2 Dead is Toll In County of Labor Holiday

Death rode the highways and waterways of Livingston county during the Labor Day weekend. A Pinckney woman was killed when her car crashed head on into another and a Wyandotte man was drowned in Woodland Lake despite efforts of his father to save him.

The Brighton Barracudas, a scuba diving group recovered the body.

Mrs. Sharon King, 24, of 4880 W. M-36 was the county's 14th auto fatality this year.

Mrs. King was driving west on M-36, a mile west of Hamburg and according to the state police was on the wrong side of the road. She was killed when she crashed head on into a car driven by a Hamburg man, 40 year old Donald Parlette.

Parlette's wife, Jessie, is in serious condition at Saint Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor suffering. Parlette was also taken to Saint Joseph's Hospital, and was treated for a broken ankle and possible chest injuries.

Richard C. Aszalay, 20, of Wyandotte, said to have been suffering from a heart condition, was riding in a boat with his father. When he suddenly throttled down on his way to the dock at Woodland Lake, the boat capsized and both were thrown into the water.

Aszalay, who was operating a 12 foot aluminum boat powered by a 15 horsepower engine, could not swim. His father, Alex Aszalay, was also thrown into the water.

He reported to the police that for a moment he had a grasp of his son's sweater, but the young man slipped beneath the water. Fifteen minutes after the accident was reported to the state police skin divers were at the scene.

Four hours later the body was recovered by the skin diving team of Tex Black and Stan Lawicz of the Brighton Barracudas.

This drowning proved to be the first real test of the sheriff's new emergency equipment. The new Van trailer and diving equipment trailer were brought immediately to the scene. The divers, who worked in teams, were warmed with hot coffee between dives. And all of the needed equipment was at their fingertips.

Girl in Auto Shot Victim

State Police are attempting to clear up the mysterious shooting of Karen DeWolfe, 19, of Hamburg, following the arrest of Edward Cartier, 37, of 7110 Winans Lake road, charged with careless use of firearms.

Cartier was released under $100 bond by Justice Peovik, who with state police, is investigating Cartier's story of two autos drag racing in front of his home.

Cartier said that when he heard the noise of the drag racers he stepped outside, carrying a shotgun. He said he stumbled in the dark and when he fell the shotgun fired wounding Miss DeWolfe in the hand. She was riding with Marilyn Pietras, 18, of Pinckney and at the time was passing the Cartier home on Winans Lake road.

Citizen's outrage against drag racing has been evidenced in at least two other recent incidents.

Two men who were building fences beside the road became disoriented at the antics of a couple of carloads of young people who were racing up and down the highway. One of the men threw a shovel in the path of the speeding cars. The shovel crashed through the windshield.

In another case the troopers reported that a man who had been observing some drag racing on Spencer road took the law into his own hands when he drove his old car into the path of the racers. Both drivers applied their brakes, and the two vehicles sideswiped each other. The man then held the youths until the state police arrived, and the two youths were ticketed for reckless driving.

United Fund Goal is Set In Hamburg

Setting a goal of $2,800 the United Fund Red Feather campaign in Hamburg Township will have its "kick-off" Sept. 15 and continue until Oct. 15.

Mrs. Ralph Winkelhaus is chairman of the drive.

Recently Mrs. Donald H. Kaump, chairman of the board of directors of the Hamburg township community chest, entertained at luncheon at Lakeland's Golf and Country Club when plans were completed for this year's campaign.

Attending the luncheon were Mrs. Winkelhaus, Mrs. Manley Bennett, Mrs. Ed Zobel and Mrs. Harold Richter, Jr., and other members of the campaign staff.

Mrs. Winkelhaus will be assisted by Mrs. Bennett of Hamburg and Mrs. Zobel of Winans Lake.

Mrs. Winkelhaus reports that all supplies have been alerted, all supplies distributed and every worker is ready to go.

The Hamburg merchants will be contacted by Clifford Broegman and Robert Waters.

The captains covering the township are Mrs. L. Rowland, Mrs. Ed Beeman, Mrs. O. Winslow, Mrs. D. Morgan, Mrs. Ellen McAfee, Mrs. Zobel, Mrs. R. Lindsey, Mrs. B. Pietras, Mrs. Pat Seatin, Mrs. C. Stevens, Mrs. Henry Simpson, Mrs. E. Rettinger and George Kato.

At a previous meeting of the Hamburg-Putnam Townships community chest in Pinckney, it was mutually agreed that the separate communities would benefit by individual operations.

By unanimous vote the Hamburg-Putnam Townships Community Chest was dissolved and separate entities of the Hamburg Township Community Chest and the Putnam Township Community Chest were established.

Four new members were appointed to the board, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Beeman, Mr. Robert Waters and Jack Slater.

Other members of the Board are Hugh Radloff, Manley Bennett, Del. Leapy, Mrs. Richter, Jr., secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Kaump, chairman.

Horse, Auto In Collision

A motorist and an equestrian met unexpectedly on N. Michigan avenue in Howell with the result that the rider, Mrs. Lena Taylor and the driver of the car, Jeanette Wherley, 18, had a narrow escape whereas the horse, Rocket, received many cuts but no broken bones.

Mrs. Taylor however was injured when she was thrown from the horse. Miss Wherley escaped the injury although the horse plunged through her windshield.

Mrs. Taylor and her horse, Rocket, are a familiar scene around the outskirts of Howell and although Rocket is accustomed to city traffic, he apparently shied and swerved into the path of Miss Wherley's auto.

Mrs. Taylor said that luckily for Rocket a veterinarian was nearby and the horse is expected to recover.

Barn Burns To Ground

Pinckney volunteer firemen were called just after noon on Labor Day when the barn on "Old Hill farm" belonging to Mr. Vliet burst to the ground. Cause of the fire is being investigated. The barn was full of hay and had burned beyond saving by the time firemen arrived.

WINANS LAKE recently formed their own chapter of the Community Chest, and the members of the committee were entertained at a planning meeting by Mrs. Donald Kaump. From left

Teen-agers Ticketed For Excessive Noise

Two out of town teen-agers were turned over by Village Marshal Bob Egeler to Justice of the Peace Burt Wylie after tickets were issued Sunday about midnight to the boys. They are to appear in ten days for hearing.

One ticket was for excessive noise and the other for failing to stop at a stop street. Egeler announced that he is going to crack down on young people driving through Pinckney, squealing their tires, yelling and in general making public nuisances of themselves in the middle of the night.

Also, the Council is offering a $50 reward for information leading to the arrest of persons defacing property as a result of driving vehicles in a reckless manner.

Mrs. Robert Amburgey, wife of Pinckney's fire chief, is home from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor after spending more than a week in traction with a back ailment.

Hi-Point Host On Hereford Day

Hi-Point Hereford Farms at Brighton, will be host for the annual Michigan Junior Hereford Association field day to be held Saturday, September 18. All Hereford people, both juniors and adults, are cordially invited to attend.

