of the jobs that must be done.

State Blueberry Crop is Ready

For centuries, blueberries have been an important source of wild fruit for North Americans.

Fur traders and explorers reported that Indians dried the tasty fruit for winter use, or rolled it in pemmican, or added it as a zesty condiment in venison stew.

As the years passed, agriculture, logging, and various other activities of man changed the face of Michigan, but the rugged little blueberry thrived through it all.

Forest fires that raged over much of the state 50-75 years ago thus made an important contribution to blueberry production — an unexpected side benefit to earlier residents.

These days, the wild blueberry crop is, of course, not dented by Indians, fur traders, explorers, or pioneers.

Perhaps commercial blueberries are too easy to obtain. Or perhaps many persons don't realize that blueberries may be taken at any time from such public lands as state game areas and state forests managed by the Conservation Department.

We're sorry to hear that Mrs. Robert Foster is in the hospital again. This time she is at St. Joseph Hospital. We hope she is feeling much better at this time.

Happy Birthday to Edmund Baprawski Jr. of Island Lake. His birthday was Thursday, July 22.

And a Happy Anniversary to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Felder of Fonda Lake who celebrated on July 21.

Due to the changes in printing the Argus, we now have to have our columnist in by Saturday noon. So if you have news, please call me by Friday evening.

Mrs. Esther Seeling was in Lansing Monday, July 19, for the 8 of 40 March. She was a delegate from the Lansing Salon. The ladies enjoyed a banquet and installation of officers.

Walter, Jack and Kim Gyr, sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Gyr of Kinyon Drive are really "having a ball" at Interloch.

July 17-18 Mr. and Marshall Gyr drove to Ohio where Duff, Kaj and Drew have been visiting Mrs. Gyr's sister, Mrs. Susan Cary and her sons.

While the boys were away, Mrs. Gyr was busy with a Nature study course at Kensington, five and a half hours a day, five days a week.

Tuesday, July 20, John Gyr celebrated his birthday. After a family dinner, some of his neighbors came over for the evening bringing their own wine bottles to toast the occasion.

Eric Bufford celebrated his 7th birthday Thursday July 22.

HPYC Ladies to Skipper While "Queen for Day"

Ladies of Huron Portage Yacht Club who normally crew their husband's sailboats will turn skippers Saturday for the "Queen for a Day" event. Their crews, of course, will be their husbands, and starting time is 2 p.m.

Everyone will go to Fox Pointe Park for a party to complete the festivities.

HPYC races start from their own float boat in the lake this year. When the wind is from the north, the starting point is near Newport Beach. When it is from the south, races usually start at the marker near Fox Pointe. In most events, they finish the race at Beach Bluff.

Crashes Bridge

A 37 year old Lansing man was critically injured at 12:30 Thursday morning when he crashed into the Huron River bridge abutment on US-23.

According to the State Police, Morris Tannehill was traveling north on US-23 and apparently fell asleep while driving at a high rate of speed. He came up behind another vehicle, swerved to the left and hit the bridge abutment. He was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor in critical condition.

No one ever has provided a satisfactory answer to this question: "What does the speeder do with the time he saves?"

Around Bishop Lake

F. C. Schroeder 227-3420

It's SUMMER! I distinctly saw beads of perspiration on the brows of the workmen, the bathers on the beaches are no longer a peculiar shade of blue, the sun beams down on the world with enough heat to last through some of our nights, the lazy winds barely flutter the leaves and keep the flags hanging limp, and the great, white fluffy clouds sail slowly and majestically across blue skies—occasionally dragging a train of thunderheads behind them.

The neighborhood Martins finally raised their young to the flying stage and have taken advantage of the beautiful weather and disappeared on a flight to somewhere. Their houses are sitting empty except for the English Sparrows who are darting in and out of the doorways very busily—are they cleaning up (maid service in the bird world?) or moving in? Have you ever wondered how the pert Jenny Wren can chatter so loudly and happily with her beak full of bugs? Watch her—its amazing! And when the loving pair throw back their heads in the ecstasy of song, your heart lifts up in spite of yourself! Matteson's parakeet "Dickie" hasn't returned yet—he's probably thrown the bluebird world into a tizzy by greeting one of them with his wolf whistle and "Hi-Sweetie!"

