Survey Approves Community College In Livingston County

Although there are many opponents to establishment of a community college in Livingston county before the county's present school system is brought up to a higher standard, the report just issued by Dr. Max Smith recommends a community college for Livingston County.

Dr. Smith, director of Michigan State University's office of Community College Cooperation has made a survey of the county to determine the feasibility of such an institution.

The report suggests a building to cost not more than around a million and a half dollars to accommodate an initial enrollment estimated at 300 students.

It suggests a bond issue with a one mill tax which with matching funds from the state and U. S. would retire the bonds in about 50 years.

Last year 392 boys and girls were graduated from Livingston county high schools of which 140 are enrolled in institutions of higher learning.

The report anticipates the present growth of population in Livingston county will continue. The U. C. census of 1960 reveals that only one in five high

Firemen's Field Day Spectacular

One of the most spectacular exhibits ever staged by the Brighton firemen marked the second Firemen's Field Day last Saturday.

Fire teams from Milford, the G.M. Proving Grounds, Howell and the Brighton Junior Firemen took part. A waterball contest started at 11 a.m. and continued until 2 p.m. with the final contestants being Brighton and the Proving Grounds teams. Brighton coming out victorious by 8 minutes.

The field day was held in the firemen's lot between Van Camp's Chevrolet and the Sail Inn Bar. At one time there were more than 400 spectators.

Among the spectacular exhibits were the firemen's demonstration of extinguishing an oil fire and a demonstration of rescue by the tower.

The Livingston county sheriff's department was on hand with its new rescue van, skid diving equipment and life saving boats. The Detroit Edison exhibit centered on safety in regards to use of power equipment.

The Proving Ground's tent showed various auto safety devices such as seat belts and other equipment. It also showed the explosive power of gasoline and rescue equipment. Keehn's ambulance was also on exhibit as was the John Bean Fire Equipment Co.'s truck from Lansing.

One of the most impressive displays at the firemen's Field day was presented by General Motors. The display featured a life sized dummy used in the demonstration and teaching of mouth to mouth resuscitation. Many area people, and even youngsters learned how to administer mouth to mouth resuscitation right at the display.

Another one of the figures of the General Motors display illustrated the proper methods of lifting. General Motors Superintendent of safety, Roger Sheldon demonstrated an improper lifting posture.

Week-End Traffic Kills Two in County

Justice Courts Ellis' Topic

County Clerk Joe Ellis, who attended the 57th annual convention of county clerks at Mackinac Island, as chairman of the legislative committee, spoke before the county clerks on the problems facing the state in scrapping the justice of peace courts, as provided under the new constitution.

Two persons were killed in Livingston county traffic over the weekend. The first fatality occurred Saturday afternoon at 10:30 a.m. on the state road near the 14 year old Edna Richman was riding in a car driven by 16 year old Dana Valensky of Southfield.

Apparently the Valensky boy lost control of the vehicle in loose gravel, and the car skidded sideways down Cortly Lake Road building up a mound of dirt. The car then flipped over the mound and somersaulted sideways at least two times.

The Richman girl was thrown from the car, and it landed on top of her. Death was attributed to a skull fracture. The Valensky boy suffered back injuries.

The second fatal accident occurred Sunday afternoon near Fowlerville on South Fowlerville road.

The Livingston county sheriff's department reports that 81 year old Edward Bentley apparently changed his mind about entering the 136 expressway entry ramp, and turned in front of a car driven by 17 year old Shariene Driver of Fowlerville.

The Driver girl's car struck Bentley's car in the left front side Bentley and his 71 year old sister, Lara Batt, were taken to Sparrow Hospital in Lansing, where Bentley died at 8:30 p.m.

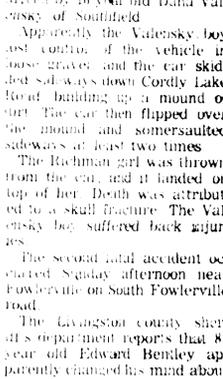

Ellis explained that the legislature has several bills before it to replace justice courts with county courts. The new constitution adopted in 1963 gives the legislature five years to accomplish this.

Justice court records are now filed monthly with the county clerks and they are audited by the auditing committee. Justice courts are now under the supervision of the circuit court judges.

Ellis, who as county clerk is also the county's chief election officer and the county auditor, spoke of the success of the county clerks in having legislation they favored being passed by the recent legislature.

These included bills to provide for a four-year term for county drain commissioners and abolition of the office in counties with populations under 12,000, and the act to change from a three-fifths to a majority of those voting to approve a charter amendment in bond elections; act to require that names of officers for township offices appear on the same ballot in the November election along with other candidates for federal, state and county offices; the act to set up procedures for absentee ballots; an act to require the use of ballot bags with seals after ballots are counted; an act to abolish the township caucus and an act to provide that candidates for public office who file by the system must do so at least 72 hours before the filing deadline for candidates.

FBI Sends County Warning of Teen Hoodlums

As an aftermath to the various cases of vandalism in Livingston county by teen agers, the looting of graves, and the invasion by motorcycle hoodlums, the FBI has sent out the following instructions to the county's law enforcement officers:

"Young thugs and teenage criminals may be pressing their luck by increasing their violent escapades while blaming society for their faults.

"It appears that the public is beginning to gag on the steady sociological diet of excusing the conduct of teenage hoodlums because "society has failed them." Resort communities racked by senseless riots and citizens who cannot venture from their homes without being assaulted and beaten are getting fed up with pampered and insolent young gangs.

"Some courts in the troubled areas are taking a more realistic approach in handling those involved in these outbreaks. New laws providing stiffer penalties are being enacted in a few places. We can only hope that authorities everywhere will follow this trend. Certainly, the mere desire of young miscreants to have a blast or to let off steam is no excuse to ravage a community and to maim and terrorize its residents.

"That holiday riots and similar antics by carousing youths have evoked widespread concern is not surprising. It is surprising, however, that strong public reaction did not come sooner. For several years, the increasing volume of criminal acts by young people — spurred on by the lenient treatment received—has presented a clear barometric reading of what we are now witnessing. For instance, from 1960 through 1964, the percentage of young age-group arrests for homicide, forcible rape, aggravated assault, robbery, burglary, larceny, and auto theft more than doubled the population increase percentage of the same group. Arrests of persons under 18 for simple assault rose 79 percent, drunkenness and related violations 52 percent, disorderly conduct 18 percent, and concealed weapons 17 percent during the same 5 years. In the light of this shameful picture, we cannot say that we were not forewarned.

"The immediate objective, of course, is to put a stop to these rumbles and mass vandalism. Meanwhile, the question puzzling most people is what caused the principles and morals of some of our youth to degenerate to near animal level. Recognizing the problem comes much easier than its solution. However, of all the factors involved, I am convinced one of the most damaging is the false teaching which tends to blame society for all the frustrations, woes, and inconveniences, real or

Man Shortage Hurts Farmers

Michigan farmers, especially those who raise cherries and pickles are suffering from labor shortages since the U.S. has forbidden the importation from Mexico of migrant workers.

Groups of jobless from several other states were imported into Michigan for the harvest of pickles but the workers were scarce and caused more than 25 percent loss of the state's pickle crop.

Elton Smith, president of Michigan's Farm Bureau recently told Secretary of Labor, Willard Wirtz that the loss of 10 to 15 percent of the state's cherry crop due to lack of pickers is "avoidable and inexcusable."

"This 10-15 per cent loss may be an important to you in Washington, accustomed as you are to dealing in billions of dollars, but to a Michigan farmer this portion of his crop could easily mean the only income above expenses that he might hope to have. Already faced, in many areas, with serious loss from drought, this avoidable loss seems to us inexcusable."

The farm leader warned that the critical farm labor shortage which has already caused serious crop loss in Michigan would increase with the opening of schools. Wirtz had earlier indicated that he did not see any "major problem" in the pickle harvest after school reopening.

"The pickle crop, with average already severely cut at planting time because of uncertainty regarding picking help, is now being lost on the vines for want of labor," Smith said. He pointed out that the prospects for apple harvest are equally alarming.

"With industrial employment at high peak and factory workers being recruited on the streets of our cities, where is apple picking labor to be found?" he asked.

Last June, Secretary Wirtz rejected the recommendation of his five-member Michigan Labor Panel for authorization of a supplementary labor supply of 5,000 foreign workers. The rejection came despite the fact that the panel indicated employment of this number of foreign workers would have no adverse effect on the employment of domestic labor.