Field day visitors will have an opportunity to see one of the top registered Hereford establishments in America. E. T. Fishers, owner of Hi-Point Farms, is a former Director and President of the American Hereford Association. Under the careful guidance of Pete Dean, veteran Hi-Point herdsman, the farm has produced many show ring champions. Mr. Fisher has spared no expense in purchasing the finest herd bulls for Hi-Point Farms, among the most recent being one half interest in Silver Mischief 213, the top selling bull in the 1963 Bridwell Ranch sale, the half interest costing $52,100.

4-H and FFA groups are invited to bring as many judging teams and individuals as they wish. The contest starts at 9:00 a.m. and will feature four classes of breeding animals, one of fat steers, and one class of show steer prospects. Numerous bronze engraved trophies and plaques are being awarded the winning teams and individuals by purebred Hereford breeders throughout the state.

Two outstanding registered Hereford heifers will be given away at the field day. The first, "HP Dr. Onward Lady 32," will be presented by Hi-Point Farms to the member of the Michigan Junior Hereford Association who places highest in the judging contest.

This top heifer has already won two open class Hereford breeding shows this fall and was exhibited at the Michigan State Fair. Any Michigan boy or girl under 21 who owns Hereford breeding cattle or Hereford Steers may join the state junior hereford association and be eligible to win the valuable heifer.

Council

Village Council agreed to build a sidewalk from the existing one on M-36 to the elementary school when they met Thursday night. They will ask the School Board to stand half of the expense.

The street, a councilman and the street administrator will get three bids on the job for Council approval.

Council also posted a $50 reward to go to anyone who furnishes information leading to the arrest and conviction of person or persons operating a motor vehicle in such a way as to deface public property in the village.

The park and several private yards and church yards have been uprooted recently by unidentified reckless drivers in the night.

In other business, Council decided to grade one block of Hamburg St. "to the Mandy Morris house."

Mystery Veils Identity of Slain Woman

The identity of a bullet riddled body found six miles from Brighton near the proving grounds remains a mystery.

The body was discovered by a Detroit father and son who were looking for some Huron River Property. They started down a small path to a pond, and discovered the body of the woman less than three feet from a trail that leads off of Stobart Road.

According to the troopers the woman was fully clothed, and was wearing a pink and white checked dress. An autopsy performed by Dr. Richard Olsen revealed that the woman had been shot several times, and that she had been dead for at least two days.

The medical examiner estimated that she was between 30 and 40 years old, had brown hair, was 5 feet 4 inches tall, and weighed 160 pounds. Authorities said that there was no evidence that she had been molested.

The state police are attempting to identify the dead woman by her finger prints, and have searched the missing person files for a woman matching her description.

Officers from the crime laboratory in Lansing and Detectives Demsky and Schoonmaker have been searching the area in which the body was found, but no additional evidence has been discovered.

School Board Gives Raises

Pinckney School Board approved pay raises for non-teaching employees when they met in monthly session last Thursday night. They denied a request for pay increase from the industrial arts teacher.

The basis for denying John Burg's request was that a teacher-board negotiating committee had agreed on satisfactory salaries for all teachers previous to the signing of contracts early this year, and Burg's contract had been signed for an amount thought to be fair by other teachers as well as Board representatives.

The Board also agreed to check with architects regarding a reported carelessness in construction of the new high school. Lee Goucher, a school architect himself and former member of the school, the Board approved the Board, told them that on a "busman's holiday tour" of the building he was impressed that Pinckney is "getting a fine school for your money" but was dismayed to find that builders were not heeding manufacturer's warnings in the use of ceiling (roof deck) materials. He said instructions are that only enough of this material should be used in a day's time as can be covered that day. However, Goucher found that "acres of it" have been allowed to get wet during the unseasonal rains. He was alarmed at the safety hazard. "This means structural damage that is a risk if this roof deck is allowed to be used," Goucher told the Board.

In other business concerning the school, the Board approved a $1500 to $1850 expense to make a driveway 50 feet wide rather than 30 feet as called for in the original specifications. The additional width is necessary for modern large buses.

Much of the meeting which lasted until 11:15 p.m. was devoted to discussion of first-week confusion of school buses, particularly those carrying kindergartners. Representatives of PTA appeared to ask that the Board consider a more orderly way of handling buses and, more particularly, a more efficient way of notifying parents next year as to bus schedules when school started. A committee of two members from the School Board, the PTA Board and Robert Dunn, Superintendent of Buses, is to meet in this regard.

GOD GRANT me the serenity To accept the things I cannot change, The courage to chance the things I can, And the wisdom to know the difference. —Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr

The children at Winans are in Opportunity Rooms, a new innovation this year for Pinckney. These are graded rooms in which the pupils of each of these grades may receive extra attention in smaller classes because of special needs. In general, teachers report, parents have expressed pleasure that their particular children have been given this "opportunity." Principal Gilbert Dunn is preparing information in detail to explain these classes and the benefit they are to some children.

Mrs. Fred Love will be assisting Mrs. Nichols in her presentation.

Lessons offered for the groups have covered a broad educational area. They are designed to keep women informed on today's world. Lessons may be planned to give a better understanding of local and state government or the study groups may want to know the latest information on new fabrics. Understanding weight control, or designing an interior may be chosen for study. Problems of teen-agers, living with aged parents or understanding yourself may all be a part of the lessons developed to help families. Lessons planned for this year include: Humidity Control in the Home, Parent Relations with Older Youth.

County Agent Joins EMU

Mildred Binder, Livingston County extension agent for home economics, stationed at Howell for several years, will become assistant professor of home economics at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, effective Sept. 15.

She will be teaching courses in housing, home furnishings, applied home furnishing techniques, integrated art, and costume design.

In her farewell, Mrs. Binder said:

"When one leaves a position he is often forgotten rather soon after he breaks his ties. However I leave a few of the results of my work which will be apparent for some years to come. These are the homes where I have assisted with building and remodeling plans to make a more functional dwelling for the family. Some time ago my son and I were making a trip to Fowlerville. My son asked, 'Mother, do you have to do all of that house planning and kitchen planning?' The answer was, 'No, but I like to think that I have left something of value behind me, and these are valuable efforts that will endure for possibly the next 20 years.'

Build Area At Rush Lake

Robert Herndon, developer of the Rush Lake Hills Golf Course near Brighton, is building a picnic and recreational area facing Lake Herndon, adjacent to Rush Lake.

Donald Jupe of 6445 Richelle Drive, Brighton, is moving in his heavy equipment and will start building a beautiful sandy bathing beach 400 feet wide with a slope of from 1 foot to 5 feet in the water, so that it will be safe for the small fry. With modern rest rooms, swings, picnic tables and ample parking facilities, this recreational section will comprise 80 acres or more and will include walking paths following the deer trails, made by herds of deer, where hikers can be intrigued with the untouched beauty of the area. Here Canada Geese and ducks abound.

This fun area, however, will be limited to lot owners and golfers families only and is off No. 4 Tee. Some of the finest fishing in Michigan is in this lake. Hunting is not allowed, nor will motor boats and water skiers be allowed.

Work to Revamp School System

The Livingston Intermediate School District Reorganization Committee under orders of the State Legislature is formulating a proposed reorganization program in the county.

