Sheriff's Staff Alert Woman Wins Pay Hike Traps 8 In HOWELL - Due to the difficulty of keeping the sheriff's staff at full strength, because deputies were continually quitting to accept higher paying jobs, the county board of supervisors at the December meeting unanimously agreed to increase the starting pay for

The supervisors were evidently in a mellow mood because they also granted the probate court additional help and voted an additional day-off for all county employes by declaring a holiday on New Year's eve.

The salary committee of the supervisors opposed increasing the deputies' starting pay, but Supervisor Martin Lavan championed the deputies' request. He said: "We find ourselves in the position of competing in the labor market, and we can't expect to find first class men at bargain basement wages. Good deputies are hard to find, and we've got good deputies. It will take only a small investment to save our county talent and money. Since only three men have a complaint, we should consider our investment in them, and raise the starting pay of deputies.

Lavan's motion to raise the starting poy of deputies to $4,918 was then passed unanimously by the supervisors.

Livingston County Clerk Joseph Ellis had prepared a re- | day. port showing a comparison of wages for counties of comparable size to Livingston. He pointed out that while Livingston deputies received less than some of the larger surrounding counties, that with the new wage increase for starting deputies Livingston had the highest starting and top pay of any county of comparable size in Michigan. The county's overworked probate court heard welcome news when the supervisors authorized the hiring of an additional social worker, at the recommendation of the State Welfare.

Presently the court has only one juvenile officer, Carl Walt, and his case load has been increasing steadily for the past several years. The additional social worker will be hired so as to come under next year's budget.

Chairman of the finance committee, Carl Raddutz, reported to the supervisors that two of the county's departments, the Probate Court and the sheriff's department had expeeded their budgets this year. Twenty thousand dollars was transferred to the Probate Court and $7,000 was transferred to the sheriff's ber 229-9761. department.

HARTLAND — The alertness and cooperation of Mrs. Charles Faust of Hartland has resulted in the state police solving a series of robberies and burglaries and the arrest of eight persons wanted in four counties on robbery charges.

Just before Christmas Mrs. Faust gave the state police the license number of a suspect who had stolen some batteries from her husband's used car lot in Hartland.

From this start the state police cleared up 17 larcencies, and 12 burglaries, and arrested 8 men wanted in connection with thefts in Livingston, Oakland, Washtenaw and Genesee coun-

Arrested were six Hartland youths who have admitted seven larcencies, and two other men, Michael Mc-Cullough, 19, of Hartland, and 21 year old Allen Skinner of Highland, who along with one other man who is still being sought by the police, admitted 10 larcencies and 12 burglaries. Anti-Poverty Act Delayed

HOWELL - Livingston county, the last county in the state to take advantage of the federally financed economic opportunity act, better known as the Anti-Poverty act, has only 60 days in which to join in the program.

So far a committee of 27 headed by Dr. Fred Hauer has been appointed by the county intermediate school board bu before the federal government will approve the program for the county, the committee must have the endorsement of the county board of supervisors, the board of social welfare and the county board of education.

At the monthly meeting of the supervisors Dr. Hauer presented to the supervisors a resclution of endorsement but the supervisors took issue with the method of appointment of the committee and refused to endorse the committee until it had made a more thorough study but promised action at 'he Joynuary meeting of the supervisors. Mrs. Ernestine Carlson, director of special services for the Livingston intermediate school district, explains the part to be played by the committee in taking advantage of the economic opportunity act:

"The purpose of the Economic Opportunity Act is to eliminate the paradox of poverty and peals of long time joblessness in the midst of plenty, opening to everyone the opportunity for educational training, the opportunity to work, and the opportunity to live a dignified and decent life. "Since the Economic Opportunity Act and the other Federal programs passed by Congress are anti-poverty in design, educators have a moral obligation to become involved in bringing relief to the underied by Janet Mallett and Spare privileged children and the adults in their given areas. A modest, pre-school program known as 'Head Start' can be the initial start with federal funds. 'Head Start' provides a six-week pre-school summer program for three and fouryear-olds who need extra help to overcome deficiencies imposed on them by poverty, this added opportunity will help them to enter school with a better chance of success."