No, the Brighton Fire Department isn't robbing the cradle for new recruits. Little Gary Sutfin couldn't resist the temptation to try on daddy's fire equipment. The youngster proudly waded around the field day exhibits in the boots, rubber coat and fire hat until the gear was needed again by his father Leon Sutfin for the oil pit demonstration.

Pinckney Camp Speaker Re-elected To ICCC Congress

The Rev. W. C. Standridge, prominent as a Pinckney Happy Day Club speaker, has been re-elected to the executive committee at the Geneva Congress of the International Councils of Christian Churches. He is a charter member of the organization founded in Amsterdam in 1948.

The Rev. Standridge and his wife, now in Europe, have written of their experiences.

He said: "Roman Catholic Churches in Europe are changing."

"Major cathedrals of the Roman Catholic faith reflect changes due to the Second Vatican Council. Many altars in the cathedrals, at which the officiating priest formerly conducted the Mass with his back to the faithful, have often been abandoned and a large table is placed before the altar in such a way that the priest can face the worshippers and the liturgy, in the language of the country, can be more carefully followed. This change, which is due to decisions taken in the Vatican Council, reflects attempts to bring the Church of Rome and Protestantism together in forms of worship and ultimately in organization, according to Mr. Standridge."

The Standridges left Pinckney, where they operate the "Happy Day Camp" for children and Mr. Standridge directs the Beulah Land Bible Conference, on August 2 and flew from Philadelphia to Geneva, Switzerland, to attend the eight-day Sixth Plenary Congress of the International Council of Christian Churches. After the congress, they left Geneva by car, together with their son, William, Jr. and his wife, visiting France, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, and Austria and Italy. In the Roman Catholic cathedrals of Venice, Milan, and Florence, Mr. Standridge noted the changes in the placement of the altars which had been made since his former visits.

The Standridges are spending two weeks in Rome, visiting their son and his family, who have been living there for a number of years and carrying out an extensive literature work, together with other missionaries serving under the Independent Faith Mission, which was founded by Mr. Standridge, after his first visit to Italy, in 1948. His present visit to Rome is the fourth after the founding of the Mission.

On September 7, the Standridges will sail for New York from Naples, on the Italian ship, the Michelangelo, which has just entered service this summer. After their return to Pinckney, about September 15, they will spend about 10 days at the Happy Day Camp, and then leave by car for Memphis, Tenn., where Mr. Standridge is pastor of the Whitehaven Bible Church, which he founded about two years ago. The church is identified with the movement in America known as "The Twentieth Century Reformation" and the American and International Councils of Christian Churches.

imaginary, visited upon our young people. Teenagers, and their parents, have been subjected to a foolhardy theory which condones rebellious conduct against authority, law and order, or any regulatory measures which restrict their whims, wishes, desires, and activities. This astonishing belief has spread into the schoolroom, the living room, the courtroom, and now into the streets of our Nation in the form of wild, drunken brawls. "No doubt, society has failed our youth, but not in the way many seem to think. Rather, the dereliction has been in the failure to teach them the meaning of discipline, restraint, self-respect, and respect for law and order and the rights of others. Consequently, the lesson now is both painful and costly."

Pressure on Children

By Mrs. Ernestine Carlson
Director of Special Services, Livingston Intermediate School District.

Excessive pressures of modern life, and some of the physical and mental symptoms, ranging from ulcers to the ultimate — suicide — are not "For Adults Only". Children, too, are victims of pressure.

But, concerned fathers and mothers, facing another busy school season soon discover there's a paradox in the middle of the problem. Helping children succeed in school and life in an aura of hurry and change is a tricky matter, of not too much, not too little. And it's hard to know the difference especially when what is right for one child may be wrong for another.

Dr. Mollie S. Schilspratt, a noted psychiatrist and teacher, describes the problems of groups of children who are too dependent upon their mothers, and the "separation anxiety" when the child first goes off to school. This is not the serious problem that sometimes precedes — that of a child trying very hard to please his parents through academic achievement beyond his ability. The child is under strain; the parents get involved in homework, and the pattern of tension and fear of failure to please can build into an unhappy situation.

Then there is the child of below average ability or neurological impairment who may suffer, if his parents do not or cannot accept his limitations.

In other words, the apathy of the neglected, unaccepted, unappreciated poor child can produce the same failures to learn as the stubborn, disinterested, nagged, and pushed child of affluence who sees no reason to exert himself. And the total lack of pressure, whatever the economic status of a child's family, actually result in accumulating intolerable pressures for this child as well.

Intense and intolerable is the pressure that comes at a child. There is the social demand for conformity, and the academic demand to excel. It's square to be an egg-head, but you're sunk socially, not to mention economically, if you don't go to college. And once in college the opposing pressures increase. For some, the balancing is easy; for others the whole thing gets out of whack, including the emotional state of the student.

How much pressure for children and still not cause confusion and undermine the purposefulness of our youth is hard to answer. But there is a great need today for parents, schools, education of boys and girls to cooperate in protecting children from destructive forces.

Life is just an everlasting struggle to keep money coming in and teeth and hair from coming out.

FAMILIES WITH PLANS for the children's college education face constantly increasing tuition costs. $12,000 is a conservative estimate of what the cost of four years of college will be by 1970.

If you have plans for higher education for your youngsters, a program of regular saving is the best way to accumulate the needed funds. And the best place to save is here, where liberal earnings paid on savings can provide as much as a full year's tuition, free, over an eighteen year period of saving.

Come in soon and consult a savings officer about a go-to-college account for your children.

Dunn Urges Revision Of Fair Authority

Complete revision of the Michigan State Fair Authority with 20 members will be recommended to the Michigan Legislature by two Democratic Senators who have started an investigation of the authority's internal disputes. With the State Fair opening in Detroit on Friday after a strike scare was settled, the special Senate Committee with Senator Gerald R. Dunn (D. of Flushing as chairman and Senator Roger E. Graig (D. of Dearborn as vice chairman, question high echelon witnesses at the Veterans Memorial Building in Detroit. "We quickly learned about divided authority and the lack of harmony that prevails at the top level," Senator Dunn said. "There are no firm lines to determine the areas of authority and responsibility between the cumbersome authority and State Fair General Manager Walter Goodman. "If the citizens of Michigan, who own the fair and the valuable fairgrounds, are to realize the full value and potential of their investment in the annual outstanding fair of the nation, then petty bickering must stop. We must have a new order where the Authority is limited to making policy and the General Manager to administration." Dunn added that the committee would also urge the end to a policy that provides a private trailer for each member of the Authority to be installed at the Fair Grounds at State expense.

'Soft-Ball' Girls Ride Rikisha

The "Brighton Pussycats" and the men from the "Sail Inn soft ball team, put on a game of soft ball they will remember for a long time. The girls who wear too exhausted to run were pushed around in a jinkishka. The proceeds were turned over to the Rickett School which amounted to $182.00.

Well, August has gone, with its weather as changeable as a chameleon's skin! Opinions of or too cold; too dry or too wet. The weather have been equally as changeable. It's been too hot. Well, here's something for all of us to think of. Pvt. Jimmie Stuhberg writes back from Vietnam that the temperature where he is on duty is 135 degrees, and it rains from five to seven times a day! We're having "wonderful" weather here, aren't we, folks?

The Melvin Decker home buzzed with youngsters the past few weeks. At one time, guests were Mr. and Mrs. William McIntyre and 4 children of Houston, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. David McIntyre and 3 children of Denver, Colo. Mrs. Decker's aunt, Mrs. Mabel Johnson of Oklahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kelchner and 2 teen-age sons of Richmond, Va. William and David McIntyre are Mrs. Decker's brothers. Then Mr. and Mrs. Decker made a canoeing trip on the Two-hearted River, 30 miles north of Newberry, and the week before last, took their son Mark on a three day camping trip near Osineke. They all enjoyed visiting the lighthouses on Presque Isle, and a trip to the Prehistoric Zoo near Alpena.

On August 23, Walter, Kim, and Jack Gyr returned home from their 8 week session at Interlochen. The boys couldn't single out any one event that was most interesting. According to Walter, everything was terrific! They made many new friends and enjoyed concerts by professional artists, as well as taking part in the camp's band and choral concerts.

Mrs. Ruth Markwood of Kinyon Drive is back in McPherson Health Center again. Her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whiteside of Mumfords, N.Y. arrived on Thursday, Aug. 26 to surprise her, and found she had been hospitalized on Tuesday. Just how long she will be in the hospital is not known, but she is improving.