The census, membership and growth committee, consisting of Kenneth Peckens, George Damsion and Norma Jean Pless have been evaluating the potential growth and the effects these changes will have on the five school districts under study.

Lawrence Baughn and Merion Henry, are making a comprehensive study of curricular offerings in each of the schools and evaluating them in terms of subject matter and the personnel required.

The sub-committee on facilities and transportation made up of Lawrence Kuehn, Virginia Amburgey and Mervin Moore have been working on boundary line changes which might tend to simplify school bus transportation to more economically and efficiently serve the school districts involved.

Any change in membership or boundaries will effect the financial ability of a district to offer a comprehensive program which will meet the needs of all youth in the area. To this end Philip Krupa and Roland Almond devote their spare time as members of the finance and taxation committee. The legislature has made it mandatory that this long range program be studied and submit a plan to the State Committee by December 31 of this year. Should the plan be acceptable to the State Committee it is then submitted to the electors of the intermediate School District for ratification.

Do You Remember?

By Oscar Moller
The "Western House," on the Brighton Hotel was previously known, located on the main street, next to the railroad tracks, and the former railroad station, has quite a historical background.

Let's refer to the previous owner (in 1925), Mrs. Rose Barron, who had run a boarding house in the Squire Bldg. and had taken over the Western House.

Brighton was quite a railroad town then, and people stayed over night in the hotel and enjoyed eating the good German Irish food. Mrs. Barron's husband, Mike who had come from Ireland, with his Irish brogue, was not only amusing, but also interesting to listen to. His feud with James Morgan (political) had a habit of calling each other names at the height of their heated "discussions," but cooled off when having a hot cup of coffee, which was quite the thing with them.

After the depression of 1923, the hotel had changed hands many times and Lawrence Navarro Swain, Ray Filkins, among others, finally with Pop Grohowski, with his three sons, Doug Fritz, and Johnny, took over and remodeled the bar, and catered to a lot of Brighton's tourists, lake resorters, working men, and a lot of friends of their's. Pop and boys, and family had made the establishment, a well-liked and well patronized place, both in the hotel and barroom, which is now a badly run-down and condemned building.

Trucker Warns Of Tricky Roads

A Michigan trucking industry spokesman reminds all drivers of the need to adapt themselves rapidly and accurately to wide variations in road conditions.

Jack McNamara, managing director of the Michigan Trucking Association, pointed out that, "You can go from superhighway to primitive byway almost in the twinkling of an eye. Right now, the problems of this transition are made especially acute by the semi-finished state of the interstate highway system with many segments still left to be hooked together in the completed system. Even when this is done, drivers will still have to adjust their driving as they switch from one type of road to another."

"Right now," McNamara continued, "many of them are less than successful in making the switch. Evidence of this failure is seen at many interchanges on the superhighways where guard rails, demolished delineators, skid marks, tire tracks, broken glass, pieces of chrome and other debris mark the trail of those who forget that some cloverleafs can bring bad luck. These are really marks of bad driving and they could easily have been avoided if every driver had adjusted his speed to the conditions."

Bids For Dam To Save Lakes

A combined low bid of $286,000 for construction of the long-sought Portage-Bass Lake level project have been received.

DRAIN Commissioner Clair Miller described this bid as "well within the range of engineers' preliminary estimates."

Formal action on accepting the bids must be taken by the Boards of Supervisors of Washington and Livingston Counties at their Sept. 20 meetings, Miller said.

The drain commissioner said he expects construction to begin this year with completion set for early next year.

The project includes construction of a reinforced concrete dam with flood control gates 400 feet downstream from the Portage Lake outlet to the Huron River and dredging of approximately 100,000 cubic yards of earth from the river bottom from Bell Rd. to Bass Lake.

When the project is completed the level of the two lakes will be maintained at 851 to 854 feet above sea-level. This level was ordered by the Circuit Court in 1949.

The dam will be an under-flow type which permits free passage of fish. It will have flood control gates to regulate the spring runoff and a boat lock for continued navigation on the river, Miller said.

This project is among 20 totaling $3,476,895 announced by State Highway Director Howard E. Hill.

Bid To Beautify X-Way Awarded

Beautifying the expressway interchange at the Brighton city limits will cost the state $6,814 which was the low bid submitted by Roberts Landscaping Inc. of Grand Ledge. Awarding of this contract means work will start soon on planting pine, thornapple and maple trees over a one-half mile area on the north side of the I-94 right of way north of the old US 16 I-94 interchange at the Brighton city limits to screen an unsightly open gravel pit.

This project is among 20 totaling $3,476,895 announced by State Highway Director Howard E. Hill.

Around Bishop Lake

S. O. Schroeder 287-3430

The happy Friday evening gave our city dwellers the urge to try their camping equipment just one more time. They flocked to the Bishop Lake and Appleton Lake Campgrounds on our private lakes had last minute callers too. Some of the harder ones will return in October when the leaves turn — and their small game — or stalk around these hills with bow and arrow.

The Mark Matteson took advantage of the lovely weather and are now in a trip to New York (Dwight is beginning to hear bugles — he has a strong suspicion that his number is up as far as the draft call is concerned). The next few weeks will tell the story!

The children — and the parents! — are delighted that this "route" has been assigned a brand new bus. — It is a welcome sight.

Widows, 60, Get Pension

There are a large number of widows of men who worked under social security who are eligible to choose to start their social security benefits when they are 60 instead of waiting until they are 62 as a result of the recent changes in the law. W. Scott Hamlin, social security district manager has announced.

Up to now, a widow could not start receiving benefits until age 62 unless she had in her care a child who was also getting benefits.

A widow choosing to get monthly benefits when she is 60 will receive a smaller payment than one who waits until she is 62 to make up for the longer time she will get benefits.

Last week one of the Detroit papers ran an article about a dalmatian puppy named Lady. She was in need of a good home and was asking someone to adopt her. When Mr. and Mrs. Albert Engram of US 23 read the story, they decided to try and get her. After phoning and learning that she still was at the shelter, they went in to Detroit. Much to their surprise when they arrived they found a great number of other dog lovers had the same idea. The only way to solve the puzzle was to put the names into a hat and have a drawing. A little boy was the lucky winner.

The number of people that were there numbered fifty or more, so they were all invited back to be on T.V. at 6 p.m. Tuesday evening over WXYZ. Mr. and Mrs. Engram and son Carlton had come the farthest. It is a comforting thought that, when there are so many unhappy news stories every day, to know that with all the hurry and fuss, so many had time to try and give a lonely puppy a home.

Harry F. Byrd, the illustrious Democratic Senator from Virginia, has long been the watchdog of the federal treasury. He has sought to expose the folly of establishing bureaus without limitations. Once established, they grow and grow and the people pay in taxes.

The Senator cites one of the new federal bureaus that has increased its expenditures over 300 per cent in the past 13 years — from some $2 billion to over $7 billion. Senator Byrd points out that if one of the proposed new bureaus expands proportionately, it should be established, it would be a $225 billion department by fiscal 1978.