Dr. Hauer explained that the present 27 member committee was chosen to represent all areas of county interest, and the members were chosen by the Intermediate School Board. The supervisors tabled action of the endorsement, however, until the January meeting, claiming that further study should be made on how the members of the committee were selected. Dr. Hauer pointed out that Livingston county has only a short time in which to take advantage of the pro-

BRIGHTON—Because of the remendous population growth of our area, one of the main items of business at the Brighton Board of Education meeting this Monday evening, December 27, was the formation of a Citizens Advisory Committee concerned with studying and recommending future development plans of the Brighton Area

With its fun, it had its sadness. The shock was the passing of our school band leader. Carl Koopshinske's mother. She had been ill for some time, but when they leave us it is always a great shock. Carl has our deepest sympathy.

The Siford family is the luckiest in the world, I think. "How can you say that," you exclaim m horror with Mrs. Helen Siford, mother of Margaret Siford, 3171/2 W. Heuft, Mrs. Josephine Siford's mother, who is the wife of the City Clerk, both hit by automobiles yet neither seriously hurt, but painfully. God indeed was good to them in sparing these two wonderful women. Mrs. Helen Siford was the most seriously hurt of the two, being covered with very painful bruises but no broken bones. May they soon be up and around is the wish of all Brighton.

The Annual Christmas Concert was as always the finest yet. The rendition of the music by the band and the choir was superb and very pro-'essional. The alumni joined in "Hallelujah Chorus" which was a big thrill for all. Everyone who attended this concert had high words of praise for the participants — it was wonderful - thanks all of you for this Christmas to Brighton. We are grateful and proud of all of you. was for the Martin Lavan family and their many friends. I had never seen such a ceremony before - a young man being admitted to the bar, presented by his illustrious father and being surrounded by judges and lawyers of renown. I am very grateful I was included to see such a sight. The Brighton Argus will have a full account of this impressive ceremony, but I was so awed and happy for Martin and Brian I just had to say: Congratulations to both Martin and Brian -Brighton is very proud of you. (just outside of Toledo, Ohio) and their four children. Dr. Madden's mother from Detroit also was present, and a marvelous time was had in which Grandma Walby (Dorcas) also participated - imagine two grandmothers.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pless, 325 S. 3rd, were really smiling over Christmas, as they were fortunate in having their son and wife, John and Patty Pless and son Eric of Woodland Lake with them, and daughter Jan Jacobs with her husband Al Jacobs and son Kurt, from Redford, with them. What a wonderful Christmas celebration they had.

The Rail Situation

Nineteen sixty five has been a big freight year for the nation's railroads — the best since the war year of 1944 and the fourth consecutive year in which freight traffic has shown a significant increase. It has also been a year in which railroad spending for new plant and equipment is expected to reach an all-time high of some $1.6 billion.

The reasons for this encouraging record have been listed by the president of the Association of American Railroads. They include the massive railroad modernization program; the influence of many new general national prosperity; the services such as piggyback, rack cars and unit trains; and finally, increased volume resulting from lower freight charges. And, on the average, these charges are still going down — a fact which is of pockethook interest to every consumer and shipper in the land.

What are the prospects for 1966? The spokesman said that, if the economic climate remains favorable as just about everyone expects, railroadmen are confident that the industry will continue its growth of traffic and service. Then he added this all-important observation:

"Yet the rate of its progress will depend heavily on 1966 developments in the vital field of public transportation policy — on government's meeting long-standing needs for equality in its treatment of all transport modes." And, he went on, there are signs of progress, among major domestic issues to be taken up in the next session of Congress.

Let us all hope that this will happen _ and that the railroads will be relieved of the totally obsolete laws and policies which now burden them and impose unnecessary costs on consumers everywhere. Fair competition in transportation — instead of excessive and stifling regulation — is the way to the ultimate in service at the lowest cost.