Mrs. Velma Beach came home from St. Joseph Hospital on Thursday, August 26, after a 6 week bout with Pneumonia. She is very glad to be home again but it will still be a while before she is completely recovered.

Ralph and Roxanne Smith, twins of the Ralph Smith family on Fonda Lake, were three years old on August 25. On Thursday they celebrated at a neighborhood party with about 30 guests. Then, on Sunday, August 28, they celebrated again with their father whose birthday was on the 28th. Guests beside the family were Mr. Smith's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Al Belinger of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Petzold and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tompkins had dinner at the Elks Club, Ann Arbor Saturday evening the occasion being the second wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins.

Mrs. Al Petzold and family were in Hubbard Lake last week visiting her family. While there they were guests at a company picnic at Pinckney.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Osgan of Farmington were Friday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Aram Vartoogian and Mrs. Thomas Raymond. School Lake have returned from a northern vacation near Roscommon. They camped at the Higgins Lake camp and visited the Sleeping Bear dunes, having a ride in one of the special cars there. They also went to Mackinac Island, took a sight seeing trip, while there Linda celebrated her tenth birthday. Much to her delight surprise her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Raymond, Briggs Lake, motored north to spend the happy day with the family. They also found the weather cold and lots of rain. Edwin Friedman who celebrated his birthday Saturday had a lovely party with twenty one guests present. The 17 children from the Happy Hollow Camp on Cunningham Lake road were among the guests. Mrs. Bernice Hummel and son Tony of Howell, Mrs. Mary Kellogg and son David also were guests. Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Baugher were in Detroit to see his parents Mr. and Mrs. Claud Baugher. They both have been on the critical list. Mrs. Baugher with a serious heart attack and Mr. Baugher after surgery. They are both much improved and off the critical list. Mr. and Mrs. Baugher were one time residents of the Brighton area. Mr. and Mrs. Al Petzold have returned home after a motor trip east. They went through Canada, crossing at Windsor and visited Toronto and Kingston in Ontario. They went on to Quebec and stopped in Quebec city, also motoring through Montreal. They enjoyed the old world atmosphere that still is Quebec, the many flowers around all homes and so much hand work on display. They crossed the St. Lawrence River into Maine, stopping at the Sky Lodge, high in the mountains, one of the main attractions being the Black bears. They went from there to Boston then on to Plymouth. There they visited Plymouth Rock, also the Mayflower. They then went to Hyannis and saw the former home of President Kennedy. From there to Cape Cod and Nantucket, Worcester, and Rhode Island, back via Buffalo and Niagara Falls. They saw but one accident on the whole trip everyone was driving at a moderate speed. Another pleasant surprise was the fact most drivers were evidently using lit-bugs as all highways were clean of litter.

On Thursday, September 9th from 7:30 to 9 p.m. all commissions will meet in the church to make plans for the coming year. All commission chairmen are asked to contact their commission members before the meeting encouraging them to attend. These plans will then be submitted to the official board at the fall retreat scheduled for Sunday, September 26th.

Don Carney, president, has announced that the Methodist Youth Fellowship will conduct their first meeting of the new church year on Sunday evening, September 5th, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the church.

This coming Sunday, September 5th the Rev. Robert C. Brubaker will preach on "Partners With God."

Fairlawn Tots Win Bus Row

The Fairlawn subdivision transportation problem has been solved in the words of one board member: "Now and for ever more."

The board amended its transportation policy Wednesday night upon a motion by board member Wilfred Erwin, after receiving a letter from the subdivision parents which stated that they could not accept the responsibility of the bus offered to the subdivision by the school board.

The subdivision had made a counter offer to pay the $8 a year per child, or the difference that the school would be losing by transporting the children.

The board reported that they could not legally accept any money for the transportation of the children. Erwin's motion to amend the transportation policy, referred to a previous amendment made in September of 1963, which had stated that the school would transport Fairlawn's elementary children. However the junior and senior high students will still be required to walk to school. This would insure transportation to approximately 50 of Fairlawn's 85 school children. The motion was passed unanimously.

Erwin justified the motion by stating that the school had made other exceptions to the transportation policy.

"Bedroom" Prosperity

Although we believe that any story revealing the prosperity of our surrounding community makes our county a better place to live in, there has come to our ears criticism of such stories that tell of the possibility of an atomic plant being built on our doorstep and the expansion of job opportunities with the building boom at Wixom, only a 15 minute drive from Brighton.

These critics are similar to the group that frothed at the mouth in 1914 when Henry Ford established a minimum wage of $5 a day in all his plants when the going rate of pay was in the neighborhood of $2.50 a day.

Then they could not foresee the day when every household had an automobile. When the wage scale that now prevails makes it possible for every family to have an electric refrigerator.

Had that $2.50 a day scale continued there would not have been the millions of autos that now crowd our highways nor would our homes have all the conveniences that they now have.

These critics say that stories of job opportunities will make our community a "bedroom community." In other words take from our community the workers who drive 15 minutes to make more money than many of our industries in Livingston county now pay.

They forget that the man making more money spends more money — he spends it where he sleeps and an increased total income for Brighton, Howell, Saxony or any other community means a greater prosperity for that community.

If local industry cannot stand the competition of higher wages for their workers, that industry is doing little to raise the income level of our community.

Let the laboring man in our community make more money and everyone will benefit. He will also have the money to buy the output of Livingston County's industries, just as Henry Ford's $5 a day helped everyone to buy an auto.

This and That

By Tom Kizer

President Johnson recently announced that all induction centers have been instructed to "tighten up" on deferments to part time college students. This would affect the student taking a limited curriculum and working at a job to pay his schooling cost.

Now let's turn our attention to a Federal Government bureaucracy known as the JOB CORPS. A week ago, August 21, The Detroit Free Press carried headlines reading "TEEN AGE MOB RIOTS AT JOB CORPS CENTER." In case you don't know about it, the Federal Job Corps "operates camps where unemployed youths between ages 16 and 21 are taught skills so they may obtain jobs. Most are school drop outs."

Here is perfect proof of how, once again, we stab the self-reliant and conversely, spend taxpayers' money to subsidize the indigent. So here we are with the President and the Pentagon calling for more draftees on the one hand, even to the extent of drafting the part time, self-supporting student, and on the other hand, enlarging the Job Corps to do for its membership what the self-reliant man is doing for himself. Why in the H— aren't these Job Corps boys drafted into the service? As I said in this column last week, "maybe the armed services ought to establish a special branch called "Boot Strap" or "Half Way House" or some other appropriate name and induct these rebellious youths into it. It would help fill the draft quota and do as much or more for them than the JOB CORPS can.

I certainly can't see the sense of inducting well oriented, career minded youths and letting the hoodlums, school drop outs, loafers and Job Corps type go their merry way on the pretext their induction would "degrade" the armed services. Poppycock! They wouldn't degrade it long or they would be court martialled.

In The Free Press write up of the riot at the Job Corps camp, it quotes as follows a statement by the Job Corps Director, Otis Singletery, "The Corps was having growing pains." Here we go again — another Federal agency with "growing pains," getting bigger and bigger and costing more and more.

Mr. Singletery is further quoted as saying "it might be expected that several thousand disadvantaged youths taken from the streets in an attempt to keep them out of trouble might have some difficulties getting adjusted." Now isn't that touching! What about the youth snatched from school or job and drafted into the service? Isn't he disadvantaged in that little shake up? Any man who has been in the service knows you meet "all kinds" there but the "disadvantaged" straighten out or they wind up in the brig.

What is so different about all this now in the era of our "Great Society," year 1965? As taxpayers we ought to rebel and as witnesses to a disgusting waste of youth potential we ought to raise a real clamor with our elected representatives to change things.

If I sound bitter against the "disadvantaged," I'm not. I am bitter against the treatment of our self-reliant, decent citizens. The disadvantaged in some cases are victims of circumstances but I resent all the emphasis on them and complete lack of it on the deserving.

Two days before this was written a new order came out of the Selective Service Headquarters — "no more men married after midnight that date would be deferred."

Of the thousands who headed for the altar ahead of deadline, many were planning an early wedding anyway. Who can criticize them for getting under the wire when it is as natural as breathing to wed, make a home and raise a family? There were some who no doubt did so to escape the draft. They also have my understanding. This country is not officially at war. Congress has never declared war, thank God, and if you don't believe in this Vietnam fiasco it is your right as a citizen to stay out of it by any legal means, just as it is your right and duty to avoid paying every cent of tax you can legally avoid paying.