The people never get to vote on such a proposition. All the big spending measures are presented as something beneficial to the people. Cost is soft pedaled and new bureaus are born. From then on they are permanent and all the people can do is pay and pay and pay in taxes or in the cost of products or services of which taxes are a part of the price. The same policy follows from Congress down through state legislatures.

Whenever bureaucracy increases, the supposed beneficiaries, the people, get the bill. The only recourse they have is to say "No" when they vote and stop begging public funds.

The Cost of Food

In recent months the official cost of living indexes have shown some relatively sharp advances. The principal jumps have been in food, which now costs an average of something like 10 per cent more than it did a year ago. And this, naturally enough, has roused the ire of the housewives and set them to grimly wondering who and what is to blame.

All too often they pick the wrong targets. They take aim on the retailer, the manufacturer, the processor, the producer, the farmer, the middleman. But it isn't as simple as that.

Take meat, for instance, which practically everyone buys and which is a cause of concern when the price tags inch up. It moves in a natural, supply and demand market. No one does or can fix and manipulate its selling price. In recent months supplies have somewhat diminished, while demand, particularly for beef, has been strong. Under such a circumstance, higher prices are inevitable. Conversely, when the supply is more than ample to meet the demand — a situation we have witnessed many times in late years — prices tend downward. This is simply the way the free market does and should function.

Whatever the case, the profits earned by those who are so often unjustly blamed for price increases — such as the packers and retailers — remain at a remarkably modest level. Percentage-wise, if they earned no profit the consumer would hardly notice the difference.

As Judge Learned Hand phrased it: "Liberty lies in the hearts of men and women; when it dies there, no constitution, no law, no court can save it; no constitution, no law, no court even can do much to help it."

WHAT PRICE PATRIOTISM?

They were men of means and well educated — yet they signed the Declaration of Independence knowing full well the price they'd pay. What happened to them?

Five signers were captured by the British as traitors and tortured before they died. Twenty had their homes ransacked and burned. Nine of the 56 fought and died from wounds or the hardship of the war.

Carter Braxton, a wealthy trader, saw his ships swept from the seas by the British navy. He sold his home to pay his debts and died bankrupt.

Thomas McKean was so hounded by the British that he was forced to move his family constantly and to keep in hiding. His possessions were taken and he was reduced to poverty.

British soldiers or vandals looted the properties of William Ellery, George Clymer, Syman Hall, George Walton, Button Winnett, Thomas Heyward, Edward Rutledge and Arthur Middleton.

At the Battle of Yorktown, Thomas Nelson Jr. noted that the British General Cornwallis had taken over the Nelson home for his headquarters. Nelson urged General Washington to open fire. The home was destroyed and Nelson died bankrupt.

Francis Lewis had his home and property destroyed. The British jailed his wife and she died within a few months.

John Hart was driven from his wife's bedside as she was dying. Their 13 children fled for their lives. His fields and grist mill were destroyed. For more than a year he lived in forests and caves, returning home after the war to find his wife dead and his children vanished. A few weeks later he died from exhaustion.

Robert Morris and Phillip Livingston suffered similar fates. Such are the stories and sacrifices of the American Revolution. These men HAD security, but they valued liberty more.

+ KNOW YOUR MICHIGAN LAW +

By Attorney General
Frank J. Kelley

(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

Recent amendments to the Michigan Employment Security Act will provide broader coverage and reduce the disqualification period in certain cases. Previously, when an individual was disqualified for one of the reasons set forth below, all of his credit weeks in his base period were canceled (credit weeks are used to compute unemployment benefits and must be acquired within the 53 week period immediately preceding the filing of a claim — commonly called the base period). As a result, the person claiming benefits would not be eligible for benefits until he obtained further employment and established a new benefit year. The more common instances in which a disqualification is imposed are:

- Where an individual left his work without good cause attributable to the employer.
- Where an individual was discharged for misconduct connected with his work.
- Where an individual has failed without good cause to accept suitable work when offered to him, or to return to his customary self-employment, if any, when so directed by the local employment office or the Commission.

The amendments reduce the period of disqualification in those situations to six weeks. When, however, an individual has been discharged for an act of assault, theft, or sabotage, connected with his work, he may not receive benefits for a period of twelve weeks.

Prior to these recent amendments, an individual could only qualify for benefits by working for an employing unit that hired four or more workers in 20 different calendar weeks in a calendar year. When the amendments take effect, a claimant will be able to qualify for benefits by working for an employing unit that has had in its employment one or more individuals in each of 20 different weeks within a calendar year, or has paid wages of $1,000.00 or more, during a calendar year.

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

Point Of View

A FANTASY?

By Tom Kizer

One cold windy day last March we espied a red bird and his mate building their nest in a juniper under our kitchen window. We could stand at the window, look down and have a ringside "seat." Daily they toiled at their home building through biting wind, snow flurries, sleet storms and everything mother nature could throw at them.

One day when the nest was about half finished we heard a terrible racket. Both birds were bomb diving, fluttering and calling their heads off. Rushing to the window we saw a neighbor's cat. The juniper was too flimsy to hold its weight to reach the nest but it was trying.

That was the first of several family crises we witnessed and each time we bled a little with the feathered parents. Finally the nest was finished — a home complete and it looked right cozy nestled there in the tall juniper with a giant blue spruce further shielding it from the north. As the days wore on and the sun moved from south to northerly in its orbit we observed the foresight of the home builders. They had selected the exact spot for their home site for a definite reason. The sun reached it for almost two hours each afternoon. Thereafter the foliage cast its shadow over the nest.

The day came when we got a glimpse of the newly laid eggs and thereafter mama sat her nest vigilantly. There were days during the hatching when cold winds and driving rain ruffled mother's feathers and her home rocked gently but by and large it was a secure, well protected household and we shared the contentment of the parents in a sort of "all's right with the world feeling."

Then came the hatching and the tempo of activity around that little home stepped up measurably. There was much coming and going and the brilliant plumage of the father was a frequent sight as he flitted in with food and out for more. And were those healthy, hungry chicks in that family!

They grew from puny nothings to feathered adolescence. A well ordered little family, each discharging his responsibility. Some days brought added threats and near calamities — like the time the Blue Jay, bold robber that he is, snooped around. But mama and papa joined forces to heckle him on the way. The neighbor's cat made another foray but again he lost as the lower branches of the juniper gave way under him and he slunk off in chagrin.

Then came the evil day — the day we never expected to see. The day that brought catastrophe, heartbreak and an end to the fledgling young family. For weeks through the home building, the hatching, the nurturing of the new born, the red bird family had weathered all threats. That is what made the day of tragedy so much harder to take when it was such a short time till mama and papa would see the kids graduate into young adulthood and a life of their own.