New Pork -Old Wive's Tales

As a spokesman for the Amercan Meat Institute puts it, the pork industry has been doing some soulsearching. In his words, "In former years, 'eating high on the hog' was indeed a sign of prestige. Today, 'eating high on the hog' is more apt to mean a steak than a pork chop." Up until a decade ago, more pork was consumed in the United States than any other meat. But in latter years, beef has pass-

Industry leaders have looked into the reasons which have held back pork consumption, and they are doing something about them. For one thing, pork has been considered too fat. That is no longer true — the meat-type hogs now produced are a far cry from the fat, jowly animal of the past. For another, not enough people have realized what dietitians know — that pork, in addition to providing high quality proteins also is an excellent source of essential vitamins and minerals. For still another, many think that pork is not easily digestible. That is simply not so — extensive studies have shown that pork is among the most digestible of all foods.

Other beliefs, all mistaken, have stood in the way of increased pork consumption. To quote the spokesman once more, 'Pork is not only an important part of our diet, it is also an important part of our economy. I believe that all home economics teachers can perform a highly useful service by shattering for their students some of these old wives' tales about pork and emphasize the fascinating story of the new pork - its nutrition, ease of preparation and its unique flavor."

That is a sound and constructive suggestion.

Viet Nam Critics

Back in 1933 a college society in England, the Oxford Union, had a debate on whether to "fight for King and Country" or not. The meeting ended with a vote of 275 to 153 against fighting. Sir Winston Churchill, who called the event "evershameful," wrote in his History of World War II: "It was easy to laugh off such an episode in England, but in Germany, in Russia, in Italy, in Japan, the idea of a decadent, degenerate Britain took deep root and swayed many calcula-

Similar events are taking place today in the United States. But, now professors are the leading performers. And, instead of debates. the protests are called "teach-ins."

A "teach-in" is a campus rally with maximum publicity, where professors, both for and against government policy, harangue students on the situation in Viet Nam. Two "national teach-ins" have occured. Both received full television coverage. Only a handful of professors across the country oppose our stand in Viet Nam. But critics in the "teach-ins" have made a larger noise and had a bigger effect than one usually expects from such a small minority.

Enemies of the America nave taken the "teach-ins" as indicators of a deep and widespread discontent in America over our policy in Viet Nam. "Ho Chi Minh, of North Viet Nam, is encouraged by criticism of United States policy heard among the Western Allies and the Americans themselves," according to an interview with the Red leader reported in Pravda. Perhaps, in time, the protests may "sway calculations," to use Sir Winston's

In any case. China has long considered us a "paper tiger," ready to retreat at the threat of a bomb. And, to the Commie mentality, the "teach-ins" support this notion.

Unfortunately, Americans' minds are "swayed" by the "teach-ins," too. Simply because many people believe everything a professor says. At the heart of all the antigovernment criticism is the idea that the conflict in Viet Nam is a civil war, a "popular uprising," and no concern of the United States. The facts show the opposite. The war is an invasion of Viet Nam from the North. The Viet Cong has followed the Red Chinese plan for taking over a country to the letter.

They are controlled from Peking.

A Fear Returns

Fear of inflation has returned to Washington and well it should. Most prices are up, some sharply. The commodity-price index is up 2.3 per cent over a year ago after many years of relative stability. A brief item in National Review by a writer who signs himself CATO. observes that there seems to be little inclination in top government circles to stabilize the economy by stopping the multibillion dollar programs which are the root cause of inflation. So, he concludes, the intention is to blame" . . . every price increase and every jump in the cost of living index on business. Now and then, labor will be slapped across the wrist — but not too

If this turns out to be the case, one of the businesses which will be on the firing line is retailing. The reason for that is obvious—it is in the retail store that the consumer buys his merchandise, and it is in the retail store that he sees the price tags boosted. So the retailer is the easiest and most accessible of targets. Yet — natural and even inevitable as this situation may be — it is an example of a gross injustice. The retailer is a victim of inflation, not a cause of it. American mass merchandising is one of the most efficient and cost-conscious of all enterprises. It operates on almost unbelievably low profit margins. The food chains, for instance, commonly earn, as net profit, as little as a cent or a cent and a fraction on each dollar of sales. Other kinds of stores, whose problems are different, earn only three or four cents. Margins like these provide no room at all for absorbing price increases which are totally beyond the sellers' control.