Why not get some common sense into our military by making the life of a Soldier, Sailor or Marine a career on the same professional basis as our other law enforcement agency? Do this, pay them accordingly, train them well and doesn't it make sense they would serve well and be much better equipped defenders of our country than the draftee who is there because he can't help it and is simply marking time till his service stint is over?

There are thousands of young men who would make a career of the military if it paid them enough to live a normal family life. Wouldn't it be cheaper in

LABOR DAY, 1965

Labor Day is everybody's day—for almost everybody does some physical or mental toil, bodily or intellectual exertion. It may be the newspaper delivery boy making his daily round in the neighborhood. It may be a typical mother's day, where the 40-hour work week is unknown. It may be a composer working on a symphony. It may be the work of the military sweating-out the insect-infested swamps of Viet Nam.

When Labor Day was first celebrated in New York in 1882 under the sponsorship of the Central Labor Union, it became the day set aside for commemoration by organized labor.

However, today, Labor Day, in a broad sense, is dedicated to all those in the work force, skilled and unskilled, white collar and blue, educators, artists, and members of all the professions.

Labor, of course, is not limited to brawn alone. Labor of the mind is exemplified by the men of science; labor of the spirit is epitomized by the religious, and labor of the heart is personified in the work of medicine and social service, among others.

Therefore, let us pause during Labor Day in tribute to the opportunity in America for physical, mental and spiritual work, the responsibility each entails and above all else, the pleasure to be derived from work that is well-performed.

REPORT from LANSING State Representative Thomas G. Sharpe

A considerable number of bills to alter state liquor laws to the advantage of the package dealers, distillers wanting to build Michigan, airports, resort owners, and others and to grant some tax relief to the beer industry were batted around the 1965 legislative chambers, with only a small percentage finally scoring. Enacted were laws to:

Exempt distillers from a 1933 provision of the liquor control act requiring 25 percent of their stock to be owned by citizens of Michigan — thus clearing the way for the construction of a $4 million vodka distillery plant in Allen Park. Allow the State Liquor Control Commission and local units to approve liquor licenses at publicly-operated airports in counties with a population of 100,000 or more. Such licenses would be over and above those granted under existing license quotas.

Provide that the transfer in the aggregate of more than 10 percent of the outstanding stock of a corporation licensed to sell alcoholic beverages constitutes a transfer of an interest in a license for which a transfer fee shall be paid.

Establish a new definition under the liquor laws that a "church" must be an entire house or separate structure used primarily for the purposes of public worship, have a clergyman associated with it, and be tax exempt.

Others, although approved by the Democrat-controlled legislature, were thrown out when they reached home plate. Among the liquor proposals prevented from final enactment by veto of the Governor were bills to:

Permit the serving of alcoholic beverages in state armories by organizations renting the use thereof.

Waive the present population quota formula used by the Liquor Control Commission in the granting of Class C licenses (one license for each 1,500 population) by permitting some 900 beer and wine taverns to upgrade their liquor licenses to include sale of liquor by the glass provided they had been in business for the past five years.

Grant a 10 percent discount to retailers on the sales and excise taxes on liquor. This change in the discount formula now used by the Liquor Control Commission would have given Michigan's 2200 specially designated distributors (SDD's) an additional profit of $1.8 million annually, with a corresponding loss to the state of this amount in tax revenues.

At least temporarily benched by the legislature were numerous other proposals, including bills to:

Reduce the "nuisance tax" on beer from its present $6.61 per barrel to $2.50.

Permit Sunday liquor sales on a local option basis. (Despite strong Democratic support, neither the original proposal which applied to the entire state nor the subsequent one which pertained only to Wayne County, could overcome public opposition and secure sufficient votes for passage.)

Prohibit anyone under 21 years of age from importing liquor from a foreign country with Canada as the main target.

Prevent retailers from using beer or ale as loss leader items by selling them below cost.

Sound driving calls for lower speeds on residential streets, particularly near parked cars. Most child traffic accidents occur when a youngster runs into the street from behind a parked car.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Citizens of Livingston County should be up in arms over the administration attempts to scrap the McCarran-Walter Immigration Law and replace it with H.R. 2580 and S. 500, both of which are a threat to our national security. If enough people would take the time to investigate and then write Congressman Weston Vivian and Senators Philip Hart and Pat McNamara, we could save ourselves a lot of grief.

Here is the great danger. Under the proposed bills we would jeopardize the safety of our country by opening the flood gates, permitting communist spies to emigrate from Red China, communist controlled Algeria and other African countries. Liberals, Leftists, Socialists and Communists are pressing for the new Immigration Bill.

Here is another danger. At present Congress has the responsibility of regulating immigration. Under the Johnson proposal, Congress is called upon to delegate to the President and his appointees, via the Immigration Board, the power to allocate up to 30 per cent of the quota pool as he sees fit, and an additional 10 per cent of the pool to refugees from "catastrophe or oppression."

Here is still another danger. If the President's immigration bill is passed it will threaten the job security of countless American workmen. As long as we have unemployment and when it is necessary for the President to declare "war on poverty" and spend billions of dollars on federal housing and manpower training does it make good sense to aggravate the very problems we are trying to solve?

The President's bill further proposes a special Immigration Board consisting of seven members; two to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, two by the President of the Senate, and three, including the CHAIRMAN by the President. This Chairman a political appointee, would in all probability not even be a member of Congress. This bill is a ruse by which the administration can by-pass Congress.

On August 24, 1964, Senator Strom Thurmond declared: "If all we hear about unemployment and poverty in the U.S.A. is correct, then we have enough problems of our own without swallowing those of other nations. Those jobs are the Asians and Africans going to get — or will they just be added to the poverty or welfare rolls, as have thousands of Puerto Ricans in New York City? The United States is the principal bulwark in the world standing between the forces of enslavement bent on their aim of communizing the world. To open the floodgates in America now would not only weaken us by drastically altering our national racial and cultural composition, but it would threaten our economy and provide an easy approach for infiltrating and subverting our national political structure."

The late Senator Patrick A. McCarran said this: "The solution of the problems of Europe and Asia will not come through the transplanting of those problems en masse to the United States. A solution remains possible only if America is maintained strong and free; only if our institutions, our way of life, are preserved by those who are part and parcel of that way of life."

If you agree, then please write, wire or call our representatives and let them know what you want. It is important that this bill be defeated. Will you help?

Driver Training Receives Heavy Industry Boost

More than 1 1/2 million high school students will take a course in driver education during their sophomore or junior years—56% of all those eligible—in the 12,720 schools in the 50 states offering this instruction as a part of their curriculum, according to the Automotive Safety Foundation.

The services of 25,575 school teachers will be required, and the average cost of training each student is $50. The total amount spent annually on driver education in American high schools is estimated to be approximately $75 million.

A large share of this cost is borne by the automobile manufacturers and dealers as a public service project. Out of the 15,285 cars used by the schools for practice driving, 9,778 have been provided by dealers on a free loan basis.

By Oscar Muller Coming to this town, in the year 1928, one of the first persons I met was a gentleman, an old-fashioned doctor, with gray hair and a mustache, having been educated in one of the greatest universities in the University of Heidelberg, Germany. He was a very important figure on the streets of Brighton, with a welcome hand for both young and old, rich and poor, and always there whenever needed, whether it be day or night, in all kinds of weather. I can still see him in his light grey suit, his watch chain hanging from his waist, his upright manner, his gentle inspiring smile, his steady walk, despite his age.

Yes, old Dr. Singer, the father of our former Justice of the Peace G. E. Singer, and his brother Dave, a professor at the University of Kentucky. His office was where the Singer-Printing Press now is located on the corner of Main Street. When Dr. Singer died, some of Brighton died with him, and since then has never seen the spirit as a boaster of his beloved Brighton.

Perhaps we have forgotten that Dr. Singer was the originator of the Brighton Band Stand on the Mill Pond, the gathering place of Brightonians, both young and old. Dr. Singer was a quiet musician himself, and also very active.

Yes, Bill Seger, Clifford Roberts Clark were some of his Band members. I can still hear the soft tunes of waltzes, the stirring tunes of Philip Sousa, marches, the fighting team songs of the famous Brighton football teams, the inspiring tunes of our National anthem, the almost forgotten songs of our doughboys across the ocean from France to the Rhine and the songs of our soldiers of World War I.

Yes, a great era had ended, never to be forgotten by a lot of us. I would like to see this spirit of our Brighton to come to life again, the best weapon against delinquency, to relieve the glorious past of not only our great city, but also of our nation.