One morning while she was doing dishes, my wife heard a terrible commotion. Running to the look out spot she saw mother and father red bird frantically fluttering and calling. It took a moment to find the cause — a red squirrel — a ratty little red squirrel whose weight the juniper would hold, had climbed to the edge of the nest. My wife dashed out of the house but by the time she reached the nest the damage was done. The nest senslessly destroyed, two of the little inmates on the ground dying and the third missing. A family no more, only a saddened, grieving mother and father who for the remainder of the day left and returned

Back Door Tax Boost

It makes no difference whether you are labeled a Republican or a Democrat, a liberal or a conservative, a rich man or a poor man, a college student or a drop-out, a poverty man or a welfare man, we all pay taxes — either direct or in the price of rent, food, commodities or services. The more we ask from government, the higher go the living costs.

Congressman Wes Vivian Reports

Recently a number of constituents have asked me for a report on the federal assistance which was provided in Lenawee and Monroe Counties, following the Palm Sunday tornadoes which Southern Michigan this year. I have carefully checked this question out very closely, and now have the results to report. While a large portion of the damage was covered by insurance, including a great deal carried by local companies, federal assistance was also made available, as promised, to disaster areas.

In brief, approximately $1,450,000 has been allocated to the fourteen Michigan counties which were struck on Palm Sunday. Of this total, approximately $525,000 — or more than one third — was allocated for Lenawee and Monroe Counties alone.

Following is the text of a letter recently received from the Honorable Buford Ellington, former Governor of Tennessee and presently Director of the Office of Emergency Planning, and a top aide of President Johnson's, reporting in detail on Federal assistance which has come into our District as a result of the Palm Sunday tornadoes:

Office of the Director
Honorable Weston E. Vivian
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Mr. Vivian:
This responds to your request of August 20 for information on Federal assistance rendered in Lenawee and Monroe Counties, Michigan, following the April 11, tornadoes.

Under the provisions of the Federal Disaster Act, Public Law 81-875, which we administer for the President, a total of $1,450,000 has been allocated for use in 14 counties in the State.

These funds are being used to assist the State and local governments in the clearance of debris and rubble and the emergency repair of essential public facilities such as roads, schools and other public buildings.

As is frequently the case in a tornado disaster, the major problem facing local authorities in Michigan is debris clearance. Current estimates indicate that approximately 90 percent of the Federal assistance provided under PL 81-875 is being made available for this purpose.

Most of the eligible work in the State is being performed by local governments with their own forces or by contract. OEP is providing reimbursement to State and local governing bodies for the cost of such eligible work. In addition, the Corps of Engineers, at the request of local officials, is performing debris clearance at a cost of $30,000 in Erie Township, Monroe County.

The following table lists the location, type and estimated cost of eligible work which the Office of Emergency Planning has approved for Lenawee and Monroe Counties. Funds in the amount of 75 percent of the approved work have been advanced to the State to enable the applicants for Federal assistance to fund the work as it progresses. Final payment will be made to the applicants when the work has been completed and the necessary audit has been made.

APPLICANT
Lenawee County: $501,743.00
Monroe County: $24,075.00

Other Federal agencies and the American Red Cross have provided assistance to the private sector.
We understand that the Secretary of Agriculture has recently furnished you with a complete summary of assistance provided by that Department to farmers in Lenawee and Monroe Counties.

Under its disaster loan authority, the Small Business Administration has approved six long-term, low-interest rate home loans totaling $45,140 and two business loans in the amount of $12,200 for Lenawee County; and three home loans for $38,500 and one business loan for $8,000 for Monroe County.

The Red Cross has expended a total of $68,752 in its disaster relief operation in Lenawee County. This covers mass care services at the time of the disaster for 1,300 people, and rehabilitation and recovery assistance to 55 families whose resources were not sufficient to cope with the efforts of the disaster.

The need for assistance to individuals and business would, undoubtedly, have been greater if an estimated 85 percent of property owners in the affected areas had not carried tornado insurance.

I hope this information will be helpful to you.

Sincerely,
Buford Ellington
Director

This is my commandment, that ye love one another.

— (John 15:12)

It is sometimes difficult to find the good things in people when we dislike or have been hurt by them. Today, let's think of them as children of God. And, in this way it is always possible for us to like a child of God. We will find it easy to get along harmoniously with everyone as we are spiritually one.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

(Editor's Note: Mr. MacBride's letters to the editor express one side of a debated issue. If his letters are of interest to our readers we would appreciate letters from you expressing your opinions on the subjects he writes about.)

Our watch-dog in Washington, Liberty Lobby, reports that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee (Chairman J. W. Fulbright) has reported out the Soviet Consular Treaty. This has been done without any public hearings and without any news publicity. Why?

This treaty is an agreement to allow Russia to establish so-called "offices" in cities like Chicago, Detroit, Dallas, Seattle and Los Angeles or any place it sees fit. If our Senators approve, then the work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in following the movements of the Communists will be magnified by the hundreds. Bear in mind, these will be no ordinary offices. Behind their massive walls, the American Constitution DOES NOT APPLY! Through their doors, no American may enter — not even an officer of the law in pursuit of a murderer, rapist, kidnapper or spy. Why should we provide many more havens of refuge for our enemies? No doubt, the same right would be given to Red China after the Communist controlled United Nations has admitted her to the U.N.

The stated purpose of the Consular Treaty is to aid commerce between the United States and the Soviet Union! That means trading with the sworn enemy of freedom and the supplier of arms and ammunition to the killers of our men in Viet Nam! This is the same country that installed missiles in Cuba and still has them there in hiding. Regardless of what benefits may be derived, the above actions should be sufficient reason to kill this Soviet Consular Treaty and to impeach any public servant who supports it.

The actual purpose of the treaty has been brought out in testimony given by J. Edgar Hoover in the hearings of the House Appropriations Committee in March of this year, when he testified: "One Soviet intelligence officer in commenting on the agreement, spoke of the wonderful opportunity this presented his service and that it would enable the Soviets to enhance their intelligence operations."

Time is of the essence, so if you disapprove then write, wire or phone your views to Senator Philip Hart and Pat McNamara, Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D.C.

Phil MacBride

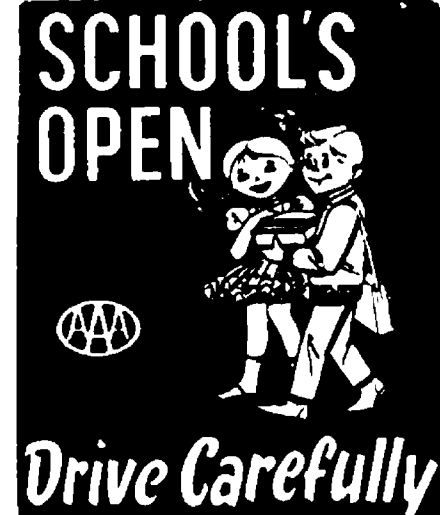

Dear Editor:
The following letter, dated Aug. 27, was received from Congressman Wes Vivian:

TODAY'S INVESTOR

BY THOMAS E. O'HARA
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Association of Investment Clubs

Q. I've heard a lot of talk lately about "stock charting." What is it? How does it work? Can it help me in my own investing?

A. Stock charting covers a wide variety of items. But the most widely used procedure probably involves plotting the volume of sales and price change over a period of time. The various kinds of charting are frequently referred to as "technical" approach to stock market study.