Unbridled government spending, continued deficits, excessive wage costs, the cult of welfare statism and the countless give-away programs here and abroad are forces that degrade the dollar. And every citizen, looking nervously toward an uncertain future, should know that.

ECONOMIC PROSPECTS-1966

The gross output of the American economy will be $672 billion in 1965-about $43 billion higher than 1964.

The National Association of Manufacturers' report on economic prospects for next year states that "comparable growth is attainable in 1966, which would raise the gross national product for the year to close to $715 billion."

The NAM statement cautions that these are not for administrative pay hikes that many village, city, county unconditional forecasts. "Non-inflationary economic growth is not a gift of the gods, simply to be accepted and enjoyed. It is to be won or lost, depending on the degree of wisdom presented by the national policies we pursue."

The NAM report points out that we have emerged on the matter. Their primary from an "under utilized" economy to a "fully utilized" economy.

Our national policies must be oriented to assure the accumulation of capital and know-how necessary to make added manpower more productive at a steadily accelerated pace, the report asserted. To insure non-inflationary eonomic growth for 1966 and beyond we should:

- Make sure that the federal government refrains from attempts to replace the marketplace as the instrument for controlling prices and wages.
- Remove some of the special privileges and exemptions which by law have been conferred on labor unions.
- Use future opportunities or tax reduction in ways which free funds for additional saving rather than for additional consumption.
- Allow interest rates to find their own level, given a national policy which permits the supply of money and credit to grow only in proportion to the growth in the economy.

The program for growth will effectively serve both our national and international interest, the report concluded.

Q. Earlier this year I bought shouldn't I sell General Mills Purex at $26.25. It is now down to $19. My broker said this is because it has been affected by tax selling. What does he mean? A. Tax selling of securities means disposal of stocks in order to write off losses in filing an income tax return.

Purex is an excellent illustration of a company whose stock might undergo tax selling at the end of the year. Investors who bought Purex early in the year found recently that the stock was selling for 30 percent less than they paid for it. If such investors see another stock that they believe might rise in value as quickly as Purex will recover, they are quite apt to sell, take their tax loss on Purex and invest in the second firm. There is, of course, no guarantee that the other stock will appreciate any faster than Purex; nor indeed is there any assurance that Purex itself will recover from its present slump. But the person who the same earnings rate. Such makes a tax sale would reason that by selling the stock he would have a loss he could apply against this year's taxable income, and at the same time acquire a security that has as good a chance for advance in price as the one he has sold. Q. I own stocks in General Mills and in Ford Motor Company and am struck by how close they are together in price

and cash in on the Ford profits? A. Your thinking is good. But what most investors are probably thinking is that Ford is engaged in a highly cyclical industry, where income is likely the food industry, of which dier income pattern.

Automobile stocks are considered cyclical. They customarily sell at a relatively low price/ earnings ratio, since investors have less confidence in their ability to continue to maintain is the situation with Ford, with a P/E ratio of 10 to 1, as compared to General Mills' P/E ratio of 21.

Auto stocks look especially good this year, with auto production hitting all time highs. But let auto sales drop even slightly and your General Mills stock by comparison will look more a very serious threat to the glamorous.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

NO CENTS SENSE Increased salary rates for state agency heads probably gained a few legislative votes recently when Gus Harrison resigned as director to take a lower civil service post within the corrections department.

The legislature has been asked more than once by Gov. George Romney to raise the pay levels of the top state administrators. Each request has been turned down.

Romney contends it is inconsistent with good business practice to have a situation where the head of a department is outranked in salary by one or more of the employees under

In the corrections instance. Harrison as director was paid $20,000 a year. He now will take a civil service classified position as deputy director for field services which will pay him more than $20,000 including the fringe benefits and security of the merit rating classifica-

Harrison's new position is not the only one in the department which pays at this level. Also to be considered is the fact that the civil services rates will be boosted again in July while the director's salary is fixed from year to year by legislative dictate.

As director Harrison and other department heads were subject to "the pleasure of the governor" or a board or commission empowered to hire and fire unclassified administrators.

It was pointed out in the pleas at the corrections case is not an isolated one. The same thing is true in several other departnents, particularly where proessionals are needed below the No. 1 spot.