If we, as adults, don't forget the past, and are willing and if we will take the time out from our daily problems, and relieve with our children, the history, a prime object and subject. If we teach and make our children learn the Constitution of our United States of America, telling them, and refile with them, the ever inspiring Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, the Declaration of Independence.

Well, ladies and gentlemen, how about it? You would not have to worry about the future of your children the future of our nation. In the good old spirit of Dr. Singer let's come down to earth, for the sake of our nation, let's be more patriotic, and let's recognize our flag "Old Glory," and let all of us fly our colors, the symbol of freedom, the most respected recognized flag all over the world.

Don't let the politicians sell us out to gangsters communism, money and self-interest. Only in the spirit of people like Dr. Singer will we enjoy the blessing of being Americans, the goal, the inspiration of all immigrants.

Los Angeles should teach us that we are dealing with social disease at an advanced stage. The gloomy statistics on family breakdown, overcrowding, crime, illiteracy and unemployment have been building up in plain view over the years, and it is to our shame that it takes something like the Los Angeles riots to give the statistics flesh-and-blood reality.

Evaluating the present machinery for dealing with urban problems is difficult since it is still relatively new and untested, and since the problems for which the machinery is set up are already nearly out of hand. Generally speaking, the basic machinery — schools, training programs, welfare and other governmental agencies, private and voluntary groups — does exist; what we need now is the knowledge, understanding, financial muscle, and most of all, the personal commitment and involvement to make the machinery work.

If the machinery is to move effectively, we need a massive improvement in the public's understanding of the demoralizing conditions facing the nation's slum dwellers. With this understanding must come a sense of emergency which will energize not only government agencies but businesses, churches, unions, neighborhood groups, civil rights organizations, into facing up to the dreary, urgent task of overcoming centuries of prejudice, discrimination, and disadvantage.

Since the explosive summer of 1963, legal barriers to equal rights have tumbled at a record rate, and legal safeguards

Congressman Wes Vivian Reports

Last week, the United States House of Representatives approved basic amendments to the Immigration and Nationality Act, which controls immigration into this country.

The changes will do away with the old national origins quota system, substituting much more rational and humane guidelines based on family relationships and on work skills. The main emphasis now will be the reunification of families. The number of immigrants entering the nation will not significantly increase, but the exorbitant delay in admitting qualified immigrants will be noticeably decreased.

Each week I receive here in Washington requests for aid from constituents trying desperately to bring a parent or child to this country. The amendments passed today will make it much easier for our citizens to bring loved ones to join them. An important safeguard is a requirement from a person of equal opportunity have been built up. But legal victories do not eliminate prejudice and they have a hollow ring for Negro masses who are ill-equipped to meet the demands and stresses of an urbanized society, and the fight for equal opportunity is entering a new and more difficult phase, a phase whose success depends upon three things: First, citizens gripped by a determination to provide every American with full opportunity to overcome past inadequacies and achieve human dignity; second, equal determination on the part of those provided such opportunity to convert it into equal human dignity by accepting the duty of equal responsibility and the conduct that earns respect and destroys prejudice; and third, determination on the part of all of us to restore profound respect for law and those who enforce it.

Those of us fully familiar with the priceless advantages of being American have the greatest responsibility. On our part, there must be a compelling commitment to end injustice and attack the roots of social and economic disorder, including the hopelessness of life in the slums.

Such a commitment would impart hope to the millions of Negroes already boxed into crowded, inadequate housing. Such a commitment would provide the education, training and economic opportunity indispensable to responsible parenthood and a wholesome family life. Such a commitment would result in urgent attention to the children and youth who are growing up without hope and without motivation, direction or responsibility.

seeking to enter without the sponsorship of a United States citizen family member, that the Secretary of Labor must certify he will not displace any American worker. This provision will reduce the possibility that immigration could cause unemployment. It is applicable to all immigrants, including those from Western Hemisphere countries.

Since the end of the Second World War every United States President supported revisions in our out-dated Immigration laws. As we all know, our country was built by immigrants, trailblazers from the four corners of the earth. The current reform of our immigration code states as National policy that personal worth and dignity shall be the critical factor in judging who shall come to our country to live, not solely National origin. This concept is basic to our American traditions.

The reforms enacted last week were long over due. I am proud to have had the opportunity to have a role in enacting them.

TODAY'S INVESTOR BY THOMAS E. O'HARA Chairman, Board of Trustees National Association of Investment Clubs

Q. I bought bonds of a company shortly after World War II for $25,000. They pay 2 1/2 per cent interest and have a 1974 maturity date. Recently, I considered selling, but found they are only worth $21,900, so I held off. Should I go ahead and get rid of them? A. Let's get one thing straight right at the beginning: You still own bonds that will be worth $25,000 at their maturity. You'll get your $25,000 in 1974, unless the issuing company in the meantime gets into serious trouble. You are receiving a return of 2 1/2 per cent in interest each year on the amount you invested. You, however, have run into one of the things that happens to bond owners. Because a bond will be worth a certain amount at maturity is no guarantee that at any time before maturity you will be able to find a buyer who will pay you the face value of the bond. This even applies to U.S. government bonds. You may see government bonds quoted at 90 (with a par value of $1,000, a bond listed at 90 is selling at that time for $900). This does not mean that investors have decided the United States government's credit is no good. Far from it. The government's credit is very good and investors know it. Why then, you may ask, are $25,000 worth of bonds of a thriving company selling for only $21,900? The answer is that the investors willing to buy your bonds now are interested in greater yield, or interest on their money. And the only way they can get the current yield up to a place to where they're attracted is to offer a lower price than its maturity value. The man who will pay you $21,900 will get the same total of $27,500 interest you are now getting on your $25,000. You are getting 2 1/2 per cent on your $25,000, he will be getting 3.1 per cent plus on his $21,900. Current-ly both of you would receive 4 per cent if your money were deposited in the bank. You have simply been caught in an era where interest rates are higher than they were when you bought your bond, so investors are staying away from bonds of the type you hold. As for "getting rid of them," as you would of a bad investment, my answer is no. The company whose bonds you hold is a strong concern and your money would appear to be in no danger. You should not consider selling an investment simply because the price is down. If you have a place to put the money where it will be equally safe and give you a greater rate of return than you are now getting that would be a better reason for selling. Q. What are "no load" mutual funds? A. Mutual funds are generally sold in three ways. One is the "contractual" plan, which is an installment program of purchasing certain amounts of funds. This can be very expensive because a high percentage of your early payments go into the salesman's commission. It takes a long time to build up your share of the fund which is actually working and earning money for you. A second method is the "load" plan, where there is a one time commission for your investment. Here each purchase is a complete purchase and your commission is likely to be in the area of 8% of the sum you have invested. Many good funds are now sold under a "no load" plan. "No load" mutuals are those funds which have no salesmen and no sales commission; all money you put into one of these will be working for you. All three types of funds, of course, are subject to a management fee which is a percentage figure based on the total value of the account.

Community College

school graduates in Michigan entered colleges or universities. Any opposition to establishment of a community college at this time is based on utilizing any additional revenues to improve the present county's school system and also to build badly needed roads in the county.

After these essentials are completed the building of a community college would then be feasible, these opponents argue. The need for giving the high school graduates of Livingston county the opportunity to acquire a higher education, is not questioned.

However it is pointed out that some of the finest educational facilities in America are within 15 to 30 minutes driving distance of any home in the county.

Also the question of further burdening the homeowner with more taxes at this time, is considered questionable and would cause hardships to many.

Excerpts from Dr. Smith's report follow:

"A community college means an educational institution providing primarily for all persons above the twelfth grade age-level.

Persons who have completed or left high school and who are available for full-time study in preparation for entering the labor market.

"Persons who have already entered the labor market and who need training or retraining to achieve stability or advancement in employment.

"Income influences the tendency to pursue higher education. The median income of the 9,492 families in Livingston County was $5,775, according to the last Federal Census. This figure is lower than the median family income of $6,256 for the State of Michigan.

"A large proportion of families in this county have incomes of less than $3,000, and a low proportion of families have incomes of $10,000 or more. The former group comprises 18.3 per cent of the families, compared with 12.6 per cent for all Michigan families, and the latter group comprises 13.0 percent, compared with 17.4 percent for all Michigan families.

"The relatively low median family income in the county is probably related to the low proportion engaged in professional and related occupational activities, and the high proportion of rural population, 87.3 percent, compared with the State average of 26.6 percent.

"It will be noted that high school graduates as a percentage of the population 18 years of age, was higher in Livingston County than in Michigan during most of the past 15 years. Presumably, this situation will continue, especially if a community college is established in this area.