The complications arise when you start interpreting what those charts fore-badow.

For instance, all chart keepers are certainly going to be able to ascertain that the common stock of Company A was being traded at the rate of 100 shares a day a year ago at a price of $22 and that it is now being traded at the rate of 500 shares a day at a price of $35. But they are likely to come up with a wide variety of answers as to exactly what these changes mean.

The reason for this is simply that charting, or any other procedure of keeping track of the stock market, offers no sure-fire formula for forecasting a stock's behavior.

Besides price and volume, a chartist must bear in mind - just as any investor must - that the stock market, or auction, price of a given stock is determined by two basic things.

The No. 1 and long term determinant is likely to be the stock's fundamental worth. This gets right down to how much the company involved can earn, how much it pays in dividends, and whether its earning capacity is likely to stay steady, decline or increase.

Because stocks are sold in a free auction market, the second factor governing the market price of a given stock is the number of buyers as compared to the number of sellers at any particular moment.

If there are more people interested in buying than in selling, the price is likely to go up. By the same token, the price of a stock may be expected to go down if there are fewer buyers.

At any specific moment the factor which may be producing a preponderance of buyers or sellers is difficult to determine. Fads in specific stocks, just plain rumors, publicity given to a particular stock, as well as the economic prosperity of the nation as a whole may be producing buyers. A disappointing earnings report, news of strong new competition, a war or panic scare may temporarily produce more sellers.

As to how charting can help you there are professionals who make a living charting stocks for subscribers. To know how effective they have been, check their record for sometime back. Many brokerage firms and investment counselors have good technical men on their staffs and can make their information available if you want it to help you determine whether to invest in a particular stock.

Q. What is meant by "contrary opinion" on the stock market?

A. Followers of the "contrary opinion" school of market forecasting subscribe to the "it ain't necessarily so" theory with regard to stock prices.

In other words, if the consensus holds that stocks in general are on the rise and will continue to present a golden, rosy picture, a devotee of "contrary opinion" will set out to prove, to himself, at least, that there are pitfalls in this view. The "contrary opinion" enthusiast might, for instance, point out that the nation's foreign balance of payments spells trouble for the U.S. investor. He might in fact that the price-earnings ratio of a given stock or class of stocks has already discounted any probable future growth; he might argue that the nation's tax structure is "unfriendly" in the long run for safe investing.

On the other hand, when the public turns pessimistic with respect to the market, the "contrary opinion" school starts polishing its rose-colored spectacles.

A person who decides to think contrarily on stocks will approach everything he reads, or is told about the market, with a highly skeptical attitude. He will say, "I doubt the truth of this." Then he will set out to study all sides of the question in an effort to determine just where the truth does lie.

Though in many respects the opposite of stock charting, "contrary opinion" is another tool for the accumulation of all possible information so that investment decisions can be made with the most possible understanding.

Have you a question about investing? Mr. O'Hara, editor of the monthly magazine "Better Investing" and one of the nation's recognized authorities, will be glad to answer it. Write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Box 1056, Detroit, Michigan 48231, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MSU Course Given Teacher

John F. Burg, instructor in Driver Education for Pinckney Community Schools, was among 29 high school teachers from five states who completed a course in police and court traffic administration at Michigan State University.

A Change In View

There's nothing like a new perspective to change your attitude toward life. When Junior is bored, he simply stands on his head for a new slant at things. The floor flips to the ceiling, with tables and chairs hanging from it, and people walk upside-down. At least that's the way it looks to him. It is a good idea to gain a different perspective — to step back and get a new slant on things around you. But you don't have to stand on your head to do it. Instead identify yourself with a church. Take your family and go regularly to worship. You will find a new perspective. Genuine values will keep their importance; unimportant things will diminish. Today's life will be happier; tomorrow's full of hope. Nothing is upside-down, but everything claims its rightful place when you view life with the faith of a Christian.

Great Trees Abound in State

Since the recent claim of Livingston county to having one of the state's great trees, near Brighton on the old Maltby farm, records of even mightier trees have poured into the Argus office. Livingston county's great tree is a cottonwood, more than 150 years old and the site is now part of Fisher's Hi-Point farms.
Early pioneers found most of Michigan covered with a vast wilderness forest. To commemorate one of these extensive woodlands of huge oaks, Governor Cass named the area north of Detroit "Oakland County."

His map of 1819 also shows in this tract an oak of unusual size which he named the "Royal Oak." Later, when this area was incorporated as a town, the designation, Royal Oak, was retained.
Although many of Michigan's forests have been lumbered and many of its mammoth trees have disappeared, there still remain a number of these forest giants.
The state champion black oak — 202 inches in girth — at the south city boundary of Royal Oak typifies its famous ancestor. This champion, with a height and crown spread of almost 100 feet, and three other stately black oaks still stand as guardians along an old Indian trail just as they have for more than 200 years.
A unique forest of giant white cedars lies in a protected valley in the southwest corner of South Manitou Island. In the midst of this grove stands the nation's largest white cedar, over 100 feet high and 206 inches in girth.
A gigantic black willow (girth 313 inches) stands on the grounds of the State Hospital there, a majestic white birch (132 in.) towers 100 feet high along the eastern shore of Lake Leelanau, and a 203-inch basswood stands in the schoolyard near the tip of the Old Mission Peninsula.
In southwestern Michigan tree species of unusual size can be found at Warren Woods — a virgin beech-maple woodland tract preserved near Three Oaks. And at the northern edge of Lawrence grows the nation's champion black cherry — girth, 281 inches. One of the area's tallest trees is the 221-inch tulip tree, with a height of 164 feet, growing at the edge of the Russ Forest, east of Dowagiac.

In central Michigan the national champion eastern catalpa (184 in.) is located at Sparta and the western catalpa (208 in.) is on the Capitol lawn in Lansing. Other champions are a majestic hackberry (216 in.) south of Grand Rapids at Wayland, a 196-inch silver maple at Ovid, and a 220-inch hybrid oak near Durand.
Near Northville are a 170-inch black maple, a 130-inch Norway spruce, and a 174-inch black locust.

Official Notice of Sale

$33,000.00 - General Obligation Street Bonds
$28,000.00 - Special Assessment Street Bonds

CITY OF BRIGHTON

County of Livingston, Michigan

Sealed bids for the purchase of the above bonds will be received by the undersigned at his office at 202 West Main Street in the City of Brighton, on Wednesday, the 22nd day of September, 1965, until 7:30 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said General Obligation Bonds will be dated September 1, 1965, shall consist of 33 bonds of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 to 33, both inclusive, and will mature serially without option of prior redemption as follows:

$3,000.00 October 1st of each of the years 1966, 1967 and 1968;
$4,000.00 October 1st of each year from 1969 to 1974, inclusive.

Said Special Assessment Bonds will be dated September 1, 1965, shall consist of 28 bonds of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 to 28, both inclusive, and will mature serially as follows:

$2,000.00 October 1, 1966;
$3,000.00 October 1st of each year from 1967 to 1972, inclusive;
$4,000.00 October 1st of each of the years 1973 and 1974.