Legislators have tended to ake a rather selfish attitude concern seems to be with their own financial rank: that if they who write the laws administered by department heads are not worth more than the present pay, then the department chiefs must certainly be well mough paid now.

Loss of Harrison, and perhaps others who have left these posiions without specifically citing heir reason, might bring legislators to the realization that competent professional administrators demand and probably deserve higher salaries than the people they supervise.

Interesting results are likely to be seen in 1966 on another aspect of the question of pay rates for public servants.

This would be the individual responses, as well as the collective attitude of legislators regarding their own worth. A study is in process by a special 12-member commission appointed on a 50-50 basis by the governor and the State Senate. It has been asked to determine what Michigan legislators should be paid.

Legislators are prohibited from raising their own salary during a term. Since Senate terms become four years long in 1967, any pay change must be passed next year or wall until 1971 to be effective.

Likely the survey being taken by the special commission will provide only anonymous results but it would probably be very interesting to see how specific individuals consider themselves in monetary value.

No doubt there will be legisators, who spend a minimum of time and effort on official business, who think they should be paid twice the present to fluctuate between rather ex- $12,500. > WINTER RISKS Pre-holiday warm spells should have provided a special warning to Michigan residents about the traditional winter recreation activities. Normally by this time of year es skating and fishing would be in full swing but this year is considerably different except in the northernmost sections where the cold hit hard, early and remained.

child's weight.

Parents must teach winter safety as importantly as traffic awareness. A child must be cautioned against venturing on ice before determining if it is thick enough.

Ice on deep water should be several inches thick, preferably about four. Awareness of rescue devices and methods in the event of a breakthrough must also be taught. Even with thick ice, breaks may be caused by underwater currents. Long branches, poles, ropes or a ladder should be handy in case the unexpected occurs. This advice from State Police holds true for adults as well as children.

Winter drownings are not limted to adventuresome children but frequently also include hunters, fishermen and other adult outdoor fans who travel over frozen lakes or streams.

Know Your Michigan Law

Att'y General Frank J. Kelly

This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.

How many times have you found various merchants using the word 'wholesale' in their advertising? More often than not it is probably being used correctly. Unfortunately, however, kthe word 'wholesale' has been subjected to abuse by a few unethical merchants.

Michigan's legislature in a 1941 act found improper and misleading the use of the word that a seller of a product is something other, than a retailer of such product. The legislature gave the following reasons for this conclusion.

'Consumers are misled into believing they are buying goods at a substantial discount from regular retail prices, when in fact they are not; trade is diverted from established retail outlets offering various customer services (such as free deliveries. exchange privileges, and credit facilities) ... to estavlishments not offering equal services but selling at substantially the same price, to the detriment of the consumer, who is deprived of the benefit of such services without receiving compensating advantages....) The Michgan statute makes it an unlawful trade practice for any seller to claim he sells at wholesale unless the sale is made to purchase for resale and of the sales tax law. Therefore, the two elements of a 'wholesale' transaction are, (1) the buyer will resell the product and (2) no sales

Furthermore, the statute prohibits any form of advertising (catalogs, exhibits, price tags, etc.) 'quoting prices in excess of the prices at which such goods, wares or merchandise are regularly or customarily sold at retail... so as to imply falsely that the goods, wares or merchandise are offered for sale at a reduction from an indicated regular price.

As the wise consumer knows. you do not get something for merchants you may find that the 'retail' price is the least expensive in the long run.

For Hamburg

HAMBURG - Although only two trains a day pass over the Grand Trunk Western railroad tracks the crossing at Hamburg road is so steep and dangerous that the Michigan Public Service Commission has ordered flashing light signals installed at the crossing. Peter V. Spivak, chairman of the Public Service Commission, said visibility of approaching trains is badly obstructed.

The community of Hamburg is unincorporated, therefore the highway is under jurisdiction of the Livingston County Road Commission.

Because of a steep north-tosouth hill at approach to the crossing, Spivak said, in addition to standard flashing light signals an additional set of flashing lights will be mounted on a mast high enough to be seen by motorists over the crest of the hill.