"A total of 392 persons were graduated from the high schools of Brighton, Fowlerville, Hartland, and Howell in June 1964. Of this number, 140, or over one-third, are currently enrolled in 37 different colleges and universities, some of them in other states and countries. The figures include 19 persons who are attending nursing, business, and beauty schools. A total of 121, or 86 percent of the 392 graduates, are continuing their education in public colleges and universities — 36 at Michigan State University, 16 at Ferris State College, 15 at Central Michigan University, 11 at Western Michigan University, and smaller numbers at other institutions. Similar data is not available for last year's 62 graduates of the Pinckney High School at this time.

"The establishment of a community college in the county, will affect the present geographic distribution of college students. The extent and nature of their alignment, in this event, cannot be pre-determined. It will take several years for a new pattern of college attendance to be established after a local college is in operation.

"Many local people may attend a community college who would not find it feasible to attend a distant college. The cost of higher education is materially reduced if one can reside in the parental home while pursuing post-secondary education, since board and room are major items in the cost of a college education. Enrollment in a local community college is affected by many factors that are difficult to foresee.

"In general, however, parents have not and are not planning ahead to meet the financial demands required to enable their children to continue their education beyond high school. Nearly one-half of the parents surveyed are reasonably certain that their children would attend a community college if it were available. Of those who felt their children would not attend college or other institutions of higher education, nearly 60 percent felt that a community college would "certainly" or "probably" make additional education for their children possible. Worthy of note also, is the fact that the responding parents represent a stable segment of the population for over 75 percent have lived in the community for six or more years.

"Because of the rapid increase in population over the last twenty-five years, we now are experiencing an ever-increasing number of young people who are becoming part of the work force. Along with this increase in population, has come a very rapid increase in technological developments relating specifically to the means of production. This age of new developments and trending automation is demanding higher skills from employees in all work levels. Consequently, job opportunities in technical and other skilled levels of employment have increased way beyond the other areas of the labor market. There is a decreasing demand for unskilled labor.

"These factors make it quite evident that the high school graduate must obtain some form of additional training to be an employable part of this labor force. People already in the work force are finding it necessary to continue their education to be eligible for job advancement and other employment opportunities.

"More educational preparation is needed in the present society than ever before. Knowledge has increased at a fantastic rate, and with it there has been an intensification and expansion in specialized occupations.

"It is recommended that the community college work closely with business, industry, agriculture, and educational leaders in the county to establish programs designed to meet the particular requirements of these segments and all segments of the community.

"The principal job classifications requiring more than high school training, but not necessarily a college degree, were listed by responding firms as follows: Secretarial and clerical; management and supervisory; skilled trades; accounting and bookkeeping; drafting, designing, estimating; engineers, engineering aides and technicians; salesmen and other commercial.

"From these job classifications it may be assumed that the major job opportunities in Livingston County are in the range of employment between the semi-skilled and professional levels, and that sufficient educational facilities should be available to train area residents for these jobs.

"The 1964 State Equalized Valuation of $128,000,000 for Livingston County indicates that taxable monies are available for financial support of a Community College for the area.

"The Livingston County area has a reasonable per capita income in relation to the 83 counties of the State.

"It can be assumed that the financing of a Community College would not be a hardship in relation to valuation and per capita income in the Livingston County area.

"Livingston County employers have identified in this survey the growing need for personnel with specialized vocational-technical training and the employment opportunities available to area residents in a good variety of job occupations. They have expressed the fact that there is a rapidly declining demand for people who lack some educational training beyond the high school level. Specifically, companies have indicated the growing need for people to fill the positions between the semi-skilled worker and the highly-trained professional. They have shown that the existing educational facilities in Livingston County are not fulfilling their needs for trained personnel.

"Various types of training relative to technical areas of employment, such as machine design, mechanics and apprentice training, air conditioning and refrigeration, inspection and quality control, engineering aides, building trades, and laboratory technicians for medical facilities, were frequently mentioned. There were also good representative responses in the fields of data processing, farm management, applied science and mathematics, and for machine technology. Several employers added to the check list provided in the questionnaire, indicating types of training that would apply directly to their organization, such as metal finishers, quality control, cost estimators, auto body repair, mechanical and sales engineering, editorial writing, and printing.

"A community college would train young people in the vocational fields required by business and industry at a minimum cost, thus making this education available to many more residents.

"If 1 mill were levied for all purposes, $128,000 would be available each year. Initially, while the student enrollment is low, a large portion of this money would be available for capital outlay.

"One proposal could be a 20-year bonding program which, with state and federal matching funds to offset interest charges, would yield a $1,280,000 plant for less than 50 mills.

"The Committee recommends a millage not to exceed 1 mill for all purposes, as set forth in this report; whereby up to 75 percent of this mill may be used for operational expenses, while the balance, with all available matching funds, be used to provide for facilities.

"Specifically, the housing and operating of a permanent community college facility for Livingston County should be based on an estimated enrollment of 600 students by the end of the fifth year of operation.

"Financing capital outlay in Michigan Community Colleges is shared by the state, federal government, and the community. Several community colleges have received up to 50 percent of their total capital outlay expenditures in matching monies. "It is recommended that the site for a Community College in the area be a minimum of 150 acres in size to accommodate the necessary facilities for the anticipated future enrollments of youths and adults.

"It is estimated that the minimum building space allocation should be between 125 and 150 square feet per full-time student. Community College buildings, with necessary expensive instructional equipment, may be expected to cost approximately $15 to $20 per square foot. Thus, the building and equipment costs will approximate $3,000 per full-time student. It is further recommended that a master plan for meeting future Community College needs be initiated by the board of trustees."

Red Tape Cut In-hiring Staff

There was hot debate before the Howell School Board voted to change its policy in the hiring of teachers. The debate concerned a motion made by Mrs. Barbara Benson that the board discontinue the pre-employment reporting and O-King of staff recommendations. Her motion called for the superintendent to report only once each year for board approval. After all the teachers had been hired, the superintendent at present does not hire any teachers before he has received board approval at a school board meeting, and the qualifications of each new prospect is reviewed by the board. Mrs. Benson argued that this policy hamstringing the superintendent, and that some prospects are lost because they have to wait for board approval. She also said that the review of each individual teacher's requirements, was too time consuming.

Board member Richard Milner argued that the Board spends many hours discussing transportation, the purchase of typewriters and other equipment, and that the same consideration should be given to the hiring the teachers, who actually are responsible for the education of the district's children. Chairman of the Board Wiliam Parker maintained that it boiled down to the issue of whether the board does, or does not have confidence in the judgment of the superintendent.

James Campbell maintained that in this area one man's judgment was not enough, and that before this motion was passed the board and the administration should set up a policy that would define the school's hiring standard.

Campbell maintained that the school has no policy in the matter of hiring staff members.

"I'd like to know what our standards are, and I'd like to have a hand in making them, with the assistance of the administration" he said. Mrs. Benson's motion passed 5 to 2, with Milner and Campbell voting against it.

Drought Hits County Farms U.S. Gives Aid

The five year drought that has crippled Michigan agriculture and has jeopardized the "water wonderland's" pure water supply for home use and recreation, has brought quick action from the Department of Agriculture which has offered hay and grazing privileges to Livingston county on lands that have been retired or diverted from crop production.

Throughout the county the water table has dropped drastically because the average rainfall of 33 inches has been only about 15 inches a year and not only have crops suffered but lake levels have dropped as much as 5 feet.

Congressman Weston Vivian in obtaining this concession from the Department of Agriculture pointed out that several U.S. provisions restrict use of land taken out of production except under emergency conditions.

This concession permits livestock grazing and hay harvesting. Should the drought conditions continue in Livingston county, the Agriculture Department will consider farmers' requests for feed grains.

The severe drought in Livingston counties has caused pastures to deteriorate to practically nothing, and second cuttings of hay just did not materialize.

Livingston County's need for water will triple in the next 45 years, according to a report of the U.S. Public Health Service.

By 1980 the area population will be an estimated 207,000, requiring a water supply averaging 30.9 (Mgd) million gallons a day.

By 2010 the area population will be an estimated 395,000, requiring an average 52.4 mgd.

Water is something that we have all taken for granted. But many, today, are wondering just what we are going to do to insure an adequate and pure supply of water for our homes and for industry. In fact, even Michigan's boast of being a "Water Wonderland" is threatened.

Conservationists, sportsmen, and public officials charged with the responsibility of planning future supplies of water for both industrial and domestic use are hailing the enactment by congress of the "Water Resources Planning Act of 1965."