All of said bonds shall be coupon bonds and shall bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding four and one-half per cent (4-1/2%) per annum, expressed in multiples of 1/8 or 1/20 of 1%. Said interest shall be payable on April 1, 1966, and semi-annually thereafter on October 1st and April 1st of each year. The interest rate on any one bond shall be at one rate only and all bonds maturing in any one year must carry the same interest rate and each coupon period shall be represented by one interest coupon. Both principal and interest shall be payable at a bank or trust company to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, said paying agent to be qualified as such under Michigan or Federal statutes. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of such bonds shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said General Obligation Bonds will be payable from taxes to be levied without limitation as to rate or amount.

Said Special Assessment Bonds are issued in anticipation of the collection of an equal amount of the unpaid and future due installments of special assessments on Special Assessment Roll No. 11. In addition to special assessments, said bonds pledge the full faith, credit and resources of the City of Brighton for their payment.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from October 1, 1965, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the City. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds herein offered, or at a price less than their par value, will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the sum of $1,220.00, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City of Brighton, must accompany each bid as a guaranty of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid is accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest will be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned to each bidder's representative present or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, attorneys of Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds, which opinion will be furnished without expense to the purchaser of the bonds prior to the delivery thereof. The City shall pay the cost of printing the bonds. The bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

Persons desiring further information concerning these bonds should contact the Michigan Municipal League, 428 Townsend, Lansing 33, Michigan (Telephone IV 9-3485).

Hell in Spotlight for Heat and Stamps

By Alice Bianger
One of Livingston County's smallest spots plays the biggest part in putting the county "on the map." It's Hell, of course. If anyone doubts that it "pays to advertise," here's a hamlet that can give testimony. In fact, Hell learned the hard way that advertising can be so successful it defeats its purpose.

Hell nestled in the hills of the Pinckney Recreation area for close to 100 years before it literally got on the Michigan highway map. This was its first step toward wide recognition.

Next, promoted pretty much by its then-president Mel Reinhard; the village invested $250 in meteorological equipment so when radio and TV announcers from Maine to California wanted to tell their listeners "it's hotter than Hell today in Pinckney," they would have a true measure to go by. Calls come in to 313-828-6227 from across the country for just such verification.

In addition to this promotion, Hell has had, since July 1961, its own postal station where the first full five-month period it remained open (only from May 1 to Sept. 30 is it permitted to operate) some 18,000 pieces of mail passed its portals. This figure increases every year as droves of tourists went their way from nearby super highways back through the scenic hills to the village of 80 residents — and very little else — to send a card that says, "We're in Hell. Wish you were."

Hell's campaign for notoriety took on nationwide aspects the year it sponsored a contest for an appropriate slogan and received entries from 47 states, including Hawaii and Alaska, as well as Italy, France, Germany and Holland. (Ironically neighboring Pinckney failed to submit an entry.) An Inkster woman won with her suggestion that Hell is "a town on its way up." Granted, some might mark, "Where else? Hell has no where, but UP to go!"

True, it has nothing to offer industry-wise, culture-wise, or big-business-wise. Accommodations are few. But recreation as nature intended it abounds in the vicinity. There is swimming in such lakes as man-made Hell Land, or Silver, Portage, Patterson and Half Moon. There is boating and fishing. State Parks stretch in every direction. The deer, if not the antelope, roam for hunters. Color tours sponsored by neighboring communities take beauty-seekers through Hell in autumn. It's paradisaical natural attractions in fact belie its name which is what first calls attention to the town.

But there are plenty of residents who would rather it didn't. This faction favors the name Hi Land Lake because of fear that "Hell" draws riff-raff who think the quiet community is anything but. And this particular group lives in Hi Land Lake, come hell or highwater — leaving any promotion of Hell to another crowd entirely.

There's no doubt some of the least would disappear from the advertising budget if area promoters conceded to direct travelers "to Hi Land Lake." That's because as fast as signs go up saying "This way to Hell," they go down, victims of souvenir seekers.

Hell's name provides other amusing side effects. For instance, a few years ago a GI in Germany kept less than clean quarters. The angry sergeant who inspected barked, "Your name is revoked — and it'll be a cold day in Hell before you get it back, too!"

Luckily the fellow had a buddy who had heard of Livingston County's hot spot. They wrote a letter that reached Mel Reinhard, telling of the soldier's plight. Equal to the occasion, Reinhard scribbled a note to the surprised sergeant. He said, "It's only November and our weather is already reads 20 degrees. It'll be colder than that in Hell any day now, so please return the pass to the soldier who wrote us."

A thank you note from the GI indicated request had been granted.

Reinhard's most treasured letter is one from Adolf Stevenson. The C of C president wrote the statesman during the Cuban crisis after Stevenson told Russian Zoren he "would wait until hell freezes over" to learn about the Russian missiles in Cuba. Reinhard offered to tell Stevenson exactly when this phenomenon occurred. After the situation cleared, the busy Stevenson played along with the joke and replied that thankfully it wouldn't be necessary now to know when Hell froze — but he appreciated Reinhard's offer.

Hell acquired its provocative name by accident over 100 years ago — and retained it on purpose. Presently because it's a unique calling card. At first because its reputation rated it.

The principle industry at the time was a distillery; this was just before the post-Civil War tax on liquor. In Hell, whiskey sold for ten cents a gallon — by barrel lots yet! Two teams of horses kept mighty busy making deliveries, popular as it was with farmers for threerings and barn raisings — but more particularly because of the enthusiasm with which the Indians hailed it — and from whose resultant brawls all Hell broke loose.

George Reeves had founded the community when he built seven houses, a general store and a district school for the workers who manned his saw and flour mills. They were built on the 1000 acres Reeves owned on Hell Creek, which he had dammed for power ("in Hell, even the water is dammed," quips the Chamber of Commerce). A friend asked Reeves what he'd name his little settlement and he cracked: "I don't care; call it Hell if you want to." They did.

Capitalizing on the name to attract spending tourists, two years ago the C of C instigated its first annual Satan's Holiday. This is when the city fathers found that advertising can be too successful. It brought 23,000 people to the hamlet on a day that, if it had been possible, would be described as hotter than Hell. People jammed the narrow street. Money-making activities on the sidelines failed because the crowds were so thick, would-be buyers couldn't beat their way to the stands. And ironically — and tragically — the mayor, apparently from excitement, the heat, and exhaustion, died in the crowd.

The two succeeding celebrations, Hell advertised less and enjoyed Satan's Holiday more.

Crash Hurts 3 From Brighton

Gwendolyn Bell, 18, Janis Housner, 18, and Dennis Dosakiewicz, 17, all of Brighton, were injured last week when Miss Bell lost control of her car while traveling on US-23 near Geddes Rd. in Ann Arbor Township, State Police reported.

Troopers said the Bell car slid on wet pavement and hit two guard rails, going over the second one towards the river. The auto rolled over once and landed right side up.

The injured were treated at University Hospital.