Hamburg Township and Hamburg Chamber of Commerce representatives joined with those of the railroad, county road commission and PSC in a study of the crossing. Measures within the jurisdiction of local authorities to improve visibility at the crossing also received engineering attention.

These included reduction of an earth embankment, moving of utility poles, and the consideration by private property owners of alterations in a fence and a sign which now blocks clear vision.

Rail traffic through the community totals only two trains in 24 hours, at 40 mph, but some 1,500 vehicles pass over the track every day.

Let patience have its perfect work.—(James 1:4)

We can avoid becoming impatient with others if we keep the land, located in both the city in mind the fact that Jesus and township, for recreational Christ always exercised the utmost in patience in His association with His disciples and with all with whom He came I into contact. We should, in effect, be "patient with the patience of Christ."

HIGH GAME: 4

BY MIKE BAKER Once again Brighton J.V. wins as they rolled over Clarenceville J.V. 69 - 41. It seems that this year might be the year as the Bullpup's haven't lost a league game yet the only one they have lost was to Howell. The Bullpup's have a 3-0 record as Friday they proceeded to walk all over Clarenceville. At the end of the first quarter Brighton had doubled their score, 18 to 9 and at halftime it was even better 36 to 16. Third quarter showed the difference between the two clubs as the Bullpup's outscored them 22 to 11 Coach DeMar knew then that his curb was so far superior to that of Clarenceville that he finished the rest of the game with second string player. Even then they only scored 3 more points then the Bulldog's 14 to 11.

Randy Needham shone as be dropped in 22 of the 69 points that were made. The final ratings went as fol-

The window was beautifully done, pine cone birds in a white tree instead of a partridge in a pear tree, very Christmacy.

THE WHITMORE LAKE BRANCH of the Ann Arbor bank opened its doors, the week before Christmas, to the so-called emotionally disturbed inmates of the Whitmore Lake Boys Training School. Usually a bank is about the most conservatime member of a business community, but for the second year the bank cooperated in a program which allowed the boys at the Boys Training School

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

. The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation.

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

Where Che New Year Is Born

For millions on the eastern seaboard of the United States, this is where it happens. A lighted "ball" falls from the top of a tower—and it's 1966.

But in Chicago and Winnipeg it is still 1965. In Saskatoon and Denver it is 1965. In Frisco and Vancouver it is 1965. So where in this broad continent is the New Year really born?

When it is born at all—it happens in men's own hearts!

Otherwise the Old Year goes on. And older years add not their blessings but their dregs . . . as men grope for shreds of time to complete old patterns . . . remnants of hope to patch worn-out dreams.

But somewhere a heart speaks to God. In the quiet of a churchly sanctuary it recounts the past with its failures, its defeats. And boldly it enquires into the future with its hope and promise. That soul commits time and talent and treasure to the purposes of Jesus

(4) For the sake of the Church And the Father of All, who is not clock-watcher but soul-watcher, turns the page of itself, which needs his moral that calendar. For one soul at a time the New Year is born.

That's all we ever seem to hear when the subject of the Dress Code is brought up. This is really a puzzle. Why should anyone not want to dress neat-

It's a proven fact that the nicer you look and dress, the nicer you feel. It gives you more self-confidence.

At one of the schools in our league, there is absolutely no dress code. Students are allowed to wear tattered sweatshirtsinside and out; worn, old blue jeans, skirts very high above the knees and shirt tails out. The kids at that school look like they're from a poverty re-

Not to have a Dress Code at B.H.S. would be like walking into an office building and seeing the typists with short skirts, hair in curlers or ratted high, and blouses out. The men would be wearing old t-shirts or tattered sweat shirts, faded blue jeans and no socks. You'd say. "How can they stand to be so grubby," — But our high school would be just like that office building if we disposed of the dress code.

Sees TV Aimed At 12 Year Olds

BY ERIE HURST

"I Spy," "Honey West," and "Man from Uncle" head the list as popular T.V. shows this season. Last Christmas a James Bond movie was produced and since then, these, shows have been created to out do each other. They all conjure up fantastic little gadgets to catch their enemies.