Mrs. Betty Ritzert and children ended their vacation in the neighborhood and returned to St. Ignace last Tuesday. The Lloyd Nash's were their hosts during their stay. Mrs. Nash gave a luncheon in Betty's honor Thursday afternoon.

The quiet of last Saturday night was broken by wild hoofbeats—the lines "The Highway Man came riding — riding —" came to mind. For a frantic moment, I didn't know whether it was a cue to dash to our easements and toss our braids over the sills, but decided that this was "no Inn" and best we keep our heads tucked safely inside.

Turned out to be just the Rose stallion who suddenly found life very dull at the end of a tether on a balmy night and took to his heels. His young masters retrieved him in due time and all was still and quiet again.

Mr. William Smith, Assistant Supervisor of the Brighton Recreation Area is a patient at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital. We all wish him well.

Our family has had a rather hectic week and a very happy one. Ralph Jr played two tournaments on Monday — at Port Huron and Black River golf courses. (I can't give you his scores — seems golfers, from Eisenhower down, are very touchy about these things!) Son-in-law Kurt Haaxma rode in his first State Scramble at Mustang Acres on Sunday. (Really, he is not a vicious type at all even if he is a "cycle" enthusiast! Rather reminds you of a college professor and he abides by all the rules of good conduct.) Son John, fresh from Newfoundland and Iceland, arrived at Willow Run on the 11:17 flight Wednesday night and will be home for 30 days. Ralph spent Thursday night and Friday with his brother. (My cup runneth over!) Sunday, the 25th, Mary went to Cottonwood Farms for a two week stay. After depositing her at their door, I attended the nuptial shower for Pamela Witt on Clark Lake with Mrs. John Schroeder.

Mrs. Walter Van Loven returned home after a vacation to her parents' home in Brimley, Michigan.

Mrs. Rose Barnes displayed jeweled eggs at the Hamburg Gala Days. Her ability to decorate the beautiful and fragile eggs is truly a work of art.

IN VIET NAM
Roy J. Carpenter, ATN-3, returned to Viet Nam July 15 after being in the Philippine Islands long enough for his ship to be repaired after a 45-day stint on the line in Viet Nam. According to his wife, Alice, who with son, 15-month-old Roy, Jr., are living with her mother, Mrs. Mary Allen, Roy has received the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal for his service on the line where he has seen "lots of action." Alice said she and "Jamie" will join Roy in December in San Diego where he will again be stationed at the Miramar Naval Air Station.

Auto Hits Woman

A woman pedestrian was seriously injured Wednesday night when she was struck by a car on US-23, about a mile north of Hyne Road.

According to the State Police, Donald Ross, 39, struck a 43 year old Flint woman, Mrs. Betty Peoples, who was walking against traffic on the expressway. Ross said he had just passed another vehicle, and did not see Mrs. Peoples. She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor, suffering fractures of both hands, and cuts and bruises on most of her body.

The Troopers reported that Mrs. Peoples had gotten out of one car that was stopped on the expressway to talk to some people in another stopped car, when the accident occurred.

KITTEN UP A TREE

Puffy has a problem. She's much better at climbing trees than she is at getting down again. Usually someone has to get a ladder and bring poor Puffy back to earth.

People share Puffy's problem. Their fears are forever driving them to do what they can't undo. They run away from reality only to wish they hadn't. We have even coined the idiom "up a tree" to denote the dilemma of a situation from which we cannot free ourselves.

With people, it takes more than a ladder to solve the problem.

Through the centuries men have found Faith an answer to fear. Our churches cultivate courageous Christians. For with confidence in God comes confidence in ourselves.

The man who knows he's never alone doesn't run away.