Mint Industry Near Comeback

Michigan State University scientists are speculating that Michigan will see a revival of its once important mint industry within the next decade.

At present, only about 55,000 acres of spearmint and peppermint are planted in the state because of the problem of verticillium wilt. This soil-borne disease has sharply cut production of this once profitable crop.

But the MSU scientists strongly anticipate a "cure" for the disease. They say the most promising solution is the use of soil fumigants.

Foreign Students Visit in County

The J. D. Donohue family at Gregory was "host" to Paul G. Bratschi of Uruguay, South America. Mr. Bratschi, an International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) student, lived with the Donohues for three weeks.

The Lyle Vogt family on North Fowler Road is the "Host" of International Farm Youth Exchange student Miss Nedret Sener of Turkey.

You are master of the woman you don't desire and slave of the one you do.

Conrad Kin In Reunion

On Saturday, August 21, 1965, fifty descendants of Carl Christian and Maria Conrad met at Genoa Township Hall located on Crooked Lake Rd., in Brighton to celebrate their 48th annual reunion.

A pot luck dinner was served at noon. The president, Charles Westin presided. Charles Westin Jr. led the group singing and then to acquaint members of the family, each person gave name and address. He thanked Miss Linda Romer, of Detroit for the beautifully decorated special anniversary cake she presented. The secretary's report, by Mildred Shannon, and the treasurer's report, by Clara Musch, were read and approved.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Karl Kirkkamm; vice-president, Clarence Conrad; secretary, Clara Musch; treasurer, Dorothy Musch; program, Ruth Laffin; history committee, Anna Westin; place committee, Merrill Herbst; refreshment committee, Ruth Herbst; flag custodian, Louis Herbst.

The five descendants of Carl and Maria Conrad, start the five main branches of the family tree. Descendants from these five were appointed to bring their branch of the tree up to date. This committee consists of Ruth Herbst, Mildred Shannon, Anna Westin, Ruth Laffin, Buella Kenzie, and Clara Musch.

Miss Linda Romer of Lenox Ave., Detroit, the oldest living member, Miss Amelia Conrad and Mrs. Fredia Herbst of Brighton attended, also, Ernest Conrad of San Francisco, Calif.

Wheat Planting Starts Sept. 16

The planting of winter wheat in Livingston County is expected to be in full swing after September 16. Data accumulated over a period of years indicates that the 16th is average date to miss the last brood of the Hessian fly.

Approximately 83 percent of the Michigan winter wheat crop is soft white while 14 percent is soft red and the remainder of it is of a undetermined type.

JUDGE NOT
Predictions were made almost before the 1963 state constitution was adopted that changes would be required in several sections, including one regarding judicial vacancies.

Now, less than two years after the new basic document took effect one of the more influential writers of that constitution is calling for a change in this area. Gov. George Romney, who served in the important No. 2 spot at the Constitutional Convention, worked with Attorney General Frank J. Kelley to put on an early ballot the question of restoring the Governor's power to fill state judicial vacancies by appointment.

It becomes apparent in this short time that it is not feasible to live with the constitutional provision. It calls for vacant court posts to be filled until the next election by a temporarily-appointed retired judge.

The trouble with this very noble bipartisan idea was that there are not enough retired judges able and willing to serve in the number of court vacancies which tend to occur between regular elections.

Basic argument for this provision during the 1961-62 convention was that the previous appointive power gave the governor essentially the power to get a friend a court post, since voters most often gave the appointee a full term if he ran in the next election.

Proponents of the constitutional amendment feel this situation is much better than having an unworkable requirement which keeps court benches unfilled and slows the judicial process.

UBIQUITOUS NEED
Safety Problems are not limited to Michigan's highways according to a state civil service commission study.

Industry has long been known to wage continuing safety campaigns among employees. Almost every industrial shop in the state has safety reminders in various places.

Safety first signs may one day soon be seen in state offices judging from the injury rate piled up in the past year. The commission said job-incurred injuries cost nearly $1 million in the past 12 months, triple the rate just three years ago.

A six-month period recently turned up nearly 400 temporarily disabling accidents, two permanent disabilities and two deaths of on-the-job state employees. Michigan has 32,500 civil service workers.

The commission set its training division to work on ways to cut down this high accident rate.

MORE TAX INCOME
Michigan's Revenue Department boasts it is doing its job in a unique way.

While most state agency operating costs go up in some proportion to the services rendered, the Revenue Department says it is spending less to bring in more money.

During the last fiscal year, Commissioner Clarence W. Lock said his department cut its costs to 59 cents per $100 in tax collections.

Costs hit this new low while collections took a sizable jump of $88 million to well over $1 billion with record highs set for the sales, motor fuel, business activities, use, cigarette, inheritance, intangible property and utility property taxes.

"SMALLER" JOB
Auditor General of Michigan as part of the executive branch will be just a memory when the new state government reorganization plan takes full effect.

The better part of his present responsibilities are being transferred into the treasury department. Another segment has already been assumed by the legislative auditor general. Still other portions will be taken over by other departments.

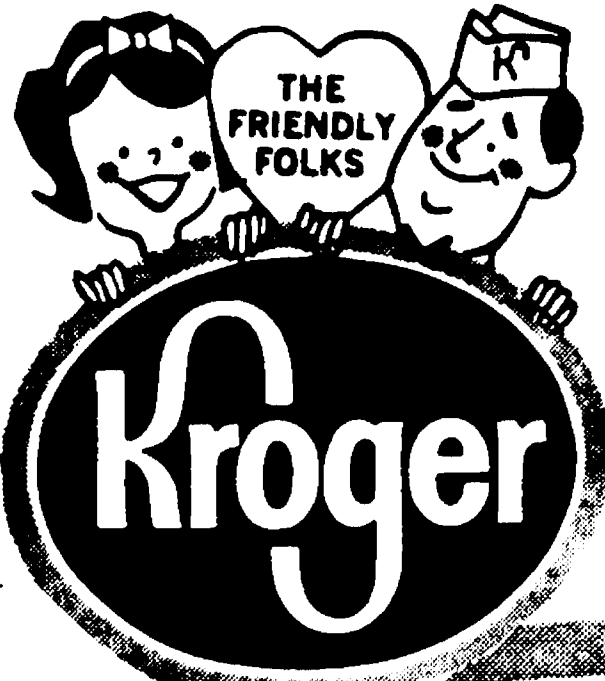

The Treasurer's office will take the important duties relating to property taxation, county auditing and plat act administration.

Under the old constitution, the Auditor General was an elected official with three primary functions, auditing state agencies, auditing county governments and administering certain land and tax laws.

In the latter category he examined subdivision plats of towns, cities and villages; and filed petitions for delinquent tax land sales in each county. He also supervised the audit of Michigan's race track pari-mutuel operations.

He served on the State Administrative Board, Municipal Finance Commission, State Police Pension Board of Review, Corporation Tax Appeal Board, and the State Employees' Judges and Probate Judges' Retirement Boards.

Most likely, a division within the new treasury department will be created to fulfill the main functions of the now defunct Auditor General but it is unknown whether this title will remain in use.