Recently there have been waves of editorials concerned with the value of these new seasonal shows. The newspapers aim their writing toward 12 year old readers. T.V. producers seem to aim theirs at something less. The military shows depict a ridiculous group of men that makes you wonder if our nation is actualy safe.

If there are any worthwhile programs they are far and few between. Specials are usually quite good but come so late. This years late movies are on the whole very good but again they do not begin until after 11:00 o'clock.

You'd think that T.V. producers would realize that adults also watch television and that they enjoy a good program once in awhile. Even teenagers and Jr. High students express a desire for more intellectual shows. But until producers realize this it looks live we will have to put up with lower rate T.V. shows aimed at the intelligence level of 12 year olds.

BY SHARON VOORHIS In the United States, New Year's Day is a national holiday, a time when greeting of "Happy New Year" is ex changed, and good resolutions are made. On New Year's Eve at midnight, meetings are held in the churches. Many people stay up until midnight just to see the old year out and the New Year come in. Generally most people ring bells, blow horns, and just be merry.

The first of January, now New Years Day in almost all countries was not adopted until late in the sixteenth century as the first day of the year.

According to the State Police of the Brighton Post Majewski suffered cuts on the head in an accident at the I-96 over-pass on Grand River, just west of Brighton Saturday night. Majewski was being transported to the McPherson Health Center in the Brighton City patrol car. when another vehicle made a left turn in front of the patrol car and there was another accident. No one was hurt in the second accident, which occurred on Byron Road and only minor damage was received by car, however Majewski decided that it would be safer to walk to the health center, and refused to get back into the patrol

Snowmobiles Add

Brighton--Winter sportsmen are eagerly awaiting a real winter snowfall to take advantage or the hilly areas around Brighton for skiing and snowmobiling.

Combine the flexibility of dogsledding, the excitement of skiing and the ease of tobogganing and you have the recipe for Snowmobiling, the new winter sport that has opened the way to more family fun activities in the snow. The rapid growth of snow-mobiling during the past several years can probably be traced to its appeal to all age levels and the fact that snowmobiles can go just about anywhere that there is snow.

The snowmobile can most easily be described as a motorized toboggan. The hull is generally constructed of fiberglass and is open-sided. The front end rests on two skis which are steered by means of a handlebar from inside the hull. Below the hull is a cleated, endless belt which provides traction and is powered by a small motor. Cushioned seats generally provide room for the driver and a passenger behind

The snowmobile is unique in that it can go anywhere there is snow or ice. Fields, frozen lakes and wooded paths offer no barrier to the "snowbird," as long as the terrain is reasonably even. Depending on conditions, speeds of 30 to 35 miles an hour are generated.

Whenever snowmobiles congregate there you will find competitive events.

Several such events have been scheduled in Michigan during the winter months. Included will be events at Mt. Brighton, in Brighton, the Snowmobile Derby at Ishpeming, January 7-8; the Snow Safari, January 8 at Harbor Springs and the National Snowmobile Rally at East Jordan. February 12-13. It is expected that several of the winter carnivals held throughout the state will also be scheduling snowmobile events. In addition to competion, the sport also offers the opportunity for group snow-cruising. Like many other activities, the sport provides the incentive to form common interest clubs. Members Collards Inc. of Whitmore, of such organizations map routes through woods, fields and across frozen lakes for trips which offer scenic adventure not found in other methods of transportation. Experts advise the snowmobilers not to attempt long trips in unfamiliar territory alone.

Hunters and ice fishermen put the snowmobile to practical use. A toboggan hitched to the snowmobile provides an efficient carryall for equipment. The vehicle opens new areas to the sportsman, providing access to remote lakes and wilderness not easy to reach during the winter.

Jap Tree Foils Tamarack Pest

A foreign visitor with a mighty inhospitable attitude toward insects could turn out to be a very important "friend" to Michigan's tamarack forests. The visitor is a tree — a larch from the mountains of Japan.

According to Maurice W. Day, director of the Dunbar Experimental Forest, the Japanese larch is outgrowing native tamarack in experiments being conducted at Michigan State University's Dunbar research station.