Widely acclaimed as the most significant and valuable pieces of conservation legislation to clear the Congress thus far in the current session new law establishes river basin commissions to coordinate Federal, state, interstate and local plans for water resources and provides for Federal financial grants to the states for planning purposes.

"An ample supply of good quality water is essential if the United States is to continue to grow and prosper," said Wayne N. Aspinall, chairman of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, in urging final approval. "As our available supplies dwindle," he said, "it is important that we plan the use of our nation's water supplies to provide maximum benefits for all purposes — domestic and industrial use as well as for irrigation, flood control, pollution prevention, navigation, hydroelectric power and energy, outdoor recreation, and fish and wildlife enhancement."

SUBTLETIES VANISH

Subtlety is an art in politics which very few men possess and even fewer use.

When a person already in the public spotlight starts thinking of becoming a candidate-type politician, any subtleties he might have once possessed usually go out the window.

Such is becoming more and more the case with Democratic State Chairman Zoltan A. Ferency. Initially it sounded as if Ferency was merely taking his job of Republican governor prodder very seriously. He struck out at Gov. George Romney from minor vantage points which normally would go unnoticed.

Then word began circulating that Ferency was considering facing the governor himself in 1966 if Romney seeks a third term. Although this was denied several times, the rumor has persisted and Ferency has now given more credence to it himself by informally announcing a change in his party activities.

Prior to Ferency's rise to the party chairmanship, the No. 1 Democratic organizer traditionally filled the post on a part-time basis, leaving the daily details to office staff. Ferency took over on a full-time, "I make all decisions," basis.

Will Open Campaign in 1966
Indications are that Ferency will start his informal but more open campaign early in 1966. He has told several sources, including at least one for publication, that he will become a part-time party chairman then and resume some of his former law practice.

Barring fall legislative action on tax reform, which daily grows more unlikely, the party chief has carved a niche slightly different from Romney's position. He will need considerable help in honing a smooth, sharp distinction.

He has already called for a petition drive to change the state constitution to allow the enactment of a graduated income tax, now specifically prohibited.

Romney and Ferency agree tax reform should be accomplished this year. Both know sentiment among Democratic legislative leaders is contrary to their hopes and that passage of such a drastic program would be sheer fantasy in the 1966 election year session.

Odds-makers now say Ferency will have a hard time getting his party's nomination. There appears now to be no real shining light on the Democratic side, however, and a volunteer may be what is needed come next summer.

IDEAS PAY OFF
Employee suggestion plans with monetary rewards have proved very effective in industry so the state plans to expand its activities in this area.

The legislature this year gave the state civil service commission $20,000 to be used for such a plan, involving all state agencies. Previously, the commission has had a limited employee suggestion plan in use among its own employees.

Plans provide for an award of 10 per cent of the first year's net savings accrued from any tangible suggestion and specified dollar rewards for ideas which cannot be accurately measured but do result in operational improvements.

Optimistic estimates are that at least 1,000 of Michigan's 32,500 state employees would submit valuable suggestions in the first year and a savings of operational costs up to $100,000 could be realized.

MORE LAWS

Legislative activity in Michigan grows in leaps and bounds, although it might seem there should soon be a leveling off point when laws exist and are adequate in every area of public concern.

In the past three years alone, a third or better increase has been noted in several of the many steps in the legislative process. These include bills introduced in both houses, measures sent to the governor, and new laws becoming effective.

Considerably less change was noted in the number of bills which remained in committee or were killed. In 1963, for example, the legislature sent to the governor 254 of the 1,223 bills introduced. This year the governor got 405 of the 1,693 proposals introduced.

As was expected Republican Gov. George Romney found more fault with the ideas passed by this year's Democratic-controlled legislature.

In his first term, when his party was in command of both houses, he vetoed only 11 measures. This year he turned down 23 proposals and let several others become law without his signature.

This veto record surpassed even the 17 vetoes handed down in a single year by former Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson when he was working with a Republican majority.

Honor Grad

Terrence E. Klump, of Whitmore Lake, among 10 Eastern Michigan University graduates, who were commissioned second lieutenants in the U.S. Army at Warren Mich. ceremonies, last Wednesday was named by Maj. Gen. Lapsley as a distinguished military graduate. Another E.M.U. graduate from this area to receive a second lieutenant commission was Paul C. Howell of Pinckney.

New Trooper For Brighton

JAMES R. BREMMER

Of the 32 Michigan State Police recruits graduated as probationary troopers in brief ceremonies Friday afternoon at East Lansing headquarters, one will be sent to Brighton.

After a six months probationary period in the field, the new officers will return to headquarters for a five-week advanced trooper school.

The graduation brings the department's enlisted strength to 1,282, highest it has ever been. The State Police, currently recruiting young men to fill 200 trooper positions authorized by the 1963 Legislature, plan to begin the next training school in October.

The graduate assigned to the Brighton post is James R. Bremmer, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bremmer, live at Howard City, Mich.

Horses, Horses!

Although Livingston county leads in the number of horses within its bounds, the figures on the state's equine population just issued by Michigan State University show that there are 125,000 in Michigan.

The figures for the various counties are not broken down but it has been estimated that Livingston's horse population is in the neighborhood of 9,500.

The M.S.U. figures reveal that 10,000 horses are owned by 7,000 4-H members in the state.

School lunch and other publicly supported special milk programs encourage improved dietary habits among young people and help to increase the market for all milk and milk products.

New schools will greet the county's students when school bells ring out in the next few days. Although the Brighton enrollment is expected to be much larger than in any past year, the boys and girls will have to wait until next year for their new building.

work on which is being pushed (top). (Bottom) Howell's new school is ready for occupancy and throughout the county new schools are either underway or preparations are being made to start building.

PINCKNEY LIBRARY NEWS

New books this week include: "Kavira, 'I Will Try,'" a true-life first person story of a determined young man who walked 2500 miles across his native Africa to obtain an American education.

Benchley, "A Winter's Tale," a story of an island off the coast of New England when an old maid hires a New York theatre producer to put on a series of plays to provide much-needed entertainment for the town during the dead of winter.

Griffith, "Humphrey — A Can-Did Biography" of our vice-president. The author was an assistant in Humphrey's Senate office from 1960-1964. He writes of Humphrey as a man — a politician — a senator and a leader.

Brown and Bruner (editors) "I Can Tell It Now," is a collection of 38 stories by members of the overseas press who first reported them — of great events from the beginning of World War II to the inauguration of Pres. Johnson. The book throws fresh and revealing light on the great events of our time, and many of the stories were not previously published because of censorship or the sensibilities of people then living.

For mystery fans we have Disney, "Departure of Mr. Gaudette," and Curtiss, "Out of the Dark," two good stories, both of which are suitable for reading by young adults.

It was Iselle Freissler not her sister, Evelyn who won the high school reading award.

Richard Wylie Receives Degree

Richard W. Wylie, 1945 Pleasure Dr., was among the 850 students who graduated from Purdue University's eight-week summer session and four shorter intensive sessions. Wylie received an M. S. degree in Civil Engineering.

The new class will be eligible to receive diplomas in person at the annual commencement ceremonies next June 5.

THIS NEW ELK CALF was born on the Tholan Wiles farm near Brighton last week. The Wiles, who have raised several deer on their farm, bought a pair of elk last fall. The young calf is in apparent good health, and is surprisingly tame. The Wiles farm is located at 4500 Fausett Road, and the animals can be viewed from the road, and visitors are welcomed to see the elk, deer and ponies.

Brady, a native of Brighton, Mich., and a graduate of Michigan State University with a degree in mechanical engineering, began his GM career at the Milford Proving Ground as a laboratory technician in 1948. He moved to the Desert Proving Ground near Mesa as a project engineer in 1951, becoming assistant manager of the Desert Proving Ground in 1954 and manager in 1962.

Get Extra Cash

The Howell school board had the pleasant task of spending more than $40,000 Wednesday night, that had not been previously figured in the budget. The money came in part from an increase in state aid.

Chairman of the budget committee, Wilfred Erwin, reported that it was recommended that the money be spent in nine areas. He recommended that the school put a durrer/r/r co-ordinator back in the budget, and that one additional bus driver and a garage serviceman be hired. He also recommended that two new school busses be purchased, and that 15 junior high typewriters, and over $500 worth of reading books for the first grade be purchased. The rest of the money was divided among the senior high, junior high and special education.