MICHIGAN + MIRROR +

Farming still accounts for a good portion of Michigan's economy, but further change in its status is anticipated.

Agriculture ties with resorting or rates second to manufacturing as an industry, depending on who is speaking. But the number of people and land area involved in farming has changed considerably over the years, and the evolution has not stopped yet, according to the experts.

For this reason, Michigan State University has received a sizeable grant from the Kellogg Foundation to help farmers adjust to this continuing change in demand.

Young farmers, mostly in the 25-35 year age bracket, will be the prime targets of the experimental program to be conducted by MSU's extension service.

Theory behind the program, according to Dr. David Boyne of the agricultural economics department, is that well-informed leaders are needed to give farm people a better understanding of their role in the present and future industrial-urban society.

Starting this fall, 30 farmers will be selected annually to participate in the program. They will be enrolled for a three-year period to attend institutes, discussion meetings and to travel in Michigan, the nation and throughout the world.

Dr. Boyne notes that since most participating farmers will not have had any college training, the three-year program will include classroom study in economics, political science, sociology, communications, philosophy, the arts, history and education.

Despite a five-year grant of $42,225, the program will call for individual expenditures of an estimated $4,250 per farmer. The grant will be used as a supplement to the enrollment fee for books, study materials and travel.

NEEDS COUNSELING

Big Business sometimes is accused of losing touch with its original function and so it appears to be with some facets of tourism in Michigan.

Twice recently, and perhaps more instances have gone unnoticed, the State Tourist Council has been called on the carpet for glaring errors in doing its job. The errors appeared to be big ones, at least to the home town folks who should be experts on their community's main tourist attractions.

In one case a State Senator by letter sharply criticized the Council for failing to adequately credit the historic significance of a courthouse in his district. He said the description in the Council's new map not only failed to note the rare antiquity of the building but mislocated the structure as well.

Still somewhat red-faced from publicity given this inaccuracy, the Council then helped publish a pamphlet which drew criticism from right in its own front yard.

In a booklet entitled "Your Guide to Michigan Accommodations, Restaurants and Attractions," the Council in conjunction with the four regional tourist associations listed items by city.

For the Lansing-East Lansing area the pamphlet listed four movie theaters and the Oldsmobile factory. Described by Council officials as "a regrettable oversight" was the omission of the state Capitol, Michigan Historical Museum and the Michigan State University campus.

As one observer noted, the oversight of leaving the Capitol building out of the Lansing tourist attractions list would be comparable to omitting Interstate 94 or 96 from the state's official highway map.

MICHIGAN EXPOSITION?

Another innovation in the annual Michigan showcase is in the making.

In each of the previous years Michigan Week planners have added something to give the observance new spark. One year it was a magazine promotion supplement in the New York Times and this past year it took the form of a pre-Michigan Week European tour by government and business leaders.

Next year it could be Michigan's answer to the World's Fair. Under study now is the feasibility of holding some kind of Michigan industry exposition in conjunction with the 1966 bag week or at some later date.

Problems experienced during the World's Fair in New York this year and last prompted most Michigan officials to forget about the idea of holding a future one here in the state.

A Michigan industry exposition, possibly including a trade fair, might be a good substitute for getting the World's Fair and indeed might even be better since the entire spotlight would be on participating state industries and organizations.

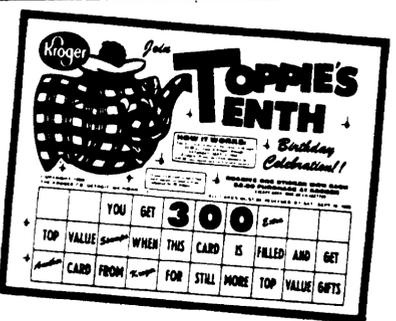

The exposition idea sparked by the world-wide reverberations of the 1965 Michigan Week, is still at the beginning study stage. The way Michigan Week organizers have started ideas and expanded on them annually in the past indicates this one could follow the same pattern.