Day explained that the "foreign visitor" is also resistant to the larch sawfly — an insect which has been raising havoc with tamarack for many years. From 1690 to 1910, an epidemic of the larch sawfly threatened all of the tamarack, killing most of the trees in a great many swamps. Destruction was so great that practically all the tamarack now living started growing after the outbreak.

Since the epidemic, there has been occasional sawfly damage which has greatly reduced tree growth. And always, said Day, there has been a fear that the catastrophe caused by the epidemic could happen again.

But the Japanese larch either by itself or crossed with the native tamarack - could eliminate this possibility if the Dunbar experiment is any indi-

Last summer, the larch sawfly struck again. It ate the fo iage in over half the trees of the tamarack (which is also a species of larch), but was found on less than 5 per cent of the trees from Japan.

County Residents Tops as Restless

Residents of Livingston County do a great deal of movingmore than is done by people in most other areas of the coun-

Altar Society for the new year. Because of the frequency with which local families pick up and move to new addresses, they are rated more mobile than average. Sometimes it is to live in better style. With larger incomes, many of them are switching to fancier, more-modern houses than they were able to afford previously. In other cases, business or job opportunities present themselves in another location and a move becomes desirable.

Americans as a whole are more mobile and restless now than they were in former years, according to a recent report by the U.S. Census Bureau.

In the period of just one year, from 1963 to 1964, nearly one person out of every five in the United States moved to a new address. The tendency of Livingston County residents to move is revealed in another Census Bureau study covering a five-year period, based on data compiled durng the last census.

It shows that 16,215 of them were living in different houses than they had been living in five year earlier.

Of this number, 7,478 merely changed to other locations within the county. The other 8,737 were newcomers who arrived from other sections to make their homes in the local area. No figure is given, however, for the number who may have moved away in the period. The net result is that 49 out of every 100 people in Living-joyed dinner in the upstairs dinston County changed their ading room. On Christmas Eve dresses at least once in a perthey went to Marilyn and Jim iod of five years. Burroughs home for a family This proportion, 49 percent, Christmas party. Christmas day they spent the day with Rip's

A thoughtfully designed porch—with versatile windows that provide maximum ventilation — lets a homeowner adapt quickly to the weather changes that can disrupt life on the porch.

Many homeowners have discovered an awning window of ponderosa pine is ideal for an enclosed porch. The window, which is available in stock sizes, is exceptionally easy to open and close, provides maximum ventilation, keeps out rain and assures year-round comfort.

Unlike many window types, awning windows provide 100 percent ventilation. They can also be opened and closed

Selecting the right windows | quickly in series simply by Awning windows were the perfect solution for Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hawkins, who built a porch and patio addition to their New Jersey home overlooking a naturally wooded lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, who had given up their home at the seashore, greatly missed, having their own porch. When they decided to build a porch on their house, they wanted one that could be used as an extra room all year.

The porch was added by breaking through a dining room wall that formerly contained a window. Awning wood window units were installed in all three exterior walls of the porch. The walls were paneled with wood. Ponderosa pine was selected for the windows because the wood is a natural insulating material and provides maximum comfort in winter, when the porch is heated.

A patio, leading off the porch, completes the outdoor living project. Patio furniture, a vintage park bench and appropriate landscaping supplied the finishing touches.

Now Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins have a porch that doubles as a family room, or as a sitting room when guests drop in. They can now enjoy their home more completely, both outdoors and indoors, and in.

BEFORE: Back yard of home offered little protection from

20356 Grand River

AFTER: Owner added porch by breaking through dining room window. Stock awning windows of ponderosa pine provide maximum ventilation.

No Need to Cool

Food in Advance

Many women mistakenly insist on cooling food before putting it into the refrigerator-freezer, even though food keeps best when it is refrigerated promptly.

In the days of iceboxes. warm food in the icebox caused the ice to melt more quickly. Later, when electric refrigeration came onto the scene, women still hesitated storing a hot turkey in the refrigerator, in the belief it would steam up the interior of the appliance and cause frost to form.

Today, with the advent of no-frost refrigerator-freezers. food specialists advise homemakers to refrigerate or freeze food, whether warm or cold, right away for maximum freshness and flavor.