After lengthy discussion the budget recommendations were accepted unanimously. The board also set the time for the public budget hearing for Wednesday, Sept. 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the old high school building.

NIGHT and DAY

In mills and factories across the country, they never stop working. By night as well as by day, the wheels of commerce grind out the goods we need as a nation.

It's a twenty-four hour job, this business of production, and it's a vital job - to you, your family, your town, our whole country. Like most vital jobs, it can't be stopped.

Faith is a vital job, too. It isn't simply something that God gives you, free of charge, on Christmas and at Easter. You have to work for real faith. You have to earn it. You have to keep at it.

Fortunately, to help you gain and sustain this vital faith, you have the Church to guide you. Start attending every Sunday and there absorb the wonders of God's teachings.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Livingston County Girl Back From Europe To Teach In Alaska

By Alice Bingner

Here's a gal they can't keep down on the farm, not since she's seen Paris and 17 other countries of Europe in addition to France during the past two months. She's Ethel Steinacker, daughter of the Kenneth Steinackers, 3948 Steinacker Rd., Fowlerville, Mich. She returned two weeks ago from a summer tour that started in England and covered much of Europe.

Now she's making plans to go to the Orient two years hence. And meanwhile?

Meanwhile, Ethel and a friend from St. Louis, Mo., are en route to Alaska where Ethel teaches first grade this year on the island of Douglas "just a bridge away from Juneau." Her friend will teach Spanish at the Juneau high school.

Ethel graduated from Olivet college in Illinois in 1964 and taught first grade last year in Howell.

The two girls will drive alone up the Alcan Highway to start their new positions in Sept. They have no idea where they'll live when they get to Juneau but they'll cross that bridge when they come to it. (Who is there doubts the courage of "this younger generation?") All their hopes and plans are affirmative ones at this point. And enthusiastic.

The group of 43 college students Ethel traveled with to Europe enjoyed once-over-lightly views of 18 countries, highlighted by a trip to East Berlin, she said.

"The wall around the city is really topped with barbed wire," Ethel exclaimed, "and some places pieces of broken glass, too. Guns pointed out from windows above us. Every car was thoroughly searched."

Once within the wall, the atmosphere was very different from the other places they visited. "You know how streets are usually full of people shopping and talking wherever you go. That's not true in East Berlin. The streets are empty. The few people you do see are very sad."

The group noticed how much

rubble remained from the war, unlike West Berlin where everything is rebuilt. Ethel noticed too that — although there was plenty of building as advertised — there was some tearing down, too. The high buildings, it seems, have got to go. It is thought they add to the chance for escape, so apparently they are being replaced with others over which protective wire can be strung. "Someone escapes every night they told us, and there are memorials placed around the wall in West Berlin when someone is killed trying to cross over," she explained.

Much of the building was being done by women who were laying bricks and doing carpentry. None of the children were seen with their mothers, but were grouped together with a supervisor or two, according to Ethel.

The contrast was especially noticeable in this one city of Europe because everywhere else "people were so friendly. They try so hard to communicate with us." As for children, the first grade teacher smiled, "Children are the same everywhere."

She was a little shocked at first to find that Europeans take for granted that all Americans are rich. Then the young traveler mused, "but compared to them, we are. We really are. We loved seeing Europe, but when we got home we realized there's no country to equal the United States anywhere."

Luckily, then, Ethel's next adventure will be in the good ol' U.S.A. — its 49th state.

Drought Stricken

Silage Dangerous

Drought-stricken corn silage may contain high levels of nitrates which can cause potential problems when fed to livestock, according to Michigan State University authorities. Dr. Clifford C. Beck, Extension veterinarian and Donald Hillman, Extension dairy man, warn farmers that they should not be too hasty in putting corn in the silo. The moisture content of corn silage may remain very high, although several leaves have turned brown near the bottom of the stalk. Allowing more time for the plant to grow and ears to develop could also increase the quality of the silage. Much of the nitrate might also disappear as the result of growth and maturity of the plant.

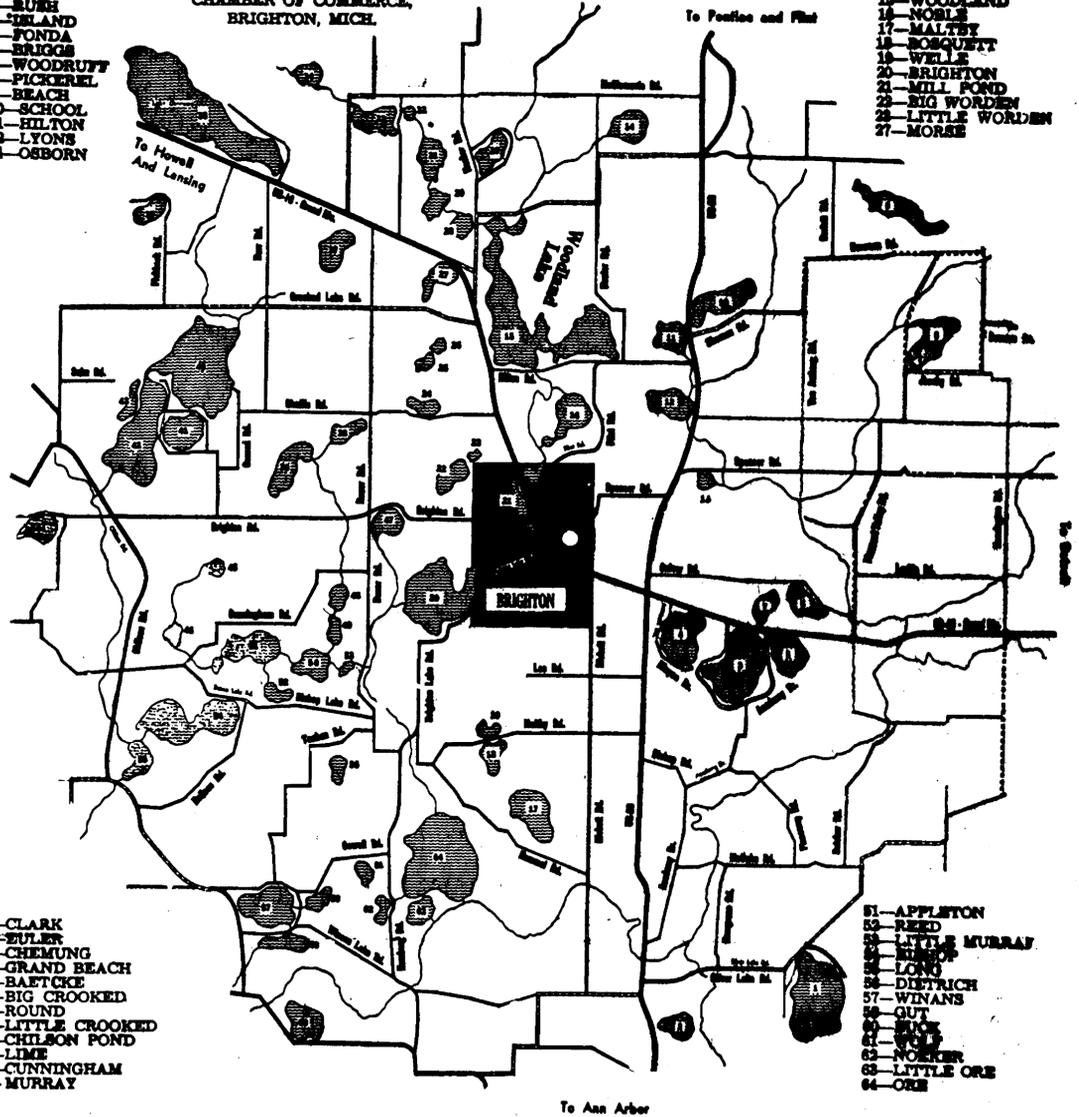

They suggest, to avoid nitrate toxicity, that the crop be allowed to reach maturity before ensiling and to let the silo stand two to three weeks after filling before feeding the silage.

Instant Relief

POUNDRING CITY STREETS or working in a non-air-conditioned spot makes everyone wilt when the temperature and humidity soar. One reason is that your body can lose between 2 1/2 to 4 quarts of water on a hot summer day. One of the pleasantest ways to replace this liquid loss is with a tall, refreshing glass of iced tea.

OUTDOOR FUN

creates terrific thirsts, too. Iced tea comes to the rescue because it's non-sweet, with no sticky aftertaste. Some drinks only perpetuate thirst — the more you drink, the more you want. But iced tea will really quench your thirst. Take along a thermosful on your next trip to the beach or ballpark.
